

MATMEN MEET VANDALS AT 3:30

First Contest of Varsity Season This Afternoon; Rathbun Will Referee

OREGON SQUAD STRONG

Bouts in Men's Gymnasium Promise to Be Close; Visitors Have Veterans

This afternoon at 3:30 the Oregon wrestling team will swing into action against the Idaho bonecrushers in the first Pacific coast conference meet of the season. The bouts will be held in the men's gymnasium.

The men who will represent the varsity are Ford, 125 pounds; Wingard, 135 pounds; Davis, 145 pounds; Leavitt, 158 pounds; and Cartwright, 175 pounds. The University of Idaho bonecrushers arrived here Friday evening and Bob Mathews, football coach, who accompanied the team, announced that the following men would compete: Bitner, 125 pounds; Powers, 135 pounds; Ross, 145 pounds; Edleblute, 158 pounds; and Bliss, 175 pounds.

Hard Bouts Predicted
Coach Widmer predicts that the Ford-Bitner bout will be a real mix. Last year the Idaho grappler tipped the local man. Ford has gained considerable experience during the workouts this season and is out to reverse the decision.

Wingard will meet Powers in the 135 pound class. Both men are of the same build and have considerable experience. Coach Widmer has selected Perry Davis to wrestle in the welterweight division. Davis was selected, although weighing only 138 pounds, because of his experience and knowledge of the game. In meeting Ross of Idaho, the Lemon-Yellow wrestler is meeting the best that Idaho has on the grappling squad. This bout should keep the fans on edge for a fast bout is predicted by the coaches.

Leavitt Shows Speed
Harry Leavitt, a member of last year's frosh team, will meet Edleblute of Idaho. Leavitt has been showing considerable speed in his workouts. In the light-heavy weight division Cartwright and Bliss will meet. The varsity grappler formerly wrestled at W. S. C. and is experienced which is coupled with his speed and strength.

Coach Widmer announced that Guy Rathbun, of Willamette university was selected to referee the bouts. Rathbun was formerly wrestling mentor at O. A. C. Bob Mautz will be announcer and Pete Laurs will act in the capacity of timekeeper.

The Pacific coast Conference rules for wrestling will be in effect. Each bout will be for three falls of seven minutes each.

PHYMER ARRIVES ON CAMPUS TO BECOME OREGON'S MASCOT

You've heard about the Golden Bear—and the bear that is the mascot of the California teams. You've seen the massive husky dog which the Huskies take with the team. You've seen, no doubt, the goat—the big white goat—of the Vandals but this year you're going to see Oregon teams with a mascot. It was difficult for the Oregon team to pack around anything symbolic except a duck and a duck isn't a suitable mascot by any means.

Yesterday Bill Hayward received a little bundle of concentrated life which is to become the mascot of the Oregon teams in the future. The mascot of Oregon teams will probably go around with the track team a lot this spring to greet the golden bear, the big husky dog, the goat—and perhaps the Aggie's cow.

Managers For Sports Appointed By Council

Following out the managerial plan which was recently adopted to handle athletics, forensics and music more directly and efficiently, the executive council has passed on the appointment of Richard Lyman as manager of basketball, Rufus Sumner manager of baseball, Raymond Mooser manager of sports, and David Adolph, who will handle the minor sports.

Under these men, are working a group of freshmen and sophomores, one of whom will be the manager for each sport next year, according to the new plan. These men are, Eugene Crosswaite, Bob Neighbors, Stewart Ball, Frank German, Paul Clark, Jimmy Johnson, Donald Gidley and William Roberts.

Efficiency is Insured
The new managers have been working in their respective sports during their freshman and sophomore years, and were considered the best material for the positions of managerships. "There has always been a dearth of good men for managers," said Victor Risley, vice-president of the student body, and a member of the committee which investigated the managerial system, and recommended the new plan. "This new process insures an efficient man each year to handle the activity. Always before, men who turned out during their freshman year, lost interest and dropped out the next year, but this year there is sure recognition for those who really work." During the football season there is special need for help as it is impossible for the graduate manager to handle all the details alone.

General Manager Chosen
From among the men who have been chosen as direct managers this year, one man will be chosen to be the general manager of all activities for next year. He will oversee the actual working and the personell of the activities, seeing that the ranks are filled and the activity is functioning smoothly. Music and forensics will be handled a little differently. They will be under the direct attention of the graduate manager, who will appoint assistants to take charge of the orchestra and glee clubs.

