A most respectable nation it seems, may indulge in practices which would cause an individual to be shunned in any decent society. A glaring instance of this double standard of morality is spying, and worse still, spying in time of peace. It appears that the Admiralty of the virtuous Britain has had stationed at Moscow a most efficient spy, euphemistically called "agent" who has surreptitiously obtained copies of confidential documents of the wicked Soviet Russia.

The wicked communists set a trap for the agent of the virtuous Britain, for which he fell, hook, line and sinker. They left lying about, what purported to be a letter from Zinoviev, one of the leaders of the Third International, to the communists of Britain, inciting them to increased revolutionary activity. Photographs of this "planted" letter were sent to London and were later given to the press as authentic, though it was never sent nor intended to be sent to the British communists.

The whole affair caused a furore in England and it is to be hoped that some of the righteous wrath may be directed against the dastardly practice which brought it about.

Belgium has established in the Congo, a sanctuary or reservation for gorillas. It is estimated that there are only about 2,000 gorillas remaining in all Africa, and this area, 250 miles square, is to be barred to hunters and visited only by scientists. It will be interesting to observe the effect upon the gorilla culture, of this policy of "splendid isolation."

A federal court at Philadelphia has just decided that San Marino is a nation and as such is entitled to a quota of immigrants.

Mahatma Gandhi has fasted three weeks as a rebuke to his Moslem and Hindu followers who had indulged themselves in race and religion riots. He believes the old practice of "going supperless to bed" should follow misconduct on the part of children, only the parents, not the child, should lose their supper. This seems somewhat akin to the quaint Chinese custom, according to which, the conscience of defaulting debtors is often touched by finding on the door-step the corpse of the creditor, who shows his displeasure by taking his own, not his debtor's life.

While the West may never adopt these methods of the East, we must not despise their efficacy. Gandhi's fast provoked an important Hindu-Moslem Unity conference, with 300 representatives from all parts of India. A common effort to drive out the English may yet result in some sort of mutual tolerance.

V. Blasco Ibanez, noted Spanish author, proposes to overthrow the military dictatorship now governing Spain. He will send two planes armed with 2,000,000 copies of his pamphlet "King Alphonso Unmasked," and these idea-projectiles will be hurled, so to speak, into the brains of the Spanish people.

We sympathize with the aims of Senor Ibanez and, rather gloomily, wish him luck. We cannot agree however, that in any real sense, King Alphonso was the cause of the failure of parliamentary government in Spain. The truth is that democratic institutions have operated very indifferently in the Latin countries. If we cheritabily draw a veil over the past and note only the actual situation, we find governments based on a coup d'Etat in Italy, Spain, Chile, a revolution in Brazil, and almost chronic disorders in the Central American and Caribbean republics. Even in France, the present regime is significantly called the Third Republic.

Without joining in the somewhat blatant self-praise by which we Nordics have distinguished ourselves of late, we may frankly admit that the Latin peoples have had a very modest success in playing at being democracies. A thorough-going Nordic will say it is the race. Others of us must wait until illiteracy, ignorance, and organized superstition have given the berated Latin blood a chance.

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, EUGENE, TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 11, 1924

NUMBER 31

UNIVERSITY HAS HOLIDAY TODAY

R. O. T. C. Department With
Entire Band to Turn Out
For Armistice Day Parade

Music Program Features
Celebration Ceremonies
After Return to Armory

The University of Oregon will be officially closed today in consideration of the national armistice day. Although there is no actual university program arranged in celebration of the holiday, the American Legion of Eugene has planned a downtown parade at 10:30 and afterwards, a patriotic assembly in the armory featuring speeches and musical numbers.

The R. O. T. C. band is to turn out as a unit, it was planned yesterday, since they are to be one of the factors of the parade. It is requested by Colonel W. S. Sinclair, that all University men who are taking work in the military department be on hand to enter the parade. From the support and co-operation which the department has received on previous occasions, it is thought that at least eighty per cent of the students will respond to the call.

Men Report at Barracks

The men are to report at the R. O. T. C. barracks in full uniform at 9:30 today. There they will receive all extra equipment, form in companies and, led by the band, march down to Oak street between Sixth and Seventh, where the parade is to form.

