

ELEVENS START GRID SCHEDULE

Football Teams All Over
U. S. Will Play Today

MANY EASTERNERS OPEN

Yale, Harvard, Princeton to Be Seen in Action

This week-end will see football started in earnest in all sections of the country. Out west, several games will be played up north, while Stanford, California and Southern California all open against minor teams in the south.

Today Willamette is due to be slaughtered by Washington at Seattle, while the W. S. C. Cougars should have a nice easy time with Pacific. The result of this contest will no doubt settle the question of whether Pacific will really stand a chance of coming out ahead in the contest here next week.

Gonzaga and Idaho play at Spokane. This should be a nice little game, with Idaho on the long end of the score at the finish. Montana also starts its season with a game against Mt. St. Charles at Missoula.

In California the Bears have a practice game with St. Mary's at Berkeley, Stanford plays Occidental at Palo Alto, while U. S. C. plays Pomona at Los Angeles. Probably the coaches of the major teams will be so generous with substitutes that no line will be obtainable on their relative strength.

Eastern Football Starts

Way back east, the "Big Three," Yale, Princeton and Harvard, also enter their initial clashes. Yale meets North Carolina, Harvard plays Virginia, and Princeton will engage Amherst in what should be the best game of the three. The Army and Navy also start out, the former against St. Louis and the latter with William and Mary.

Most of the "Big Ten" teams are also booked for today, some with real games. Chicago plays Missouri, Nebraska meets Illinois, Ohio State plays Purdue, Wisconsin and Ames tangle, Michigan will engage Miami, and Minnesota plays North Dakota.

Altogether 115 games are set for today with approximately the same number booked for every Saturday remaining during the season.

TRAINING STARTED FOR DISTANCE MEN

cross-country," declared Bill Hayward yesterday.

In a few weeks Hayward expects to have interclass competition or fall track. This is the means of getting a line on possible varsity material and keeping the men in training before the practice starts in the spring. The interclass meets will be dependent upon the weather entirely.

Prospects for track next spring are good, according to the men now in school. The frosh squad will bolster up old men who are coming back and make competition keen in all the events. Some good sprinters and jumpers are coming out of the frosh squad to help out.

So far the list lines up as follows: Sprints — Holt, Westernman, Stonebreaker, Flannigan.

440—Kinney, Ager, Wilbur, Cash, Edmondson.

880—Mauney, Jeffries, Swank, Price.

1 Mile—Tetz, Keating, Barnes, Conley, Gurnea.

High Hurdles—Cleaver, Carruthers, Hall, Staley.

High Jump — Eby, Flannigan, Price, Hills.

Broad Jump—Rosenberg, Kelsey, McAuliffe.

Pole Vault—Rosenberg, Holman, Hills.

Shot—Mautz, Stockwell, Beatty, Johnson, Hemmings, Kjelland, Anderson.

Discus—Johnson, Kjelland, Terjeson, Anderson.

Javelin — Rosenberg, Anderson, McAuliffe.

Decorating Course is Latest Addition to School of Arts

Special arrangements are being made in the school of architecture and allied arts for students wishing to take interior decorating. The first two years of study will be of architecture and kindred subjects, that a major in architecture would take. Later courses can then be taken on this foundation for the special features of the profession.

The course has been planned this year for the first time. N. B. Zane, new instructor in fine arts, formerly a teacher of art at Jefferson high school, Portland, is a specialist in decoration, and will have charge of some of the work.

ASSISTANT POSITIONS FILLED BY GRADUATES

Randolph, "Kup" Kuhn and Raymond D., "Curly", Laurence, former University students, have accepted positions as assistants in the school of journalism.

Mr. Kuhn, graduate of the class of '23, is graduate assistant to W. F. G. Thacher. He was with the Botsford-Constantine Advertising company in Portland and Seattle for about a year, and spent the past summer touring Europe.

Mr. Laurence, ex-'22, has worked on the Astoria Guard, Portland Oregonian and for the United Press at Los Angeles. For several months previous to his return to the University, he was employed in Santa Monica, California. In addition to his assistant work, he plans to complete his course this year.

SUPPORT PLEDGED TO FRESHMAN PRESIDENT

subject brought out the need for a capable leader to guide the freshmen through their first-year tasks. Walter Malcolm, varsity debater, is enthusiastic in his support. He said, "I thoroughly believe that the time has come when the freshman president should hold an honorable position. I want to see this movement go through to a successful conclusion."

Ted Gillenwaters, president of the senior class, made a similar statement. "The time has passed for the sort of thing that has been going on. The University has outgrown that stage."

Ed Tapfer, senior man on the Executive council believes it lies within the power of the houses to stamp out hazing. "If all the organizations will stand together, there is no reason why the future frosh presidents cannot be proud of their office instead of ashamed of it."

DR. BOYNTON ANNOUNCES LARGE PHYSICS ENROLLMENT

One of the largest enrollments that the upper division physics classes ever had is reported by Dr. W. P. Boynton, professor of physics. In electrical measurements there are 18 enrolled, as compared with seven of last year. In the advanced general physics course there are 16 registered; while in the advanced electrical course, the new course dealing with radio, six registered. "This shows a greater interest in the technical subjects," he said.

HOWE GATHERS MATERIAL ON VICTORIAN LITERATURE
Prof. H. C. Howe, head of the English department, is doing research work on the subject of "Victorian Literature," and will later use the material in the writing of a book by that title. His mornings are spent in work covering this field, which includes the making of card catalogues, as well as the reading of books. Prof. Howe expects that the work he has lined up now will take him the greater part of this year to complete.

Obak's Kollege Krier

OBAB Wallace, Publisher J. W. L., Editor

Volume 4 SATURDAY, A. M. Number 1

KRIER GIVES DOPE

FRESHMEN TOLD
WHAT ITS ALL ABOUT

A Freshmen meeting will be held tonight at the club rooms of Obaks Kollege Klub at which time the young and innocent members of Daddy Straub's "biggest and best" collegiate mess will be told how and what to do in this intellectual atmosphere. A few of the things that will be discussed are the probabilities of doing away with the rule that the President of the Freshman class must be a member of the male sex. It is the belief of the Editors that a woman could handle that office to a fair-thee-well. Joan D'Arc in all her glory could never create the scene that would take place as the leader of the glorious class of '28 would swoop down on the cowering sophs at the annual mix. Why not. Think of the perplexities it would cause the revenging sophomore mill racers when the time comes that the Prexy of '28 should be told where to head in at. Freshmen—there is the chance to make the law of custom look sick. Several rahs for the Green—long may she float.

FROSH—DO YOU KNOW WHAT THESE THINGS ARE OBAB TELLS YOU ALL

These are CIGARS. They are passed around to the brothers free of charge by the house pops. They buy them at OBABs because they know that the best is none too good on such an occasion. Ask your senior where he always buys his engagement cigars.

Last but not least this is real honest to goodness food—and OBAB knows how to prepare it. If you ever get hungry and feel lonesome just drop into the club and have some refreshments while you discuss the last game with your friends.
