

C. E. SEASHORE TO VISIT CAMPUS

Authority on Psychology Of Sound and Music To be Here Two Days

MENTAL TESTING TRIED

Aim is to Give Opportunities For Research Problems To Brilliant Students

Dr. C. E. Seashore, head of the psychology department, dean of the graduate school of the University of Iowa, and one of the leading scientists in the country on the psychology of sound and music, will be on the campus Tuesday in the interests of the National Research Council, which is seeking to secure better opportunities for research work for the honor student. He will remain here for several days.

In speaking of the work of Dean Seashore, Dr. Raymond H. Wheeler, of the University of Oregon, said: "Dr. Seashore is testing out the theory that classes should be segregated according to their mental ability. Mental tests are used in the University of Iowa in this connection, not to eliminate the students exclusively, but merely to rate the degree of their efficiency. If a student is low in his work, the test shows whether or not this is due to the lack of ability to understand."

Classes Are Divided

The psychology classes there are sometimes divided into thirty or more quiz sections, according to intelligence rating, but after the start the students are put on a competitive basis and promotions are made for those who bring up their grades.

"The effect seems to be stimulating, as the difference in rating is not enough to make the student feel inferior," said Dr. Wheeler. Those rated low seem usually to stay in their section, but this is not always so.

Specialist Has Laboratory

Dr. Seashore has a very complete laboratory at the University of Iowa, which is equipped with complicated apparatus for the detecting of sound waves in testing the voices of singers for quality, intensity and the ability to hold tone.

Students from all over the country go there to study the specialized work on sound and to secure their Ph.D's.

"By singing into a speaking tube attached to one of these machines one can find out how far off pitch the voice is," said Dr. Wheeler.

Dr. Seashore has invented a series of tests for musical ability which are made on Columbia phonograph records. These records test those phases of sound that have to do with the mechanics of sound and voice control of a sensory kind.

One of the records has to do with the ability to detect and discriminate differences in pitch; another, differences of intensity and tone. Time and sensibility to rhythm and memory for tones are other qualities tested.

Lecturer Has Published Book

Dr. Seashore was for a year chairman of the division of Psychology and Anthropology of the National Research Council in Washington, D. C.; a prominent position which he held while on leave of absence from Iowa university. He has done a great deal of writing on the subject of his specialty, and has published a book on the Psychology of Music.

A faculty dinner will be held at the Anchorage Tuesday evening for Doctor Seashore. He will speak about the program which the Research Council is trying to institute for the securing of better opportunities for the gifted student of research work.

CAKES WILL BE PRIZES

AT INTRA-MURAL RACES

University of North Carolina.—At the University of North Carolina, intra-mural races with cakes as prizes will be held. The race will be a set course and will be somewhat similar to a cross country race. The cakes are being donated by the ladies of the town. There will be one hundred cakes which will be given to the first hundred men to finish.

Mazamas to Lead Hike Over Baldy Sunday Morning

A group of hikers from the University and the city will leave the Administration building Sunday at 8:30 a. m. The route set for the walkers starts at Coburg bridge, ascends Old Baldy and descends on the other side, coming through Springfield.

Transportation will be provided to the Coburg bridge. That this transporting arrangement may be sufficient it is urged that all who intend to go on the hike sign the list at the reference desk of the library. Thirty hikers have signed up.

J. E. Allison, of the business office will lead the hike. He is a Mazama of old standing. The hikers will return to Eugene between four and six o'clock.

INJURY IS FATAL TO MORRISON R. MILLER

Funeral Services to be Held At 2 P. M. Tomorrow

Morrison R. Miller, a junior in the University and a major in pre-engineering, died at the Eugene hospital early yesterday morning from spinal meningitis resulting from an injury received in basketball practice.

It was found that a secondary hemorrhage had taken place due to the bursting of a blood vessel underneath the mucous membrane of the nose, when an X-ray picture was taken of his head. Through this hemorrhage it is believed the germs causing the spinal meningitis entered his brain.

Several local physicians were called into consultation before the youth's death and it was decided that everything that could be done by medical science had been done for him. Doctors predicted his death early Thursday morning.

Morrison R. Miller was 19 years of age, and was born in Springfield, Oregon, May 30, 1905, moving to Eugene with his parents in 1919. He attended the grade schools in Eugene, and graduated from the Eugene high school.

At the University he has been a member of Sigma Pi Tau fraternity, the mathematics club and the technical club. He was a member of the Presbyterian church.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ransom Miller, who operate the Miller grocery store on Thirteenth avenue east, and who reside at 334 Fifteenth avenue east, and a brother, Charles Ransom Miller.