The parade route is from Fifth avenue east, up Willamette street to Thirteenth, return to Seventh and thence to the armory. A full minute of silence with the parade at halt will be a minute of remembrance for the fallen service men. The services at the armory will be of a distinctly festive nature, according to George Love of Eugene, post commander of the American Legion, who is in charge. Noise will be the dominating element of the occasion.

Music Program Arranged

Dr. E. V. Stivers, of the First Presbyterian church, will be the main speaker at the ceremony in the armory after the parade has ended. There will also be songs from the University of Oregon glee club, war songs from veterans, numbers from the Legion drum and bugle corps, the I. O. O. F. band and the Winter Garden Oregonian orchestra.

ORGAN, NEARLY READY FOR USE, SHOWS EXQUISITE WORKMANSHIP

Installation of the big Reuter organ at the new auditorium in the school of music building, is fast nearing completion and it is expected everything will be finished by the fifteenth of this month, according to John Stark Evans, instructor of piano and organ at the school of music.

Mr. Evans said he had watched the installation of several organs, and that the Reuter, to his knowledge, has the best quality of material and expert workmanship of any he had seen. "Even though the pipes are not visible from the auditorium, the joints are so perfect they look like a thread and are not rough-looking as in most other organs. This is one illustration of the care taken to obtain the finest quality of tone," said Mr. Evans. "Most organ manufacturers pay their mechanics by the piece, but the Reuter company employs all its help by the day and are thus assured of perfect workmanship," continued Mr. Evans.

In the echo organ, located in the ceiling above the balcony at the rear of the auditorium, is a set of the highest quality Degan chimes. The set is composed of twenty large nickel-silver tubes, the longest about six feet, and the others ranging in proportion to the

Delicate Doughnuts Slated to Displace Thursday Breakfast

Doughnuts, sugary confections of pure deliciousness, syntheses of culinary art, toothsome, delectable enough to tempt an anchorite.

These are the kind that Theta Sigma Phi, national women's journalistic fraternity, will purvey to the student body Thursday at a nickel the doughnut or a dime for two or two bits for five, ad infinitum. No limit is set on the number that any one person can buy. Their conscience (or their digestion) shall be their only guide.

From the wee small hours of dawn to the last dark hours of the day the tired journalism women will sell doughnuts to appease the ravaging appetites of hungry students.

Get your doughnuts early is the warning issued to those who would taste the delights of true culinary art.

GRID GRAPH CHARGE IS NOT EXHORBITANT

Cost of Operation is $50;
Original Price $1300

Because of some discussion and apparent dissatisfaction on the part of Oregon students over the price which the Order of the "O" charges for admission to the grid-graph, the following facts have been released by the office of the president of the student body by way of explanation:

The initial cost of the grid-graph is in the neighborhood of $1300 and each time it is operated the expense is approximately $50 according to the varying distance from the University that the game is played.

This expense makes the sum of 35 cents admission very insignificant unless quite a large number attend. Another item which must be taken into consideration is the fact that the grid-graph can be used only four times a year and is then of no value until the following football season starts. It is expected that it will take several years for the grid-graph to pay for itself because of this fact.

The grid-graph belongs jointly to the Order of the "O" and the student body, and any money made must first be passed on regularly through the executive council before the Order of the "O" can use it.

Evidence therefore points to the fact that the admission charge is not excessive considering the expense of operation.

CAMPUS AWAITS NOTED VIOLINIST

Miss Ebba Frederickson
To Appear in Concert
Wednesday at Villard

Washington State Normal
Audience Enthusiastic in Praise of Young Artist

Miss Ebba Frederickson, the 20-year-old Seattle violinist who has appeared in a number of large American and European cities, is the first outside artist to be presented in Eugene under the auspices of the Mu Phi Epsilon music fraternity.

After graduation from the Lincoln high school of Seattle, Miss Frederickson studied abroad. Her successful appearances in Europe were followed by presentations in the larger American cities.

Poise and Grace Noted

Miss Frederickson is gifted with a charming appearance and a pleasing personality. Exquisite artistry and command of her instrument includes her among the truly gifted, and poise, finish and grace make her concerts pleasing as well as interpretive.

Her latest program, given this week at Washington State Normal, Bellingham, was enthusiastically received. Her Washington critics rated her as being the best artist to appear there during the last two years, and numbered her among the most promising of the younger American artists.

