On Forgetting the Campus

The 1924 A. S. U. O. elections are history. This morning finds the campus already beginning to forget any temporary traces of bitterness which came to the front during the few exciting days that preceded election day. Within a week, perhaps sooner because of the proximity of Junior Week-end, it will all be forgotten.

That is as it should be. There is no disgrace in losing races as close as most of those in yesterday's election were. Defeated candidates have often come out in years following their defeats and have earned the respect and admiration of the whole campus by the wholehearted way in which they have supported and worked with their more successful competitors.

For defeated candidates or their friends to hold grudges has never been known at Oregon. There were doubtless mud-slingings and thoughtless words spoken in the heat of the campaign. Junior Week-end comes at a time when it can, through the play spirit of the occasion, bring together any students or groups of students estranged by the activity of the past week.

The Homecoming slogan is especially good advice just now—"Unite to Fight for Oregon." Great days are ahead for the University—the success of the gift campaign is assured. To have any other sort of a campus than a united one would be a calamity.

Congratulations—Now for Work

Oregon extends the heartiest congratulations to its newly elected student body officers. They have before them a long year of service for the A. S. U. O., a year in which level heads and careful thinking will be necessary to promote the best interests of those they serve.

Student government is not perfect at the University of Oregon. The necessity of filling the offices each year with new and green material always means that about the time students become capable, through experience, to fill the offices they hold they are replaced by a new set of workers.

This means that the faculty heads on the various committees and councils have to practically take things in hand many times during the year because of their experience. It must be said in their favor that they have the students' interest at heart and are sincere in their acts of helping govern campus affairs.

Although the administration has the last say, the policy has always been to allow the A. S. U. O. practically a free hand in everything. This gives the campus a student government to all intents and purposes. The high quality of student officials that the student body elects always insures that the confidence of the University administration will not be misplaced.

Frank Carter and his splendidly-organized election board achieved a real task yesterday when they were able to post the election finals early in the evening, hours before such results are usually available. The campus election board always performs a service which requires a highly concentrated type of hard work for which there is little credit. There is, however, the satisfaction of having served their fellow students well. Oregon thanks them.

Ed Miller and "Honest Joe" Ellis have proved the value of clever humor as a vote-getter.

The "lame ducks" won't have to limp very much or very long. The contests were too close.

ONE YEAR AGO TODAY

Some High Points in Oregon Emerald of May 8, 1923

The canoe fete queen and the water carnival are new features for Junior Week-end.

The Delta Delta Delta sorority, with an average of 2.63, headed the grade list for the winter term. This was the highest average ever made by a living organization on the Oregon campus.

Hendricks, Susan Campbell, and Friendly halls have pledged $5,000 to the Student Union fund.

Examinations are but 44 days hence. A word to the wise is sufficient.

The Order of the "O" will give a student body dance on Saturday night.

The last physical ability test of the year will be given on Thursday and Friday of this week.

Arthur Rosebraugh is the defendant in a $250,000 breach of promise suit to be tried in a moot procedure tonight.

The month of May has been set aside as a probation period for those who persist in issuing n. s. f. checks.

FELLOWSHIP OFFERED BY GRADUATE COUNCIL

The chemistry department of the University is looking for a graduate student for a master's degree in chemistry to fill a fellowship for next year, according to a statement issued by Prof. O. F. Stafford, head of the chemistry department, yesterday. The student will be expected to devote half of his time to research and teaching; while carrying a half schedule in the graduate school. The fellowship is offered by the graduate council.

"Because of this half-time arrangement two years' work will be required in getting the degree," said Professor Stafford. "The compensation will be $500 for the first year, and $600 for the second. The fellowship is open to anyone with his bachelor's degree who desires to go on with his graduate work."

OREGON GRADS GET POSITIONS IN CANTON

Notice of the appointments of Wave Lesley and Gertrude Tolle as instructors in the Canton Christian college at Canton, China, have been received recently by these two graduates of the class of 1923. Both of these young women are appointed for three years.

Miss Lesley is at present a graduate assistant in the mathematics department on the campus and she will serve in this department in Canton college. She was graduated with honors last year.

Miss Tolle has been elected to teach physics. They both expect to accept the appointments and will sail for the Orient together.

FRESHMEN ASKED TO BE AT LIBRARY THIS MORNING

For the last paddle session before Junior Week-end, the following freshmen are asked to appear on the library steps at 10:50 this morning. Make it snappy. Paul

HERBERT JONES' RADIO SET HAS 199 TUBES

Herbert Jones, laboratory assistant in the physics department, recently finished the construction of a regenerative radio receiving set, using 199 peanut tubes. The set is equipped with one step of amplifications, which brings in signals loud enough so that they can be heard all over the room in the physics lab, where they are mounted.

"Although I have only had my set a few days, I am now a regular radio fan," said Jones. "This summer I am planning on rebuilding my set entirely, putting two steps of amplification on it. Then I shall be able to pull in everything west of the Mississippi."

STUDENTS CONTINUE TO PAY FEES IN SPITE OF LATE TAX

Students still continue to pay fees even though the week for paying fees, April 7 to 12, is long past. Three students paid their fees Tuesday at the business office. Every day or two one or more come to pay their fees. Those who pay late have had to give the late fee of $3. Since the students still continue to pay, it is impossible to give the final count on the number who have paid fees, the cashier said.

SUMMER SESSION GIVEN MUCH PUBLICITY THIS TERM

A large amount of summer session publicity work has been done since spring vacation, under the direction of Prof. F. L. Stetson. Catalogues and leaflet series giving sketches of the different professors who will conduct classes, are included. Many write-ups have been sent to Portland papers, especially to the Morning Oregonian. Other Oregon papers have also been giving advertising to the session.

TARGET PRACTICE SQUAD TO REPORT ON TUESDAY

Because of Junior Week-end activities, there will be no firing on the outdoor target range Saturday, May 10, but Captain F. L. Culin requests that all men who have signed up for instruction in marksmanship report to him the following Tuesday at the regular drill hour for further preliminary instruction. The firing on the outdoor target range last Saturday was reasonably satisfactory.

MARY WEST GOES TO HOME IN SALEM FROM ILLNESS

Mary West, a freshman in the school of journalism, has been obliged to return to her home in Salem, due to a severe attack of bronchitis. It is expected that she will be able to attend the University again within a week. Miss West, a reporter on the Emerald staff, is a member of Alpha Omicron Pi.