Varsity Debate Meet To Be Triangle Event

Three of the leading universities of the Northwest meet next Thursday, February 12, in a triangle debate. This event, states Oscar E. Brown, debate coach, is the largest varsity debate of the year. The universities participating in the meet are: University of Washington, University of Idaho, and University of Oregon.

The question for discussion is, Resolved: "That the constitution should be so amended to enable Congress to re-enact by a two-thirds vote, legislations overruled by the Supreme Court."

"This question," says Mr. Brown, "is most prominent in the country at this time, due mainly because it was an issue in La Follette's presidential campaign."

CONCERT SERIES BEGINS TUESDAY

Maier and Pattison to Give Unique Program As Dual Pianists in Local Affair

CLASSIC MUSIC REVIVED

A musical program, unusual and decidedly interesting, will be given Tuesday evening at the Woman's building when Guy Maier and Lee Pattison, dual pianists, appear in concert on that night. This is the first concert of the year to be given under the auspices of the associated students of the University, though others will follow later in the term.

These two musicians are the first to devote their efforts exclusively to playing together with two pianos, which is shown by the lack of music written for two pianos until recent composers have written expressly for Maier and Pattison. This form of expression was used by the artists at first solely as amusement for themselves. After studying in Europe under the same masters they developed such proficiency that they decided to work together seriously.

Musical Combination Good
The Maier and Pattison combination is so perfect in presentation and the identities of the two men are so thoroughly merged during the performance, it is said, that they have been given such nicknames as the "Pianistic Siamese Twins," and the "Damon and Pythias of the Piano." Only personal friends of the two men are able to distinguish between the two on the stage.

Beside appearing together the two artists are each excellent in solo concert, and have often given programs alone. Not only are they musicians but are composers as well. Mr. Pattison, it is said, has been coming rapidly to the front as a composer, having made a number of arrangements, for two pianos. Among them are Coronation Scene from the opera "Boris Godunoff" and the Concerto Pathetique of Liszt. He has also written music which has been published, the most popular of which is "The Land of Bye and Bye."

Special Compositions Produced
With the revival of the old art of dual piano playing has come a new kind of musical composition written especially for two pianos and many compositions written specially for Maier and Pattison. Many compositions by the dual pianists are works of Saint-Saens, Debussy, Rachmaninoff, Cesar Franck and works of modern Russian composers.

The concert Tuesday evening will be at eight o'clock at the Woman's building. Tickets are on sale at the Co-op and at Laraways music store.

SPORTS ASSOCIATION WILL GATHER MONDAY

An important meeting of the Sports Writers' association will be held Monday afternoon at 5 p. m. in the correspondent's room of the journalism building. Several important matters must be settled Monday and it is imperative that every member be present.

The organization is attempting to secure complete co-operation among the various correspondents of the daily papers. By working together, the sports writers expect to facilitate the gathering of news and give the University more publicity than before. Instead of every man covering all beats the members expect to split up the work, thus being able to cover the field much better than was possible when every man had to try to make the complete round.

College Professor To Use Crossword Puzzle in Classes

The man or woman who started the crossword puzzle craze could never have realized to what a variety of uses they would be put or, in the opinion of mercenary individuals, he would have taken out a patent on them.

In advertisements, competitions, and in a multitude of ways the crossword puzzle does its duty and attracts those who have become addicted to the habit. But, there was one use for this kind of amusement that even the inventor himself, perhaps never dreamed of, but not so the college professor. Thus the second-year Spanish students are to exercise their vocabularies on working crossword puzzles in a definite period of time.

FROSH HOOPERS MEET ROOKS AT CORVALLIS

Two Full Teams Taken By Coach Dave Evans

The frosh basketball team will meet the O. A. C. rooks this afternoon at 2:15 on the rook's home floor. This contest will precede the game with the Beaver five. In this tilt, the frosh will play the first of a two-game series with the rooks. The return game of which will be played here.

Coach Dave Evans will take two full teams with him and says that he intends to let every man get into the game and show his ability. The plan being to choose the first team players for the next game from those who show up best.

The yearling squad held its final workout before the game last night in the men's gymnasium. The coach had them at skull practice and running over their special formations, in the final preparation for the contest.

Those who will make the trip are: Walker, Beeny, Joy and Crewdson at forwards; Eberhard and Squalish, centers; Reichstein, Hutchinson, Powers and Puusti will be at guards. The initial lineup will probably be: Beeny and Joy at forward, Eberhard at center and at the guard berths, Powers and Hutchinson.

