HEADS OF DRIVE HOLD MEETING

All Captains and Solicitors for Gift Campaign Are Told of Detailed Plans

LEADERS GIVE TALKS

Rockhey Explains Orders Concerning Work Ahead; Enthusiasm Is Aroused

Yesterday, 25 more students became sold to the idea of a Student Union, when the class chairmen and team captains of the soliciting forces were informed of the detailed plans of the campaign. Haddon Rockhey, chairman of soliciting, handled the meeting and introduced speakers who through their enthusiasm for the campaign stirred their hearers to an equal interest in the drive which is scheduled for April 23-26.

Claude Robinson, student body president, explained the details of the organization to those who are a part of it. He pointed out how the idea of Student Union evolved and was tied up to the general endowment plan of the University.

Meeting Days Announced

"All eyes are upon us," declared Robinson. "Alumni, Eugenians and the state at large are together observing the maneuvers of the students in this movement. It is for us to set the example. We cannot falter now. In fact, this idea is going to catch fire with the students so that each and every one will come forth with his contribution to the Union and make it easier rather than hard for us to put his proposition over."

Haddon Rockhey gave the captains explicit instructions concerning their tasks. They are the organizers of the teams of 10, which are to do the actual canvassing of the entire membership of the associated students. He said that the solicitors must be chosen next week and that the entire organization must be perfected before the actual campaign opens on April 23. The freshmen captains will meet on Monday, sophomores on Tuesday, juniors on Wednesday, and seniors on Thursday to pick their soliciting bodies. Rockhey stressed the importance of making careful choices of soliciting personnel.

Farrell Outlines Features

"We must have absolutely the best campus can provide in the way of workers for this drive," he said. "Our men and women will be thoroughly imbued with the spirit of Student Union and will be armed and equipped with all possible information that those interviewed may require. When we start out to put this drive over the top, we are to begin it with the determination to bring it to a successful close, and this can be done only when each man, woman and child working for the Student Union has the enthusiasm for it that we are feeling now."

Douglas Farrell, chairman of the committee on stunts, gave an interesting outline of some of the features of the campaign days. He showed how the optimism of the student body will be incited for the campaign and the general level of good spirit maintained.

Stunts to be Good

Dean Dymont Expresses His Views on Over-Organization

By V. V. O.

"No one can convince me that a campus of 2,200 students would work efficiently with as many as 125 organizations," declared Colin V. Dymont, dean of the school of literature, science and the arts, yesterday when interviewed. In a quiet tone and a reflecting attitude he expounded how the law of diminishing returns was applicable to over-organization on the campus. He has just returned from a short trip to California.

Continuing, he said that just as an unlimited increase in the number of departments in a small university, like ours, with each department working independently of the others, would

French University Scholarship Won by Emily Veazie

One of the highest scholastic honors that can befall a University student came to Emily Veazie, Portland, a graduate of the University of Oregon last June, when word was received that she was one of two women selected for scholarships to the University of Bordeaux, France. Miss Veazie was selected from a large number of applicants in universities over the country because of her exceptionally high grade average during her work here.

She graduated from the University in 1923 with honors. Besides making honors in her major subject, English, Miss Veazie did equally well in her other courses. The scholarship, which is given through the American Council of Education, carries with it board, lodging and tuition, and 30 per cent of steamship passage. Miss Veazie plans to enter the University of Bordeaux next fall. At present she is teaching school near Portland.

FROSH TENNIS CHANGES DIM WHEN STARS QUIT

Two Men Lost; Teams to be Picked Next Monday

The chances for a strong frosh tennis team are not so bright as they were a few days ago. Two stars, Westerman and Okerberg, can not give their services to tennis this year. Westerman, who is a sprinter, has turned his attention to track. Okerberg had been showing up strong in tennis, but was operated on the ear and was forced to leave school. This has put a crimp in the frosh tennis forces.

