Polls will be open in the library entrance from 9 until 3 o'clock today for the election of Women's league officers for the coming year. The candidates for election are: President, Jeanne Gay and Winifred Graham; vice-president, Mary Bartholomew and Mary Clerin; secretary, Maurine Buchanan and Lucinda Dell; treasurer, Anna DeWitt and Janet Wood; sergeant-at-arms, Glenna Fisher and Delia Sherwood; reporter, Elizabeth Cady and Katherine Lauderdale.

Competition Is Keen
Much interest is being displayed in the election and a close race is anticipated. All women are urged to vote. New officers will be installed at the next regular mass meeting of the league. The officers to be elected, together with the heads of the Women's Athletic association and the Young Women's Christian association, act as the executive council of the league.

The committee in charge of the polls is: Miriam Swartz, Edwina Riechen, Maude Schroeder, and Elizabeth Griggs.

TRADE JOURNALISTS SELL MORE STORIES

Two more articles written by students in the course in trade journalism and special feature writing have been accepted for publication. One of the largest retail clothing magazines in the country purchased an article from Leo Munly on the styles in clothing that appeal most to University of Oregon men.

Wilhelmine Daniel sold an article to a Middle West packers' and meat trade journal on a successful butcher shop in Philomath, Oregon, which has built up a profitable trade in the community surrounding the town by unique selling methods and a progressive business policy.

EDITOR OF 'OLD OREGON' RETURNS FROM PORTLAND

Grace Edgington, editor of "Old Oregon," returned to the campus Saturday night from Portland, where she has been visiting since Thursday, collecting material for the medical issue of the alumni magazine. Miss Edgington said that while she was there, she spoke with many alumni and they all showed keen interest in the Student Union drive. They seemed to look to the campus for inspiration for their own part in the Gift Campaign.

PROFESSOR O. F. STAFFORD IS BACK FROM CINCINNATI

Prof. O. F. Stafford of the chemistry department is back on the campus after attending the funeral of his mother, who passed away last week at Cincinnati. Professor Stafford was gone 10 days, and during his absence, Prof. H. G. Tanner taught his classes.

METHODS FOR JUDGING CANOE FETE OUTLINED

Heads Choose Four Points of Desirability

The general lines along which floats in the canoe fete will be judged, were outlined last evening at a meeting of the heads of Junior Week-end, with Prof. A. H. Schroff and Karl Ontbank.

In order that the judges may have a definite standard of excellence, four things were given as desirable, each to count 25 per cent towards the prize. The first requirement is conception, under which comes first the idea which is carried out. Originality of idea is of first importance.

"I can even conceive of awarding the prize to a float whose composition was not the best but which possessed particular distinction of idea," said Professor Schroff.

Conception also includes expression and appropriateness to the setting. If two floats appear to have equal merit in all other lines, the one most appropriate to the mill-race setting would be judged the better. The committee is making no attempt to standardize the floats, however. Their first desire is to see the students display originality and imagination along this line.

The second point, also counting 25 per cent is composition. This includes the factors of balance, rhythm and harmony. Color is also counted one-fourth. As a large part of the effectiveness of the float depends upon the color scheme, this point is being emphasized. Under the heading of color, come color harmony, and ingenuity of lighting effect and tone.

HUSKIES TAKE FIRST CONTEST

Four Homers Feature Close Game Which Washington Wins from Varsity, 9-8

RALLY IN NINTH FAILURE

Visitors Clout Out Thirteen Hits to Seven by Locals; Game Today Set for 3:15

Thirteen safe hits, including three home runs, a pair of three-baggers, and three two-base hits enabled Washington to nose out the varsity tilters in a hard-fought contest yesterday, the first of the series with the Huskies. The varsity threatened continually and had the tying run on second in the ninth, but the last minute rally failed and left Oregon the short end of a 9-8 score.

Washington hit the pellet hard when they connected. Malone, Jackson, and Lewis each broke into the limelight with four-base swats, while Frayne and Lewis each garnered triples during the afternoon. "Shanty" Malone, the visitors' slugging shortstop, was the hitting demon, with a home run, two doubles, and a single in five trips to the plate.

