WEEK-END GRID GAMES DECIDING

Oregon-Idaho Conflict Will Decide Leadership of Northwest Conference

Contests at Pullman and Seattle to Have Bearing On Coast Championship

With this week-end marking the mid-way point in the season's gridiron race, the games scheduled for Saturday are assuming paramount importance.

The attention of all coast grid fans will be centered on the big game between Oregon and Idaho. The winner of this tilt will automatically step into the lead of the northwest conference. Coaches at O. A. C. and W. S. C. will be much interested to see if the strength evidenced by Oregon in their game with the Huskies was more than a flash.

This question will be clearly answered in the game at Moscow.

Seattle Game Uncertain

On a par with the importance of the Oregon-Vandal tilt, looms the California-Washington contest at Seattle this week-end.

The Washington team was merily on its way to claim the pennant if she could beat California, when Oregon stepped in the Huskies' way and made the northern school postpone championship aspirations.

Nevertheless, should the Bears check the Huskies, California will have hopped one of the big hurdles in the way of their claiming their fifth successive pennant. If Washington gives Andy Smith's aggregation a good trouncing, Stanford will then probably have a strangle hold on the top position of the conference standings.

Washington Conceded Chance

Many sport critics give Washington an excellent chance to turn the trick on the Bears, as the defeat handed to the Huskies by Oregon last week, was just the jolt that Bagshaw's men needed to take the over-confidence and cockiness out of their outfit.

Of considerable interest to Oregon grid followers will be the outcome of the O. A. C. W. S. C. game at Pullman. The varsity plays both of these aggregations this month, and whether they will prove to be real stumbling blocks for Maddock's men will be indicated on the calibre of game played by these two squads today.

W. S. C. has Hard Schedule

Washington State has had a mighty hard time to break into the win column so far. The Cougars have plenty of material and Coach Exendine has built up a really formidable outfit. But the Pullman team has had a difficult schedule and have been unable to break through. However, some team seems about due for a decided setback at the hands of W. S. C., and whether the Aggies will fall victims to the Pullman attack will be known today.

Due to the break-up between U. S. C. and Stanford, the Cardinals will remain idle over this week-end, but the Trojans have arranged

CHINESE GOODS TO BE EXHIBITED AND SOLD AT SUSAN CAMPBELL

Mandarin jackets, tapestry squares, bead necklaces of jade and ivory, and fine embroidered linens are a part of the exhibition and sale of Chinese goods which will be held in Susan Campbell hall, Saturday, November 15.

The display, which has been received by Katherine Edgar, consists of goods which come directly from the Peking shop of Mr. and Mrs. George S. Hayes, who were formerly missionaries at Chefoo, China, where they started the Torchon lace industry. It is estimated that ten thousand women and girls in Chefoo alone are now engaged in lace-making and the trade has spread to thousands of villages in the Shantung province.

Varsity Debater is Under Medical Care After Big "Oskie"

Robert Creamer, varsity debater, put too much zip into a mighty "Oskie" at the Oregon-Washington game last Saturday and is now under treatment for a blood clot on the brain.

As he turned loose the full power of his lungs in a yell that may have shaken the foundations of Deady hall, a blood vessel in his brain burst. Creamer attended classes until Thursday noon when he was advised to drop all activities for the time being. He will probably be under medical care for two weeks or more.

R.O.T.C. TO PARADE ON ARMISTICE DAY

Over Three Hundred Men Now in Department

An invitation has been received by Lieut. Col. W. S. Sinclair from George E. Love, commander of the Eugene post of the American Legion, to have the University R. O. T. C. unit participate in the Armistice Day parade, on Tuesday, November 11. This parade will be the seventh held in commemoration of the cessation of hostilities of the World war, on November 11, 1918.

The R. O. T. C. unit is the largest uniformed organization in Eugene, and, with its band playing and the colors flying, it is expected that it will add an impressive touch to the local ceremonies.

For several years past the R. O. T. C. has been well represented in Armistice Day parades. It is because of pride in the accomplishment of our nation in the World war, and out of respect for those who paid the supreme sacrifice for their country, that the men have responded so heartily to the Armistice parades, said Captain Frank L. Cullin.

There are over three hundred men registered in the R. O. T. C. this year. "Due to the enthusiasm which is shown by the boys, we hope to have more in the parade Tuesday than in the previous Armistice Day celebrations," said Colonel Sinclair.

He has requested that all students enrolled in the R. O. T. C. report to the barracks at 9:30 Tuesday morning, November 11, in order that they may be formed into units suitable for parading. The men are requested to report in full uniform.

