

SUMMER SCHOOL COURSES LISTED

Six Visiting Instructors are Of National Prominence

NEW SUBJECTS INCLUDED

Session Will Start June 22 And End July 31

There will be six visiting instructors on the faculty of the campus summer school session this year who will offer courses that are entirely new. The list includes a number of distinguished scholars, all of whom are from the Pacific coast, with the exception of Dr. A. A. Goldenweiser, of New York, and E. D. Price, city superintendent of schools of Enid, Oklahoma.

Dr. A. A. Goldenweiser, nationally known student of sociology and anthropology, will offer two courses, "Theories of Evolution and Progress," and "Primitive Social Life." Research along similar lines will be encouraged. Dr. Goldenweiser is the author of several books dealing with anthropology.

Other new courses to be offered during the session are "Scientific Classification of Pupils," by Superintendent Price, "Problems of Deans of Girls in High Schools," and the "Organization and Supervision of Extra Curricular Activities." The last two courses are to be given by Miss Marion Brown, dean of girls at the University high school in Oakland, California.

Education Course Slated

Another new education course will be given by Homer P. Rainey, professor of education on the campus. His course will be called "Constitutional and Legal Bases of Public School System."

Dr. Edward Hulme, history instructor from Stanford, will give two new courses, "The Middle Ages," and "European Civilization in the 19th Century."

A new library course will be offered by Miss Evelyn Foster, who was formerly connected with the University library. Miss Foster will return from a year's leave of absence. Her course will be titled "The Administration of the School Library."

Dr. L. L. Burlingame, of Stanford, will offer two biology classes, one of which is planned especially for biology teachers. Dr. Burlingame was on the campus last summer and was well received, said Professor F. L. Stetson, head of the summer session.

Advanced Work Emphasized

Dr. B. M. Woodbridge, of Reed college, will offer courses in French. All of the usual regular courses will be included in the curricula, although economic, political science, and English courses are somewhat new. They will be given by Peter C. Crockett, Glenn E. Hoover, and Rudolf H. Ernst.

The most apparent change in this year's session is the increase in the number of courses, and the added emphasis placed on advanced and graduate work. While lower division courses will be given as usual, additional attention has been paid to the scheduling of classes of a research nature. This has been thought advisable because of the large number of graduate students expected to enroll. "Last summer more than one fourth of the students were graduates," said Professor Stetson.

This year's session will begin June 22 and end July 31.

Frosh Hoopsters Vie With Medford Quintet Saturday Afternoon

injuries and illness, and their loss was sorely felt by the Medford five. Now, these injuries are healed and the two star players will be back in the line-up tomorrow when they play the frosh. The Medford basketeers are rated as one of the strongest high school quintets in southern Oregon, having defeated practically all of the high school hoop teams of the surrounding country.

The frosh are well acquainted with the Medford style of play, as two of the men are from Medford. Beeny and Reichstein both played for Medford last year and in this tilt will play against their old school mates. The probable lineup for the frosh will be: Joy and Beeny at forward, Eberhart at center and Powers and Reichstein at guards. Walker, forward, may be run in during the contest. Squash may sub for center and Hutchinson can relieve at guard without perceptibly weakening the team.

World of Sports

With the spring weather just in the offing, it is interesting to consider the growing importance of baseball as a professional sport.

Fifty-four years ago, when the diamond game was in its infancy, baseball was considered in much the same "amateurish" light as football is looked upon today. Players in that period, were given lucrative jobs, provided they would spend part of their time playing for some ball club.

However, the Cincinnati ball club, in 1870, really started to professionalize baseball. It is interesting to note the salaries offered by that club then for some of the leading players in the country. They are as follows:

- George Wright, shortstop, $1,400.
- Harry Wright, center field, $1,200.
- Asa Brainard, pitcher, $1,100.
- Fred Waterman, third base, $1,000.
- Charles Sweasy, second base, $800.
- Charles Gould, first base, $800.
- Douglas Allison, catcher, $800.
- Andrew Leonard, left field, $800.
- Calvan McVey, right field, $800.
- Richard Hurley, substitute, $800.

