

FRESHMAN NINE TO MEET ROOKS

Contest Will be Played Here Saturday at 10

PROSPECTS ARE BETTER

Baby Beavers Have Strong Group of Players

The freshman ball tossers will receive the acid test this weekend when they meet the speedy Aggie rook nine here. The time and date of the game has been changed to 10 o'clock on Saturday morning. The frosh and rooks will play a four-game series with two of the contests here and two at Corvallis.

Frosh Work Hard
Spartan that was handed them by the Salem high team, the babes are working harder than ever to get in shape for the coming tilts with their rivals. In a practice game held Monday with the University high, the frosh batted their younger opponents all over the lot in a lop-sided contest. Their form was just the reverse of their showing last Friday, and if they continue to pound the apple as they did then, the prospects will look much better against the rooks. The baby Beavers are said to have a strong aggregation this year, and it will take a greatly improved frosh squad to take the series from them.

Shake-up Is Expected
Because of the number of players on the squad who have become ineligible, and their ragged showing Friday, a considerable shake-up is expected in the frosh lineup before the contest Saturday. The loss of Kiminki at short, and the big hole on second has left the infield in somewhat of a bad way.

Rem Adolph has been playing good ball on first, and Jones has lots of pep on third, but the other positions are more or less of a toss-up. West stands a chance to play second, as he can cover ground and is a fair fielder. Miller is a likely looking man for the short-stop position. He is flashy and with a little steadying should make good.

DR. A. E. CASWELL COMPILES SYLLABUS

Booklet Changes Method of Teaching Physics

A syllabus, said to be something entirely new, at least, in the subject matter of physics, and compiled by Dr. A. E. Caswell of the physics department of the University, is to be used in the courses in general physics starting next fall. "One of the principal features of my syllabus," said its author, "is that it is organized so as to get away from the dry bones of mechanics at the beginning of the year, and to get into facts and fundamental principles."

Physics, depending half upon mathematics as it does, is a rather hard subject to present. It is very logical, and once one has begun teaching at a certain point he must keep up until the principle is thoroughly covered. The played-up point about Dr. Caswell's syllabus is that it tries to lay down some of the fundamental principles first, and then goes into the dry bones of mechanics and mathematics, and so forth.

The syllabus is designed to work in conjunction with the new library system to be installed in the physics department beginning next fall. Each student will be given a copy of the syllabus at

UNIVERSITY WOMEN ATTEND CONVENTION

Dean Virginia Judy Esterly, University representative to the 24th annual convention of the Oregon Federation of Women's Clubs, and Winifred Graham and Maurine Buchanan, delegates from Women's League of the University, arrived in Oregon City Monday evening. A reception over which Mrs. Sadie Orr-Dunbar, president, presided was the first event of the convention, and occurred Monday evening. Yesterday Mrs. Thomas G. Winter, president of the general federation, reached Portland, and in the afternoon and evening spoke on "America at Home and Abroad."

THREE SISTERS TO BE SITE OF GEOLOGY CAMP

Region Affords Excellent Study of Volcanoes

The geological summer camp of the University will be held this year in the Three Sisters region from June 18 to July 16. The camp is open to all men who have a knowledge of the elements of geology. The course will include 10 days of instruction in the elements of geological field methods and panoramic surveying; two weeks in detailed mapping of the geology in the vicinity of the Sisters and short trips to nearby places of interest; and a concluding trip from the Sisters to Bend, south along the eastern flank of the Cascades to Crescent, and westward over the entire Cascade range via Oakridge, to Eugene.

According to Dr. Edwin T. Hodge, professor of economic geology, this region affords one of the finest areas to study general geology in the state of Oregon. In addition to this, it secures a camping site amid ideal scenic and climatic surroundings. The area is unexcelled for the study of volcanoes, glaciers, lava fields, in addition to the fundamentals of geology. For the completion of the work at camp and a written report, seven University hours are offered. Expenses will not exceed $50.

TWO OREGON ALUMNAE TO TEACH IN CANTON

The appointment of Miss Wave Lesley and Miss Gertrude Tolle to the college of arts and sciences at Canton Christian college, Canton, China, puts four members of the alumni of the University on that staff. Walter K. Belt and Miss Helen Hall are the other two members who are at present teaching at Canton, and Miss Amy Dunn, former house mother, is connected with the college in giving assistance in the Overseas school.

A recent letter from the assistant secretary of the trustees of Canton college to Prof. E. E. DeCou reads in part as follows: "We are very glad to have so many representatives from Oregon, and we have been thinking that we should like to enlist the cooperation of some of the University to start some move looking toward Canton Christian college as a center for Oregon-in-China. James M. Henry, vice-president of the college, recently had an interview with Delbert Oberthuerfer, in which they discussed such a possibility. "We know of the splendid efforts of the students and the alumni in their campaign to help meet the needs of the University, and we are hopeful that in the near future their interests may be gained for the support of our work in China."

TRI-STATE MEET TO BE THURSDAY

Prize of $100 Is Offered Winner of Contest

SUBJECT UNRESTRICTED

Failing-Beekman Orations to Close Forensics

Contestants from three universities of the Northwest, Oregon, Washington and Idaho, will meet here tomorrow night to compete in the Tri-state oratorical contest for the prize of $100 offered for the best oration by the bar association of Seattle. This contest will not be held on the Oregon campus again for three years, because the meeting place rotates. Orations will be delivered in Villard hall, starting at 8 o'clock.

Last Contest of Year
There is no restriction of subject in the Tri-state orations, but it is required that each be limited to 2,000 words. The names of the orators and the topics for their orations will be announced tomorrow.

This is the last intercollegiate contest of the year 1923-24. The forensics season closes June 13, with the Failing-Beekman orations, restricted to members of the senior class, which will be one of the first events of the commencement program.

