

SUPER-RALLY AT 7:15 TONIGHT

Team Keyed Up For Annual Battle With Beavers

Varsity Ready To Clash With Aggie Eleven

Jack Bliss Unable to Play Game; Out of the Line-up With Injured Foot

Oregon Gridsters Leave Tomorrow A.M.

Tebbs Gives Beaver Squad Kicking Advantage Over The Lemon-Yellow Team

With the varsity eleven imbued with a determined fighting spirit, Oregon is prepared to meet the Aggie team at Corvallis this Saturday to vie for grid supremacy.

The squad is in excellent condition with the exception of Jack Bliss. This stocky little scrappy end is out of the line-up with an infected foot and will be unable to play against the Beavers. At present, Coach Maddock has several promising recruits holding down this wing position. Sherm Smith will probably start the game in place of Bliss. Jens Terjeson, who has been out of the line-up for several days with a light attack of flu, turned out in a suit last night and will be ready to start the game at half.

Final Practice Today

The varsity will hold its final practice before the big battle, this afternoon. The team will have a light work-out and then will be in tip-top shape to fight the Beavers tomorrow.

The teams are very well matched, though the Aggies have a decided advantage over Maddock's men in kicking. Tebbs, a kicker of exceptional merit, has about a 15-yard lead over Anderson on every kick. The varsity is prepared, however, to let the Beavers do the kicking, while Oregon uses the offensive.

Advanced reports from Corvallis indicate that the Aggies are "sure of victory." The O. A. C. paper says, "A serene feeling of confidence is noticeable among the men, not one of whom doubts the ability of the home team to beat the invaders." However this "serene confidence" of the Aggie team may prove to be one of the factors causing the downfall of this over-confident eleven.

O. A. C. in Good Shape

The O. A. C. squad is also in good shape and bound to put up a stubborn resistance to the Oregon offense. With the return of two men on the Aggie line-up from the injured list, the Beavers have an intact squad, and will be able to use a host of reserves against the varsity.

The Oregon team will be here tonight and will get a chance to attend the rally. With rousing support promised from the students for tonight's rally, the varsity will again be inspired with the confidence placed in them by Oregon students, in their ability to fight the Aggies to a victory.

Tomorrow morning, the team will leave for Corvallis and be ready to go into the Bell arena at 1:30 Saturday afternoon.

Seniors, juniors, sophomores, freshmen, everybody! Wear rooters caps to game, and all during today. Rooters caps will be necessary for admission to rooting section.—(Fred Martin).

FIVE OREGON MAINSTAYS IN STONEWALL LINE

Left to Right—Captain Dick Reed, right tackle; Gene Shields, right guard; "Fat" Wilson, center; Ken Bailey, left guard; Bert Kerns, left tackle.

PARADE STARTS AT CORNER OF 13TH AND ALDER

Rooters to Serpentine Down Streets and Circle Back To Men's Gymnasium

RALLY DANCE PLANNED TO FOLLOW PROGRAM

Prominent Alumni to Speak To Assembled Students At Climax of Pep Fest

Rain or shine, Oregon rallies tonight.

The foe is Oregon's traditional rival, the Oregon Agricultural College. A victory is almost saccharine in its sweetness—and a defeat most bitter.

Tonight the process of "Busting the Beavers" will begin in earnest when the entire student body sets in motion the wheels of Oregon's mighty fate-breaking football machine.

At 7:15 the loyal Oregon hosts will gather.

Band to Lead

From every house of residence the legions of the Lemon-Yellow will hasten to Thirteenth and Alder, where assembly has been called by the Yell King. The crowd, leading itself to the intoxication of an O. A. C. rally, will probably wreck the peace of Eugene theatres and restaurants.

Led by the band, the giant serpentine, the men and women marching to the chant of "Oregon—Oregon—Rah-Rah—Oregon—" will eventually find itself in the men's gymnasium, where speakers will tell of the traditional significance of this annual struggle.

Short talks will be given by Del Oberteuffer, former Oregon Yell King; Judge L. T. Harris, formerly of the Oregon supreme court, Baz Williams, Oregon freshman coach; E. O. Immel, Eugene lawyer, and Joe Maddock, Oregon Varsity coach.

After the talks a rally dance will be held.

Full Attendance Needed

A full attendance at the rally is imperative, says Martin, the yell king. "Every single person in the entire University should be there," he implored last night. "This rally must be bigger than the one which helped win the Washington game."

A victory over O. A. C. is the one thing that makes a successful Oregon football season.