Funeral services will be held at the Veatch chapel at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon with Reverend A. H. Saunders of the Presbyterian church officiating. Interment will be in the new I. O. O. F. cemetery. The body will lie in state at the Veatch chapel Saturday and on Sunday morning.

'PRINCESS BEBE' CAST WILL BE EXCEPTIONAL

Professor Reddie, Charlotte Brunfield, Mrs. John Leader and Darrel Larson will play the chief roles in Princess Bebe, a modern comedy to be presented November 18, 19, and 20, by the dramatic department.

The author of the play, Benvenuto, is a contemporary Spanish writer who has attracted wide attention recently by his exceptional character portrayal and his ethical consideration of the situations in which the characters find themselves.

The action of the play takes place in an empire called Suavia, the exact geographical location of which is, however, uncertain. Much of the plot concerns the matrimonial difficulties and digressions of the royalty of the country.

SON BORN TO PROFESSOR

AND MRS. VIRGIL HAFEN
Word has been received from eastern Utah of the birth of a son to Professor and Mrs. Virgil O. Hafen on November 6. Mrs. Hafen is spending the winter with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. N. Chapman, on their ranch.

VARSITY DEBATE TEAM IS CHOSEN

Men Who Will Meet O. A. C. In January Have Been Named by Coach Brown

ELECTION ISSUE TOPIC

Six Picked After Tryouts Of Last Month in Which Fifteen Had Entered

The men's varsity debate teams which will meet O. A. C. in a dual contest on January 8, have been announced by O. A. Brown, coach. The affirmative team is composed of Sol Abramson and Benoit McCrosky, and the members of the negative team are Curtis Erwin and Herschel Brown. Ernest Henrikson and Jack McGuire will act as alternates.

These contests will represent the second debate meet of the year. The first will be with Oxford on December 3. The question for the O. A. C. debate is: Resolved that Congress by a two-thirds vote shall have the power to overrule decisions of the supreme court declaring acts of Congress unconstitutional.

Topic to be Used Again

The question is the same as that to be used in a triangular meet with the University of Washington and the Idaho teams on March 5.

The teams were chosen from an original group of 15 men picked after the tryouts last month. This number was gradually reduced until the teams were selected at a try-out Thursday night. The group of six, including the teams and the alternates, will continue work on the question.

Election Issue Used

The topic for debate has proved to be a popular one this year. Its feature as an election issue has served to bring it before the public and it is regarded as one of the liveliest questions of today. Current magazines have been presenting many articles by leading political scientists and jurists, in which the subject has been widely discussed.

CHURCH TEAM TO VISIT UNIVERSITY Y. W. GROUP

The campus Y. W. will host next week to a church team visit, November 18, 19, and 20. This team's visit is an interdenominational approach to women students which will meet the religious needs of the colleges and universities. This eliminates the multiplicity of denominational visitations scattered throughout the year and yet places before the students the entire program of the church.

The churches represented with the delegates of each are, Presbyterian, Harriet Thompson; Baptist, Frances Greenough; Congregational, Mrs. Helen Ranney; Methodist, Miss Milan; and Episcopal, whose representative is not yet known.

The aim of this visit is, (a) to present to the students on the campus the work of the church at home and abroad, (b) to provide for each church secretary an opportunity to do her own particular work through the local church, (c) to unite the students, faculty, student pastors, and association in a study of campus problems in the light of the experience which those who have come in touch with other campuses can give, (d) to stimulate the girl who is not a part of any denominational program to an interest in the Church's sake.

The program will consist of two general meetings; 4:15, Tuesday in Guild hall, and 4:15, Thursday at the Y. W. bungalow, where the secretaries will take part in the meeting. Wednesday is left open to different denominational group meetings. Each church group is planning some feature for this program. At the first general meeting, the program committee hopes to be able to present Dr. Lapey (Continued on Page Four)

Health Service Urges Prevention Of Seasonal Ills

"Keep the students well," will be the motto of all the living organizations on the campus from now on," declared Dr. William Kuykendall, director of the University Health Service, in a short talk to a group of house presidents and matrons, in Commerce hall Thursday night. "We want the University of Oregon to have the most healthy, robust body of students in the state."

Dr. Kuykendall emphasized the fact that it was necessary at this time of the year to take special steps toward the prevention of diseases, and urged close cooperation on the part of all the students to curb the rise of any epidemics.

