Doris Brophy has been made general chairman of the April Frolic, the biggest event of the year for University women, scheduled April 11. The affair is sponsored by the Women's League. Miss Brophy has been in charge of the weekly Women's League teas since the first of the fall term.

The directorate as announced by Miss Brophy is as follows: Katherine Lauderdale, seating; Mary Donaldson, food; Lillian Luders, stage manager; Irva Dale, admittance; Gussie Gottlieb, music; Katherine Short, programs; Augusta DeWitt, judges; Marian Horsfall, patronesses; Katherine Ulrich, cleanup; Edith Sorenson, cup; Elizabeth Cady, publicity.

Individual Stunt Given

Each year, half of the women's organizations on the campus put on an individual stunt. Those listed for this year are: Delta Delta Delta, Pi Beta Phi, Susan Campbell hall, Delta Gamma, Gamma Phi Beta, Tau Nu, Kappa Omicron, Kappa Omicron Pi, and Alpha Delta Pi. Those who presented stunts last year were: Alpha Phi, Hendricks hall, Kappa Kappa Gamma, Kappa Alpha Zeta, Alpha Chi Omega, Delta Zeta, Chi Omega, Thatcher cottage, Alpha Xi Delta, Alpha Gamma Delta and Sigma Beta Phi, Kappa Kappa Gamma had the winning stunt.

It is planned to give a trophy cup to the house having the best stunt, and prizes of $5 and $2.50 are given to the two best costumes. The house stunts are judged on three points: originality, artistry and presentation.

Cost is Limited

The directorate is planning to limit the cost and length of each stunt. Arrangements are being made to reserve a special section for all townswomen, who wish to attend.

Music will be furnished during intermission for those who wish to dance.

Women's League will use the best stunts for "Stunt Night," April 15, which is the first entertainment for the Women's League convention.

A meeting of the directorate will be called soon, according to Miss Brophy.

MISS CUEVAS SPEAKS AT SPANISH MEETING

"Colombia and its Traditions," was the subject of Miss Rosalia Cuevas, speaking before the regular meeting of El Circulo Castellano, Spanish club, at the Y. W. bungalow, Wednesday night.

Miss Cuevas told several interesting stories illustrating the traditions and customs of that South American city. Several other speakers constituted the program of the social meeting of the club. The entire program was given in Spanish.

Marion Veazie gave a short talk on "When I Receive Christmas Gifts." A comical story of a Frenchman, a Portuguese, and an Andalusian, was told by Richard Collins. Juan Domingo spoke on "The Future of the Spanish Language." The meeting was well attended.

UNIVERSITY HIGH PRINCIPAL TO GIVE SUMMER COURSES

Medical School Scholarship Won By Edwin Durno

Edwin Durno, '23, physical education, has been awarded a scholarship to the Harvard Medical school for the year 1925-26. Word of the award was received by Mrs. J. P. Durno, his mother, who lives in Eugene.

Six scholarships are awarded annually by the college and this is the second time Durno has received the honor of being selected one of the group.

While on the campus Durno was a member of Phi Delta Theta, Friars, and Order of the "O", and is now a member of Nu Sigma Nu, medical fraternity. He played on the varsity basketball team.

RULING ASKS HIGHER SCHOLARSHIP STANDING

Students Must Pass In More Hours Per Term

A definite step toward raising the scholastic standing of the University was taken at the faculty meeting, Wednesday, when the number of hours in which a student must pass in order to remain in school was increased.

The new ruling, adopted on the motion of the scholarship committee, provides that freshmen must pass in at least five hours of work, and other students in seven hours. The existing plan allows the student to remain in school if he passes in three hours. The change will not be put into effect before the spring term.

Dissatisfaction was expressed with the present system under which freshmen often take two hours of military work, and by passing in this subject and in physical education are allowed to stay in school. The new ruling, it is thought, will make it necessary for the first year students to pass in at least one other course if they are to remain in the University.

The adoption of the new plan was made with the intent of weeding out those students who are not fit university material. The natural effect will also be a noticeable advancement in the University's standards.

