

OREGANA TO USE MORE PICTURES

Personal Photographs Are Larger; Designs Follow Line of Simplicity

PAGES TO NUMBER 480

January 14 Set for Campus Subscriptions; Year-Books Will Cost $4.50

Simplicity of ornamentation and the superlative of quality in art work and pictures will be the most significant attributes of the 1925 Oregana...

With this object in view, an attempt has been made to subjugate the monotonous border designs and heavy backgrounds...

Rolf Kelp, art editor of the 1923 Oregana, in conjunction with the University art department, has completed decorations which will, it is thought, greatly enhance the general atmosphere of the year-book...

Printed Matter Out

Printed matter in the different sections will be cut to the minimum to allow increased space for athletic and general campus scenes.

In fact, in all possible ways, the Oregana staff is endeavoring to make the year-book as attractive as possible, both to the students on the campus and to the alumni and former students of the University.

Line Drawings Used

The cover of the Oregana will be a medium shade of blue, gold-lettered, and with a facsimile of the famous Pioneer supported by the library as a background...

MUSICAL PLAY IS JANUARY 28

'Yellow Candle Light' With Three Other Productions Scheduled for This Term

SCENERY IS REMODELED

Miss Charlotte Banfield Honored By Performance To Be Staged Here Soon

"Yellow Candle Light," a musical fantasy by Fergus Reddie, head of the dramatic department and Perry Arant, western pianist and composer, will be the first production on the program of the University dramatic department.

"Hassan" is a colorful Arabian play by the English poet Flecker, the setting of which is in ancient Bagdad in the time of the mythical Calif Haroun Al Rashid...

"Gioconda" by the famous Italian war poet, Gabriele D'Annunzio, will be given at the very last of the term. Miss Banfield will portray the part which Eleanora Duse created and made famous.

During the Christmas holidays, considerable money was spent in making and remodeling all of the scenery in the department so that the forthcoming productions will have all-new scenic effects.

PRESIDENT CAMPBELL RESTING IN CALIFORNIA

President P. L. Campbell is enjoying the mild California winter at Coronado, according to word received from the University here.

The President accompanied by Mrs. Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. Campbell Church and Dr. William Kuykendall, left for the south shortly after Christmas. They journeyed by train to Los Angeles and from that point the party motored to Coronado.

According to information here the president is enjoying the rest and is recuperating his health.

Shields' Benefit Game Nets $5,000 For Ex-Gridster

Responding in commendable fashion to support the Shield's benefit game, Oregon alumni, students and friends of Tiny Shields, injured Oregon ex-grid captain, raised over $5,000 to aid Tiny in his fight for health.

The game was held at Portland on Christmas day between former Oregon grid stars and Multnomah gridsters. After battling for four periods on a field covered with ice and snow, the Oregon alumni team emerged victorious by a six point margin.

DEAN REBEC TO SPEAK ON REALISM OF TODAY

Assembly Address To Be Of General Interest

A discussion and criticism of present day realism in art and life and a presentation of the ideas of the romanticists will be offered by Dr. George Rebec, dean of the graduate school, at the first assembly of the term in the Woman's building, Thursday.

Dean Rebec has chosen as his topic, "Where the Romantics Were Right; a Criticism of the Present Day Realism in Art and Life."

The women's glee club will be featured in the musical part of the program, rendering several selections.

FRATERNITIES PLEDGE TWENTY-ONE STUDENTS

Twenty-one entering freshmen have been pledged by fraternities on the campus. At present, Phi Gamma Delta heads the list with six pledges.

The pledges are as follows: Fraternities: Alpha Tau Omega—Charles Taft of Salem. Beta Theta Pi—William Dalrymple of Portland. Chi Psi—Robert Stenzel and Robert Schlick, both of Portland.

Sororities: Delta Zeta—Dora Williams of Stevenson, Washington. Tau Nu—Muriel Harrison of Portland, and Gladys Bristol of Beaverton.

PHYSICAL EXAMS HELD FOR WOMEN STUDENTS

Physical examinations are being given this week in the Woman's building under the direction of the physical education department for all women students entering the University this term.

HOOP GAME SET FOR SATURDAY

Oregon to Play Willamette Bearcats at Armory In First Collegiate Fray

MARSHFIELD DEFEATED

Reinhart Has Team Working Smoothly; Plans Laid For Three Year Program

Foundations, good substantial foundations, are now being laid for a three year building program. The architect is Billy Reinhart, and the structure, when completed three years hence, is expected to be the championship basketball team of the Pacific Coast.

But the building may rise faster than is anticipated, for the varsity basketball team is already working smoothly and efficiently, as the 59-15 score over the Marshfield American Legion last Saturday testifies.

Initial Contest Saturday Saturday night the Oregon men will get their first intercollegiate test when they meet the Willamette Bearcats at the Armory.

Reinhart has cut his squad to 13 men, and these 13 are expected to be the nucleus for the next three years.

While a casual glance may lead to the belief that the Oregon five will be green and inexperienced this year, this can hardly be said to be the case.