Three matches were played in the first round of the elimination tournament, Thursday. Adams defeated French, 3-6, 6-3, 6-2. Taylor lost to McIntosh, 1-6, 1-6. Simpson lost to McCormick, 6-3, 1-6, 1-6. There are several other matches to be played in the first round. All of the first year men are rounding into form and will soon be ready for hard practice. McCormick and Mead have been going strong.

Five matches were played in the varsity elimination tournament. Rice defeated McKalson, 6-1, 4-6, 6-1. McBride won over Cray, 6-2, 6-3. Horsfall beat Sayre, 6-2, 6-3, but in the challenge round lost to Cray, 3-6, 4-6. Meyer beat Beatie, 6-1, 6-0. Coach Fahl expects the contests to be finished by the end of the week.

Regular frosh and varsity practices will start next Monday when the teams will be named. The first match of the season will be held in three weeks.

MICHIGAN PROFESSORSHIP GIVEN OREGON ALUMNUS

Francis D. Curtis, '11, has been elected assistant professor of education in the University of Michigan, according to a letter from Earl Kilpatrick, dean of the extension division. The letter says:

"I am reliably informed that Francis D. Curtis has been elected assistant professor of education in the University of Michigan. He is taking his doctor's degree at Columbia this spring after one year of work. The other year was done in the Portland center, full credit being given by Columbia for all graduate work done here."

OREGON NINE TO COMBAT ALUMNI

Coach's Men in Fine Fettle for Practice Game on Cemetery Ridge Today

DIAMOND IN GOOD SHAPE

Knudson, Foster Expected to Pitch Stellar Ball for Opposing Players

Campus baseball fans will have an opportunity to see the varsity nine in action for the first time this afternoon, when Coach Reinhart sends his proteges against an aggregation composed of alumni and former varsity baseball stars. The game is billed for 3:00 o'clock on the Cemetery ridge diamond.

Coach Reinhart has been drilling the squad hard every day this week and the men should be in fine fettle for this game. He is undecided as to his opening lineup, but it is likely that the entire squad, or most of them, will get a chance to show their wares before the end. The infield combination of Scripture, first; Ross, second; Bittner, short, and Hobson, third, has been used the most during the practices this week and will in all probability start the affair. Other infielders likely to break into the lineup are Jimmy King, Troutman and "Dinty" Moore.

Pitchers Not Selected

In the outfield, Sorsby, Wright and Terrill appear to be the most likely starters, with Peterson, Frum and Mills in reserve.

No choice has been announced for the mound, but Coach Reinhart announced last night that he will use as many of his flingers as possible. No one of them will be worked more than three innings. Cook, Bliss and Orr will probably break into the backstop position.

The exact lineup of the alumni contingent is uncertain. Numbered in its lineup will be such former stars as "Skeet" Manerud, Karl Knudson, "Spike" Leslie, Hank Foster, Don Zimmerman, and several others who performed on the diamond during their varsity days. Knudson and Foster are both capable pitchers, and will no doubt give the varsity batters something to worry over. Manerud was a classy shortstop and clever hitter during his years in college, while Leslie and Zimmerman are both three year lettermen in baseball. If the entire nine can live up to past records the varsity will have a tough egg to crack in their first encounter.

Whitman Game Next Contest

Today's game will be the only practice tussle for the varsity squad before the opening conference games with Whitman, outside of several affairs with the frosh. This is due to the fact that there will be no diamond to stage a regular contest until some time yet.

The new diamond near Hayward field is in excellent shape except for a section of rough field, which is still somewhat soggy. If the good weather continues it will be ready for practice use by Tuesday of next week. A backstop will be erected and bleachers put up before the opening of the regular season. No grandstand will be built there this year, however.

Interest continues to grow in the coming game with the Meiji nine from Japan, April 26. The Cosmopolitan club has made arrangements to entertain the visiting athletes with a dinner and banquet after the game.

