

VARSITY READY FOR REAL BATTLE

Cardinals are Confident of Winning Game

BACKFIELD IS IMPROVED

Grid-Graph to Give Score In Villard Hall

Standing on the rear platform of the car carrying the team to Palo Alto, Coach Maddock declared that he had faith in his players, and then in a forceful and tersely measured voice he quietly stated, "Stanford is going to have a mighty hard time TRYING to beat our fighting team." The hundreds of Oregon followers at the station enthusiastically showed their faith in "Joe," by shaking the platform with sincere rousing Os-kies.

Team is Impressed
Part and Bill both gave short and serious talks in optimistic vein and Dick Reed, captain, declared the team would do its part.
In the twenty minutes of the pep rally, the Oregon team got enough enthusiastic encouragement to last them throughout the whole game on Saturday.

The team was gravely impressed with Oregon's whole-hearted faith in the squad as shown by the demonstration given yesterday, and they spent the few minutes at the station in an atmosphere filled with a determination to fight and give their best for "Old Oregon."

The varsity frankly realizes the calibre of opposition it has to buck this Saturday. But this serious attitude on the part of the squad will prove a valuable asset, for it will prompt the team to fight as it never has before.

Stanford is Confident
Stanford has enjoyed successful football for several years and it is the ambition of the Cardinals not only to defeat California and Oregon but all the rest of the teams on their schedule.

When Stanford, however, with all of her self-assuring confidence, meets the fighting team from Oregon, they will be hit, smashed and ripped into the reality that they are playing a real football eleven.

Coach Maddock has worked up a real backfield, using Jones, Anderson, Vitus and Terjeson. Every man in the backfield is dangerous and hard to stop when he has the ball tucked under his arm. Anderson in the end-run formation is a speedy man and generally tears loose for a substantial gain. Jones as the line-plunging fullback is going to find some tough going against Stanford, as a 200 pound line is a frightfully hard kind of a line to hit unless the men are able to open up a hole against such hefty opponents.

The story of the game will be completely unfolded to Oregon fans at Villard hall on the big electric grid-graph board Saturday. Whether victory or defeat, Oregon followers will know the outcome as soon as the fans in the stands at Palo Alto.

JONES IS HARD-HITTING OREGON LINE PLUNGER

most powerful man on the frosh team last year for he was the triple threat man of the frosh squad—doing most of the punting, and passing as well as calling signals for the babes. His big boot is the thing that he made his name at last year and he may have to do most of the punting this season. That is what Joe has been using him for so far. But he can do all the rest of it.

Minnaugh is about the quietest man on the team. With a retiring personality he puts everything into football and thinks of nothing else. Minnaugh's educated toe will be used a lot this season. He is the only backfield man on the team who punts consistently with the exception of Jones, who has shown up in kicking within the last few days. He and Stoddard form the only reserve quarterbacks which Joe has to depend on. If he gets in the Stanford game he will get experience that will be valuable to him in the later games of the season.

Y. W. C. A. WILL HOLD ELECTION OF OFFICERS

sity women living in town will be solicited by a committee appointed for that purpose. There is no membership fee, although a financial campaign will probably be staged later in the year. Mary Bartholomew is chairman of the membership department.

Will Not Sell Flowers
Heretofore, it has been the custom for the Y. W. to handle the sale of yellow chrysanthemums for Homecoming week-end, but last year there seemed to be considerable delay in getting orders in on time, and the Y. W. members feel that rather than have people feel unkindly towards the organization for not delivering promptly under those circumstances, they would give up the idea this year.

There will be no musicale and tea this Sunday afternoon, as some have expected, but another one will be held a week from Sunday, October 26, to which everyone is invited.

FRESHMEN WILL MEET COLUMBIA UNIVERSITY

they are still considerably short of being a well-balanced, smooth working aggregation of the caliber to be a consistent winner. The big point in favor of the first year men is that they are fast and have plenty of weight behind them. Baz also has a number of likely looking reserves whom he can shoot into the game if necessary. This is likely to prove a big factor tomorrow as none of the frosh are in any exceptional shape to last a full game going at top speed. Columbia has already played three games this year and are almost in midseason form by now.

Signals are Practiced
The frosh took their last workout before the game last night and spent the time to good advantage in light signal practice and in perfecting a defense to be used against Columbia today. Only one team of the frosh will get into the game today.

Clipper Smith, Columbia coach, brought down a large squad of men for the game today and he is going to use all that he can in an endeavor to take the scalps of the green-cappers. Columbia held the frosh down to one touchdown last year and they hope to turn the tables today.

The probable lineup for today's game will be:

FRESHMEN	COLUMBIA
Hughes	L.E. Logan
Warren	L.T. Pubols
Harder	L.G. Dunlap
Cress	C. Sweeney