It is practically impossible to find the rankest professional today who does not receive more than the greatest player in that time. Consider some of the leading players today and the fortunes they receive for a season of play.

- Babe Ruth, $52,000.
- John J. McGraw, manager, $65,000.
- Ty Cobb, $30,000.

While a host of other players receive salaries ranging from ten to twenty thousand.

The chances for Oregon to win a coast conference basketball pennant for this year are good provided, the varsity can do the following: First to beat Idaho, by doing this, the Lemon-Yellow has two alternatives. Either to win over the Aggies and lose to Washington, taking all the rest of the games. Or to beat both Washington and O. A. C. and lose one game on the northern trip. This however, is taking into consideration that Washington will lose one game on her trip in eastern Washington, so as to give Oregon a clean title.

The varsity has had comparatively easy sledding so far. All the games have been on the home floor with the exception of the O. A. C. game. But from now on, the Lemon-Yellow has only two games at home, one with Idaho, the second with the Beavers.

The University of Washington quintet leads the coast conference for having made the greatest margin of points over her opponents, with 29 points registered after having found the difference between her total points and the total count of her opposition. O. A. C. is second with 23 points while Oregon is third with a 14 point margin.

Scores made by the teams in the northern section of the Pacific Coast Conference are as follows:

Pointe	Team	Opponents
182	Washington	153
178	O. A. C.	155
121	Montana	151
114	Oregon	100
105	W. S. C.	128
90	Idaho	103

Due to their impressive showing against the Huskies, when they were victorious by a 30-29 margin, the Idaho basketeers were rated high as to dangerousness. But the showing of the Vandals against O.

A. C. when they lost 24 to 15, was contrary to expectations, nevertheless Idaho will play twice the game against Oregon as against O. A. C. because the armory floor will be more suited to the Vandals' style of play.

Another factor which may play a mischievous part in the Oregon-Idaho game, is the fact that the game will be played on Friday 13. Therefore luck may over-ride team work and decide who is to win the contest.

Oregon when playing on the armory floor is not playing on her home floor. This statement was made by a highly respectable sports authority. The reason for making this assertion, he bases on the following facts: First, the floor is far from the campus, and the team has to come and go to practice late. Second, the showers are very old fashioned an inadequate. Third, the locker rooms are unkept and in a dirty condition. The cement floors of the locker rooms are cold, damp and filthy. Fourth, there is not the friendly gathering of Oregon fans each afternoon to watch practice as during the football season. All these factors, lead for the varsity men to regard to armory, not as a home institution, but more like a strange floor and therefore the team does not hold the valuable advantage of playing half of their basketball games on their home floor.

The remedy to this condition, stated the sports expert, is to build a new gym, a place that also can accommodate the hundreds of basketball fans that are unable to attend the large games of the year.

The week-end of February 20, will be a gala day for Oregon sports fans. The chief attraction is the Oregon-O. A. C. tilt Friday evening, the frosh basketball squad also plays that day, meeting the Rooks in the afternoon. On February 21, is a big swimming meet with the Multnomah club.

CALIFORNIA CLUBROOMS HAVE LARGE CHESS BOARD

University of California—A large chess board has been placed in the men's club rooms by the Chess club of the university. The board will be used in a correspondence tournament match with Stanford. The various plays will be sent from the two teams by postcards mailed each day.

man and in the speaker's opinion made him comparable to Shakespeare in that respect.

Because of Lincoln's early profession, Professor Bissett thought it especially appropriate that a lawyer should be called upon to appraise his work. "Lincoln," he said, "belongs to lawyers as a highhouse belongs to the mariner." Lincoln's greatest work in Professor Bissett's estimation, was demonstration to his time, and all time, of how the dignity of man may be raised by service to his fellow man. "Love was the keynote of his being," the speaker said, "but he hated injustice with the healthy hatred of a great intellect."