Program is Given

The concert by Miss Frederickson and her accompanist, Miss Hattie Edholm tomorrow night at Villard hall, will include the following numbers:

Sonata in F Major (for piano and violin).....Greig
Concerto in G Minor.....Bruch
Chant Negre.....Kramer
Waltz.....Weber-Burmeister
Samoan Lullaby.....Tod Boyd
Oberstaff Mazurka.....Wieniawski
Ave Maria.....Schubert-Wilhelmj
Hejre Kati.....Hubay

NOTED Y.M.C.A. MEN WILL VISIT CAMPUS

Two well known Y. M. C. A. workers, George Irving, member of the international committee of the association, and Gale Seaman, Y. M. C. A. secretary of the Pacific coast, will visit the campus this week.

Irving will address a meeting of all students and faculty members interested in "Y" activity on some phase of religious work, at the hut Wednesday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock. All are invited to attend the lecture which will be instructive to students interested in religious affairs, according to Rev. H. W. Davis, secretary of the University association.

Several talks will be given by Irving at the city Y. M. C. A. during his stay here in addition to his lecture on the campus. Thursday he is to address the Eugene chamber of commerce. Irving is at present making a speaking tour, addressing the "Y" associations throughout the country on the various phases of religious activity. He is a member of the department of religious work of the Y. M. C. A. international committee which has its headquarters in New York. Gale Seaman will be on the campus Thursday and will hold conference with students interested in the Asiatic convention to be held later in the year. He is well known at the University, having addressed Y. M. C. A. groups here several times. He is the leading speaker for the Seabeck conference held every summer.

NO EMERALD WEDNESDAY
No Emerald will be issued Wednesday morning because of the holiday today. The regular edition will be out again Thursday.

Rally Special To Take University Students To Game At Portland

Oregon Electric Leaves Eugene Friday at 4:30
Giant Serpentine is Planned
To Rouse Spirit

The hundreds of students who are planning to go to Portland this week-end to attend the Oregon-Washington State football classic on Multnomah field are to have the opportunity of traveling to and from the game on a special Oregon Electric train of several coaches, according to plans made by the committee in charge appointed by Yell King, Fred Martin.

The Rally Special, which will leave Eugene at 4:30 o'clock Friday afternoon in order that all classes will be over with, is scheduled to arrive at Tenth and Morrison streets, Portland, at 8 o'clock.

From the train, the entire entourage will form a monster serpentine which will parade to the Multnomah club, where one of the famous Oregon rallies to key the team up to its highest fighting spirit, will take place.

Rally Ends at Club

After the rally a free dance will be held at the club for every one to enjoy. Arrangements will probably be made to take care of all of the students' wraps and luggage before starting the serpentine to the club house, in order that each person may have unhampered freedom to enjoy himself.

On the Rally Special, a box lunch will be served before the train arrives in Portland and each and every man and woman should therefore be in fine fettle to spend the evening in letting Portland know that the University of Oregon has come to town.

Trip Will be Lively

On the way down special entertainment is being planned which will insure the fact that there will not be one dull moment from the time the whistle screams when the train leaves Eugene to the time the brakes are applied when the train pulls safely back again with a load of tired but jubilant Oregonians.

Another special train will also leave Eugene Saturday morning at 8 o'clock, to accommodate those who are unable to leave Friday evening, which will arrive in Portland in time to participate in the giant serpentine and parade through the business district of the town, which will precede the game by an hour or two.

Marion Dickey has been appointed by Martin to be in charge of the Rally special and will have a corps of assistants under him to assure the success of the undertaking.

KENDALL-ELLIS MAKES DONATION TO CAMPAIGN

Proceeds From Oregon
Pictures are Given

The latest donor to the University Gift Campaign is the Kennell-Ellis Portrait Studio of Eugene, according to announcement made by campaign headquarters yesterday. The contribution is made by giving to the University the receipts obtained from photographic services to the Oregonians.

In accordance with the usual custom, when students appear to be photographed for the Oregonians, they will order two negatives and one retouched print. The charge for this service is 75 cents. This sum in each case will be given by the studio to the University, and the Oregonians will be supplied with the individual photographs without charge. If 1000 individuals should appear for photographs, the University would thus realize $750. The gift will be in proportion to the number of negatives and photographs required.