Varsity Makes Seven Hits
The varsity are only credited with seven hits, but they made them all count, and took advantage of the opposing pitchers' wildness enough to be in the running until the final out. Hobson, with a home run and a single, and Latham, with a single and a double, led the Oregon attack.

Both teams used two pitchers during the fray. Tim Sausser started in the box for Oregon, but was relieved by Ray Williams in the sixth. Morgan, who started for Washington, was jerked in the seventh, after the varsity had driven in two runs and taken the lead. He was relieved by Shidler.

Huskies Start Well
Washington got off to an auspicious start when Malone, lead-off man, drove one of Sausser's pitches for a home run. Latham's error followed by Frayne's triple made it two. The varsity came right back and tied it up, however. Sorsby and Ross both were easy outs, but a couple of errors enabled Hobson and Bittner to get on, and Latham brought them in with a crashing two-bagger.

The visitors got another in the second, when Jackson connected for the second homer of the day. They ran the count up to four in the third, but the varsity also scored in this inning, when Hobson walked, stole second, reached third on a fielder's choice and crossed the plate on a wild pitch.

Oregon Balles in Seventh
Washington scored again in the fifth, but the varsity evened the count when Hobson drove out a Babe Ruth clout, sending Ross in ahead of him. In the sixth, Sausser weakened to the extent of enabling another run to come in on two safe hits. Williams was touched for another hit by Lewis, but the run-getting stopped when Malone was trapped off third for the third out.

Scoring was then delayed until the seventh. In this frame, Rein-

VOD-VIL ACTS HAVE VARIETY

Two Showings to be Given in Heilig at 7 and 9:30 on Saturday Evening

SEATS ON SALE FRIDAY

'Captain Jacqueline,' Play by Imogene Letcher, Is Feature Skit of Program

The biggest show of the year is coming Saturday evening. That is the manner in which Dave Swanson, director of the Junior Vod-vil, who has been reviewing acts every afternoon and evening, characterizes the annual event.

Two big performances to accommodate the throngs of University students, faculty, and out-of-town guests who have signified their intention of attending the widely-heralded Junior Vod-vil, will be a new feature this year.

Eight Acts Billed
A wealth of material is displayed in the varied program chosen for the function. Dance acts, orchestra acts, song and dance numbers, the always appealing coon feature, a very good burlesque number, a one-act comedy, and Imogene Letcher's musical comedy, "Captain Jacqueline," proclaimed as the climax of the evening, are included in the eight acts billed on the program.

The first show will begin at 7 o'clock and will last two hours, the second show is set for 9:30, thereby allowing 30 minutes to clear the house between performances. It is believed that most of those on dates will avail themselves of the early performance in order to have more time for other activities later. The arrangement of acts has been carefully worked out so that there will be no time elapse between acts, each following the other in rapid succession.

Skits Are Listed
The opening is a lively dance number; the second is an act by Jack Myers' Mid-Nite Sons, featuring an exotic tango. A travesty starring three campus celebrities in snappy dialogue and plenty of jokes and stories, will follow. The fourth is a one-act comedy with an original theme which will be given by the University company; next will be a song and dance act using double piano; this will be followed by a musical skit.

"Captain Jacqueline," the musical comedy featuring a cast of 35, will precede a burlesque act in which seven prominent students will participate; the final number is a clever feature by Ray Graham's Collegians. The University orchestra will furnish music for the evening, and the Mid-Nite Sons will play for the musical comedy. Imogene Letcher of Portland, composer of the latter, will arrive Thursday to put the finishing touches on her musical comedy before its initial appearance on Saturday night.

All Seats Reserved
Seats will go on sale Friday morning at 10 o'clock at the Heilig theater, and will be handled the same as tickets for all road shows inasmuch as there will be no exchange tickets. Prices are 75 cents and $1.00 and all seats will be reserved. A limit has been placed of ten tickets to a person. Don Park will be in charge of the seat sale.

Virgil Mulkey, Pauline Bondurant and Henry Sheldon are executing the scenery which promises to be an attractive feature of the show. Hilda Chase and Lexro Prillman are collecting the properties for the performances.

Special Equipment Had
Special theatrical equipment has arrived at the Heilig for the use of the Vod-vil. Joy Johnson, Katherine Pinneo and Bernard McPhillips are assisting in the direction of the acts.

