

FACULTY MAKES SENIOR RULING

Norm Requirements Have To Be Fulfilled

EXEMPTIONS POSSIBLE

Catalog Contains Lists of Courses Needed

"This term is the last opportunity that seniors will have to make adjustments in order to fulfill their norm requirements, if they wish to receive their teacher's certificate at the end of the spring term," Harl R. Douglass, of the school of education, announced yesterday.

"It is imperative that all these students who will not be able to meet the requirements, or those who are doubtful, see me before the Christmas vacation, in order that they may fill out an application form, and make any changes in their program that may be necessary on the first day of the winter term."

"Because of the fact that certain students have neglected to plan their courses properly, it is quite possible that several seniors will not be able to qualify for certificates until the close of the summer session, or possibly another term," he continued.

According to a ruling of the faculty, as announced on page 139 of the catalog, and on page 42 of the registration manual and schedule, the University of Oregon will recommend no graduate after September, 1924, to the state superintendent of public instruction for a high school certificate who has not completed either a major course of study and one "norm" of academic work; or two such norms of academic work, in addition to the professional requirements specified in the Oregon school law. A complete list of norms is given in both publications.

"Since this is the first year that this ruling has been put into practice, some leniency will be shown in cases of those who have met the spirit but not the exact technical requirements. However, it will be necessary for those people who do not meet the requirements, exactly as they are stated, to obtain a formal exemption, by a representative of the school of education and by a representative of the department concerned," Mr. Douglass, who is the representative of the school of education, said.

"The purpose of the ruling, as outlined, is to try to provide the pupils with a somewhat balanced preparation, so that the graduate will be prepared to teach in two departments in high school. While assignments to high school teachers are usually made on the departmental plan, beginning teachers, especially in the smaller schools where strict departmentalization is impossible, are almost invariably called upon to teach two, and sometimes three subjects, at least for the first few years," he concluded.

WRESTLERS ADVISED TO KEEP IN TRAINING

"All men now going out for wrestling and those intending to turn out next term must keep themselves in good condition," said Coach Widmer. Because of the long vacation it will be necessary for each man to keep in the best of condition as strenuous practice will start on January 6. This warning includes both varsity and freshman wrestlers.

Strenuous practices will be held on the first day of next term because of the wrestling matches that are scheduled for February. About the second week in January a match will be arranged with the O. A. C. rooks. Other matches to be arranged for the fresh will be with Corvallis high school, Oregon City high school, Chemawa, and possibly Multnomah club.

Vagaries

By "GOSH"

Many students have been going on hikes into the mountains during the past few weeks, but there is a large majority in the University who are unable to get away for this great outdoor sport. It is for these that the following directions are given for a "Stay at home mountain hike."

1. Put on big shoes with hobnails. Walk across hardwood floor and get wawked out. This, of course will put one in good humor for the trip.

2. After you have on more clothes than you can hardly carry go out in the back yard and begin jumping across imaginary nothings. After you have done this for one hour, rest one minute and take off half of clothes.

3. Then have someone slap you in the face for half an hour with a fir or pine tree bough. Rest. Have someone else start throwing rocks at your shins.

4. Fall down 76 times on the rocks. The last time you fall have someone say, "Its only a little further now." Have this remark repeated often until it has been said 963 times and then imagine that you have reached the top of the mountain.

5. At the top of the mountain. Open your mouth, throw out your chest, strike a pretty pose and gasp, "Ain't it booful."

6. You are now coming down the mountain. Get on the porch and fall off 65 times. Then go in and stand by the kitchen stove for two hours, until blisters appear on various portions of the body.

7. Visit all your friends and tell them what a fine time you had on your trip. Then go home and call a doctor.
