

MAZAMAS OPEN SEASON SUNDAY

Local Hikers Club to Have First Tramp of Year

OUTING PLANS ARRANGED

Many Points of Interest Included in Trips

Hiking season will be initiated Sunday, October 26, by the local Mazamas from Eugene and the University. These hikers are extending an invitation to all the townspeople and University students to join in this first hike of the year.

The local Mazamas are attempting to arouse an organized interest in hiking, and their efforts toward this end are authorized by the Mazama club of Portland. Floyd McKalson, temporary chairman of the local club, announced the plans.

"The Mazama club is an organization of hikers who have qualified for membership by climbing Mount Hood. Every week-end the Portland Mazamas take walks in preparation for the spring and summer work of climbing Mount Hood. We hope to put into operation much the same plan, only our hikes will not occur so frequently."

After the preliminary work of shorter hikes throughout the fall and winter, one of the Three Sisters will be climbed next spring. The hikes are open to townspeople and all University people.

Test Hikes to be Held

The first hike is in the nature of a test hike, according to McKalson. If enough interest is displayed in the hike and if the turnout is large will be the criteria whether or not these local Mazama hikes are kept open to the public. If the turnout is not satisfactory, hikes sponsored by the local Mazamas will be open only to Mazamas.

A tentative program of short hikes of half-day length and all day hikes has been arranged. The half day hikes proposed are Chula Vista by way of Hendricks park; Rosamund butte; Coryell hills; Spencer Butte and this last may be by moonlight.

The all-day trips include the Coburg-Hayden bridge hike; Coburg to Marcola, returning by stage; Bohemia mountain; and several jaunts through Oakridge.

In the spring a hike will be arranged with the O. A. C. students and Corvallis Mazamas. This will include a climb of Mary's peak.

UNIVERSITY LIBRARY MAINTAINS EXCHANGE

Within the last five years, the library has established a free exchange of the University of Oregon publications of original research work for similar ones of learned societies and institutions throughout the United States and foreign countries. The greater portion of their exchange work is done with different universities as well as with some libraries.

Where there are no available series to offer in trade from other places, Oregon publications are sold, and the money goes back into the publishing fund. About 109 copies are distributed in the United States, while connections have been formed with institutions in the following foreign countries: Abo, Finland; Paris, France; Riga, Latvia; Amsterdam, The Netherlands; Vancouver, Canada; Bogota, Columbia; Hamburg, Germany; Ottawa, Canada; Geneva, Switzerland; Fukuoka, Japan; Lyon, France; Quebec, Canada; Manchester, England; Madrid, Spain; Tokyo, Japan; Czechoslovakia; Ontario, Canada; Brussels, Belgium; Toulouse, France; Louvain, Belgium; Leipzig, Germany; Uppsala, Sweden; and London England.

JOURNALISM GRADUATE TO VISIT AUSTRALIA

Tracy Byers, graduate of the school of journalism in 1919, and former editor of the San Luis Obispo Morning Herald, has accepted a position on a newspaper at Porterville, California.

Mr. Byers expects to remain at Porterville until December or the first of the year, when he will leave for Australia, New Zealand, and South Africa, according to present plans.

Herbert Larson, '23, has been reporting for the past six months on the Morning Herald, Mr. Byers wrote.

PRACTICE ORCHESTRA WILL MEET THURSDAY

The meeting of the practice orchestra will take place Thursday at 5 o'clock in Villard hall, is the announcement of Rex Underwood, director. All future meetings, he states, will be held in the music building.

Any students who play musical instruments, other than the saxophone are urged by Mr. Underwood to attend and be prepared to play. The object of the practice orchestra, he states is to fill vacancies which may occur throughout the year in the first orchestra.

tained, he was not in the least nonplussed. He could not have fitted into the surroundings better, had he known for some time in advance that his dinner companions were to be young ladies, instead of men. This was proved by the fact that he was able to make an extemporaneous speech which was very well received by the girls.

Elliot Dexter portrays one of the characters in a moving picture which is coming to Eugene next week.

ORCHESTRA OFFICERS ELECTED LAST NIGHT

Officers of the University orchestra for the coming year were elected last night. Gwendolyn Lampshire was selected president; Jane O'Reilly, vice-president; Nina Warnock, secretary-treasurer; and Katie Potter, librarian.

Plans for the year's work were outlined and all members of the orchestra will participate in a number of concerts during the year. Rex Underwood is director of the organization.

