EUGENE PLANS TO BOND CITY

Sum of $500,000 to Erect Auditorium on Campus to be Raised by Issue

COMMITTEE IS NAMED

Measure Is Expected to Come Before People; 20 Year Bonds to be Used

The city of Eugene will bond itself for $500,000 for the purpose of building an auditorium on the University campus, if plans started at a meeting of about 35 of the leading business men of the city, held in the Chamber of Commerce last night, are carried out.

At this meeting it was decided that a municipal bond issue offered the most equitable distribution of the raising of the funds. "We want to show the people of the rest of the state that we are back of this movement to care for the growing student body of the University," declared Frank L. Chambers, speaking at the gathering last night.

Issue for 20 Years

According to plans made by the business men, this issue of bonds will be for 20 years. They will be paid off in 20 annual installments. It is expected that the measure will come up on the ballot at some election in the near future.

A committee composed of L. E. Bean, Campbell Church, and Carl Washburne was appointed to look after the details of placing the measure on the ballot. This committee will start work at once and expects to have the measure before the people at an early election.

"This is a very feasible plan for raising the quota necessary to construct an auditorium on the University campus," declared W. W. Calkins, president of the United States National Bank. It will allow individuals to make private gifts as they see fit and will, at the same time, show the state that the city of Eugene is interested in the welfare of the University.

"The alumni who are in the city and others who have received special benefits from the institution will be expected to contribute in addition to the general levy," he declared.

Seating Capacity 6,000

The auditorium which will be constructed just back of the Memorial Court, will be almost as large as the Portland auditorium and will have sufficient seating capacity to accommodate 6,000 persons.

It will be used for conventions, for student assemblies, and for mass meetings of all kinds. It will be the policy of the University to have it always open to meetings sponsored by citizens of Eugene or Lane county.

EUGENE WOMAN PHYSICIAN TO DR. STUART'S WORK

Dr. Leslie S. Kent, Eugene physician, will take over Dr. Stuart's office hours from now until the end of the term. She will be in Dr. Stuart's office from 1:30 to 2:30 daily from now on, and girls are privileged to visit her at those hours.

"He Who Gets Slapped" Has Climax of Immense Power

By L. B.

The critic of Guild hall plays need spend but little time discussing the dramatic value of the hall's offerings—Fergus Reddie chooses his productions with care. In "He Who Gets Slapped," however, his pupils have a vehicle extraordinary, and whether they fully grasp its significance is questionable.

The possibilities of the play are so great that the company must necessarily extend itself to fulfill them. While the setting reveals little but the tinsel and blare of the circus, the tremendous dramatic power of the play compresses much of life into a few minutes. Andriev has, in "He

JAPANESE BASEBALL PLAYERS WHO MEET VARSITY TOMORROW

VARSITY WINS FROM WHITMAN

Last of Series Taken, 6-7; Latham Cinches Contest With Homer in Seventh

RUNS BREAK UP 5-5 TIE

Visitors Retain Lead Until Fifth Frame; Oregon Is Held Scoreless to Third

Oregon's ball tossers cast precedent into the discard yesterday afternoon. Not since the palmy days of Art Berg has a varsity nine won two games in a row, but Bill Reinhart's team did it yesterday afternoon when they bested Borleske's Missionaries in the second game of the series, 7 to 6.

Latham put the contest on ice in the seventh inning when he drove the horseshoe into the confines of the graveyard for a home run, sending Bittner in ahead of him. The resulting two runs broke up a 5-5 tie and put the varsity ahead. The visitors made a desperate attempt to regain the lead in the eighth, but fell short by one run.

Whitman Scores in First

Coach Reinhart sent Brooks in to do the mound work and the solemn-visaged southpaw had trouble getting settled down during the first few innings. Whitman scored a run in the first canto, repeated the performance in the second, and ran the count up to four in the third. All of their counters came as the result of solid hits and some neat baseball. Brooks pitched good ball after the fourth.

Matsuno, Whitman, a Japanese twirler, held the varsity stickers scoreless until the third, when Brooks crossed the platter after walking, taking second on Sorsby's single, and scoring when Garrett muffed Ross's liner. The visitors retained their lead until the fifth inning. In this frame Whitman's defense went haywire. Brooks and Sorsby both got to the bases on errors, Ross walked and Hobson scored the first two with a hit through second. Latham then came through with a timely bingle and Oregon had the lead.

