

SPEAKER COMING HERE NEXT WEEK

Fred B. Smith to Lecture On Law Enforcement

Y.M.C.A. SPONSORS TALKS

Students Form Committee To Arouse Interest

Fred B. Smith, nationally noted speaker on subjects pertaining to citizenship and public questions generally, will give a series of addresses on the campus next week, Thursday and Friday, February 5 and 6.

Mr. Smith is vice-president of John Mansville company of New York city, chairman of the executive committee of the Federal Council of Churches of the United States, and chairman of the citizen committee of 1,000 for law enforcement in the United States, an organization having among its members some of the most prominent men of America. President Coolidge is among those that give it their moral support.

Speaker to Address Assembly

Mr. Smith is on a speaking tour of the United States, the purpose of which is to interest college students, especially, in law enforcement and problems of citizenship generally. He has been a speaker in the United States and other countries for 25 years, and is said to be one of the most powerful and interesting speakers of the present day.

His present tour is under the auspices of the National Y. M. C. A. council. He will be the assembly speaker next week, and will also address various student and faculty groups.

Living Group Represented

A student committee of 100 has been organized on the campus to disseminate information of Mr. Smith's various talks, to promote interest in them and to arrange the details pertaining to them. Bob Mautz is chairman of the committee. Each living house on the campus is represented. The committee met last night to organize, arrange its work, and discuss tentative plans.

The program of Mr. Smith's talks and meetings has not yet been arranged, but will be announced by the committee in a few days.

WEIMAR-BUND ELECTS OFFICERS FOR TERM

Weimar-Bund, the new University German club, held its second meeting last night, in the form of a dinner at College Side Inn. The officers elected were: Elizabeth Strohecker, president; Edgar Bohman, vice president; Ruth Comfort Miller, secretary, and Lester Chaffee, treasurer. There are 33 charter members of the organization. Matilde Liebelt presided until the officers were elected.

The next meeting will be held Tuesday, February 10, in the Woman's building. Speeches by faculty members, and students have been planned. The rest of the program will be given over to German music selections.

The club is planning a one-act play, to be given in the near future.

MONDAY LAUNDRY DAY AT UNIVERSITY DEPOT

Laundry constitutes a large item of the mail handled by the University depot. Monday is laundry day there as well as other places, according to Mr. H. M. Fisher, in charge of the depot. Five or six dozen bundles of it are handled on that day every week.

Lost and found articles are being turned in regularly to that department and as usual few are being reclaimed by the owners, Mr. Fisher says. "I don't understand why the students will not make it a point to call for things they lose. The problem confronting the depot now is what to do with the unclaimed articles. They are piling up so fast that the question of room is an imminent one."

DEAN OF ARCHITECTURE ILL AT HOME IN PORTLAND

Dean Ellis F. Lawrence of the school of architecture is reported ill at his home in Portland, and will not be able to return to the campus until next Wednesday. His illness is neuritis, brought on by a cold.

out of two experienced men, Bill Dills and Charles Stockwell. The freshman weight entrants look promising also.
"There is no such thing as spring track here now," said Bill yesterday. "You hear someone talking about spring track. There is no such thing—it is an all year around proposition. The men out now will be the ones who will be picked for the teams."

PORTLAND FIRMS SEND PROBLEM FOR SEMINAR

The advertising seminar in the school of journalism has received requests from three different Portland advertising agencies in the last month for investigations in the Eugene trading territory on various commodities.

Botsford-Constantine company desired an investigation of the products of a Northwest tire corporation, Crossley-Failing company, for Northwest-made ladies' coats and suits, and Honig-Cooper company for ready-made men's wear.

These companies will use the material in determining the advertising and distribution policy for their clients.

EMILY VEAZIE ATTENDS COLLEGE IN BORDEAUX

Letters Tell Experiences of Former Student

"How is Emily Veazie getting along in France?" This question, asked frequently by her numerous friends on the campus, is answered by letters received from her recently. Miss Veazie, who was a graduate in English literature in 1923, was especially prominent on the campus on account of her splendid scholastic record. During her senior year she won a foreign scholarship and she is now studying at a college in Bordeaux, specializing in French literature.

"I've met some of the professors, and they are as nice as can be," she writes. "Our adviser (there is another American girl here) told us not to spend much time on books—that we would learn more from the people! Can you imagine a professor saying that? And no one cares whether you go to classes or not, and if you pass the exam all right without going to any, why go!"
They don't have any college sports here, the different colleges are in different buildings around the city, with nothing resembling a campus, and each is quite independent of the others."
On her way to France, Miss Veazie stopped in England, and went through Belgium. The latter part of last September she sailed from New York for England, where she spent two weeks touring the cathedral towns and visiting the colleges. Then she went through Belgium and at last to Paris, where, with another American college girl, she spent her time going to the opera, sight-seeing, and purchasing Paris
