CLASS CAPTAINS CHOOSE HELPERS

Freshmen and Sophomore Leaders Select Teams for Student Union Drive

TWO GROUPS LIST 340

Entire Staff of Workers to be Given Tomorrow; All Will Meet Thursday

The silent tentacles of the Student Union organization have been started on their outstretching way. Yesterday 340 workers for Student Union were selected by no less than 20 captains of canvassing teams. The web of cooperation is being more finely spun. Tomorrow the announcement of the entire staff of workers will be made. And the complete systematized corps will be an integral group ready to go on the four day drive.

The freshman and sophomore classes each have eight canvassing teams of usually ten members apiece, which will take their classes in hand and swing them into the great student through gathering to lay the foundation of a great structure.

Details of Work Given

The teams were selected by the class captains who met yesterday for the express purpose of making the appointments. The junior and senior appointments will be ready to announce tomorrow, and on Thursday night at 7:30 o'clock the entire Student Union working organization will get together for the first time in Villard hall to take a survey of itself and find out just what steps must be taken first in order to prepare the way for the great "kick-off" next Wednesday, a week from today.

Last night, at a meeting of the executive committee, comprised of the heads of the three main committees, namely, the main canvassing, the stunts, and the publicity groups, some of the details of the work for the four day drive were enumerated. Today arrangements are being made to have 2,000 pledge ribbons printed, so that every student in the University will have the opportunity to wear one by the time the last quota is subscribed at some time during the four days.

Work to be Thorough

Subscribers to the Student Union will be literally spiked and their achievements will be advertised to their fellows. Those workers will be equipped with pledge blanks and armed with information and arguments for the campaign.

There is to be a full program of instruction at the general workers' meeting, which is to take place tomorrow evening at 7:30 in Villard hall.

The names of those appointed to the freshman and sophomore committees are as follows:

Sophomore Names Listed

Mary Raker Reveals Bird Habits to Samara Members

Students are not the only ones who migrate to and from this campus. There are a large number of birds, which travel from one part of the country to another in search of congenial surroundings, and stop for a while on the campus and in the vicinity, to size up the situation and move on if they are not satisfied. Some remain for the summer, others are winter visitors, and still others elect to make it their permanent place of abode.

It is not everyone who meets these feathered visitors and becomes acquainted with the residents of the air. They do not hold open house at the beginning of the year in order to meet their friends. Yet they can always be found by true friends who are willing to search them out.

And they have one such friend on the campus. One who is willing to

Dean of Women to Discontinue Teas This Spring

"On account of the increase of outdoor sports during the good weather, Mrs. Esterly's Thursday teas will be discontinued for the remainder of the spring term."

This edict was greeted with genuine sighs of regrets from the feminine element yesterday afternoon. The custom of students gathering at the tea hour around the inviting fireplace of the dean of women, has proved very popular among the University women all year, judging from the large group who have attended these informal gatherings.

Each day during the spring from 4 until 6 o'clock, baseball games, hockey team practices, and horseback riding occupy the time ordinarily devoted by the women to the tea hour.

VIRGINIA BACON, '04, TO REPRESENT OREGON

Alumna to Attend A. A. U. W. Conference in the East

Virginia Cleaver Bacon, '04, with the United States Employment service in the Junior division at Washington, D. C., will be the representative of the University of Oregon at the annual conference of the American Association of University Women, to be held at Washington, D. C., April 21-26.

For the first year after Mrs. Bacon's graduation from the University she was an assistant in literature on the campus. He has been engaged in journalistic and library work continuously since 1910.

As an author Mrs. Bacon has had stories published in Munsey, Sunset, Judge, Youth's Companion, Overland, Holland's and Scribner's, as well as contributing to a great many newspapers on both the California and eastern coasts. She has also written a number of scenarios.

Oregon's representative has done graduate work at a number of other universities, including George Washington University and Chicago.

COMMERCE WOMEN TO SELL DOUGHNUTS

Big, fat, fluffy doughnuts buried in a bank of sugar for one nickel, or one jinyer, or five coppers. Take one from the baskets of the members of Phi Theta Kappa, who will establish their market around Commerce hall today. The members of the honorary commerce society will supply the salesmanship—and the students will pass out the necessary five cents.

The reason for the pleasant hold-up is explained by Mary Hathaway, president of Phi Theta Kappa. Each year a $50 scholarship is given to some upperclass woman in the school of business administration and the doughnut sale is the means of securing the necessary sum.

Adopt the motto, "Come prepared" and you will get satisfaction.