EXTENSION PUPILS LIKE POLITICAL SCIENCES

Political science is proving popular in the Portland center, of the University extension division. This is proven by the size of the enrollment in Dr. Dan Clark's two courses on the subject now being given there. Nearly a hundred are registered in the two courses.

Dr. Clark goes to Portland every Wednesday to give his courses. "Principles and Problems of Government," is the title of one course, and "Growth of Popular Government in the United States," is the other, in which sixty are registered.

PHONOGRAPH TEACHES ROMANCE LANGUAGES

"Teachers are beginning to realize the importance of the direct method in teaching languages" was the statement made by L. Francis Nelson, western representative of the Iroquois Publishing company, to supervised teachers, at a demonstration of phonograph records for use in French classes, Thursday afternoon.

Mr. Nelson, who was formerly a teacher, explained that French was formerly taught by the old grammar method; but now teachers are adopting the direct method which includes the use of records to assist the instructors in teaching pronunciation to classes. He played records manufactured by the company which he represents, as examples of how teaching is made easier. The demonstration was conducted at the University high school.

MUSIC CONCERT WELL RECEIVED

Phi Mu Alpha Gives First Of Series of Musical Programs at Assembly

"Nita Maria," an Original Composition Played on Violin by Delbert Moore

By E. H. Delbert Moore's violin solos—"Leibesfreud" by Kreisler, and his encore, "Nita Maria," written by himself, were the features of the popular Phi Mu Alpha assembly program yesterday. Moore played with brilliancy and finish, and he showed, particularly in the piece of his own composition, a depth of tone and feeling. This is the first presentation of "Nita Maria," which he has just finished composing.

Several Solos Given

The marimba solos by Elmer Clark were especially well received. They were "The Rosary," by Nevin, "The World is Waiting for the Sunrise," and "Somewhere a Voice is Calling," as encores.

The vocal solos, "Vision Fugitive" by Massenet, sung in French, and "Harmony," by Del Riego, rendered by Nathanael Pinch, and "O, Golden Sun" by Freeby, and "Love's Garden of Roses," by Woods, sung by Richard Adam were popular. Both soloists sang excellently. Adam was a favorite last year. This was the second appearance on the campus for Mr. Pench, who has joined the faculty of the school of music this year. His solo work was pleasing and showed the tone quality and ability of his voice.

Stringed Quartet Plays

Various combinations of instruments were used giving a variety

Dr. Ross is on duty at the infirmary every other night from six o'clock in the evening until six in the morning. When he is not there, another doctor will be on hand to receive the calls.

Dean Walker Named Inter-Fraternity Council Head

Houses Will Decide On Intra-Mural Athletics

Workers to Handle Y.W.C.A. Budget Campaign Named By Eloise Buck, Director

Dean Walker, student adviser and a member of Sigma Nu, was elected president of the Inter-Fraternity council at a meeting held last Tuesday night. Junior Seton, Beta Theta Pi, was re-elected vice-president, and Otto Mauthe, Chi Psi, was chosen secretary-treasurer.

The question of participation in doughnut athletics, banned by the council last year, was discussed, and it was decided to take no arbitrary stand on the matter. "The council considers it a matter for each individual house to decide for itself," said Junior Seton. "We are not sponsoring inter-fraternity athletics."

GRID-GRAPH TO RECORD IDAHO GAME SATURDAY

Admission Charge Reduced To Thirty-five Cents

Oregon rooters can cheer for the football game at Moscow, this Saturday, just as it is played. However, the cheering will be done before the grid-graph in Villard hall which will record the game play by play as the team meets the Vandals. The grid-graph is connected with the Western Union loop.

Ted Gillenwaters, assisted by the student managers, will operate the machine, which is in charge of the Order of the "O", and it is expected that a large turnout will witness this most crucial game of the season.

The grid-graph will not start running until the finish of the frosh-rook game which will start at 1:00 here, in order to allow people to see both games. Organized rooting sections and all the enthusiasm that goes with a football crowd at a real game will be there.

The grid-graph cost $1250, one half of which must be paid before the end of this year, and so to encourage larger attendances, the admission charge has been reduced from fifty to thirty-five cents. A member of each organization will be announced tomorrow, to take charge of the ticket selling for the house.

