

WESTERN GROUP HONOR F. S. DUNN

Professor Made Officer of Classical Association

MEDFORD IS VISITED

First of Series of Lectures On Masonry Given

Professor F. S. Dunn, head of the Latin department, was elected vice-president of the Classical association at a meeting held during the recent holidays.

The paper presented by Professor Dunn, "The Augustas from Sebastopol to Maine," is the third of a series which he has read on various occasions on the subject of royal nomenclature in geography. The former papers dealt with Greek and Caesarian names.

Dunn Former President
Professor Dunn was organizing secretary of the Classical association, and was chairman of the committee which first called the group together in Portland. He subsequently became president of the organization.

The group was first known as the Classical association of the Pacific Northwest, but it was later merged with sections from California. It meets once a year in general session, and holds more frequent departmental meetings.

"Masonry" Medford Topic
Professor Dunn also visited Medford during the holidays, where he was invited by the Scottish Rite Masons to open a series of talks to be given on the subject of Masonry. Professor Dunn's topic was "The Origins of Masonry."

KENNEL-ELLIS GIVE CASH TO GIFT CAMPAIGN

KENNEL ELLIS-2
The latest donation to the gift campaign was $1,013 in cash given by Kennel-Ellis Studio. The contribution was made by giving to the University the receipts obtained from photographic services for the Oregonians.

The charge of 75 cents was set aside for the University gift campaign fund, and the aggregate amounted to $1,013. The Oregonians was supplied with the individual photographs without charge.

A second gift to be received by the University was from Luella Clay Carson, former professor of English and dean of women at the University. She gave eighty-five books largely in the field of English literature, to the library. The gift included a set of the Century dictionary which will be placed in the graduate room as soon as the library is able to provide accommodations for advanced students.

CONFISCATED LIQUOR TESTED AT UNIVERSITY

Chemists Find No Alcohol In Some Specimens

Liquids of varied colors and origin, taken by the city and county officers in dry raids, are often sent to the University chemistry department for analysis, says Professor O. F. Stafford.

This analysis, showing the alcoholic content of all liquids held as moonshine, must be stated in trials, and for this reason these bottles of evidence are sent to the University to be tested. Several bottles, and two kegs of confiscated liquor which have just been or are to be tested, are in the chemistry laboratory now.

Occasionally the tests, which are quite simple show that no alcohol is contained in the mixture, says Professor Stafford, but more often the per cent is quite high. Fruit juices are the basis of the greater part of the moonshine, and are all shades from pale green to purple.

IVAN H. HUSTON WINS INSURANCE CONTEST

Prizes of $120 Given Four University Salesmen

IVAN H. HUSTON-4
Ivan D. Houston, senior in economics, representing the Actna Life Insurance company, took first place in the final insurance selling contest held at the Multnomah hotel in Portland, December 23. Elmer F. Peterson as the representative of the Equitable Life Insurance company of Iowa won second place, Charles T. Murray, selling Fidelity Mutual, took third and Eston B. Humphrey won fourth place on his talk for the Sun Life Insurance company of Canada. The contest in Portland was the final competition for the winners of the local meet held on the campus last term at which sixteen students tried out for the main prizes. About 300 insurance and business men attended the meeting which was called by the underwriters and managers of associations of Portland.

A total of $120 was given as prizes to the contestants, $90 being distributed among the students winning the four highest places and silver pencils being given each of the other contestants. Sixteen life insurance companies co-operated in the donation of the awards.

The students in the Portland contest were given 20 minutes in which to interview and sell their prospects. The prospective insurance buyers were picked by a committee of insurance managers and represented several occupations. They were all residents of Portland and consisted of a prominent banker, a member of a detective agency, an owner of a wood yard and a director of the extension work of a correspondence school.

RIFLE SQUAD TO BEGIN PRACTICE NEXT MONDAY

Sweaters Will Be Given to Members of Team

The R. O. T. C. rifle squad will start practice next Monday after a preliminary meeting of all those interested, to be held tomorrow for the purpose of organizing the work. Practice will be held every day as any athletic sport so as to get the greatest possible efficiency.

Practice is to be held every afternoon from 3:00 to 5:30 o'clock and each man must practice at least five hours a week in order to remain on the squad. Preliminary instruction will be given during January and during the first week of February the squad will be cut down to 30 members, consisting of the men who are most proficient and show the greatest amount of interest in the work.

Fifteen matches have been scheduled for the rifle team this year with colleges all over the country. The teams will fire against the various colleges and the results mailed to the opposing school on the day that the contest is scheduled. Contests are scheduled by the local R. O. T. C. with practically every school on the coast as well as with eastern, southern and middle western colleges.

The first contest will be held during the week beginning February 14 and is against four eastern colleges. Six contests in all are scheduled for each week after that until nearly the end of the spring term. Four thousand shots are fired by each team and the positions for firing are prone, sitting, kneeling and standing. The rifle team consists of fifteen members. Sweaters will be awarded by the R. O. T. C. department to the ten men in the squad making the best average score for all the contests, provided that the average for the entire team is above 90 per cent. The sweaters will be of the infantry colors with a shield on the front with some insignia for marksmanship. Captain Murray hopes by this provision to get the squad

Mass Production, Buying and Selling

There are three great economies resulting from the multiple operations of our Stores which assure large savings of money to consumers (to you):

Mass production (first) required because of our mass buying (second) and mass selling (third).

Each of these is an important factor in enabling us to provide you and the millions of people we serve thruout the United States, with needs for the person and home at prices that average far below those ordinarily asked.

These savings are continuous—not occasional!
