Two Leaders

THE ADMINISTRATION of a great educational institution is a task presenting many vexing and often seemingly unsolvable problems...

The president of a university, or of a college, dedicates his life to the cause of attempting to instill, or to awaken in a large number of students, often numbering thousands, a desire for education...

If this task were simply to stand before a group of pupils and "talk at" them with the optimism that perhaps a few would become awakened and feel a stir within their minds...

The chief executive of an institution like the University of Oregon or Oregon Agricultural College is confronted with a far more difficult situation than that. His organization is a vast one, it must necessarily have a number of purely administrative officers...

Thus, both our own President Campbell, and President Kerr, of O. A. C., are at the present time endeavoring to regain health and vitality which have become impaired from unselfish devotion to the difficult cause of education.

Whether we agree or not matters little, but we do care that they should have the additional reward contained in the knowledge that their work is appreciated and that we hope they will soon be able to return with the joy of renewed strength to assume the work which is dearest to their hearts.

The First Test

THE VARSITY basketball team tomorrow night meets, in the first fracas of the year, the Willamette University quintet. The game will be called at 7:30 sharp, and the largest crowd that ever witnessed an Oregon basketball game should be at the Armory.

The game will undoubtedly be one of the hardest of the year, and the varsity has no more than an even break to win it. The Willamette players are seasoned veterans, and they have been practicing for some time.

The entire student body should be at the game for two reasons—the first is that the team needs the support, and the second is that it will be one of the best hoop games ever seen here.

Fritz Leiber

"TO BE, or not to be,—that is the question—"

The words are immortal in classical English. They are known to everyone. The man in the streets says them. High school students study them. Indeed, they are so well known just as words that few persons stop to consider that their utterance meant the summing up of the fatality of existence, the contemplation of death, and the eternal riddle.

On Saturday night the Shakespearean play, "Hamlet," is to be presented in Eugene. The Bible and Shakespeare have for long been named first among the great cultural factors. To those who have taken four years out of their lives as a preparation for the rest of it, the opportunity to hear Shakespeare presented adequately will not go unheeded.

WRESTLING ASPIRANTS TRAINING FOR SEASON

Holds Being Taught Squad; Meets Scheduled

With only a month remaining before the opening of the wrestling season, Coach Earl Widmer has arranged a stiff training period for the varsity wrestling aspirants. Although no definite team has been chosen, about 20 men have been working out regularly for a place on the team.

For the next four weeks the squad will be taught the various holds used in wrestling. All the men are rounding into condition and from the showing made by many of the grapplers, the coach predicts a strong varsity team. In choosing a team Widmer has three lettermen: Ford, Whitcomb and Wells, who are showing up well. Davis, a member of the frosh team several years ago, is back on the mat and is making a strong bid for a varsity berth.

From last years' frosh team there are several promising wrestlers, among whom are Leavitt, Wingard, Woods, Fakuda, and Christensen. Laurs, who was a member of the frosh team last year, will not be able to compete this year, because of an arm that was injured in the past season, and is still in a weak condition.

Other members of the squad that are turning out regularly are Heck, Jones, Kerns, Miller, Powell, Williams, Sumption, Johnson, Grant and Cartwright. Cartwright, who is a light heavyweight, formerly was a member of the W. S. C. wrestling team.

The first intercollegiate wrestling meet is with the University of Idaho, February 7, at Eugene. A week later, February 14, the strong O. A. C. will tackle the varsity here. On the 28th Oregon will journey to Corvallis for a return meet with the sister institution. The final meet will be with W. S. C. here on March 7. It is probable that a meet will be arranged with the University of Washington at Seattle.

Y.M.C.A. REPORT SHOWS EMPLOYMENT AT EBB

Improvement in Situation Is Expected Soon

The employment department of the campus Y. M. C. A. was able to offer half as much work last term to men in the University as during the whole preceding year, there seemed to be more students who were in need of employment.

The local bureau is in a slow period now as there are comparatively few jobs available. This condition is very similar to that of all the large cities in which the Y. M. C. A. has employment departments, according to the annual report issued by the Portland Y. M. C. A. The labor situation was the worse yet during the month of December. It is much the same way with the local employment department. There is a good deal of work to be done, but there are too many men to do it.

Cities of Los Angeles, Cal.; Cleveland, O.; San Francisco, Cal.; Chicago, Ill.; and Duluth, Minn.; according to the report of the Portland Y. M. C. A. employment department, are expecting the labor situation to improve if it has not already done so.

The trend of employment all over the country seems to be on the "upgrade" after the serious depression of the past two or three months. With the coming of warmer weather and the approach of spring, Mrs. C. R. Donnelly, employment secretary of the University is hoping for more positions open for the students in and about Eugene.