NATIONAL SECRETARY OF Y.W.C.A. TO VISIT

Elsie Heller, national student Y. W. C. A. secretary, located in the northwest field, is to be on the campus this week-end and possibly the first part of next week, Miss Florence Magowan, secretary of the local organization, announced today.

The purpose of Miss Heller's visit is to make arrangements for the coming State Cabinet Training conference, which will be held on the campus either the latter part of April or the first of May. She will also make arrangements regarding the visit of Miss Grace Louks, a national secretary who is located in the eastern field and will tour the West later in the spring.

Miss Heller, who is returning by way of San Francisco from an executive committee meeting of the national student council which met in New York shortly after the Christmas holidays, hopes to reach the campus in time to attend some of the Fred B. Smith lectures. During the meeting of the national church workers who conferred upon the campus last term, Miss Heller was present and at that time spoke at some of the meetings. The exact duration of Miss Heller's stay will be announced later.

BOB McCABE RECEIVES HURT IN SWIMMING POOL

Bob McCabe, varsity swimmer, received a laceration over his right eye Wednesday night while swimming in the tank of the men's gymnasium. Dr. G. A. Ross, at the dispensary, closed the wound with several stitches.

PEACE CONTEST SET FOR APRIL 3

Pacific University to Be Scene of Oratory Event By Oregon Institutions

NINE SCHOOLS INCLUDED

Research in Particular Angle Of International Question Asked By Debate Coach

Students interested in forensic work are urged by Oscar E. Brown, debate coach, to begin work on orations for the Peace Oratory contest to be held at Pacific university, Forest Grove on April 3. This contest is open to all students, both men and women, he states.

It is desirable in choosing and preparing a subject, to avoid the conventional treatment sometimes given the material, he said. In the manner of general directions, the orations should develop some definite phase of international peace.

Sentimental pictures, contrasting war and peace, or moralizing effects are not preferred. Some method of a practical value should be developed.

"Research should be devoted," Mr. Brown said, "to some particular angle of world peace, also offering a plan or solution for its achievement."

Tryout is February 24

Orations should be limited to 1,800 words in length. Aspirants must have them memorized for the try-outs to be held February 24. Typewritten copies of their work must also be presented at this time.

The Peace contest in the state is being sponsored by the National Intercollegiate Peace association.

For the oration taking first place in the contest, a prize of $75 will be awarded, and for the one placing second, $50.

The winners of the contest have the opportunity of entering the national contest. The two prize-winning topics will be sent to the national headquarters to be judged for composition and thought value. For the one winning the national event, an award of $100 will be given.

More Interest Wanted

"The object of this nation wide contest," said Mr. Brown, "is to promote a greater and more general interest in the movement for international peace."

Institutions in this state intending to enter the contest are: Pacific college, Albany college, Linfield college, Oregon State Normal school, Oregon Agricultural college, Willamette university, Eugene Bible university, Pacific university, and University of Oregon.

In the contest last year, which was held on the campus, E. D. Conway, representing the University, took second place.

OREGON KNIGHTS GIVE FANCY BALL TONIGHT

Tonight in the Woman's building, the Oregon chapter of the Intercollegiate Knights will celebrate their first annual "Costume Knight." They have been considering this particular dance for some time and as they are offering it as the first of their original costume affairs to be given at about this time each year, they are indeed anxious that the campus respond to the occasion by arriving tonight with some manner of unusual dress.

"A floor full of costumes is all that is now needed to make the dance a decided success," says John Boswell, committee chairman. "Although we have not planned on going into decorating too extensively, the decorations will be appropriate for the occasion. We also hope to interest those present with some unusual features. The Pi-did Pipers and their music need no introduction. But most of all," stated Boswell emphatically, "the spirit and success of the dance depends upon the willingness of the students to come in costume attire."

Bottled in Bond! Evidence Involves Botany Department

Has the smirch of insobriety invaded the sacred and hallowed halls of our Alma Mater. Shall suspicion be cast upon the top floor of Deady hall, where plants and flowers and fossil botanical specimens sport themselves in giddy play?