FIFTEEN MEN ENTERED IN RIFLE SHOOT MATCH

Firing in the Ninth Corps area rifle match will begin next Monday. Every college having an R. O. T. C. department is expected to enter at least one team composed of fifteen men. If the military science instructor decides, two or more teams may compete. The local department will enter only one team composed of fifteen marksmen who have been turning out regularly during the past several weeks.

Among those from whom Captain J. T. Murray will pick to fire during this match are: Burlingham, Watrous, Peterson, Niedermeyer, Walker, Haddan, Kidwell, Harrison, Gehy, Williams, Van Atta, Sherman, Captbell, Hughes, Corand, Brown, Elkins, Porep, Taylor, Church and Bell.

These men are underclassmen. They have been practicing during the past week in shooting from various positions to be used during the Ninth corps area match. According to Captain Murray, the men are more proficient at shooting from prone position, as this is the easiest method.

Last year, the local R. O. T. C. team failed to win a match by a close margin. Prospects are somewhat better this year.

LIBRARY STAFF HONORS MISS PLATT AT LUNCHEON

A corsage bouquet was presented to Gladys Platt of the cataloging department of the library at the library staff members' luncheon yesterday. Miss Platt is to be married in the near future. The lunch was given at the College Side Inn by the members of the staff.

PENNANT CHANCES AT STAKE TONIGHT

CINDER ARTISTS COMPETE TODAY

First Competition of Year Starts at 2:30 O'clock; Seven Events Scheduled

80 TRACKSTERS TRY OUT

The first competition meet of Bill Hayward's intensive training schedule this spring will take place on Hayward field this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Over eighty men have signed up for the seven events to be run off. The meet will start promptly on time, rain or shine, and the events will be run off as quickly as possible.

First of Series

This is the beginning of a series of competition meets to be held every Saturday until the regular varsity and frosh meets come in the spring term. They will culminate in an interclass meet at the end of the term on March 14, from which Bill will pick the best men for spring vacation training. A hard season confronts the varsity and work has begun which will put the men in the best possible shape.

"I expect every man on the list to be out there today unless he has some important work to do or is sick. The showing has been good so far considering the bad weather, but every man must turn out who can," said Bill yesterday afternoon.

Events are Out Down

Bill is picking his best men from these meets. The ones who show up the best in competition will be the ones whom he will plan on for the spring meets. He doesn't expect too much from the aspirants because of the early season condition of the men but he insists that every man turn out. The later competition meets will be harder as the men round into condition. All the events for today have been cut down considerably because of the early season condition of the track men.

The meet is expected to bring out some pointers on the freshmen who are turning out and who for (Continued on page four)

PROF. CLARK BISSETT TO ADDRESS STUDENTS

Because of his wide information and interest concerning Abraham Lincoln, Clark P. Bissett, professor of law at the University of Washington, has been secured as speaker for next week's assembly. Professor Bissett has written a "Life of Abraham Lincoln." He has a noted collection of books and articles of historical interest dealing with Lincoln.

He has recently been decorated as a Chevalier of the Crown of Italy for his services to the people of that country, especially through his study of their literature and culture.

When Marshall Joffre visited Seattle just after the war, Professor Bissett was chosen by the city to make the address of welcome.

PROMINENT JOURNALIST MAKES VISIT TO CAMPUS

T. Hawley Tapping, former president of Sigma Delta Chi, national professional journalism fraternity, was a guest of the Oregon chapter at a breakfast given at the College Side Inn yesterday morning. After the breakfast he was shown about the campus by members of the fraternity.

Mr. Tapping is at present making a tour of the Northwest under the auspices of the University of Michigan alumni association and was entertained by the local alumni at a banquet, Thursday evening. He left yesterday for the south.

Students May View Eclipse of Moon Late Sunday Night

Monday, at one hour past Sunday, students at the University of Oregon can see the partial eclipse of the moon.

Prof. E. H. McAlister says that the next chance to see a lunar eclipse is in six months, August 4, to be exact.

"When the moon passes through the earth's shadow," stated Professor McAlister, "we do not notice any difference here that would not be common on a moonless night, but on the moon I believe the temperature becomes colder, if anything. That is, it would be colder if there were anyone there to notice it."

FRED B. SMITH SPEAKS ON FUTURE CONFLICTS

Remedies Given for Coming Wars By Lecturer

"The world is getting ready for another war. The chasms of hate which divide the nations are so deep that one cannot but tremble," declared Fred B. Smith in his final address before the students at Villard hall yesterday afternoon.

