

LANDSCAPE ART TO BE SEEN SOON

Fifteen Works of John F. Carlson Expected

WINTER CHARMS SHOWN

Exhibition Open to Public in Arts Building

Fifteen characteristic landscapes by John F. Carlson, New York landscape painter, are soon to be shown in the small gallery in the arts building. The exhibition was shown in the Portland Museum of Art, Fifth and Taylor streets, from March 9 to March 31, and is daily expected to arrive on the campus. Interpretation of the beauty of snow scenes is the especial forte of Mr. Carlson, who sees in such landscape all the vibrations of color. Each square inch of his water colors is interesting as a piece of color.

Themes Are Varied

Living as he does in Woodstock, New York, Mr. Carlson knows the peculiar charm of ice-bound nature, the rigor of eastern winters. In the winter mood there will be "Winter Hickories," "Winter Willows," with tree subjects; "Icebound River," with a charm of its own, and "Winter's Wane." Desolation is depicted in "Bleak Meadows" and "Bleak Pastures."

In "Snows of Early Spring," the iridescence of snowy landscape will be apparent, though the season is changing gradually to the awakening of spring. A little more threatening is "Stormy Twilight." "Shadowy Pool," "The First Beam," "Spring Morning," "Mountain Hamlet," "Fallon Acres," and "Deserted Garden," are themes that intrigue and lend a certain variety to the exhibit.

Works Arouse Interest

The paintings have aroused much interest in Portland among art lovers, who only regretted that more pictures had not been sent. For the most part, they are small water-colors—there is only one large one, in fact—but they are very perfect of their sort.

The showing of the Carlson paintings is part of a program begun this year by Ellis F. Lawrence, dean of the school of architecture and allied arts, to give the students a chance to study masterpieces of art at close hand, and to stimulate an appreciation of the beautiful.

The gallery is open to the general public as well as to the faculty and students during these exhibitions. Recently, an exhibition was held there of the paintings of Emil Jacques, Belgian painter now residing in Portland. Others are to follow. Dean Lawrence is keeping in close touch with the eastern art centers and fine exhibitions will be brought here as the funds for the purpose permit.

The seniors Friday night, March 28. About 40 couples and a number of guests were present. Mr. and Mrs. Campbell Church, Mrs. F. N. Boyer, and Mrs. G. H. Playter were patron and patronesses for the evening.

The April Frolic is a large event scheduled for April 5, at the Woman's building. There are notices to the effect that campus masculinity will revel at Hayward hall at the same time. These events always offer great entertainment to guests, and the record will not, beyond a doubt, be broken this time.

Alpha Delta Pi will give an informal dance the evening of April 4 for 40 couples, at the sorority house. A spring-like atmosphere will be afforded the rooms by greenery and many flowers. Mrs. Lucy Perkins, house mother just returned from California, and Mrs. Jennie Burrows, who substituted for her, will be patronesses for the affair.

The University Girls' Glee club will give its annual home concert tonight, April 1, at the Woman's building. Numbers of real musical value will be offered, while two costume songs will be of added interest. The principal soloists of the evening will be Ruth Akers, campus soprano, and Bernice Yeo, pianist and accompanist.

Sigma Delta Chi, men's national journalistic fraternity, will give its annual formal dance Friday night at the Beta Theta Pi house. The evening will be strictly "newspaper-ese" and a clever feature has been worked out, in which the aid of unseen powers will be called upon to participate. Eighteen couples, inclusive of faculty members, will be present.

Calkins, F. X. Schaefer, George P. Hitchcock, S. S. Rogers, O. B. Kessey, C. E. Swartz, P. E. Snodgrass, Arthur M. Miner, E. E. Morrison, Edgar L. Keeney, Eugene C. Sanderson, William G. Hughes, J. Kennell.

Spring flowers decorated beautifully the home of Mrs. Campbell Church for the formal dance given by the juniors of Kappa Alpha Theta for again as one family for the first time in years.

R. A. Booth Speaks

"If we want good times," said R. A. Booth, speaking of the development of the state and the University, "times that are worth living in, there is but one thing to do. There isn't anything we can compare with good character built on good education. In the interest of progress of the University, of the city of Eugene, and of the state of Oregon, we must back this movement."