Professor A. R. Sweetser received a letter. Professor Sweetser, debate coach, the botany department, read said epistle. Professor Sweetser smiled. Then Professor Sweetser laughed out loud, like the funny man in Oliver Wendell Holmes, who busts a button. He read the salutation:

"Professor Sweetser, head of bottling department."

NEW COMMITTEE NAMED FOR JUNIOR WEEK-END

Campus Groups Are Urged To Prepare for Fete

The appointment of another committee for Junior week-end was announced at the meeting of the Junior Week-end directorate which was held Thursday afternoon.

Walter Kelsey, of Portland, and Charles Burlingham, of Forest Grove, were named on the bleacher committee. Their report will probably be ready at the next meeting.

The various groups on the campus are urged by "Fug" Toole to get together and select their chairmen as soon as possible, so that the ideas for the canoe floats can be worked out. No regulations on the type of floats have been placed, except that their expenditures on each float can not exceed a sum of $15.

Kenneth Stephenson, chairman of campus day, announced yesterday that final plans for his committee have not been made. A stunt, which will be presented during the time that the luncheon is being served, is being developed. "We want to have something new, some way of eliminating the sameness which has characterized the luncheon period," he said. Bert Gooding, Roland Eby, and Imogene Lewis are the other members of the campus day committee.

LECTURE COMMITTEE PERSONNEL COMPLETE

The personnel of the student lecture committee has been completed with the appointment of Wilbur Hayden as business manager. Hayden will assume those financial and administrative duties connected with the presentation of well-known speakers who are brought to the campus.

The student lecture committee cooperates with the faculty of the free intellectual activities committee in the selection of eminent lecturers. The committee is composed of Don Woodward, Eugenia Strickland and Wilbur Hayden.

Hayden was appointed by Randall Jones, president of the student body. Hayden, who is a junior in medicine, is vice-president of Oregon club and has had charge of the social activities of this organization.

Victor Risley, vice-president of the student body and acting president at present, made public the appointment.

Two business assistants have been recommended and appointed. They are Clatus Meredith, journalism major, and Harry Hemmings, economics major. They will have charge of the sale of tickets for the speakers who address the students.

EX-STUDENT RECEIVES ADVERTISING POSITION

Maurice H. Hyde, former University student, who recently gave up his position as advertising manager of Lipman Wolfe and company to accept a place as divisional advertising manager of The Emporium, San Francisco, writes enthusiastically of his new work.

RUDD SELLS STORIES TO NEW YORK PAPERS

Art Rudd, last year's editor of the Emerald, and now a graduate student at Columbia university, is putting in his spare time "freelancing" in New York. "Two Sunday features, such as I have been selling to the World," he writes, "make as much for me as I used to get for a whole month's work."

"I am meeting a good many interesting people," he continues, "and learning as much as possible about places to sell various kinds of writing." John Piner, he reports, is now doing a night shift for the Associated Press. Glenn Quiett of the Oregon gift campaign organization and Ernest Haycox are among the Oregonians with whom Art chats over an occasional sandwich.

Rudd never forgets the Round-up. During his vacation from Columbia he ran down to Washington and talked Wild West to President Coolidge at the White House, interesting him in the great Pendleton show. And meanwhile he has kept his grades at Columbia well up to his Oregon standard—all A's and B's in the term examinations.

ASSEMBLY SPEAKER INTERESTS AUDIENCE

Moral culture is as essential to success as an intellectual foundation or a pleasing and energetic personality, according to Fred B. Smith in his assembly address on "Fundamental Education."

Mr. Smith has the poise and skill of the experienced speaker and his unexpected blunt frankness and good-natured chuckle are well calculated to win the interest of his audience.

In consoling the slow student, he said, "I am always suspicious of stars—stars of any kind—they shine during four years at college, then their light suddenly goes out. If one of my children—and I have plenty of them—should come to me and tell me he was head of his class, I'd be worried," adding, "I've never been worried."