DUDLEY SPEAKER AT CONFERENCE

Vining Will Outline Work of Oregon State Chamber at Today's Gathering

PARTY COMES TONIGHT

Eugene Rotary Club Is Host at Entertainment Given Delegates and Faculty

The third day of the annual short course for commercial secretaries promises to be even more interesting than the former ones. A. S. Dudley, manager of the Oregon state chamber of commerce, who has just returned from a trip East, where he has been arranging for publicity on the recreational and industrial development of the state of Oregon, will be one of the speakers today.

The work that is being conducted by the Oregon state chamber will be outlined at the session starting at 1:15. Irving E. Vining, from Ashland, who drew a large crowd when he spoke at the retail merchants' convention held here in February, will talk during the assembly hour from 11 to 11:50.

Hostesses Are Named

There will be an informal party given by President and Mrs. P. L. Campbell for the secretaries at the Woman's building this evening at 8 p. m. Phi Theta Kappa, women's honorary commerce fraternity, will act as joint hostess with Dean Virginia Judy Esterly, Mrs. Edna Prescott Davis, and Mrs. Anne Landscott Berry.

The Rotary club of Eugene entertained the secretaries and the staff of the school of business administration at luncheon yesterday.

The program for today is as follows:

9:00-9:50—Mechanics of Public Speaking, A. S. Dudley, Portland.

10:00-10:50—Principles of Economics, E. C. Robbins.

11:00-11:50—Assembly, community singing. Speaker, Irving E. Vining, Ashland.

12:00-1:15—Luncheon.

1:15-4:45—The Work of the Oregon State Chamber of Commerce: 1. Land Settlement; 2. Tourist Travel; 3. Marketing; 4. State Publicity.

6:15—Dinner.

8:00—President and Mrs. Campbell's Informal Party, Woman's building.

U. H. S. NINE PREPARES FOR TILT WITH ALBANY

The University high school baseball nine is working out every night on its diamond near the Music building in spite of the cold and rainy weather. The team has already played two practice games, one of which it won and the other lost, and now the men are working hard to strengthen the weak spots. Burton, as pitcher, has been going good, fanning out about ten men in the game with Cottage Grove last week, and allowing them only one run.

His backing was not exceptionally good, however, and the coach is working on the rest of the infield and the outfielders to get them ready for the first big game with Albany high, April 25. Biddings, as the receiving end of the battery, has been doing very good work and can be used as pitcher if necessary.

LANDSCAPE EXHIBITION EXTENDED TO APRIL 25

The exhibition of landscapes by John F. Carlson, New York painter, will remain on the campus until Friday, April 25, when it will be packed and sent to Seattle. All students and faculty members as well as Eugene citizens are especially invited by the instructors in the school of architecture and allied arts to see the paintings before they are sent away.

Fifteen really unusual canvases may be seen, including some of especially beautiful snow subjects. Carlson works for texture in his paintings, and his canvases have been scraped and repainted and painted again, giving both texture and a charming broken color treatment.

THETA SIGMA PHI PICKS OFFICERS FOR NEXT YEAR

At a meeting held at the Anchorage yesterday noon, Catherine Spall of Portland was chosen to head the organization of Theta Sigma Phi, women's national honorary journalism fraternity, for the coming year. Margaret Morrison of Hood River was elected secretary and Marian Lowry of Walker, treasurer.

Total of 1924 Fees Paid Says Business Office

Banks Return Eleven N. S. F. Checks

When the business office closed Saturday noon, 1901 students had paid their fees. Since then, 23 more have paid. These students have had to pay the $3 fee for paying after the allotted time.

The business office has received a total of 11 N. S. F. checks. Six came back to the office last Saturday and five since then. All those who have had their checks returned for not sufficient funds will have to pay the late filing fee of $3 also.

The business office does not know the exact number who have failed to pay their fees, but it is supposed that the number is fairly large. No effort will be made to see that all pay their fees since there is no accurate means of finding those who are in school and those who are not. The business office assumes that those who do not pay their fees are no longer in school. Only those who have paid fees will receive credit for their courses.

COMMUNITY GROWTH ASSEMBLY SUBJECT

Jake Allen Is Both Author and Lecturer

Jake D. Allen, the speaker at assembly Thursday, will speak on "Organized Community Development," a subject that he knows very well. For a period of ten years, his time has been largely occupied in analyzing community and organization problems.

He is at present the promotion manager of the D. M. Linnard hotels and has his headquarters at the Hotel Whitcomb, San Francisco. He is a member of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce and many other organizations, including the San Francisco Advertising club, the San Francisco Commercial club, the California Association of Commercial secretaries.