Both men and women will march tonight. A four file column will be formed, two rows of women between to of men.

The committee planning the rally has also made extensive preparations for transporting the students and townspeople to Corvallis on Saturday. A special entertainment cafe car similar to that provided on the W. S. C. special to Portland last week will be provided on the O. A. C. special which leaves Willard hall at 10:30. It will arrive at Bell field in Corvallis, depart immediately after the game and will return to Eugene before six o'clock.

(Continued on Page Four)

HOUSE HEADS MEET

All heads of men's living organizations are urgently requested by Randall Jones, student body president, to meet in room 105, Oregon building, 12:45 p. m. this noon. "If the head of the house cannot be there," said Jones last night, "be sure, without fail, to send a representative for his organization."

DANCE IS UNIQUE SAYS CHAIRMAN

Request is Made That All Students Return From Corvallis and Attend

Tuxedos May Be Worn If Desired; Committee On Checkroom is Appointed

"No class can ever give a dance that will mean even a drop in the bucket to compare with winning that game with O. A. C.," were the words of Randall Jones, student body president at the sophomore meeting held yesterday. "What we want to do," he continued, "is to go to the game, come back victorious and enjoy a real dance, and that's what the Sophomore Informal is going to be."

Concerning the dance, Russell Lawrence, president of the sophomore class said, "its going to be unique—there's never been anything like it before as far as decorations, features, and refreshments go, and that's the whole dance. If we win, its going to be the peppiest dance ever given on the campus—and we're going to win, and who'll want to stay in Corvallis. Its their homecoming—let them have it!"

As far as clothes go, if men want to wear tuxedos, the class wants them to wear them. In years gone by quite a majority of the men have worn them, and if anything, they add to the dance. This was the opinion of Dudley Clarke, chairman of the dance.

A new committee, to take care of the checkroom was announced yesterday by Russell Lawrence. The following comprise it: Evangeline Knox, Esther Craddock, Bertha Berger, Hugh Biggs, Penn Wilbur and John Stepson.

HOMEcoming COMMITTEE ATTENDS DINNER DANCE

The committee for Homecoming disbanded last night with a dinner dance at the Campa Shoppe as its last meeting. About forty couples, paired off by lottery, enjoyed the affair which was held from five o'clock until seven-thirty. The long tables were lighted by candles and cyclamen plants were the table decorations. Jack High, head of the Homecoming committee was in charge of the affair.

Costly Oriental Rugs, Lost After Dance at Armory, Are Still Missing

The two Oriental rugs belonging to the Kappa Kappa Gamma house and used for decorating at the Homecoming dance in the armory, are still missing. The approximate time at which they were taken from the armory has been ascertained, according to Jack Benefiel, graduate manager.

The girls prize these rugs a great deal because they are gifts to the house, and a reward will be given for any information leading to their recovery. Anyone having any knowledge of these rugs at present, should communicate with the Kappa house or the graduate manager. Mr. Benefiel thinks it likely that some student took the rugs for decoration in his room, not realizing how highly their owners value them.

ARTICLE BY OREGON MAN TO BE PUBLISHED

An article entitled "The Mathematics of Biology," written by Oscar W. Richards, teaching fellow in zoology at the University, is to appear in an early issue of the American Mathematical Monthly. The interest of the article lies in the fact that it is one of the first attempts to take an inventory of mathematical biology.

According to the article, mathematical statements may be used to predict what will happen in similar situations. Such phenomena as a growth in the length of branches of an apricot tree, the growth in weight of a white rat and the growth of many other plants and animals as well as human beings, may be expressed in mathematical formula.

Another thing of interest is the fact that the healing of a wound may be predicted by a mathematical formula if the initial size of the wound and the age of the patient is known.

"High Test Scores Attained by Sub-Average Minds," is the title of another article written by Mr. Richards jointly with Dr. S. C. Kohs, formerly of the extension division of the University.

This article, which is to appear in the Journal of Educational Psychology, gives a critical study of the construction, use and scoring of two alternative types of intelligence tests.

ANCIENT ANIMAL LIFE DISCUSSED

A. S. Coggeshall of Carnegie Museum of Pittsburg Gives Assembly Address

Authority Says West Was Formerly Home of Giant Prehistoric Dinosaurs

Methods of excavating prehistoric animals and of learning the conditions of their existence were related at the assembly yesterday morning when Dr. Arthur S. Coggeshall of the Carnegie Museum of Pittsburg, gave a talk on "Turning Back the Clock Six Million Years."