Score Tied in Seventh

Both twirlers received stellar support after the fourth inning, and there was no more scoring until the seventh. In this inning Borleske's crew again tied the count. Tsuda opened with a terrific three-bagger to deep left and scored as Garrett was being put out at first. Brooks managed to dispose of the next two men. Then followed the varsity's half of the inning and Latham's Babe Ruth clout which won the game. The visitors scored in the eighth when Brooks walked Yenny, who was sacrificed to second, took third on Bittner's wild throw to first and scored on a long fly to center. Not a Missionary reached first in the ninth, however, and the game was over.

After Wednesday's thirteen inning battle, yesterday's game lacked the excitement of the first tilt but it was a much faster contest. Only two errors were made by each side, both twirlers receiving fairly good support. Sorsby, Latham and Hobson were the hitting stars for Oregon, while Dean led the visiting stickers.

FACULTY AND STUDENTS GO TO REED FOR WEEKEND

A number of faculty and students have gone to Reed college this weekend, in acceptance of the invitation extended by President Richard F. Scholz, of that institution, to hear a short course of lectures by Dr. Alexander Meiklejohn.

INSTRUCTIONS TO BAND

All members of the University band are expected to be at the Woman's building at noon today, in uniform, with their instruments, ready to play for the Student Union Drive luncheon. Members of the band will also be served with luncheon. It is extremely important that all be there and be there on time.

DRIVE QUOTA HALF RAISED

FEVER OF DRIVE INCREASES DAILY

Luncheon and Pep Talks to Precede Posting of Latest Results Today

MEETING TO BE BRIEF

Today is another day. Its importance consists in its being next to the last. Forty-eight hours to get over the top! Paes are beginning to quicken. Breaths are bated. The excitement grows more and more tense. Everybody wonders what the outcome will be.

Today is another day. Workers will go forth with revived spirits. More and more people will be approached to subscribe to Student Union. The issue grows more serious with the passing of the hours. And the realization that the full quota of $200,000 must be secured by midnight Saturday night is driven home to the mind of each worker.

Luncheon Given Today

Today brings another meeting. At noon the drive organization will eat, and in the midst of the feeding it will take an inventory of itself and trace the monkey-wrench in the machinery, if there be one present. At high noon time Mrs. Davis will unveil the luscious victuals of her always pleasant festive board, and as the pungent smell of well-cooked food permeates the air and tickles the appetites of hungry workers, they will seat themselves to enjoy a meal and hear one another's problems.

The meeting today is scheduled to be brief. It will be only long enough to conclude the business on hand. There will be much to talk about, Chairman Rockey predicts, because his forces will not come together again until tomorrow night after one and a half days of unflagging efforts.

Competition Grows Keen

The R. O. T. C. band will be at the meeting to provide the flare of trumpets and the beating of drums. After the meal the entire gathering will adjourn to the east end of the Woman's building and from there parade to the headquarters building where another ceremony of posting scores will take place. This will be livelier than the one of yesterday. The competition between classes is growing keener and the others are eager to head off the triumphant junior class which walked away with the honors yesterday.

Reports of captains and chairmen will be heard today just as they were rendered yesterday, according to Chairman Rockey. All such officers are to be prepared to render these reports early during the meeting. There will be short pep talks by the committee workers, and the meeting will close early, so as not to drag long after 1 o'clock.

SIDELIGHTS

Milton A. Miller, state senator and former collector of customs for the port of Portland, who spoke to the drive workers at yesterday's luncheon, is an example of an Oregon student who has never lost the "Old Oregon Spirit," in spite of a few grey hairs.

He was a student here back in '84 and '85. In those days there were only 200 students on the campus. Later he was on the board of regents for 12 years.

There is one argument for pledging to the Student Union which cannot be answered, according to Claude Robinson.

Suppose that instead of calling for donations to the Student Union, they had decided to raise the money by a tax on the students.

This tax would probably have been set at $75 a year.