"Among the common folks there is an unprecedented universal passion and yearning for peace. The pacifists are now as one thousand to one of 1914," he declared.

"First, as a remedy for this world state of potential and almost certain war it is necessary that the peoples of the world be made to realize its significance," Mr. Smith continued. "Not an hysterical but a deep profound disturbance of the universal mind is necessary," he said.

Another remedy for war, Mr. Smith believes, is to make it thoroughly terrible. Contrary to popular beliefs, it has not yet been made terrible enough. The fact that we cannot have a public celebration of any kind without putting (Continued on page three)

ANDREE PELLION TALKS AT LE FOYER FRANCAIS

Andree Pellion, graduate student from France, gave the address before Le Foyer Francais, at the meeting held Thursday night, in the Y. W. bungalow. The normal and high schools of France were the subject of her discussion.

Two vocal solos, given by Rose McGrew, completed the formal program. The members then played games. Refreshments were served during the evening.

KNIGHTS FIRST ANNUAL BALL GAY AND COLORFUL AFFAIR

A green-eyed helmet, all lit up for the occasion, looked down upon a strange and colorful throng last night at the Woman's building. Its visor was split in a wide and sardonic grin, for it was nailed to the wall, not as a symbol of battle, but as the insignia of service, while below Spain danced in the arms of Turkey, China and Arabia glided over the polished floor in close harmony, and throughout the gay assemblage, color and race were forgotten in the whirl of the first annual costume ball of the Oregon Knights.

Of course, at such an affair, the costumes are the most interesting features, for here the student indulges long suppressed desires, be decks himself in the most colorful apparel obtainable and for one night is a Valentino, a Chaplin or a Mr. Wu. Last night the Valen-

OREGON PLAYS O.A.C. QUINTET

Varsity Enters Contest In Perfect Condition; Hobson Back in Lineup

AGGIES RATED STRONG

(By Wilbur Wester)

Added to the unusual importance of the O. A. C.-Oregon basketball contest at Corvallis tonight, is the element of fight that is instilled into every annual hoop clash between the varsity and Aggies. Realizing that if their team is defeated the chances for a coast conference pennant will be practically ruined, each quintet will play a super-brand of basketball in order to win the tilt.

Aggie Fans Confident

Understanding that the Oregon team is in a somewhat weakened condition, Coach Hager has stated that the Beavers will win. Besides the statement of the O. A. C. coach, the Aggie fans are confident that the Orange and Black basketballers can turn the trick and come out on top.

The Oregon varsity is now in perfect condition. The vaccinated- varsity is again well and with Hobson back in the lineup, the team should play in a creditable manner. But playing on a strange floor will necessitate some time before the Oregon forwards can get their scoring combination to working.

The Oregon armory floor is practically the same size as the Aggie floor, but the spacious barn-like appearance of the Beaver gym as a whole, is an annoying factor in keeping the visiting team from getting started.

Teams About Equal

By reason of having played five coast conference games out of nine, the Aggies are really in mid-season form, while the Lemon-Yellow has engaged in but two coast games. However, by comparative scores of the two teams, the O. A. C. five is not rated very much stronger than the varsity.

The lineup slated to start for Oregon is Hobson and Gowans, forwards with Oberberg at center. Gillenwaters and Westergren will start at guard. Jost and Gunther have been going fairly well in previous varsity contests and these two reserves will no doubt be shot into the fray to speed up the Oregon offense.

The lineups of the two teams for tonight's game are as follows:

Oregon	O. A. C.
Hobson	F. Baker
Gowans	F. Ridings
Oberberg	C. Brown
Gillenwaters	G. Stoddard
Westergren	G. Steele

tino's were in the majority. There were several shicks and enough toredors, matadors and picadors for a Spanish Fourth of July. There were Argentine gauchos and flashing shaws, chorus girls of both sexes, colonial dames, Scotch lassies, pirates and Bowery girls. One couple were cross-word puzzles and there were a number of Mandarins in embroidered robes and pre-public pig tails.

The two features, a clog dance by Bob Warner and a novel bag of magic tricks by Virchard Rayner, added much to the success of the evening. The Women's gymnasium was hung with large banners, representing a baronial hall. The green-eyed helmet which looked down upon it all ventured no opinion as to which couple wore the most clever costumes. It would have been hard, indeed, to decide.
