

SORORITY TEAMS ENTER BASEBALL

Eighteen Houses Divided Into Four Leagues

SENIORS ARE REFEREES

Two Games Will be Played Each Evening

Eighteen women's houses have entered teams for the doughnut baseball season, which starts this week. These have been divided among four leagues.

Only two games will be played each night, due to the lack of sufficient space for the games around the Woman's building. Class volleyball is held in the outdoor gymnasium and the men's varsity are still using the Kincaid field while the permanent diamond is being completed. The grounds near the building are the only space available at present.

Three Practices Required

Three regular practices at the Woman's building and two on vacant lots or yards are necessary for members of a team to partake in a game. Juniors and seniors in the physical education department will be referees.

Members of the four leagues are as follows:

League I—Hendricks hall 1, Alpha Phi, Alpha Xi Delta, Sigma Beta Phi, Thacher cottage.

League II—Susan Campbell 2, Pi Beta Phi, Alpha Omicron Pi, Alpha Chi Omega.

League III—Gamma Phi Beta, Delta Delta Delta, Kappa Alpha Theta, Susan Campbell 1, Alpha Delta Pi.

League IV—Chi Omega, Delta Zeta, Kappa Kappa Gamma, Hendricks 2.

The schedule for the rest of the week is:

Wednesday, April 16. League I—Hendricks 1 vs. Alpha Phi. League II—Pi Beta Phi vs. Alpha Omicron Pi.

Thursday, April 17. League III—Delta Delta Delta vs. Susan Campbell 1. League IV—Chi Omega vs. Hendricks 1.

Friday, April 18. League I—Alpha Xi Delta vs. Sigma Beta Phi. League II—Susan Campbell 2 vs. Alpha Chi Omega.

If there are any changes to be made, they should be reported to Mary Clerin, head of baseball, at 125.

STATE DEVELOPMENT DISCUSSED BY DODSON

ing, $25,000 to land settlement work, and $85,000 to publicity, he said.

"The production from the soil for last year in Oregon amounted to $85,000,000, while in California it reached over $300,000,000," cited Mr. Dodson. "Clearly, we are not using the land as effectively as are our neighbors on the south." He pointed out that in Oregon the farmers should raise specialties peculiar to this state, which would reach a wider market, and in this way the producers would become more prosperous and eventually bring greater prosperity and a number of new people to the state.

Mr. Dodson advocates settlement on landing the reclamation districts of the state, and particularly settlement on small pieces of land. On the family-sized unit farming is more profitable, he said, and the resident is more satisfied. It is also a good thing to get away from destructive market competition, and he is in sympathy with dairying rather than stock and wheat raising, which are crowded industries.

"Oregon is putting about a million dollars into her program of travel and publicity this year," remarked the speaker, "a substantial increase over last year." A large percentage of the tourists who visit Oregon will doubtless become permanent residents. We must, therefore, make the people of Oregon appreciate their state, and then sell the state to the outsider," he concluded with a great deal of emphasis.

TENNIS TOURNAMENT TO START WEDNESDAY

An elimination doughnut tennis tournament will start next Wednesday on the University courts. This will be an open tournament and only singles will be held. The object of these contests is to give the novice a chance to get into competition. Hank Foster, of the physical education department, who is in charge, desires to have all men interested sign the sheet on the bulletin board in the men's gymnasium.

The men will be matched by drawings and it is not decided if challenges will be allowed. The matches will be played every afternoon from 4 to 6. The period of time that will be required to stage the tournament is unknown because of the number that may enter. Courts will be reserved for the tournament and Foster has set until Monday night for the men to sign up for the tournament.

Less Than Month Now Remains Before Long Awaited Event

The University chapter of Sigma Xi, national honorary science fraternity, will hold its monthly meeting for April in Portland this week-end. "This will be one of the most important meetings of the year," said Secretary Harry B. Yocom of the organization, "because at that time members are to be elected. We are hoping to have as many campus members of the organization as possible to make the trip."

Benjamin Horning, of the zoology department, will speak on "The Effect of Thyroid Feeding on the Structure and Color of the Feathers of the Domestic Fowl." Professor Horning has been doing some research along this line during the past months and expectations are that he will have something interesting to present. "When he goes to medical school next fall," said Yocom, "he is expecting to continue his research work along this line."

Two Types of Members

Sigma Xi has two classes of membership, an associate member, and a regular member. In most cases only graduates are elected to the organization, said Yocom. However, if there is a senior who is expecting to carry on scientific work all his life and providing he is doing exceptional work, there is a probability of him being elected to an associate membership in the organization.

Each science department submits names of its members to a nominating committee of four members. This committee passes on the names and then submits them to the society in full regular session. Secretary Yocom said the various departments have submitted the names to him and they are now to be referred to the nominating committee on names.

O. A. C. Club Invites

The initiation of the members will take place in the meeting May 20, at which time Professor Griffin of Reed college will be the main speaker of the organization. The Sigma Xi club at the Oregon Agricultural college has invited the University chapter to Corvallis on the evening of Friday, May 2, said Yocom. Both the members and their wives are invited. The University chapter will furnish the program for the occasion.

IAN CAMPBELL GIVEN HARVARD FELLOWSHIP

Ian Campbell, graduate of '22 and former assistant in mineralogy, has been awarded a fellowship in mineralogy at Harvard university. Campbell will enter Harvard for the year 1924-25.

At present Campbell is at Northwestern university as a teaching fellow, having been granted the fellowship to Northwestern last year after he had taken his master's degree at this University. Campbell is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, national scholastic society, and of Sigma Xi, national science organization.

MARY RAKER REVEALS BIRD HABITS IN TALK

not entirely unlike that of human life were told by the speaker. On one occasion a family of wrens built their nest in a bird house provided for them. All went well until the jealousy of a neighboring family of sparrows was aroused. Knowing that the wren much disliked to have its home adorned with white chicken feathers, the sparrow gathered up a large number of these interior decorations and deposited them in the rough nest built by the wren. Things looked bad for the wren family until the builder of the bird house interfered. Then slowly, and in silent triumph, the wrens carried out the chicken feathers one by one and dropped them on the ground. As each feather fluttered downward the triumphant bird would turn its head to one side and sing his note of glee. Miss Raker described many birds. From the China Pheasant to the long legged Great Blue Heron and the tiny Violent Green Swallow the distinguishing characteristics of the songsters were pointed out.

Canoe Fete Being Planned With Novel Features

Less Than Month Now Remains Before Long Awaited Event

Bloody pirates with drawn daggers, pacing the deck beneath the jolly Roger, swan maidens on lily pad couches, Indian temples replete with jade and elephants, Japan and Holland, modern 'boudoir and ancient crusading camp, even the glades of elfland, e'er long all these will burst into flower before the eyes of a waiting University.

Down the dusky waters of a glowing stream, will sail these water palaces, bringing the scent of incense, the lure of far-off lands, and the glamour of make-believe to waiting eyes. The noisy, peanut-munching mob will be still and draw a breath of wonder at each new apparition, as the light's touching the brown slave's body or the form of the swirling dancing girl, pale from purple to lavender, from green to gold.

It is not too often in these humdrum days that we can leave our every-day worries for the magic of wonderland. It is only once a year that the mill race sees the flotilla of canoe palaces afloat.

In less than a month the gaudy canoe fete will be staged. Even now the plans are being laid, canoes are being measured for platforms, seamstresses are concocting bows and bonnets, Pierrot suits and dairymaid costumes. Multicolored lights will be brought to illumine the floats and give to the whole affair its true atmosphere of spring-time festivity.