GLEE CLUBS TO MEET

APRIL 28 IN PORTLAND

Joint Recital to be Given on Campus Tuesday

The Oregon Men's Glee club will appear Monday night, April 28, at the Portland municipal auditorium, in a contest with five other glee clubs, members of the Pacific Intercollegiate Glee Club association. The other colleges competing are Washington State college, O. A. C., Pacific university, Willamette university, Whitman college, and University of Idaho.

The program is to be composed of three sections. The first is a song of their own choice by each school; second, each school will sing "Morning Hymn" by Henschel, and in the last group, the schools are each to sing one of their college songs. Lots will be drawn before each group, to determine the order in which the clubs will sing. Oregon's selection for the first group is "Shores of Sighing" by Choffin, and they will give "In a Harbor of the Mountains" as the college song.

This intercollegiate association is part of the national association and the "Morning Hymn" was selected by the headquarters in New York City. The same procedure will be followed here as in the Chicago and New York contests, which came earlier in the spring.

The glee club leaves for Portland Monday morning and sing in the evening. The following day, they will return to the campus with the Washington State college glee club, which, with the local club, will give a concert Tuesday evening in the Woman's building at 8:15.

The bulk of the program will be rendered by the guests. "We may expect an exceedingly interesting program from the Washington State club," says John Stark Evans, director of the local club. "They have some serious selections and four or five have been reported as screamingly funny. They have made several long trips this spring, and have been extraordinarily successful."

Oregon gave a joint concert with Washington State at Pullman, November 3, and this appearance will be in the nature of a return engagement. It is the last musical event to be presented on the campus this term and, according to Jack Benefiel, graduate manager, probably the best. The admission price to students is 50 cents.

TRACK AND FIELD MEET TO INCLUDE ALL EVENTS

'Ganging' of Two Classes Not to be Allowed

Saturday's track and field carnival will include all the events of a regular meet, and will decide the cinder path supremacy for the four classes of this school. The meet will start at 1:30, and, according to Coach Hayward, there will be lots of officials and the affair will be over in time to see the ball game.

In this meet each class will have to fend for itself. There will be no "ganging" of juniors and seniors as in the relay carnival last term. This should give the freshmen more than an even break, since they have a greater number of men to pick from than all the other classes put together. By ganging a sufficient number of second and third places, with a possible first or two, they might wrest the championship from their upper-class brethren.

In a measure, this will be the deciding factor in the picking of some of the candidates for both the varsity and freshman relay teams, although one or two races will be contested later in the week before the permanent candidates are picked, says Bill.

LIBRARY PURCHASES BOTANICAL MAGAZINES

A shipment of 66 volumes of back year editions of the Fortnightly Review has recently been received by the library. The publication is an English review of literary and general articles with a scope similar to that of the Atlantic Monthly. The new volumes practically complete the files at the library.

Among other new editions lately purchased by the library is an important set of botanical periodicals. The books were published in London in 1892 and include volumes 3 to 18. The collection, which is edited by a group of noted scientists, is one that Prof. A. R. Sweetser, head of the botany department, has been anxious to obtain for some time.

MISS COLLIER WILL BE OREGON Y. W. DELEGATE

Miss Dorothy Collier, national secretary of the University Young Women's Christian association last year, will represent Oregon at the national Y. W. C. A. convention to be held in New York City, April 29 to May 6.

Miss Collier, whose home is in Eugene, has been on a tour of European and Asiatic countries for the past year. She recently returned to the United States, and is at present visiting friends in the east. She expects to come to Eugene some time later in the summer.

GRADIES CHECKED FOR PHI BETA KAPPA LIST

The registrar's office has been busy checking the list of seniors to find those with averages that will make them eligible for Phi Beta Kappa, national honorary scholastic fraternity.

An average of 2.25 is required and the entire list of seniors is being gone over.

