

VARNELL HONORS OREGON ATHLETE

Jones Selected Fullback on Mythical Eleven

STELLAR RECORD MADE

Mautz and Reed Are Given Second Team Berths

Lynn Jones, Oregon's plunging, stellar fullback, has been awarded the position of fullback on the official all-coast mythical first team eleven. Bob Mautz, captain-elect, and Dick Reed, captain, have both been given positions on the second team.

Jones has played in a rather spectacular manner throughout the whole season. By his smashing bucks through the University of Washington line in the Homecoming game, Jones made more yardage through the Huskies' line than had been made by any other man through the Washington line in the past three years, according to a noted Seattle sports authority. Due to his impressive yardage gains, Jones was largely responsible for the Oregon victories over Washington and O. A. C.

Ability is Recognized
Bob Mautz and Dick Reed at end and tackle respectively, have played an outstanding game the past season, and in recognition of their ability they have been placed on the second team. Mautz is best known for his stellar work in the Washington and O. A. C. games where he played an important part in the Oregon victories.

Both Lynn Jones and Bob Mautz will play for Oregon next year, while Jones has still two more years to aid the varsity.

Varnell Leading Referee
The official all-coast eleven was selected by George Varnell, one of the leading football referees in the west. Varnell's position in the west resembles very much that of Walter Camp in the east, and his all-coast selection is officially accepted by the American sporting world.

Oregana for 1925 Will Use More Photographs; Extensive Plans Are Made

the book paper is of medium weight, light, cream color. The pages will number 480, which is a few less than last year.

This year, owing to the increased number of students in the University, there shall be about 1700 copies of the Oregana published, depending somewhat on the promptness of the response to the subscription which will open January 14, on the campus.

Alumni may send in their subscriptions at any time before the book is published, which is in May, but it is urged that all subscriptions be mailed as soon after January 14 as possible so that an approximate estimate of the probable circulation can be determined. Early orders, of course, will be given precedence to the later ones.

Installments Arranged
As in former years, the cost of the book will be $4.50 paid, by students, in two installments; one of $2.50 during the two days of the subscription campaign and the remaining $2.00 when the book is received. Alumni are to send in their $4.50 in one amount, and arrangements are being made to mail the Oregana to any point in the United States, provided postage accompanies the subscription price. All checks and business matters relating to the year-book should be sent to Gibson Wright, manager of the Oregana, whose office is in the A. S. U. O. building on the campus.

Y. M. LUNCH COUNTER RE-OPENED THIS TERM

The lunch counter in the campus Y. M. C. A. was reopened Tuesday noon and will continue to operate this term on the low price, profitless basis on which it was started last term, according to an announcement made by James Stewart in charge of the affair. The stand was inaugurated shortly after the opening of the fall term in order to furnish a place where students could obtain wholesome food at a low price.

Most of the patrons of the establishment are regular customers but several students eat there when they are unable to get to their houses or regular boarding places on time. About 25 or 30 people are served daily.

WARREN SMITH ASKED TO PREPARE ARTICLE

Dr. Warren D. Smith, head of the geology department, has been invited by leading Holland scientists to prepare an article on "The Structure of the Philippine Archipelago in Relation to the Dutch East Indies" as part of an important work on the geology of this region which will be presented to Dr. R. D. M. Verbeek, outstanding Dutch geologist, on the occasion of his eightieth birthday anniversary next April.

All of the articles comprising the book will be written by research workers familiar with the Pacific region and by former students of Dr. Verbeek. Verbeek is a specialist on the volcanic and earthquake activity of the region.

JANUARY 31 LAST DAY FOR PAYING TERM FEES

Students Urged to Avoid Giving Bad Checks

With registration practically completed, clerks in the registrar's office are rapidly filing information and study cards preparatory to determining the number of students in the University, including those entering this term for the first time.

There have been comparatively few stragglers, the great majority of the students being present Monday.

The collection of fees will start on January 21 and will continue for 10 days. The time allowed is longer than usual, an attempt being made to reduce the number of late payments.

The late penalty fee is three dollars for the first day late and a cumulative fee of 25 cents for each additional day thereafter.

Students are reminded to guard against issuing checks unless they have sufficient funds in the bank covering the amount for which the check is written. There were so many "N. S. F." checks returned last term that drastic action is promised unless the offenses cease.

The business office will be open from 8 a. m. to 3 p. m. except on Saturday, when it closes at noon.

Variety--

Spice--

the Variety of Dinner

Are your dinners always seasoned in the same way? Why not have your cook fill those plain cookies with spice next time? You won't recognize them.
If everybody is getting tired of that same old meat loaf, serve it to them tomorrow with a hot Spanish tomato sauce. They won't know the meat. And that breakfast toast will taste so different if served with a spicy jam or spread with cinnamon and sugar.
If you use a number of flavorings, you make the same food seem different.