DR. SWARTZ WILL DELIVER TALKS IN CITY CHURCHES

Dr. H. F. Swartz, who spoke at assembly Thursday, will preach in the Congregational church Sunday morning at the 11 o'clock service in addition to giving the University vespers address at the Methodist church at 4:30 Sunday. Dr. Swartz is president of the Pacific School of Religion at Berkeley, California. His other appointments here included a talk at the Y. M. C. A. hut luncheon Thursday and an address to the State Christian Endeavor convention Friday.

PLEDGING ANNOUNCEMENT

Bachelorhood announces the pledging of Thomas E. McGinnis, of Marshfield, Oregon.

Names of Floats for Canoe Fete Must Be in Soon

Houses Urged to Start Work on Entries

Work on the floats for the Junior Week-end canoe fete should be begun at once, Rupert Bullivant, head of the fete committee urges. All houses must turn in the names of the floats to him by April 25 in order that the list may be arranged. The houses will have to have a rather definite idea of the nature of their floats so that this report will be final. May 9 is the date on which the fete will be held.

Arrangements for lighting and seating are not yet complete, but the plans are under way. The following rules for floats have been outlined: The expense on each float is limited to $25. Floats are to be decorated on one side only, as there are no seats on the other side of the race and the expense will be kept down in this way. Cups are awarded to both the men's and women's houses having the best float.

"VAH" TO BE HEARD AT TOMORROW'S VESPERS

Bryson to Sing 'Gloria' and H. F. Swartz Will Speak

The famous "Vah" chorus, from the "Seven Last Words of Christ," by Dubois, will be sung by the University choir as the anthem at the vespers service, tomorrow afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, in the Methodist Episcopal church. Roy Bryson will give the solo number, which is the "Gloria," by Buzzi-Peccia, and Herman F. Swartz, president of the Pacific School of Religion, at Berkeley, who is here for the Christian Endeavor conference, will make the address.

Following is the program:

- Organ Prelude

"WHEREAS, by his death, one of its most earnest and respected friends and administrators; therefore, be it

"Resolved by the Associated Students of the University of Oregon that to his sorrowing family, we extend our deepest sympathy, and be it further

"Resolved, that a copy of these resolutions in behalf of our beloved friend be sent to his family, and that a copy be transcribed on the records of the Associated Students of the University of Oregon, and that a copy be published in the student publication."

DELTA DELTA DELTA HEAD IS EXPECTED HERE TODAY

Members of Delta Delta Delta will be honored this weekend by the presence of their national president, Mrs. W. M. Hudson of Greencastle, Indiana. Mrs. Hudson is on a western tour, visiting all the chapters along the coast. She is expected to arrive today and stay at the chapter house until the following Tuesday, when she will make a two-day visit at the home of Miss Louise Fitch, a former president of the sorority. Sunday evening a formal faculty dinner will be held at the Delta Delta Delta house, honoring Mrs. Hudson.

PLAY TRYOUTS WILL BE TODAY

Cast for Seniors' Class Production to be Chosen at One This Afternoon

AFFAIR HAS FOUR LEADS

"It Pays to Advertise," Title of Comedy Coming in May; 12 to Participate

Tryouts for the senior class play, "It Pays to Advertise," are to be held this afternoon at 1 o'clock, in Villard hall, according to Ted Baker, who has charge of the production. A cast of twelve is to be chosen, of which eight are men and four are women.

Although there are but four leads," said Baker, "the nature of the play is such that all the parts are exceptionally good."

Play Well Known

"It Pays to Advertise" is well known to theater-goers. Given frequently before many college audiences with universal success, it has never been produced at Oregon. The play centers about a millionaire soap maker whose business success is seriously disturbed by a son who enters the business, and who brings with him a quantity of theory concerning the benefits to him who advertises.

Date Not Decided

Any senior is eligible to try out for the play, Baker announces. The date for the production, while not definitely decided upon, will be sometime in the middle of May. The Heilig theater will probably be the scene of its presentation.

Mask and Buskin, of the National Collegiate players, honorary dramatic society, is sponsoring the play. All management and direction will be in his hands.

Assisting Ted Baker in supervising the play are Kate Pinneo, Wenona Dyer and Darrell Larsen.