A large contingent from the medical school at Portland has stated intentions of coming to Eugene for the Vod-vil, as well as an assembly from O. A. C. and Corvallis. Mothers Down for Mother's weekend will attend, and Oregon authors here for a convention on that date.

THREE A. S. U. O. CANDIDATES OUT

Nominations Slated for Next Assembly and Elections May 7

Many Other Aspirants Expected to Show Intentions Tomorrow

By Arthur Budd
Although student-body nominations will take place Thursday at assembly only three candidates have announced their candidacy thus far.

Ruth Akers, president of the girls' glee club and one of the best-known young vocalists in the state, is in the race for student-body secretaryship. Augusta DeWitt, senior editor of this year's Oregonian, will run for the editorship of next year's book. The third candidate to announce his intentions is Fred Martin, member of the yell staff, who aspires to the position of yell king. The first two candidates are juniors while Martin is a sophomore.

Little Talk Had
Up to yesterday there had been little or no talk of elections. The Student Union drive swept everything before it, and any talk of campus politics would have been about as welcome on the campus last week as were the squawks of the few who held out against the great union movement. Now that the purpose of the drive is accomplished, the student body must act quickly, for nominations are only two days away and there are only nine days between now and elections, which will be held Wednesday, May 7.

Student-body nominations were held last year on May 3. On April 24, ten days before the student assembly heard the nominating speeches, four candidates announced their candidacy. Three days later the first candidate for student body president came out, but it was not until the morning of nominations that the only other man to run for the chief executive job made his intentions known.

Short Time Left
The extreme shortness of the time is not the only thing which makes this year's political wrangle interesting. The dearth of outstanding men in the class of 1925 is quite evident. Most of the men from that class who have been mentioned have been characterized as "too young" by the seniors who are taking the trouble to be interested.

That this is to be a "dark horse year" is evident. That the "dark horse" may come from the class of '24 is suggested. Just who it might be is still conjecture. Earl Shaffer and Hal Chapman have been mentioned, but neither man will return to the campus next year. Randall Jones, a senior in law, has been suggested, but he will make no statement. Ed Tapfer, whom the campus wise-heads had slated to run, absolutely denies any intentions of doing so.

If Jones could be persuaded to run, his reputation as an older and experienced head would give him some advantage.

Developments Awaited
A great many backers of prospective candidates are cautiously awaiting today's developments, and it is

LADDER TOURNAMENT TO RANK TENNIS MEN

A ladder tennis tournament will be held for the varsity and freshman aggregations starting tomorrow afternoon. Coach Fahl has picked a varsity squad of seven men and a five-man freshman team from the recent elimination tournament, but he will pick a five-man varsity and a three-man freshman team.

The varsity squad is composed of the following, according to their rank: 1, Meyer; 2, Rice; 3, Crary; 4, McBride; 5, Slattery; 6, Harding; 7, Gamboa. The freshman squad: 1, Mead; 2, Adams; 3, McIntosh; 4, Westergren; 5, Dorsey. The man at the bottom of the squad will play the man in the next higher rank and so on until five men are chosen for the varsity team and three for the freshman crew. The losers drop out and in this tournament the rank of the freshmen and varsity men will be determined. Mentions will be made tomorrow.

DEANS AND ADVISORS TO HAVE CONFERENCE

Men of Western Colleges Will Meet Thursday

A conference of deans of men and student advisors from all colleges on the Pacific coast will be held on the University campus Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week. The conference will be the first of its kind ever held on the Pacific coast.

A national conference of similar nature convened at the University of Michigan last week. And as many of the Western and Pacific coast institutions were unable to send representatives, the conference here this week has come about, partly, because of that situation.

The meeting this week will be mostly of an organizational nature, as it is planned to make it an annual event.

Student loan funds, student self-government, honor codes, vocational advice, and fraternity and living organization problems will be some of the issues to be discussed at the conference.

The entertainment and conference program will be announced more definitely either today or tomorrow.

Representatives who have sent word that they will come are: George W. Peavy, Oregon Agricultural college; Fred Farley, College of the Pacific, San Jose, California; William E. Nicholl, Pomona college, Claremont, California; George H. Alden, Willamette university, Salem, Oregon; J. E. Gould, University of Washington, Seattle; Frank T. Barnard, Washington State college, Pullman, Washington; George Culver, Stanford university, Palo Alto, California. Dean John Straub, and Dean Walker will be the official representatives for the University of Oregon.