Mr. Allen is a prominent speaker and is quite in demand. He has made addresses to 400 Chambers of Commerce. In California he has addressed all the major advertising clubs and the most important business service clubs. In 1920 he was a lecturer on chamber of commerce technique at the University of Wisconsin, in 1921 he was a lecturer on the same subject at Stanford University and in 1922 at the University of Montana and Stanford University.

He is the author of several articles on chamber of commerce work. These are "Chamber of Commerce Analysis and Survey," "Chamber of Commerce Campaigns," "Chamber of Commerce Membership Maintenance," "Chamber of Commerce Publicity," "Program of Work for Chambers of Commerce."

The music for assembly Thursday will be a 'cello solo by Lora Teshnor.

CONDON CLUB ELECTS NEXT YEAR'S OFFICERS

Election of officers of the Condon club section of the Geological and Mining society was announced after a meeting held Tuesday forenoon. The newly elected officers are Don Frazer, president; Mac McClain, vice-president; Don Johnson, secretary; and Ollie Mercer, treasurer.

Installation of officers will take place at the annual banquet to be held April 30.

The retiring officers are Don Zimmerman, president; Alec Shippey, vice-president; Hally Berry, secretary; and Mac McClain, treasurer.

DR. MEIKLEJOHN TO VISIT CAMPUS

Former Amherst President to Arrive Here Thursday for Only Two Day Stay

STUDENTS WILL BE MET

Dr. Scholz of Reed College to Accompany Easterners; Both Famous Educators

Alexander Meiklejohn, former president of Amherst college, and one of the leading progressive educators of the United States, will be on the campus Thursday afternoon and Friday, to meet the faculty and student groups of the University. Motoring with him from Portland will be President H. F. Scholz, of Reed college.

Since the time of their visit to the University is to be very limited, Dr. Meiklejohn and President Scholz will endeavor to crowd as much as possible into the short time allowed. Dinner in honor of the visitors will be served at the Anchorage, to which members of the faculty are to be invited. At 7:30, Dr. Meiklejohn will meet active members of Agora, Dial, Cross Roads and the editing class in Alumni hall. This gathering is not to be exclusive and all persons interested in educational progress are welcome to be present, though no attempt is being made to drum up a large audience.

Leaders Are Named

Dr. Meiklejohn is ranked with the foremost authorities and students of modern tendencies in education in the country, among whom are Frank Aydelotte, president of Amherst college from 1922 to 1923, Dr. Meiklejohn was the leader of a re-organization of the University's teaching methods, and introduced progressive reforms in the general administration of the college. He did develop a rare eagerness and interest in learning in the students. When Dr. Meiklejohn resigned, many of the professors turned in their resignations also, and part of the graduate students refused to accept their degrees, the feeling within the college being so strong in favor of the president's standpoint.

Various Positions Held

Throughout his entire life, Alexander Meiklejohn has been prominent in educational circles. Born in England, February 3, 1872, he moved to America at the age of 8 years, entered school and was graduated from Brown university in 1893, with a degree of B.A. Taking two more years of graduate work, he obtained his M.A. from the same university in 1895. From there, he entered Cornell and was given his Ph.D. degree in 1897.

Returning to Brown university, Dr. Meiklejohn held different professorships in the institution, being head of the department of philosophy from 1901-1912, when he was made president. He is a member of the American Philosophical society, American Psychological association, Phi Beta Kappa, Sigma Xi and Theta Delta Chi.

Dr. Scholz Rhodes Man

President Scholz, author and professor of history, was a Rhodes scholar at Oxford in 1904-7, a member of the first group under Rhodes' will, and a student at the University of Berlin. He came to Reed as president in 1921. He is a member of the American Historical society and Phi Beta Kappa, and has written extensively on philological and historical topics.

DE. EDMUND S. CONKLIN WILL ADDRESS CLASSES

Dr. Edmund S. Conklin of the psychology department will take over two lectures of the personal hygiene classes in the absence of Dr. Bertha Stuart Dymond. Dr. Conklin will address all sections of the class on Tuesday, April 22, and on Tuesday, April 29. No arrangements have as yet been announced for the rest of the lectures of the

Shorn Hair Makes Women Ineligible for Bonneville Job

"Only long-haired girls need apply," is the single specification given for six college women who might desire a position for the entire summer at Bonneville.

Mr. and Mrs. Noyes Eben Tyrrell, owners of a cafe at Bonneville on the Columbia highway, 40 miles from Portland, each year employ college women to wait on the tables. This year six will be taken from this University, in addition to others from the various colleges in the vicinity.

Wages are $50 a month as well as room and board. Cottages are provided for the girls with only four to a cottage. These are under direct supervision of Mrs. Tyrrell. Dean Virginia Esterly will talk further with those desirous of inquiring into the details of this opening.