The speaker outlined the development of various animals from the far distant past to the present day, explaining the natural process of development.

Dr. Coggeshall described the excavation of dinosaurs in Utah, emphasizing the fact that the West was formerly the home of many prehistoric monsters and that it has contributed many remains to the study of early life.

Dr. Coggeshall traced the development of the elephant from the time it was "no larger than a Newfoundland dog" to the present time. He explained the trunk as

(Continued on Page Four)

RESOLUTION

(By Associated Students of the University of Oregon)

Whereas Almighty God in his infinite wisdom has seen fit to remove from our midst, our late friend and fellow student, Morrison Miller, and

Whereas, by his death the University of Oregon has lost one of the most earnest and respected students; therefore, be it

Resolved by the Associated Students of the University of Oregon that to his sorrowing family we extend our deepest sympathy, and be it further Resolved that a copy of these resolutions in behalf of our beloved friend be sent to his family, and that a copy be transcribed on the records of the Associated Students of the University of Oregon, and that a copy be published in the student publication.

November 19, 1924.

Riccardo Martin Pleases Audience With Expression And Personality

(By Emily Houston)

One of the most interesting programs presented recently was given last night in the Christian church when Riccardo Martin, famous American tenor, assisted by Hubert Carlin at the piano delighted a large Eugene audience. The pleasing personality of the two artists added not a little to compositions which were excellently interpreted.

Mr. Martin's songs, given in French, German, Italian and English, were excellent with the dramatic baritone quality of his voice, which though tenor also had lyric qualities. One of his heaviest pieces, "Vieni Giocare" from the Russian with Italian verses by himself was brilliantly done. His group of four French love songs were especially delightful and most pleasing to the audience were the old Arioso from "I Pagliacci" by Leoncavallo and his encore "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes." Mr. Martin's humorous explanations of the story of the songs in other languages added greatly to the appreciation of them.

The piano pieces "Sarabande" by Bach-Godowsky, a transposition of an old Hebrew melody, "Etude" by Chopin and two Spanish dances by Albeniz and De Falla, played by Hubert Carlin were especially pleasing. They showed a discriminative player, well marked rhythms and an understanding interpretation.

The program was arranged for and made possible through the effort of Benjamin Edwards, music instructor in the Eugene Bible university.

SUBSCRIPTION DRIVE FOR RED CROSS ENDED

The Red Cross drive on the campus ended yesterday evening, but the money has not been turned in yet, so it is impossible to estimate how much has been subscribed. The faculty are being solicited today by a special committee, under the direction of Beulah Clark. A student is assigned to each building.

Only $75 has been taken in at the library and Co-op during the last two days, and unless the faculty and organizations bring up the quota it will fall short of last year's $500. All who had charge of the drive in the organizations are asked to turn in their money at Dean Walker's office in the administration building, not later than this noon.

DOUGHNUT MEET IN DEBATE ENDS

Hendricks Hall and Alpha Beta Chi Are Victors In Inter-house Series

Last Night's Winning Teams Scheduled for Contest to Decide Campus Title

The board is cleared for the debates between men and women doughnut debate teams as a result of the doughnut contests held last night. Hendricks hall won in the women's doughnut debates. In the men's doughnut contests, Alpha Beta Chi was victor over Friendly hall and Phi Sigma Pi.

To the Alpha Beta Chi teams goes the silver loving cup offered by Tau Kappa Alpha, men's honorary debating organization. Hendricks hall will have possession of

(Continued on Page Four)

AMERICA IS PROVINCIAL DR. MC AFFEE ADVISES

"One of the greatest sins of America is provincialism," said Dr. Lapsey McAfee in his address to men interested in religious work, at the "Y" hut Wednesday noon. "We should all be more interested in the other fellow. America should concern itself with the affairs of Europe, and university students should look beyond the boundaries of their campus."

Dr. McAfee, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Berkeley, California, has been on the campus during the first part of the week, addressing several gatherings while here. One of these was the meeting of girls Tuesday under the auspices

(Continued on Page Four)

Following Oregon Knights report to Harry Hemmings at journalism shack at 4 o'clock today. Very important. Phil Sheridan, Charles Fisher, Elton Triplet, Earl Olson, Paul Lewy, Bob Keltkemper, Bill Brown, Bob Benjamin, Footer Rose, Gene Gray, Emerson Wright, Frank Bates, Ernest Nicol, and Earl Richen.