COSMOPOLITAN CLUB ELECTS NEW OFFICERS

Dr. Marti Chosen President Of Foreign Society

Officers for the coming year were elected by the Cosmopolitan club, Tuesday night, at their semi-monthly meeting in the Y. W. C. A. hut. Those who will have charge of the club for the coming year are Dr. E. Marti, president; Andree Pellion, vice president; Marion Harde, secretary; Manuel Aleid, treasurer, and Cliff Wilson, publicity manager.

A social committee consisting of the secretary, Giora Campbell and M. Padilla was appointed to take charge of the social activities of the club and to arrange for programs, which will consist mainly of talks on foreign questions of interest.

Dr. D. W. Smith, in a short but interesting talk urged the club members to take part in student activities and also asked for talks from the foreign students on their native countries and their impressions of the University of Oregon.

Following the election Verchand Rayner entertained the club with magical acts.

The Cosmopolitan club, which has 30 active members, is composed of University students who come from foreign countries and also others who are interested in the club and its work on the campus.

GRADUATE STUDENT WILL ADDRESS CLUB

The University Mathematics club will hold its first meeting of the year Thursday night at 7:15 in room 1 of Johnson hall. According to Sylvia Veatch, acting president of the club, this will be a very short business meeting.

Marie Bidings, graduate student in mathematics, will talk on "Magic Squares." Miss Bidings graduated from the University in 1921, and has taught for two years in Ashland and one year in Idaho. She is now working for her master's degree.

QUESTIONS OFFERED FOR DO-NUT DEBATES

Tentative plans for the women's doughnut debate were drawn up last night at a meeting of Zeta Kappa Psi, women's honorary debating society. Further plans will be divulged tomorrow after a meeting of representatives from all the women's houses.

The intra-mural debates for women will take place November 18 and 19. The questions offered for discussion are the repeal of the Japanese immigration law and uniform marriage and divorce laws. The questions are occupying the attention of the lawmakers of the country at present. The Japanese issue will be used in the Oregon-

O. A. C. varsity debate. The question urging marriage and divorce regulation by a national law was argued two years ago by the women in a debate with the University of Washington.

The question of securing judges has always been a difficult one. The large number of judges needed is often difficult to have present on the two nights of the debate. It was decided that one interested judge, a faculty member, would be competent to judge each debate.

A representative from each of the women's houses will meet tonight at 7:15 o'clock and discuss these plans and submit the name of each house which will participate in the contest.

Intra-mural debate this year will be handled by the honorary debating organizations of the campus. Tau Kappa Alpha will handle the men's debate. Zeta Kappa Psi has charge of the women's contests.

Y.W.C.A. MEMBERSHIP DRIVE GATHERS FORCE

Representatives are Named Within Each House

The Y. W. C. A. membership drive gathered full force in its first day of action. Each house has a representative who is conducting a campaign for new members, and according to Mary Bartholomew, the prospects for exceeding the 600 membership of last year are good.

Women who were members last year hold membership throughout their college career. They will not be solicited. Membership is open to all women of the campus who are interested in the many phases of the work of the Y. W. C. A.

Those who are in charge of the drive within each house are Esther Setters, Gamma Phi Beta; Beatrice Harden, Chi Omega; Betty Honkanon, Kappa Alpha Theta; Alma Lawrence, Delta Delta Delta; Florence Allen, Kappa Kappa Gamma; Mary Clerin, Delta Gamma; Dorothy Henderson, Alpha Phi; Priscilla Akin, Pi Beta Phi; Beulah Clarke, Alpha Delta Pi; Esther Christenson, Delta Zeta; Frances Morgan, Alpha Chi Omega; Augusta Hamilton, Alpha Xi Delta; Margaret Livesly, Alpha Omicron Pi; Stella Van Vleet, Delta Omega; Margaret Ackerman, Sigma Beta Phi; Alene Larimer, Kappa Omicron; Frances Bourhill, Susan Campbell hall; Margaret Sagaberd, Thacher Cottage; Mary Bartholomew, Hendricks hall; Lois Parker, Oregon Club; Gladys McCormick, Alice Morris, Maurine Lombard, Hazel Johnson, Lois Inman and Gladys Buehler, town girls.

WASHINGTON STUDENTS SIGN UP FOR AVIATION

University of Washington.—(By P. I. N. S.)—Over three hundred men have signed up for the air service course of the R. O. T. C. It is expected that the number will be reduced 50 per cent by the physical examination.

Freshmen and sophomores in the course are given infantry drill engine instruction, cavalry liaison, radio telegraphy, military law, and navigation.