EASTERN OREGONIANS BACK GIFT CAMPAIGN

Dean Henry Sheldon Finds Alumni Enthusiastic

"Eastern Oregon people are showing good re-action to the Gift Campaign, under the leadership of very enterprising alumni," said Dean Henry D. Sheldon, upon being interviewed yesterday. "The newspapers are willing to give the campaign publicity and I believe the prospects of putting the drive across are quite good."

Dean Sheldon left Eugene on April 6 for Eastern Oregon, where he investigated the success of the campaign in that region. In the cities where he visited, there have been committees of workers formed, each one headed by an alumnus of Oregon. These men are: Arle Hampton, La Grande; Henry McKinney, Baker City; Harold Blackaby, Ontario; and Robert Kellogg, Enterprise.

Dinners were given at each of the towns, the heads of the committees explaining the campaign, while Dean Sheldon placed before the diners the great need of buildings on the campus.

"I think it is particularly splendid that, although a few of the Eastern Oregon cities have been hard hit by the agricultural depression, the alums are determined to meet their full quota," said Dean Sheldon. "It is planned by the heads that every town and city in Oregon will have a dinner on the opening night of the drive, to further it in every way possible. These affairs have already been arranged for."

The drive, which will extend from May 9 to the 29th, estimates the quotas on the basis of 3,800 alumni, at a donation of $260 each. Dean Sheldon says the people are generally enthusiastic, and are good material for the industrious, influential workers, who, he says, have organized the campaign so thoroughly.

JUDGE HENDERSON TO BE OREGON REPRESENTATIVE

Judge Charles E. Henderson, who was graduated from the University in 1893, will be Oregon's representative at the semi-centennial of the founding of Purdue university, LaFayette, Indiana. This celebration is to take place May 1, 2, 3. Judge Henderson will present the felicitations of the University of Oregon to Purdue on that occasion.

State Development Discussed by Dodson, Portland Manager

By Frances Sanford

To get the business men of Oregon to cooperate in helping market the agricultural products of the state, to encourage greater land development, and to sell Oregon to ourselves and subsequently to the outsiders—these are the most important ways in which W. B. D. Dodson, manager of the Portland chamber of commerce, who is attending the short course for commercial secretaries being held on the campus this week, believes greater Oregon development can be most effectively accomplished.

The part of the state around Portland has raised $300,000 to spend on this development program over a period of two years.

DISTANCE MEN GET INTO SHAPE

Inclement Weather Fails to Stop Track Athletes From Spring Training

TEAMS SHOW UP WELL

Sprinters and Mile Runners Endeavor to Develop Stamina and Distance

In spite of the cold weather, the track athletes are not missing practice these winter days, for with the relays coming May 3, and a dual meet with Washington in less than a month, much conditioning will be necessary to get the men into shape.

Last night, several of the distance men who have been on the shelf the last few days with various ailments were out performing. Bill has a crew of men working in these distance races, who, if they escape the ravages of hard luck, should develop into point winners for the school. Tetz, McCool and Keating make a fighting trio that, once they get into shape, should give other conference distance runners a real race. There are others who have not been out for the varsity squad before this year who are also showing promise. Van Guilder and Stephenson should give the others competition for a place on the team if they keep improving as they are doing.

Football Men Training

Several men from the football squad have reported for track since the close of spring practice. Ken Bailey, Jens Terjesen and Ed Kelley are playing around with the weights. Terjesen was on the frosh squad of 1922 as a discus heaver. Vic Risley had his outfit of quarter-milers out last night giving them the air. This is one of the hardest races listed in present day track meets and requires hard consistent training. Last night this crew not only breezed a quarter at good speed; but did their stuff several times around the track with the mile squad. This is to develop stamina.

Complete Schedule Given

The next practice they will probably work with the sprinters, in addition to doing their own distance. A quarter-miler needs the speed of a sprinter and endurance of a distance man. Couple this with the fighting heart and the nerve of a big game hunter, and the ideal is reached.

This spring's program for the varsity as listed is:

April 19—Local competition.

April 26—Interclass meet.

May 3—University of Washington relays at Seattle.

May 10—University of Washington, dual meet, Eugene.

May 17—Dual meet with O. A. C. at Corvallis.

May 24—Open.

May 30-31—Olympic tryouts and conference meet, Eugene.

LIBRARY BUYS PERIODICALS FOR HISTORY DEPARTMENT

A new set of periodicals, "Le Moyen Age," has recently been purchased by the library. The set contains 33 volumes and deals extensively with the history and language of the middle ages. The periodicals were obtained primarily for the history department.
