Rally Proclaims Success of Drive to City and State

Student Body Parades Through Streets and Theaters to Armory Where Celebration Is Finally Completed in Dancing and Stunts

By L. L.

The news was broken last night that set the gang wild. The crowd of campaign workers over in the Woman's building grew an Oskie that knocked Ted Baker off the stage; Dean Straub is feeling and looking fully 40 years younger; President Campbell is supremely happy though he is confined to his home with illness; and the whole student body is hoarse and sleepy this morning as a result of last night's celebration.

And the crowd pulled the usual thing when something exciting happens. They rallied and paraded through the streets. From the east end of the Woman's building to the Armory the line was one decided roar and confusion.

Parade Includes All

They marched to the fraternity and sorority houses with the band and with their screeching voices called out all who were not already waiting for the excitement.

Through the streets lined with townspeople the cheering mob paraded, singing "Mighty Oregon" and giving the yells of victory. Into the theaters they hurried and told the audience of the success of the Student Union campaign.

"It was a wonderful night," said one who had worked for the victory. "A night that means much to the history of the University. The first stronghold in the gift campaign has fallen before the onslaught."

At the Armory the Midnight Sons played their strains of melody and the students danced away in their revelry and excitement.

Kappa Alpha Theta put on the April Frolic stunt, "The Cheese Dream," to the extensive amusement of the entire crowd. Paul Matthews, Glenwood Archer and Lincoln Erwin made a decided hit with their stunt.

The eccentricity of two well known campus personalities and Guild hall stars was displayed in a conversation over the telephone, with central breaking in for an occasional pertinent remark.

Kappa Alpha Theta took the crowd to a land of dreams, a land which is entered through a "Cheese Dream." It is said that the eating places were besieged by the entire freshman class in search of "Cheese Dreams" as soon as the stunt was over. Who wouldn't want one if it would take him to such a land as was portrayed?

Game Lost to Orientals

Meiji University Ball Squad Takes Contest by Score of 11 to 6

Guests Gain in Fifth

Varsity Makes Rally in Ninth but Fails to Equal Visitors

Japan's touring collegians from Meiji university proved too much for the varsity yesterday. The invading ball tossers bunched their hits in the fifth and sixth innings enough to pile up a six-lead run, and finished the game a 11-6 favorite.

Oregon outhit the visitors but failed to concentrate its bingles. Meiji's batting onslaught which started in the fifth and ended in the seventh, made a one-sided affair out of a perfectly good ball game. At the opening of the unlucky fifth the varsity was leading, 4-3, and the teams gave every indication of being evenly matched. But Pil, on the mound for Reinhart's crew, weakened at this juncture, walking Yokozawa and hitting Inaba after Smachi had reached first on a hit. This filled the bases. The next visitor crashed one over short letting in two runs. Here Coach Reinhart waved Pil to short and sent Bill Bittner on the mound. Kumagai, Meiji's flashy middle-gardner, greeted Bill with another hit which brought in the third run of the inning. Bittner managed to dispose of the next two men, but another run came in on a passed ball, giving the Orientals a three run lead.

Poor Start Made

The Japanese continued their batting in the next frame and chased over three more tallies. In the seventh inning Phil Ringle was put in the box and the first man greeted him with a home run clout off deep right. Thereafter there was no further scoring, however, but the damage had been done.

The varsity got off to a bad start in the first inning when the first batter walked and the second reached first on an error by Latham. Followed a couple of wild throws which let in two runs. This handicap was made up in the second inning when Bittner, Latham and Wright connected for safe hits which netted two runs. Oregon took the lead in the third when the aforementioned trio again connected safely and brought in two more runs. But then came the disastrous fifth which gave the foreign lads too big a lead.

Rally Lead Short

The varsity made a spirited rally in the ninth inning, but it fell short.

Oregon to Have Two Birthdays, 1876 and 1924

Every class went over its quota. Even though the freshmen girls were worried over the outcome at a late hour this afternoon.

"Two of them," said Haddon Rockley, "came up to headquarters convinced that the freshmen women would not raise their quota."

But the committee was keeping the good news hid, that the celebration might not break until tonight.

When the girls were given a peep at the figures they burst into tears.

Women, you know, weep as much for joy as for anything else.

The University now has two

Many Authors to Meet Here

Mrs. Parsons' Students Will Attend

Numerous letters of acceptance have been received in answer to the invitations sent out by the committee in charge of the Oregon Authors' conference, which is to be held on the University campus, May 3. The writers are to collect from all parts of the state for a day with campus scribes, and will give the latter an opportunity to associate with the authors who have already made a success in their vocation.

Several students of Mabel Holmes Parsons, professor of short story and creative writing of the extensive division, are intending to be at the conference, according to Prof. Alfred Powers of the extension division, who is on the entertainment committee. Many of Mrs. Parsons' students have written articles and short stories which have been accepted and published in various magazines of the United States.

Prof. W. F. G. Thacher, who is chairman of the conference, went to Portland yesterday to lay the plans of the convention before the Oregon Authors' league and to extend to the league a blanket invitation to attend the conference.

While on the campus, the authors will be the guests of the men's honorary writing fraternities and a series of banquets is being arranged with speeches from the visiting writers. Among the most distinguished of the writers attending the conference is Edison Marshall, a former student in the University, and now under contract with the Hearst company, which is to publish his novels in serial form in its different magazines.

Frosh Track Team Wins

Inter-class Competition Shows the Yearlings Have Fast Outfit

Tuck Is High Man

Hayward Is to Send Quarter Mile Men to Seattle Relays

By taking four firsts and enough seconds and thirds to make 52½ points, the freshmen won the inter-class track and field meet yesterday at Hayward field with an eight-point margin over their nearest competitors, the sophomores. Coach Hayward was well enough satisfied with the showing of his quarter-milers that he will send a mile relay team to Seattle next Saturday to take part in the carnival at the University of Washington.