CHRISTMAS BALL TO BE AT MULTNOMAH HOTEL

A Christmas college ball will be given during the Christmas holidays in Portland at the Multnomah hotel on Saturday, December 27. It will be sponsored by the Women's League which has handled the affair for the last five years. The Pi-id Pipers, who have been playing at the Campa Shoppe in Eugene will furnish the music.

Jeanne Elizabeth Gay, chairman of the scholarship fund of the Women's League executive council, has been appointed to take charge of the dance. She was also in charge of last year's ball. Imogene Lewis has been appointed by Miss Gay on her sub-committee to be chairman of finance, with Mary Griffin and Lois LaRoche as assistants. Georgia Benson will have charge of publicity with Helene Tyroll and Beatrice Harden.

Hazel Mary Price is the chairman of the committee to select the patrons and patronesses and assisting her are Katherine Lauderdale, Betty Kerr, and Frances Morgan.

Y.W.C.A. STARTS FINANCE DRIVE

Luncheon of Workers Held
Yesterday; Organization
To Ask Aid from Women

Student Quota is $1800
One Girl in Each Living
Group Solicit Campus

A luncheon for the workers of the finance drive was the formal opening yesterday of the Y. W. C. A. campaign for funds. This week the association will ask the women students for financial support for its endeavors.

Each year the organization which is conducted for the benefit of the women students holds a drive in which the students are asked to contribute to the upkeep of the bungalow and the work carried on by the association. The women are not asked to bear the entire burden of the support; townspeople contribute their share.

Wide Work Carried On

The work conducted by the Y. W. C. A. includes maintaining an employment bureau for University women. During last year 500 calls for work were filled. The Y. W. C. A. also maintains a church co-operation department for linking its work with that of the churches. Departments for taking charge of handling the girl reserve work and for many other phases of association work are also a part of the program.

The amount to be raised by student pledges is $1800. Another $1800 to complete the budget is to be raised by the advisory board and other sources. The work of soliciting the women students will be carried on by a committee composed of a girl from each hall and house, and several from among the town group. Each girl has a list of students whom she will see.

Graph to Show Returns

The first report of the committee of workers will be made Wednesday, at the bungalow. Eloise Buck, chairman of the finance department, hopes that the final goal will be reached by Friday. A graph represented by a triangle will show the amounts raised each day. Each side of the triangle will represent $600 and as the money is pledged the triangle will be filled in with blue.

At the luncheon yesterday the workers received their material and were told of the work of the association by various speakers including Dean Virginia Estler, Mrs. E. E. DeCou, and Mrs. Bruce Giffen.

R. CREAMER GOES TO PORTLAND SPECIALIST

Robert Creamer, varsity debater, who has been suffering from a blood clot on the brain, left Monday afternoon for Portland where he will receive treatments from a specialist.

If the doctor thinks it is advisable, Creamer will return to the University to continue his studies in the law school but if a prolonged treatment is necessary he will withdraw and enter again in the winter term.

Creamer burst a blood vessel in his brain while cheering at the Oregon-Washington game. A clot on the brain developed and Eugene doctors advised his withdrawal from all activities until the ailment was cured. Creamer is a member of Sigma Nu fraternity.

Women's League Tea is Wednesday in Sun Parlor. A Women's League tea will be held Wednesday afternoon from four to six. As usual, this will be given in the sun parlor and dancing room of the Woman's building. All University women are extended an invitation to come and join the dancing and tea-drinking.

BETA-DELTA FRESHMAN TUG OF WAR IS TODAY

The annual Beta-Delta Tau tug-of-war will be held this afternoon at 1:30 near the Delta Tau Delta house. The freshmen of the two houses have been entered in these contests each year for about ten years and the Delta Taus, who won the victory last year, have won a majority of times.

No dope has been given out as to the relative merits of the two groups but both teams promise a strenuous fight to the finish.

DR. CLARK WILL MEET CLASSES NEXT WEEK

Dr. R. C. Clark, professor of history, did not meet his classes Thursday, did not meet his classes Thursday, did not meet his classes Thursday, he was called out of town on an emergency call.