Rent books just received are: "The Passage to India," a presentation of life and a study of Moslem and Hindu minds, by E. M. Foster; "Heliadora," a book of poems, by Hilda Doolittle; "Man and the Masses," dealing with social revolution, by Ernst Toller; "The Old Ladies," by Hugh Walpole; "Passing the Torch," by Mary Raymond Shipman Andrews. This book is a successor to "The Perfect Tribute" while the story is based on the real incident of Abraham Lincoln's kindness to a drummer boy.

Three Girls Start To Rally for Game At 6:00 in Morning

Oregon spirit gave three Hendricks hall girls an unusual experience Thursday morning. They got up before daylight and walked down to the railroad station to see the football team off for the Idaho game.

"We heard Freddie Martin tell the men at the rally that the team would leave at 7:30 Thursday morning and that there would be a rally," said one of the girls. "I set the alarm for 6:00 and awakened the other two and we went down to the depot but there was no one in sight. We decided that we had been fooled so came back."

"When we reached home we got an Emerald and there staring us in the face in big headlines was: 'team send-off to begin at 1:15!'" "One of the girls asked the other: 'Well, are we going?' 'Of course we are going! After having gone down there that early we can't have people saying that we have no Oregon fight.'"

MEN'S GROUPS SIGN UP FOR DOUGHNUT SPORTS

Physical Education Plans Include Five Events

Some of the houses have taken interest in intra-mural sports and have signed up at the gym where a schedule is being arranged. ## FRESHMAN GIRLS BORROW FROM WOMEN'S LOAN FUND

The freshman women's loan fund is already being utilized, says Mr. Dean Walker, student advisor. The total amount of the fund is $500 and there is a limit of $50 for individual loans. The loans which have been made are smaller, averaging around $25. Four of these loans have been made and practically a fourth of the fund has been utilized. The fund is for freshmen women only. There is as yet no fund for the use of freshmen men.

FOOTBALL TEAM GIVEN SEND-OFF

Oregon Spirit is Feature Of Rally Held for Game With Vandals Saturday

Colonel Leader, Dick Reed Make Short Addresses To Students at Station

Oregon spirit—lots of it—featured the rally held yesterday between 1:15 and 2:00 p. m., to give the football team an appropriate send-off to the Oregon-Idaho game. The parade, with the R. O. T. C. band at the head, started at Thirteenth street, went down Alder to Eleventh, and thence, over the usual route to the Oregon Electric depot.

Led by Fred Martin, yell king, and his staff, the large body of students sent up cheer after cheer for the men who are to fight for Oregon and Oregon traditions. A baggage truck was borrowed from the station, and from the top of this, Joe Maddock, and Colonel Leader spoke to the students.

Joe Gives Talk

Joe was the first speaker up, and he told of Oregon's chances to win the coming game. "I'm a little afraid of the outcome. This is the last year many of the Idaho men will be able to play on the football squad, and they are out to make it count, but I have confidence in our men. We're taking our time. We can only win one game at a time, that's all—just one game at a time."

Following his speech, Joe proved his ability as a song leader as well as a football coach. The composition, one of his own production, was first sung by himself and then the students repeated the verses after him.

The words are: What have we done? What have we done? We've put the Huskies on the bum That's what we've done. What will we do? What will we do? We'll do it to the Vandals too. That's what we'll do.

Colonel Leader Speaks "All we want to tell the boys is that we cherish them," were the words of Colonel Leader. The Colonel apologized for his lack of voice on the grounds that he had not recovered from Saturday's game.

"Never have I suffered as much as I did in the last six weeks of the last quarter," Colonel Leader said, referring to the game with the Huskies, and then went on to emphasize the fact that all Oregon is back of the football players.

From the steps of the train, "Dick" Reed, captain of the team, gave a few parting words. "Idaho has never beaten Oregon yet, and they aren't going to do it this time," he said, and amid the applause and cheering of the rallyists, the train moved out of the station.

After the rally, the freshmen were sent to repaint the "O" on Skinkers butte, which was covered with green "W's."

WOMEN'S ROOM OPEN FOR SOCIAL MEETING

The Woman's building committee has decided to offer the women's room, downstairs at the south of the building, to any group of University women who desire to entertain and have no place which they can use for the purpose.

Girls living in town without adequate rooms for entertaining men may arrange for an evening or afternoon's use of this room, by seeing Mrs. Wilson at the Woman's building, and making certain of the date. There is no charge for this use.

The room is at present used some evenings during the week for meetings of various campus societies. A list of rules regarding the use of the Woman's building is being printed and copies may be secured in a few days from Mrs. Wilson or at the office of the dean of women.