Rosenburg Injured

The absence of Spearow and the fact that Chick Rosenburg injured himself in the first race of the afternoon, cut the senior team out of many needed points. Arthur Tuck of the junior class was high-point man for the afternoon, taking five firsts in the javelin, shot and discus for 15 points. Eby of the sophomore tribe cleared the bar at 5 feet 10 inches in the high jump with very little effort.

Pledges Pour In To Boost Total Well Over Top

Record Sum Accumulated in Last Day of Drive; Seniors Succeed in Pledging High Percent; Student Body May Be Proud of Achievement

By J. W. P.

Student Union went over the top, with lots of luck, and a total of $219,087 pledged. The thermometer was broken, for the pledges amounted to 109 per cent of the $200,000 quota which was set. More than $80,000 in pledges was subscribed on the fourth and last day of the campaign, a sum greater than any other day of the drive.

The little senior horse on the miniature turf set up before Student Union headquarters, finally cut down the lead of its junior pace-setter and broke the tape at the finish with subscriptions of 117 per cent. He nosed out the junior steed by a bare one per cent. The seniors with a quota of $35,000 pledged $41,070. The juniors raised $52,280, going over their $45,000 quota and totaling a 116 per cent subscription.

Claude Robinson Writes Message

The students have demonstrated what they think of Oregon. With a wonderful spirit of loyalty and devotion, they have brought their gifts to Alma Mater, and thus they have given material expression of the gratitude that they feel for her.

All through the state and the country at large goes this ringing challenge of the Oregon student body. Surely the citizens of this state will say, "If that is the way Oregon students value their University, we, too, must do something to help."

To the executive chairman, to the class heads, captains, and team workers; to the many other students and members of the University community whose never-tiring efforts have made this campaign so great a success, go the heartiest congratulations and thanks of the A. S. U. O. office. Comradeship is developed in struggles, and four hundred workers, striving shoulder to shoulder for the cause of Greater Oregon have developed a unity in the Oregon student body that has scarcely been approximated before. And this feeling does not stop with the four hundred workers, for every student who has pledged his gift appreciates more keenly his responsibilities as a member of the Oregon family.

President Campbell's vision of a greater University is on its way to realization. His students, though, will not stop with this first effort, but will strive on with him, until that wonderful vision is transformed to accomplished fact.

CLAUDE ROBINSON.

LEAF YEAR DANCE TICKET SALE BEGINS TODAY

Tickets for the Women's league leaf year dance will be sold at the various women's houses today at dinner time. The dance is to be held May 2, in the Woman's building. Price of admission is 85 cents to be paid by the co-eds, who are also expected to assume other masculine responsibilities, such as asking the men for the dates.

The proceeds from this dance will go to the social treasury of the league to help pay their part of the expenses incurred last fall, when a representative was sent east to the convention of university women.

The freshmen raised the largest sum of any class, subscribing $64,025. Their percentage was 107. The sophomores, with a quota of $50,000, subscribed $52,900, aggregating 106 per cent.

Leaders Are Praised

Haddon Rockley, chairman of the canvassing forces, which numbered approximately 400 students throughout the four days of the drive, deserves the credit for putting Student Union over the top with a bang. Rockley testifies that sleeping for him was impossible. He worked night and day on the drive, and when on the dawn of the last day, which was yesterday, he found the total lacking $70,000 of the quota, he hammered his organization to a fare-you-well, and brought the drive to a most triumphant conclusion.

To Douglas Farrell goes the credit for staging successful stunts throughout the days of the drive. Farrell was the pulmotor of the organization. Whenever someone would become discouraged, he would resuscitate that person, and send him away happy. He was ever ready with a laugh, a joke, or some noise to keep the excitement tense at all times. He staged last night's rally, and staged it well. He started things with a furor, and ended them the same.

Credit Due Robinson

To our president, Claude Robinson, goes the credit for the whole thing. "Robby," as he is so affectionately known to us all, will have his name recorded in the annals of Universitas Oregonensis as the president of the student body at the time when the historic Student Union drive was driven. "Robby" took up the standard of Student Union handed him by John MacGregor, father of the plan. He picked his associates in the undertaking and he carried the idea to such a finish as is to be envied by all other bodies which will emulate the students in carrying on the Gift Campaign to completion.

Dean Straub testified at the banquet last night that never had such energy been expended since the University was established. And that was a good many years ago. Bob Kuykendall, president of the alumni association, said he did not believe Oregon Spirit was dead. And his vindication has been doubly substantiated.

The Oregon Student Body is, after all, the group to be congratulated. It has sacrificed nobly. To think of the fact that perhaps 70 per cent of the students are self-supporting in a degree should make all students be proud they are matriculated in Oregon's glorious University.

Alma Mater,
Here at thy shrine, receive a sacred tribute brought by thy students, of whom thou art so greatly beloved.

Alma Mater,
Thy youngest children have given expression to their heartfelt gratitude.
Now, let others do their share,

Alma Mater,
And give material manifestation of the debt of gratitude they owe.

TWO FORMER STUDENTS WED AT LA GRANDE

Word has been received of the marriage of Walter Kennon, '18, and Blanche Price Anderson, ex-'21, at La Grande, Oregon, April 22. They will live in Baker, where Mr. Kennon is interested in the lumber business. He is a member of Sigma Chi and was a member of the Men's Glee club while in the University. Mrs. Kennon was a resident at Hendricks hall.