Several meetings of house presidents will be held from time to time by the University Health Service, in the interest of the health of the community. The Health Service has also prepared several mimeographed bulletins containing practical and timely suggestions for the prevention of disease which will be distributed among the houses on the campus.

FRESHMEN TO BATTLE HUSKY BABES TODAY

Eighteen Men Make Trip; Prendergast Out

The Oregon frosh are facing a hard game today when they meet the University of Washington yearlings in the big stadium at Seattle. The odds are slightly in favor of the Washington team because of its weight and showing made in the games played so far.

Baz Williams and the squad of eighteen frosh players arrived in Seattle Friday morning and held a light workout in the stadium yesterday afternoon. Most of the regulars are in good condition and they are pepped up with the idea of winning from the Husky first year men.

The Washington babes will be weakened by the loss of Louis Tesreau, a brother of the Washington all-coast fullback, Elmer Tesreau. Reports from Seattle indicate that Louis is a more finished and better player even than his more famous brother. Oregon has a remarkable fullback in Wetzel and he will probably bear the brunt of the attack in today's game. Prendergast, flashy end, was unable to make the trip because of an injured leg.

The tentative frosh lineup is: Kreis, center; Riggs, and Keeney, guards; Anderson and Dixon, tackles; Woodcock and Hughes, ends; Turner, quarter; Langworthy and Hodgen, halves; Wetzel, fullback.

'OLD OREGON' MAGAZINE APPEARS NEXT WEEK

While the next issue of "Old Oregon" is not a Homecoming number, it will contain much of the spirit of that occasion for the benefit of those alumni who couldn't come back to the campus at that time.

The magazine, which will appear the middle of next week will have a feature in the sport section, edited by Web Jones in the form of a two page spread with pictures of the Oregon team and glimpses of the game with Washington. The sport cover shows a picture of Bill Hayward and Joe Maddock. Professor H. C. Howe is the author of a story in that section, which he has called "Football Dope."

In each issue of the magazine is a character sketch of one of the deans, grouped in one heading "Under the Gargoyles." Nancy Wilson, is the author of the story in this issue, has written a personality sketch of Mrs. Virginia Judy Esterly, dean of women. Another story is by Mrs. George T. Gerlinger, describing the plans of the new fine arts building which it is hoped, can be built by private gifts. A (Continued on Page Four)

FAMOUS OPERA TENOR TO SING HERE NOV. 20

The coming recital of Ricardo Martin, famous American tenor on November 20, at the First Christian church, is arousing great interest, for although Martin was heard in grand opera in the Northwest last spring it is some years since there has been an opportunity of hearing him in recital.

Martin is undoubtedly one of the most widely known singers in America, for he was the first American tenor to win international fame in grand opera. He has sung leading roles in all the great opera companies of this country and Europe. He first came into prominence in 1916 when Caruso was taken ill and forced to leave the Metropolitan for the season and Martin stepped into the lead, singing all the noted tenor roles with triumphant success.

He won enormous success in "Butterfly." In fact, Henry T. Finck, veteran critic, claims that of all the "Pinkertons" there is none to compare with Martin.

The Martin concert will be given at the First Christian church. A concession has been made to students in cutting the admission in two. The regular price is $1.10 but for the students will be reduced to 55 cents including war tax.

EMERALDS WILL BE GIVEN

BOOTERS AT GAME TODAY

A thousand copies of today's edition of the Emerald are being sent to Portland this morning, where they will be distributed among the booters at the game this afternoon. This will furnish the lineup and all statistics of beta teams to the students, alumni and Portlanders who attend.

Exhibit of Ueyama, Japanese Painter, Opens Wednesday

The art exhibit of Tokio Ueyama, Japanese artist now residing in California, will be opened in the gallery in the Arts building next Wednesday. Tea will be poured at the official opening, and all art lovers, among students, faculty members and townspeople, are invited to be present.

The affair will be managed jointly by the presidents of the Allied Arts league, the Sculpture club, the Architect's club, and the Normal Arts club.

ADVERTISERS TO GIVE PORTLAND PROGRAM

Fraternity Men to Speak at Hotel Luncheon

A delegation from the W. F. G. Thacher chapter of Alpha Delta Sigma, honorary advertising fraternity, is to go to Portland to take charge of the program of the advertising club of Portland at the regular weekly luncheon to be held in the Benson hotel on the Wednesday before Thanksgiving.