OAKLEY KELLEY STOPS IN EUGENE ON FLIGHT

Lieutenant Oakley G. Kelly, who with Lieutenant John A. McCready, made the first non-stop flight from coast to coast, flying an army airplane, arrived yesterday in Eugene in the interests of the Citizens' Military Training Camp, which will be held at Camp Lewis, American Lake, Washington, from June 9 to July 18.

Lieut. Col. Jason M. Walling, 7th U. S. Infantry, Vancouver Barracks, is accompanying Lieutenant Kelley on a flight through Oregon and Washington for the purpose of promoting interest in the C. M. T. C. From here they will go to Roseburg, Medford, and other points to the south.

CAMPUS WOMEN PLAN PICNIC FOR TONIGHT

This evening at 5:15 o'clock, University women who are interested in the Seabeck summer camp will hold a picnic at Coburg bridge. All women desiring to go are asked to leave their names with Miss Florence Magowan at the Y. W. C. A. bungalow. A charge of 10 cents will be asked of all those going.

Cars will leave the Y. W. C. A. bungalow about 5 o'clock. Helen Andrews is in charge of arrangements for the picnic.

CONCERT TO BE AT 8:15 TONIGHT

Washington State College Glee Club to Sing Here With University Men

SEATS 50 AND 75 CENTS

'Shooting of Dan McGrew' Will be Special Feature Rendered by Members

The Washington State and Oregon men's glee clubs will appear in a joint concert tonight at 8:15, in the Woman's building. The larger part of the program will be given by the visitors, who have just completed a tour of Washington. Both clubs sang last night in the Pacific Intercollegiate Glee Club association contest at the Portland municipal auditorium.

Feature Is Planned
An exceedingly interesting and varied program is expected, according to John Stark Evans, director of the local glee club. A special feature of the club is the rendition of "The Shooting of Dan McGrew," by Robert Service. It has been arranged and staged by two of the glee club men, and is given by the characters without a word being uttered, save for the reading of the poem by the old janitor, as he recalls the scene the way it happened in the old Malamute Saloon.

The concert is the last musical event of the year. Admission for students is 50 cents, and for others, 75 cents.

Program Is Given
The program follows:

- Glee club opening chorus
- State College of Washington (words by Varian Carpenter)
- Butterfield
- Viking Song Coleridge-Taylor
- Kashmiri Song Woodford-Finden
- O Light Eternal Verdi
- The Souls of the Righteous (honoring the memory of Rowald Reid) Salter
- Morning Hymn (Intercollegiate Glee Club Contest number) Henshall
- The Harbor Bell (bass solo) Martin
- Ten Thousand Years Ball
- Twilight Is Lovelight Rubenstein
- My Rose of Yester-e-en Rich
- The Wreck of the Julia Plante O'Hara
- Day by Day Gilmore
- Sometime Lockwood
- The World Is Waiting for the Sunrise Lockwood
- The Vagabond (poem by E. L. Stevenson) Spahn
- Traveller to de Grave (negro spiritual) Reddick
- Elegie Massenet
- Spring Love Song Evans
- Dawn Curran
- The Shooting of Dan McGrew
- Bridal Bouquets
- Let's Do and Say We Didn't
- Oregon Songs
- Double Quartet in "1923 Medley"
- Varsity Quartet in Songs
- William Steiner in "The Old Arm Chair"
- Hail Alma Mater Butterfield
- W. S. C. Fight Song

FORMER HOSTESSES LEAVING ANCHORAGE

Miss Mary S. Kieffer and Mrs. Frances Marshall, former hostesses of the Anchorage Tea house, who have recently sold their interest in the place to John W. McGilfrey, yesterday expressed regret that they are to leave the University surroundings. "We wish to thank our many friends on the campus," said Miss Kieffer, "for their courtesies extended us during our residence here. We shall indeed carry away a multitude of pleasant recollections of the 'old mill race at dear old Oregon.' We are very sorry to leave."

Both Miss Kieffer and Mrs. Marshall are leaving for the East the first part of this week. Miss Kieffer plans to go to New York and Mrs. Marshall expects to go to Indiana.