DEAN ALLEN RECEIVES NEWSPAPERS OF 1835

Several old newspapers have been received by Dean Eric W. Allen for the school of journalism, from Charles Gratke. These papers belonged to his father, John E. Gratke, former proprietor of the Astoria Budget.

One of the first issues of James Gordon Bennett's Morning Herald, dated May 6, 1835, is among the group. Another paper is an issue of the Boston Gazette and Country Journal for March 12, 1770. In this number appears an editorial bewailing the destructive consequences of quarantining British troops among the inhabitants of the city of Boston. So fragile and yellow with age, that the paper will hardly hold together, one can scarcely make out the casualty list, the result of a fracas when the "soldiers fired off their muskets at the inhabitants, while some were pricked with bayonets."

ALINE NOREN, GRAD OF 1914, VISITING HERE

Aline Noren, '14, field representative of the State Child Welfare commission, drove down to Eugene Thursday afternoon with Miss Margaret Creech, formerly of Reed college, director of social case work for the Portland school of social work.

After graduation, Miss Noren taught for several years in the Bandon high school, Weston high, Dallas high, and Washington high in Portland. For two years Miss Noren did chautauqua work and was recreational supervisor and director in New Zealand and Australia. She also worked with the Portland community service and was with the Y. M. C. A. canteen service in France during the war. In 1923, she obtained a diploma from the Portland school of social work.

Miss Noren belongs to the Oregon Social Workers' association and is a member of Delta Gamma, where she is visiting until her return to Portland Sunday evening. She is a sister of Jennie and Gladys Noren, who are registered on the campus now.

R. O. T. C. Inspector to Visit University Tuesday, April 15

The local unit of the R. O. T. C. will be inspected Tuesday afternoon, April 15, by an officer representing the ninth corps area. Classes will be visited by the inspector during the forenoon.

All members of the corps are requested to be in line by 1 o'clock in full uniform. The band will form at the barracks. High shoes without the leggings are to be worn and particular care should be taken that the socks do not show above the shoe tops. It is asked that all wear the Oregon "O" insignia on the left shoulder of the blouse. O. D. shirts must be worn under the blouses.

It is planned to carry out the regular drill schedule unless the inspector should ask for a change.

SUSAN CAMPBELL WINS VOLLEYBALL HONORS

Games to Start Next Week Between Class Teams

Susan Campbell, team 2, of league II, is the doughnut volleyball champion as the result of the game played Thursday night against Delta Omega, head of League I. Class teams have been chosen and games will start next week.

Members of the senior team are Adah Harkness, Mildred LeCompte, Gertrude Manchester, Pearl Pyritz, Harriet Howells, and Theresa Robinette. Harriet Veazie is a substitute.

The girls chosen for the junior team are: Merle Oliver, Dorothy Akin, Viona Pyritz, Leola Craig, Helen Campbell, and Charlotte La Tourrette. The substitutes are Golda Boone and Wilma Manley.

The sophomores have two teams. The first team members are: Ruth Delap, Lillian Vulgamore, Helen Schaper, Eleanor Houk, Janet Wood, Marietta Beattie. The second team is composed of Irva Dale, Betty Rauch, Caroline Tilton, Gertrude Harris, Edna Murphy and Marion Hill. Gertrude Hill is a substitute.

On the freshman team are: Alice Olson, Vena Gaskell, Katherine Schnell, Margaret Papoon, Genevieve Morgan, and Nell West. The substitutes are Gertrude Keber and Katherine Osborn.

OREGON WOMAN TAKES CHARGE OF FOSSIL MEN

The handling and classifying of the bones of the "fossil men," recently discovered in Los Angeles, have been entrusted to Rachel Husband, formerly a geology student at the University. Miss Husband, in writing to Dorothy Dixon, states that in removing the clay from the bones, she found one instrument, an awl. This instrument will be of assistance in determining the age of the fossils.