The tentative program will be an address by Professor W. F. G. Thacher, head of the advertising department of the University, and talks by George H. Godfrey, president of Alpha Delta Sigma, who was a delegate to the London convention of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World; James Leake, business manager of the Emerald, and beneficiary of the scholarship given by the Advertising Club of Portland, and Lyle Janz, former president of the University advertising club before it became a chapter of Alpha Delta Sigma. Mr. Janz is a graduate of the University school of journalism and is now with the John Kennedy Direct Mail Advertising Co. of Portland. A "stunt" will be given by Eugene Short, also a former president of the campus advertising organization, now employed by the advertising department of Powers Furniture Company of Portland. Music will be provided by Frank Jue, a student in the school of music.

Alpha Delta Sigma will be the guests of the Advertising Club of Portland on this occasion. A considerable number of graduate and former students now engaged in advertising in Portland are expected to attend.

This affair is the first one of its kind and may well become, in the opinion of Professor Thacher, an annual occasion in recognition of the generosity of the Advertising Club of Portland in giving the scholarship to the University. The general purpose of the meeting is to cement the good feeling which exists between the two organizations.

CAMPUS WOMEN MEET AT Y. W. FOR PRAYER

The women of the campus are meeting at the Bungalow two days this week in observance of the world week of prayer. The world fellowship committee of the Y. W. C. A. is in charge of these meetings.

The purpose of the meetings, states the chairman, Ellen McClellan, is to "unite the world in purpose." It is an attempt to appeal to youth to face the problems of chaotic world of today, and cast aside old traditions. Lily Hing will speak today on "The Great Vision." Frances Dods addressed the assemblage yesterday. Her topic was "Christianized Social Order."

The last meeting will be held today at five o'clock in the Y. W. C. A. bungalow.

FACULTY MEMBERS TALK

AT W. A. A. MASS MEETING

Several talks by faculty members of the physical education department were made at the mass meeting of the W. A. A., held last night at 5 o'clock, in the Woman's building. The attendance was approximately one hundred per cent.

VARSIITY ELEVEN TO MEET W.S.C.

Oregon to Battle Heavier Cougars on Multnomah Field, Portland, Today

FAST GAME EXPECTED

Maddock's Men Will Work Perfectly in Offense or Defense on Dry Field

(By Web Jones)
Oregon's fighting eleven, backed by three thousand rooters, goes up against one of its strongest opponents on the conference schedule this afternoon on Multnomah Field. The varsity is intact—not a man will be out. The same old crew which jammed Washington's hopes down in mud and rain is going to go into the game this afternoon. That makes the Cougar weight advantage of no value for the Washington team outweighed the Lemon Yellow many pounds to the man. If the game is won by Oregon it will be on fundamentals and fight—for these are the two things which won the game for Oregon at Homecoming. Backed up by a multitude of students and old grads, the team will feel as if they were playing on Hayward Field.

Cougars out to Win

Washington State has gone through the season with not a single victory. The Cougar's nose will be pointed in the air for a win. They are there to wipe away the sting of many defeats by defeating Oregon. With a strong, heavy line and backfield, they have more potential strength than any team Oregon has played. Thought of at the beginning of the season as a likely contender for the conference honors the Cougar squad has gone down to defeat before every conference team she has played. That is not saying that they are not good, for Oregon is going to have a battle on her hands to wade through that husky Cougar line for much yardage.

The field will probably be much dryer than any Oregon has played on for some time. That will insure a much more open game, for there will not be the overhanging threat of a fumble. Oregon will have a chance to open up on those plays she used at the beginning of the season.

Oregon Machine in Trim

This game will show the pitch of Oregon's offense. No injuries handicap the team. The backfield has become experienced in the game and can work together. The fundamentals are second nature to them. The team is a machine which works with much more rhythm and preciseness than it ever has before.

Thirty gridiron warriors, after a light practice last night, entrained for Portland. Those making the trip are as follows: Reed, Bliss, Bailey, Wilson, Shields, Kerns, Mautz, Anderson, Terjeson, Jones, Vitus, C. Johnson, Gooding, Dilla, Stockwell, Kjelland, Stoddard, Mimaugh, McAuliffe, Marsh, Blake, Cash, McMullen, Leavitt, Burton, Belshaw, Stonebreaker, Smith, Powell and Powers.

DR. DAN CLARK ADDRESSES PORTLAND SOROSIS CLUB

"Party Loyalty vs. Independent Voter" was the title of a lecture given to the Portland Sorosis club Wednesday, by Dr. Dan Clark of the University extension division. This is part of the lecture service being given to various organizations of the state by the extension division. Something is scheduled for almost every week.