Utility Men Are Back Utility men back from last year have been showing up unusually well. Jost, understudy of the huge Hunk Latham, will make a strong bid for center.

From last year's frosh comes a wealth of material. It is this bunch that cheers the heart of Reinhart. Not only are they good basketball men, but good students as well, and what is more, they readily grasp the important fundamentals of the game.

"Swede" Westergren is almost a sure placer for guard, and will no doubt be a running mate for Gunther or Gillenwaters. James Reinhart, Billy's brother, is also out for this place, and though small, is speedy and aggressive.

Fundamentals Are Taught For forwards the coach can call on Earl Childs and Harold Lewellyn when necessary. Both are good shots, and good floor men, and will be used when Hobson and Gowans can be spared from the game.

Fundamentals in every department of the game is the program so far this year, and this will be continued, Reinhart says. Team formation will come next, and defensive and offensive combinations are now being worked out.

Basketball is on a firm basis, with a dependable squad of men

Tickets to Senior Ball Are Selling Rapidly at Co-Op

The remaining tickets for the Senior Ball, which is to be held on January 17, will be on sale at the Co-op today.

The dance is going to be the sensation of the year, according to reports of the committees. Ed Bohlman, chairman of decorations, states, "The success of a dance depends on the decorations. The decorations for the Senior Ball are going to be the best that I have ever done."

Mary Skinner, feature, says, "There is nothing so important as the feature. Petroff and his ballet of Russian dancers surely can dance the Samovar."

Rebecca Ireland, refreshments, says, "People come to a dance just to eat. We're going to have some grand groceries at the Ball or I don't know an oyster when I see one."

Mary Hathaway says, "Buy your tickets early. There are only a few left."

WELL KNOWN ALUMNI WED ON DECEMBER 30

Miss Grace Edgington, 'Len' Jordan United

Coming as a complete surprise to their campus friends was word of the marriage of Grace Edgington and Leonard Beck Jordan on December 30, at Bend, Oregon.

Mrs. Jordan was best known on the campus as alumni secretary and editor of Old Oregon. She was acting dean of women in the spring of 1923, and instructor in the English department.

"Len" Jordan graduated in economics in 1923, and at present is employed as office manager by the Thurlow Glove company in Portland.

For the past year Miss Edgington has been at her home in Sisters, where she and her husband are at present.

LEAGUE RAISES $275 FROM COLLEGE BALL

The largest crowd, since the introduction of the Christmas college balls, attended the one held during the past holiday season, according to Jeanne-Elizabeth Gay, head of the committee, and $275 was made by the Women's League, sponsors of the affair.

Proceeds were turned over to the foreign scholarship fund which the League maintains, and for which most of their social events are given. This fund is used each year to pay the expenses of some foreign scholar, enabling her to spend a year at the University.

DR. WARREN D. SMITH UNABLE TO MEET CLASSES

Dr. Warren D. Smith has been confined to his home with illness from infected tonsils and swollen glands of the throat. He has been unable to meet his classes, but expects to return today or tomorrow.

DUAL CONTEST OPENS SEASON

O. A. C. Teams Will Oppose Oregon Men In Debate Arranged for Thursday

QUESTION IS ANNOUNCED

Colleges and Universities Throughout Country Use Topic for Controversy

The first regular debate of the year on the University schedule will be held Thursday evening when Oregon meets O. A. C. in a dual debate. One contest will be held on the campus in Villard hall at 8 o'clock, and the other will be held at the Corvallis institution.

The question to be debated is: "Resolved: That Congress by two-thirds vote be given power to overrule supreme court decisions, declaring acts of Congress unconstitutional."

Debaters Work Hard This question is being debated by colleges and universities throughout the country and is the platform adopted by LaFollette in the presidential campaign of last fall.

The Oregon affirmative team, consisting of Benoit McCroskey and Sol Abramson, will defend their case here; and Herschel Brown and Lincoln Erwin, comprising the negative team, will journey to Corvallis for the contest there.

The O. A. C. negative team which will debate here is composed of Kenneth Goodale and Robert Kerr, son of the president of the agricultural college. Kerr has wide experience in college debating and other forensic work.

The men who will judge the local contest are: Charles A. Fand, of Roseburg; Prof. E. E. Schwartztrauber, economic history instructor in Lincoln high school; and Dr. F. G. Franklin, librarian at Willamette university.

"The men have been working hard on the question," said Coach Brown, "and though they haven't the experience of the O. A. C. debaters we expect them to be a match for them."

All of the men on the team worked on the question last term, and returned immediately after Christmas to put the finishing touches to their cases.

FORMAL OPENING SET FOR MUSIC AUDITORIUM

Formal opening of the new music auditorium will be early in February, according to plans now being made by the faculty of the school of music.

A series of four concerts is being planned when the opening is held. The first evening, Saturday, will be devoted to an organ recital by John Stark Evans. Sunday afternoon, a choral and orchestral program will be given, and on Monday and Tuesday, miscellaneous presentations will be made.

The auditorium is now being used for organ lessons and rehearsals of the glee clubs and orchestra. The hall was first used at the convention of high school editors and presidents held here in December.
