

J. STITT WILSON TO VISIT CAMPUS

Noted Speaker to Lecture
Here This Weekend

FIVE TALKS SCHEDULED

Former Mayor Said to be Forceful Speaker

J. Stitt Wilson, who is characterized as "probably having as large a hearing among college students as any man in America today," will again visit the Oregon campus this weekend for a series of five lectures on "Constructive Christian Democracy," under the auspices of the United Christian Workers of the University. Mr. Wilson was on the campus a year and a half ago, when he addressed the students at one of their regular assemblies.

Speaker Arrives Thursday
Mr. Wilson will give an address on "War and Democracy" Thursday evening at 7:30 in Villard hall, and he will be the principal speaker at the Sunday vesper services, also to be held at Villard at 4 o'clock. Friday noon he is to be the guest at a luncheon attended by the combined cabinets of the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A., in the "Y" hut, and later he will be a guest at a faculty luncheon.

Sunday morning at 9:30, the University Bible classes, which have been meeting during the year at the various churches, will stage a rally at the "Y" hut, where they will be addressed by Mr. Wilson.

"The United Christian forces of the University," said Rev. Henry Wilson Davis, campus Y. M. C. A. secretary, "are making an effort to bring the hearing of J. Stitt Wilson within the reach of every student on the campus."

Mr. Wilson, formerly mayor of Berkeley, California, is said to be a most forceful speaker, who makes his audiences really think. Lieutenant Harry Kingman, of the University of California, says of Mr. Wilson: "The things that Mr. Wilson speaks are the things that have been burnt into his heart. And he in turn burns his convictions into the hearts of his audiences. There are undoubtedly not more than a handful of men in the nation to whom the college student of today could as profitably listen."

ALUMNI GIVE RESPONSE TO APPEAL IN DRIVE

there for the University. The group is well organized with between 90 and 100 in the organization, which includes all of Clatsop county.

"We had good music, Oregon songs, and a good peppy bunch," said Dr. Sheldon.

William G. Hale, dean of the school of law, has just returned from Seattle where he gave an address Friday night at an endowment dinner held in connection with the University Gift Campaign. The group of about 35 that were present was thoroughly representative of the alumni in that district in that both the earlier and later classes were well represented by influential members.

In his address Dean Hale pointed out the reasons why the University found it necessary to launch the Gift Campaign, and problems of higher education by the state were discussed.

Dr. Smith Gives Address
"There is no doubt in my mind that the bay territory will do its part in the drive," said Dr. Warren Smith, who addressed the alumni at San Francisco.

A large meeting, attended by about 75, was held in the Palace hotel. Dr. Smith told of the purposes of the campaign and several of the alumni responded. A permanent organization known as the "Bay Alumni association" was formed to take charge of the drive. David L. McDaniel was elected president and Mrs. Charlie Fenton Clark, who was for several years alumni secretary.

Dean Allen found the alumni at Roseburg and in Douglas county back of the project.

"I was given a cordial, good reception," said the dean, "and there was a good representation present."

Walter Fisher was chairman at the meeting and about half a dozen speakers were heard on the drive. An organization of alumni of Douglas county was formed and indications point to strong support from that part of the state. About 25 persons attended the meeting.

Kelso Has Gathering
Representatives from Woodland, Longview, Kalama and Castle Rock attended the gathering at Kelso, Washington. Professor Hugh Ross was the speaker. There were about 14 present and all showed a great interest in the campaign, and plans for a permanent organization are now under way. Professor Ross thinks the Washington district will go over the top.

The meeting at Grants Pass was a success, according to Prof. George Turnbull. "The meeting was interesting," he said, "and all present showed a real interest in the future of the University and a willingness to do their share."

Professor Turnbull believes the campaign will be successful in the district from the interest shown. The chairman of the gathering was Wilfred C. Allen of the Grants Pass Courier.

Alumni Send Letters

Communications addressed to President Campbell from alumni leaders throughout the country indicate the progress of the drive and the attitude the alumni are taking toward it. Some of these reports follow:

Luke L. Goodrich for San Francisco alumni—"The San Francisco alumni of the University of Oregon send you greetings and express the hope that this splendidly conceived campaign for gifts for our alma mater will be an unqualified success. One hundred of us were present at the endowment banquet and we were inspired by your high ideals and the thoughts of the many other groups of faithful old Oregon students meeting at the same time and inspired by the same lofty purpose."

Walter L. Whittlesey for New York alumni—"Fifty Oregon men and women assembled in the interests of the University appreciate your splendid message and promise we will not disappoint you. All express hope for your early return to vigorous health."

Anthony Jauregui for New England alumni—"Thirty New England alumni send greetings and best wishes for a speedy recovery and assurances of hearty cooperation in the campaign."

San Diego Loyal

Mandell Weiss and Harry L. Kuck for San Diego alumni—"Oregon was foremost in the hearts of eight Sandiegans this evening and I am mailing tomorrow pledges from seven and the others will follow soon. There are 10 others whom we will reach in a few days. I am confident they will respond in the Oregon way. Yours for old Oregon."

Paul L. Scott for Spokane alumni—"We regret very much your inability to attend endowment dinner tonight. Spokane alumni wish you a hasty recovery and pledge our utmost for the success of the campaign."

Nell Murphy Dickson for the Baltimore alumni—"Baltimore bunch backing you to the finish. Good meeting here."

Cora Truman for Denver alumni—"Northern Colorado group sends greetings. We are distant from the campus, but are with you enthusiastically."