By a rising vote, all of those present last night signified their willingness to take part in raising the necessary money for the auditorium. Mayor E. B. Parks heartily endorsed the movement.

E. E. Morrison, manager of the Farmers' union, said, "I am quite sure that the farmers are just as anxious to see this thing accomplished as the people of the city." Other persons who spoke in last night's meeting were W. K. Newell, R. Augustus Peterson, Judge G. F. Skipworth and O. B. Kessey.

Many Attend Meeting

Those present were: P. L. Campbell, F. L. Chambers, E. Eugene Chadwick, Charles A. Burden, John B. Coe, E. B. Parks, Harry N. Korn, R. A. Booth, R. W. Martin, Fred E. Smith, L. H. Johnson, C. A. McClain, Karl W. Onthank, A. E. Brigham, Fred G. Stickels, Arthur Hendershott, P. Augustus Peterson, J. H. Hutchinson, Dean H. Walker, G. F. Skipworth, L. L. Ray, W. W.

COACH ISSUES CALL FOR TENNIS PLAYERS

Two Racquet Lettermen Are Now on Campus

A call has been issued by Tennis Coach Fahl for all candidates for the varsity and frosh teams to report today at 4 o'clock on the varsity courts, as practice will start at once.

With 10 courts available, Fahl expects to have a large number of racquet wielders out for practice. Meyer and Rice, varsity tennis lettermen, are back and the varsity chances are not entirely gloomy. A five-man team will represent the University. Some of the men have been going out for preliminary practice and it will not require much training to get them into shape.

A strong schedule has been arranged for the varsity. The Pacific Coast conference meet will be held at Eugene on May 31. The first dual meet so far scheduled is with O. A. C. at Eugene on May 3. On May 10, the team will journey to Salem, where a meet will be held with the Willamette university squad. A return meet with O. A. C. will be held May 17 at Corvallis. A meet will probably be arranged with Reed college at Portland.

The chances of a strong frosh tennis team are very bright. There are several former prep stars who expect to turn out for berths on the team. Westerman, Okerberg and Mead have been showing class in their early practices. Westerman formerly held the junior northwest championship, while Mead and Okerberg are said to be strong players. There are several other first year men who are going strong. A schedule for the frosh team has not yet been arranged.

ADVERTISING CLASSES RECEIVE CASH PRIZES

Four Students of School of Business Administration Rewarded by Country Club

Four members of the advertising class in the school of business administration received prizes yesterday, awarded by the Eugene country club for business-promoting letters. The first prize of $10 for a series of five letters, was won by William Nettleship. A prize of $5 for the second best series went to Maurice Warnock, who also won three prizes of $2.50 each for the first three letters in the series which were judged to be the best individual ones. Prizes of $2.50 each for the fourth and fifth letters went to Estel Akers and Russell Gowans, respectively.

The Eugene country club has planned to take in a large number of new members and intends to carry on a letter campaign to sell memberships to the club. One letter each week for five weeks will be sent to prospective members.

The judges of the contest were George P. Hitchcock, E. O. Immel, and Lynn S. McCreedy, all business men in Eugene.

Janitor, Resigning, Affirms Belief in Students

Morthland Says Attitude More Serious This Year Than Last

"It is my opinion that the students of the University realize their responsibility to the state and are taking their education seriously," says W. L. Morthland, janitor of Villard hall for the past two years, who yesterday resigned his position. Mr. Morthland bases his opinion on the fact that he notices a decidedly more studious attitude this year than last among the majority of the student body.

"Last year I was constantly sweeping up torn paper and the scraps of book leaves which were thrown on the floor. This year, I almost never find it. In fact, the floor is almost always as clean at night as in the morning, except for the necessary dirt and dust which is brought in. The attitude of the whole campus seems more studious."

"I have made many friends, I think," he smiles, "anyway, I know a good many students well and they are always most courteous and congenial to talk with."

Mr. Morthland, before coming to Eugene, owned a fruit ranch in southern Oregon, and before occupying the position as janitor, was in the real estate business in Eugene. His daughter, who is at present a teacher in Woodburn, is a graduate of the University and has also taken post-graduate work on the campus.

"From now on," laughs Mr. Morthland, "anyone wishing to know the time, can always be sure of finding a 'clock' in Villard hall, for Frank Clock is the name of the new man who is to take Mr. Morthland's place."