The skeletons were found in the southwest part of Los Angeles when a group of men were excavating for a sewer system. The fossils were turned over to the director of the Los Angeles museum, where Miss Husband has been employed for two years. She has been placed in complete charge of cleaning and assembling the bones of skeletons that may prove America to be the center of a very ancient race.

MRS. WARNER TO TALK ON CHINESE PAINTINGS

A lecture on Chinese painting will be given to the students of the art appreciation class by Mrs. Murray Warner at the meeting of the class Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock, announces Alfred H. Schreff, head of fine arts, and instructor in the course. The students are asked to meet in the Murray Warner museum in the Woman's building, instead of Villard hall.

This is the second of a series Mrs. Warner is giving the students. The first was Shanghai. One on Chinese sculpture will be given before the end of the term. Professor Schreff wished Mrs. Warner to give the lectures on oriental art because of the special interest in the museum on the campus. The courses can thus be linked with the museum collection, and students can acquire a background with which to enjoy the works of art to be found there.

TRACK CARNIVAL AT 2:30 TODAY

Athletes Will Compete for First Time This Term; Eight Events Are Listed

DISTANCE MEN TO REST

Pole Vaulters Performing With Mid-season Form; Class Meet Is April 26

This afternoon Coach Hayward will have an opportunity to see his track proteges act in real competition for the first time this term. The meet will start promptly at 2:30 and both varsity and freshmen athletes will participate; eight events have been scheduled, and Bill says he will add more if there are men out who will not have an opportunity for action in these.

The scheduled events are: 440, 880, shot-put, high hurdles, sprints, javelin and probably the pole vault and high jump. The milers and two-milers will be given an opportunity to watch their speedier brethren perform, for once; incidentally, they will have a chance to rest the crop of "buck-shins," infected feet and other minor ailments which have developed to make the way of these track men hard. All athletes expecting to make the varsity and freshman teams are expected to compete in the scheduled Saturday competition unless excused by the coach.

Vaulters Work Hard

Last night, Spearow, Rosenberg and Kelsey spent a busy evening bumbling over the high standard. Of course, if Spearow shows much improvement, he will be breaking world's records; but it is perfectly safe to say that he isn't losing anything. Both Rosenberg and Kelsey are going better than ever before, also both are working at the hurdles. Kelsey is a hurdler who has taken up vaulting as an avocation; while Rosenberg is a vaulter that has taken up hurdling as an avocation. Both seem in a fair way to succeed with their second choices also.

The freshmen are working faithfully, but Bill says there is an unusual run of ripples to contend with this year. "Buck-shins," here, as with the varsity distance men, is the chief ailment, although pulled ligaments and sprains have had their share in retarding the work. The first meet for the yearlings scheduled at present is the Frosh-Rook relays at Eugene on May 3.

Relay Meet May 3

The first real competitive effort of the varsity is the relays at Seattle May 3. There is an inter-class meet scheduled for April 26; which Bill intends to use as a sort of try-out for the Washington relays. The inter-class relays run last winter were won by a combination junior and senior team. The freshmen and sophomores battled for second place throughout the meet, with the freshmen leading until the final race. In this, the two-mile relay, the second year men took a first and a third, which gave them sufficient lead to win second place in the carnival. The freshmen have an opportunity for revenge which they intend to use when the inter-class competition is held.

COMMERCE BUILDING GIVEN PHOTOGRAPHS

The school of business administration recently received a donation in the form of three colored photographs beautifully framed and ready to be hung in some of the class rooms of the school. The pictures, which are twenty-four by forty inches in size, are the gift of the port of Astoria. Besides being educational, they add much to the general attractiveness of the rooms on the main floor of the Commerce building, where they have been put up.

These photographs were taken by Woodfield, of Astoria. Their titles are: (1) Portable Type Electric Cargo Conveyor, Port Astoria Terminals; (2) Roof Type, Electric Cargo Handling Cranes, Port of Astoria Terminals; (3) General View Port of Astoria Terminal.

The school of business administration has also received from time to time pictures of the New York Central railroad.