H. A. Dalzell for Chicago alumni—"Chicago alumni send greetings and assurance of hearty support in campaign drive."

Portland Pledges Aid

F. H. Young for Portland alumni—"Portland alumni four hundred strong 'Portland alumni 400 strong assembled at Multnomah hotel to learn about the new old Oregon. Responded to toast in your honor and directed me to send you a message conveying their wishes for your speedy recovery and their pledge of active support of the gift campaign."

John W. Hamlin for Washington, D. C. alumni—"Washington, D. C. alumni extend greetings and best wishes for complete early recovery."

TODAY IS LAST CHANCE TO FILE WITHDRAWALS

Today is the last day that a student can withdraw from the University without petitioning, according to University regulations. It provides that no one can withdraw without petitioning during one month preceding the close of school.

Actor Who Plays 'Mr. Wu' Tonight

Walker Whiteside

WALKER WHITESIDE HAS BRILLIANT RECORD

Famous Star to Take Part in Chinese Drama

Stars of consequence, or rather of high standing, are seldom encountered nowadays. In fact one could name them on less than the fingers of one hand. The public is not to be gulled into believing that electric signs alone make a star of importance. "Stars are born, not made," to paraphrase a somewhat bromidic expression.

Walker Whiteside's magnificent record as an actor and producer should, in years to come, be noted alongside the achievements of any of the big masters of the theater. He has contributed to the stage a beautiful and powerful performance of Hamlet, which character he played throughout this country upwards of one thousand times. His delineation of Richard III, though departing from tradition, won great praise for its subdued shading, and its subsequent tempestuous flare, up to the duel and death scene, which a great critic held to be "Too appalling, and magnificent to even be described."

Besides the many Shakespearean characters in which Whiteside appeared, there were many romantic roles in which he earned a fine following. His superb performance of the young Jewish immigrant, David Quixano, in Zangwill's great play, "The Melting Pot," was the sensation of America and London. Next came his great characterization of the Japanese diplomat, Tokerao in "The Typhoon."

During Mr. Whiteside's engagement in this city he will appear in the wonderful character of Wu Li Chang in the terrific Anglo-Chinese melodrama, "Mr. Wu."

WOLF IS ATHLETIC SYMBOL ADOPTED BY UNIVERSITY

University of Nevada—(By P. I. N. S.)—The Associated Students of the University have unanimously adopted a resolution designating the Wolf as the official symbol of all athletic teams, and further providing that, as a tribute to Leslie Maltby Bruce, that the title plate of the U. of N. Sagebrush of 1923-4, bearing a wolf's head, bearing a wolf's head in the center, remain unchanged as long as the Sagebrush is the official student newspaper of the University of Nevada. The wolf was suggested as Nevada's symbol by Bruce during his term of office as editor of the Sagebrush for the year 1921-22.

The "JOKER" In the Wide-Open Sunday Ordinance

At the primary election on May 16th Eugene votes on a Wide-Open Sunday Ordinance, which is carefully camouflaged so as to appear to be a Sunday-Closing Ordinance. This proposed ordinance reads as follows:

"An ordinance to prohibit the keeping open, at any time on Sunday, within the corporate limits of the City of Eugene, dance halls, places where box ball is played, public places where any game of cards is played, or where dice is thrown for amusement or otherwise, or where any gambling games are carried on; and to prohibit horse racing, trotting races or pacing races; and to repeal Ordinance No. 984, Ordinance No. 1385 and Ordinance No. 2040, and all ordinances or parts of ordinances in conflict herewith.

The "Joker" in this proposed ordinance is in the repeal of Ordinances Nos. 984, 1385 and 2040, which now prohibit the running of pool halls, theaters, auto races and public amusements on Sunday. If this proposed ordinance is adopted the POOL HALLS, MOVIES, AUTO RACES, PUBLIC AMUSEMENTS, ETC., will run WIDE OPEN on SUNDAY.

The sponsors of this measure are afraid to make a clear and candid presentation of their proposition. There is a plain intent to deceive the voter. Are University students for a proposition that will not stand the light of day?

University Students Given Suspended Fine of $50

Use of Yellow Paint Results
in Arrest of Paraders

Twenty-one students, most of them either varsity or frosh football men, were fined collectively $50 by Judge Gilmore, yesterday, on a charge of disorderly conduct. Payment was suspended on condition that the men keep out of court in the future.

The trouble arose Friday morning on the march to school after the ceremony of painting the "O." A truck owned by the Eugene Packing company and occupied by two young men, continually blocked the line of march. According to the marchers, their objections were met by insulting remarks, and when the same thing occurred several times, they proceeded to use some of the yellow paint which they were carrying, on the occupants of the truck.

When the skirmish was over, both the truck and the persons in it bore a heavy coat of paint.

As a result, a warrant was sworn out for the young men and the trouble ended this morning with the suspended sentence. The junior class has promised to pay for the spoiled clothes of the victims.

Those taking part in the escapade were: Ed Kirtley, Bob Mautz, Jens Terjesen, Bill Bittner, Hal Chapman, Bill Dills, Nic Carter, Pete Brooks, Rex Adolph, Tom Chapman, Carl Johnson, Bert Kerns, James Agee, Roland Belshau, Walter Socolofsky, Herbert Socolofsky, Gordon Wilson, Jack Bliss, Sam Cook, Harry Leavitt, and Otto Vitus.