New Arguments to Aid Student Union

Following are some immutable arguments for Student Union:

1. It is part of the University's gift campaign. The students have adopted as their part the raising of $200,000 for a student building.
2. The A. S. U. O. has no headquarters, no home. It requires one. Student Union will provide it.
3. You are saved $200 by the opportunity to subscribe to the Student Union fund. If the endowment campaign were not being conducted, the University would charge each student a tuition fee of $75 per year, or $300 for four years. And if this were done the money would not be spent on a student building.
4. If you want your money to go toward any of the other buildings in the endowment group, it will be accepted as such.
5. Each student, receiving the benefits of an education, owes a debt to his Alma Mater. Here is the opportunity to pay it.
6. Since the gift campaign is indispensable to the future of the University, it must succeed. In order that the greater campaign succeed, the student campaign must succeed.
7. The payments of $10 per year, or $5 semi-annually, are easy. The installment plan makes it easy to contribute. Have you signed up?
8. The Student Union will preserve the integrity of Oregon spirit. Do your part.

WOMEN TO TAKE FIRST HIKE OF YEAR SUNDAY

The first W. A. A. hike of the season will start from the Woman's building for Pisgah mountain at 9:30 next Sunday morning. It is for a distance of about eleven miles, and, according to Janet Woods, head of hiking, there will be much scenery along the way.

The hike is for all girls on the campus and can be counted toward a letter or sweater in the W. A. A. point system. Those intending to go are requested to bring their own lunch and five cents for coffee. The return is planned for the middle of the afternoon.

BRIDGE DEDICATION HAS FACULTY SUPPORT

A number of faculty members are expected to attend the dedication ceremonies for the new Booth bridge at Winchester, Sunday afternoon, according to Karl Onthank.

Mr. Onthank, L. H. Johnson, Dean Walker and Dean John Bovard are members of the committee in charge of the ceremony. The bridge is across the Umpqua river and has been named in honor of R. A. Booth, of Eugene, in recognition of his work while state highway commissioner.

Workers Report Progress of Canvassing During First Day of Campaign

Goal Not Yet in Sight, Says Rockey, But Next Two Days Will Tell the Tale

Hope is in the hearts of those giving in their time and energies to the drive that it will be brought to a successful conclusion Saturday. To date a total of $84,080 has been pledged to the Student Union. The percentage of students won over and pledged is 42. The halfway mark was not quite reached at the end of the second day's canvassing. But it is felt that when the working teams actually get into the spirit of the drive they will be more effective and bring in subscriptions rapidly.

Milton Miller Speaker

The status of the Union drive was first learned at the banquet held for the drive teams at noon yesterday. Haddon Rockey, chairman of soliciting forces, conducted business with neatness and dispatch. He got the business under way early in the meeting. First he called upon the drive teams to report their successes. Each team captain rose, when his name was called, and told how many persons had been interviewed, and how many pledged. The chairmen of class organizations then gave their summaries of pledges secured, and the results were scored on the blackboard in the assembly room.

During the banquet Rockey called upon Milton A. Miller, prominent Oregon democrat, to say a few words to the assembled workers. He told them of their wonderful opportunities as citizens of the fairest state of the land, that he was a graduate of the University, and that he had had the pleasure of being a member of the board of regents.

Junior Class Pledging

The gathering, when the meal was concluded and after Claude Robinson presented to them a poignant argument in favor of the Union which he urged them to use, filed out and went to the headquarters building for the drive, where a simple ceremony of posting team scores was held.

The junior class has made the most progress in the drive thus far. The members of the class of 1925 have pledged $23,525 to the Student Union. This is 52 per cent of their quota to be raised by Saturday night. The senior class is second in the competition with pledges amounting to $15,220, or 44 per cent of their total.

The sophomores by noon yesterday had signed up pledges aggregating $21,710, or 43 per cent of their quota. The freshman class had made the poorest showing. Their aggregate score was $23,625, a larger individual score than any of the classes showed. But the size of the class gave it a percentage score of only 39 per cent.

Flying Squadron Functions

Pledges continued to be brought into the Student Union headquarters all day. The headquarters continually ran out of supplies, pledge ribbons, etc. The flying squadron, which is organized to meet emergency calls when the regular solicitors return, started to function yesterday. Some of the emergency workers succeeded in putting over their deals, when the prospects hovered in hesitancy as to what they should do. The organization of these emergency committeemen is proving satisfactory. They will do their best and hardest work today and tomorrow, gathering together the loose ends of the campaign.