Judges Appointed
The orations will be judged on the basis of thought and composition, and from the standpoint of delivery. The judges who will consider the orations from the former standpoint are: Dean W. R. Smith, of the school of basic arts, Oregon Agricultural college; Stoddard King, of Spokesman Review, Spokane, Washington; and A. B. Cunningham, of the department of English, Washington State college. The men who will judge on the basis of delivery have not yet been chosen.

POT AND QUILL ELECTS HEAD FOR NEXT YEAR

Two New Members Chosen by Women Writers

Eunice Jonsrud, junior in journalism, and Patricia Novlan Byrne, senior in the department of drama and the speech arts, were elected members of Pot and Quill, women's honorary writing fraternity, at a meeting of the organization last evening in the Anchorage. Officers were likewise chosen for the coming year.

Miss Jonsrud, who entered this year from Reed college, is known for her versatility in producing poetry, short stories, and humorous sketches with equal facility. Poems of hers have been published in magazines of the state, and have appeared both in the Reed college "Quest" and "Old Oregon." The poetry of Mrs. Byrne is well remembered on the campus. She is likewise a writer of short stories and criticism. Readers of the Emerald poetry column know her "April Eve," "In the Garden," and "Water Color."

Jeanne Gay will head the group as president for next year, succeeding Nancy Wilson. Margaret Carter was chosen treasurer, following Marion Lay, and Margaret Skavian was re-elected secretary.

American Legion Poppy Sale Set for This Week

Proceeds to be Used to Educate and Care for War Orphans

The annual poppy sale, sponsored by the women's auxiliary of American Legion posts, is to be held on the campus Friday, May 23. The week of May 23 to May 30 has been set aside for the sale of poppies throughout the country, but only one day will be given over to the sale in the University.

Last year the money made was used in the state to aid Oregon war veterans, but this year it is to be used in educating war orphans and caring for the many families who are in need of assistance as a result of the war.

The poppy has been chosen as the official flower of the Legion, and is used as an emblem of faith. The sale will be conducted in the living organizations of the University, as well as on the campus, and 10 cents each is to be charged.

LIQUOR FRAME-UP CASE IN MOOT COURT TRIAL

itement he experienced because of the arrest. Lloyd LaLonde, witness for the defense, testified that he was located in such a position so that from where he sat he saw Christman enter and lean over Covalt. He produced a flask from his hip pocket, and although LaLonde could not see what was done with the flask, it was not returned to Christman's pocket. LaLonde claimed that earlier in the afternoon Hagglund asked him to put the flask in Covalt's pocket for a joke, but he declined.

CONSTANCE MILLER'S RECITAL WELL LIKED

Last Group of Songs Shows Soprano's Best Work

By E. C.
The graduation recital of Constance Miller, soprano, given last night at Alumni hall, was very well rendered and much appreciated. Her voice is very sweet and clear, and has a wide range with reserve power. She appears to lack the confidence which comes with experience.

The first two selections, Nina, by Pergolesi, and Care Selve, by Handel, were weakened somewhat by Miss Miller's lack of self-confidence. The last piece in the first group, A Pastoral, by Carey, showed to advantage her tone range, and she handled the various moods portrayed in the selection quite ably.

Her most difficult number was an Aria, "Here Is the Usual Place," from Carmen, by Bizet. This was very well received, as was the French group, consisting of two of Duparc's compositions, "Soupir" and "Extase," and "Ariette," by Vidal. The best-liked group, however, was the last-four English selections, on which she did her best work, and which were delightful. These were "Nocturne," by Chadwick; "A Song of Thanksgiving," by Allitsen; "The Wind's in the South," by Scott; and "Song of the Open," by La Forge.

Bernice Yeo, a senior in the school of music, accompanied Miss Miller, and presented Chopin's Polonaise in A Flat. Her technique was excellent and there was a great deal of force in her execution of the difficult passages—the brilliant rendition of which make this selection so pleasing.

Miss Miller is a student of John B. Siefert, instructor in the music department.

LIST OF NAMES POSTED FOR SENIOR BREAKFAST

Lists of names for the senior women's breakfast have been distributed to each of the houses, the library, and the Co-op. Every junior woman is expected to call up the senior woman allotted to her, and turn in a report by 8 o'clock Wednesday night. There is a girl especially appointed in each house to take care of the tickets and reports.

Those girls in town may leave their reports with Miss Florence Magowan at the bungalow or with Neva Service at the Kappa Kappa Gamma house. Any senior whose name is omitted should be reported at the bungalow of the Y. W. C. A.

The senior breakfast is to be held in the Woman's building, Saturday, May 24, at 8:30 o'clock. Tickets are 60 cents each. One ticket admits two. Junior women are supposed to take senior women to the affair.

WALLOWA STUDENTS TO BE PICNIC GUESTS

Cottage Grove and Corvallis Visitors Will Attend

Oregon students who have lived in Wallowa county at one time or another during their lives have a free feed coming up next Sunday afternoon at 1 o'clock. Eugene is the home of a score or more of former Wallowa county families. Last year a Wallowa county picnic was held, with University students from Wallowa county as guests, and its success decided the promoters to make the affair an annual one.

This year invitations have been sent to former Wallowans in Corvallis and Cottage Grove, as well as to those in Eugene and vicinity. Luncheon for University guests will be furnished by the ladies as the first event on the picnic program. The rest of the afternoon will be spent in informal reunions of former friends and neighbors, who formerly resided in the county which has the distinction of being the furthest east and north of any part of the state of Oregon.

Mrs. G. Clark and Mrs. Guy Barton, formerly of Joseph, now of Eugene, are in charge of the arrangements. Students who can attend are asked to be at the Eugene auto camp grounds, behind Skinner's butte, at 1 o'clock Sunday.
