

SENIORS TO HOLD PARTY AND BALL

First Meeting of Class Well Attended

SOCIAL SCHEDULE MADE

No-date Mix October 17 Is Planned

Plans for a formal senior ball, a new departure in fourth-year activities, for Senior leap week and for the annual class party were made yesterday afternoon at the first meeting this year of the class of '25 held at the Oregon building. It was one of the largest meetings the class had ever had, nearly every member being present.

The class party will be held Friday, October 17, at 8:30 in the College Side Inn. The affair will be of the popular no-date variety, and everyone is expected to appear in a hard-time costume. Some manner of transportation will be provided for the girls, and a schedule for picking up the members of the fair sex at convenient meeting places will be arranged by a committee composed of Ralph Austin, chairman, Russ Burton and Earl Smith. Al Clark's "Campus Tramps" will furnish the music, and the feature will be taken care of by Warren Ulrich, chairman, Alberta Lou McMenies, Jack Day and Helen Chambréau.

The class voted unanimously to have Senior Leap Week, the first week in the spring term. This was the only action taken on this matter for the present, but a meeting will be held during the winter term, to make definite plans.

A new idea which the class of '25 will carry out this year, is that of a senior ball. This will be a strictly formal affair, held sometime during the winter term, and is to be given with the hope of adding to the senior's college life something which will always be remembered. The early appointment of a committee assures special and distinguishing features. This committee is composed of Junior Seton, chairman, Harry Skinner, Martha Shull and Mary Jane Hathaway.

Ted Gillenwaters, president of the class, presided over the meeting, the first of which was taken up by a financial report from Basil Burke, treasurer. Burke stated that the financial condition of the class is in very good shape, and that they could take care of almost any kind of social event they might care to have.

JUNIOR MUST OBTAIN CLASS CERTIFICATES

Members of the junior class who have not already called at the registrar's office for their junior certificates, are asked to do so immediately to avoid being officially classed as sophomores, according to word received by the registrar.

The majority of the certificates are still in the office, unclaimed, and as it is only when issued one of these certificates that a student is officially recognized as a junior, it is urgent that students get busy.

By application for a certificate the student can learn if he has completed the requirements necessary before he can be classed as a junior. The registrar states that those who do not get certificates showing them clear of all requirements will be classed as sophomores, even if they are seniors. The certificates may be obtained at window 7 in the registrar's office.

MORE STUDENTS PASS ENGLISH 'A' THIS YEAR

Improvement is Shown Over Mark Made in Examination Taken Last Fall

Out of the 735 freshmen who took the English entrance examination, September 23, 343 or approximately 47 per cent failed to pass. This is an improvement over last year's record, which shows a failure of 400, or approximately 60 per cent of the 700 students taking the examination.

All freshmen who did not take the examination were given only a provisional registration and will be required to take the test, October 11. Should any fail to take this second examination registration will be automatically cancelled, and will be unable to continue the course for the remainder of the term.

A new plan was adopted this year in an attempt to cooperate better with the high schools in English training. The examination was prepared during the past year by a committee of English teachers from the colleges and universities of the Northwest. It was given as a uniform entrance examination and is estimated to be of considerable value in the compilation of the grades made by the students in the high schools of the state, by giving a basis for comparison on the training offered by the various secondary schools. The papers will be checked over carefully and the total number of errors of each student will be sent to M. Ellwood Smith, dean of the school of Basic Arts and Sciences, of the Oregon Agricultural college, who is head of the committee. A final report compiled from all data obtained will be sent out to all of the high schools showing exactly what their students have done, and where they excelled or were inferior to others.

The examination was not an intelligence test, but a test of the student's ability to put on paper what is in his head. It dealt with simple rules of grammar, good usage of terms and expressions, spelling, punctuation, and some composition, though little attention was paid to contest. Its real purpose was to detect whether or not the student could use technical English in the construction of an organic sentence. Lawrence K. Shumaker, head of English A, who was in charge of

CAMPUS HIGH PUPILS TOTAL MORE THAN 200

Registration at the University high school is now complete with over 200 registered and many turned away because of the limited number that the school is able to accommodate. Approximately 60 per cent of the total number of students are girls.

Unlike other high schools, the University high enrolls students from all parts of the state. The school includes seventh and eighth grades as well as four years of high school work. University students with entrance deficiencies are not allowed to take make-up work in University high on account of the limited facilities of the school.

About one-fourth of the faculty will consist of students in the school of education, who do practice teaching as laboratory work.

SPEAROW IS ON TOUR OF JAPANESE SCHOOLS

Ralph Spearow, member of the United States Olympic team, captain and pole vaulter of the varsity track squad last year, had the distinction of officiating at Sunday services while on board the steamer enroute to Paris, France, last June. While on the steamer Spearow met two men from Japan who were interested in his work and asked him to make a tour of Japan along with several other American athletes.

These men, including Spearow, are making a tour of the universities and schools of Japan, giving lectures and examples of form in the various phases of athletics. The Japanese government, realizing their need for development in their educational departments, are paying these athletes to make this trip and instruct their students in good sportsmanship.

studies. Before the end of the present school year, it is expected that the enrollment will increase still more, establishing a new record in attendance.

NEW YORK MORNING WORLD —

"Frank Lloyd's motion picture is an almost perfect example of faithfulness to the original story. In the Sabatini film there are pictures of pirate life on the Mediterranean which are realistic on one hand and beautiful on the other. The view showing Milton Sills after he has been shanghaied and cast into the pit as a gally slave is splendidly done, and numerous scenes of sea life seem to us to be imaginative, beautiful and impressive."