"It is the eternal perseverance that wins," he declared in praising the student who keeps on although he is not a brilliant student and who gets lonely or discouraged, or who "walks on every one else's feet at the dance." The sort of student that received the speaker's denunciation is what he designates as a "conceited fool with morals that are beginning to break down." Character, he said, is a culture with its roots in faith and religion. "Live on a lofty plane," was his closing admonition.

Mr. Smith made his first visit to the campus 25 years ago, and since that time he has returned on the average of about once in every four years, so that each "generation" at the University has known him. In recalling these visits, he humorously observed, "I am not surprised that there have been so many successful students going out from this University."

PROFESSOR TO SPEAK AT PORTLAND MEETING

Professor W. F. G. Thacher, of the school of journalism, will speak on the "Function of Advertising in the Trade Journal," at the monthly meeting of the Trade and Class Journal Association meeting in Portland, Saturday, February 14, which Professor Thacher and Ralph D. Casey plan to attend.

This meeting will consider the program for the Trade and Class section of the newspaper conference to be held on the campus March 13 and 14.

OREGON QUINTET FACE HARD GAME

Handicapped Varsity Plays On Foreign Floor; O. A. C. To Be Met in Big Game

HOBSON TO COMPETE

Aggies Develop New Style Of Play; Large Turnout Of Veterans is Available

Depending directly on the outcome of the contest between the Beavers and Oregon tomorrow night, are the chances of the Lemon-Yellow or the Aggies to win a coast conference pennant. Which ever team loses is practically eliminated as a championship contender.

Oregon will be handicapped in more than one respect as the varsity will be playing on a foreign floor, and sickness has played a rather hard part with the team, although at present the quintet is in fair condition.

By comparative scores, O. A. C. has the better chance for a victory, as the Aggies have defeated the Huskies, a feat the varsity was unable to accomplish.

Lineup Is Arranged

Howard Hobson is back on the team and is playing up to usual form which will greatly aid the varsity in its fight with the Aggies. Russ Gowans and Howard Hobson and Okerberg will no doubt start at forward and center. Ted Gillenwaters and Swede Westergren will complete the lineup playing at guard.

As the result of the Oregon-Washington contest last week-end, Coach Reinhart has discovered a good defensive man in Chuck Jost who will probably break into the fray Saturday night. Jost, a rangy guard, may prove valuable in checking up the fast breaking Aggie forwards.

Aggies Have Strong Team

The O. A. C. lineup will probably include Ridings and Baker as forwards with Brown, lanky, dangerous tip-off man, at center. Stoddard and Steele will play at guard.

The Aggies are trying to develop a new style of game, playing more of a percentage game of basketball. Under this system, the Beaver forwards play for the breaks and then break with almost unstoppable speed. Bob Hager, Beaver coach, (Continued on page three)

SIGMA DELTA CHI HOST TO T. HAWLEY TAPPING

T. Hawley Tapping, past national president of Sigma Delta Chi, national honorary journalism fraternity, will visit the local chapter of the organization today. Mr. Tapping came to Eugene yesterday afternoon and was entertained at a banquet at the Osborn hotel, last night, by local alumni of Michigan university.

The visitor will be honored by Oregon members of Sigma Delta Chi at a breakfast to be given at 8 o'clock this morning at the College Side Inn. All members of the fraternity are asked to be present by Harold A. Kirk, president of the local chapter.

Mr. Tapping is at present making a tour of the Pacific Northwest in the interests of the University of Michigan alumni organization, addressing alumni in the various cities he visits.

FELLOWSHIP GROUP TO STUDY AUSTRALIA

The second meeting of the discussion group studying Australia under the direction of the World Fellowship committee, takes place today at the Anchorage during the lunch hour. The topic for discussion will be "History and Racial Characteristics of Australia."

The group studying Norway met at the Bungalow at 6:00 yesterday. Members of the group presented reports on information which they had secured during the past two weeks and a discussion followed in which various members of the group participated.
