

FILM WILL SHOW DISEASE OF PINE

Oregon White Pine Tracts Now Threatened

RUST SPREADS RAPIDLY

Leslie Gooding Will Present Movie February 17

A film, depicting the ravages of the white pine blister rust, will be shown Tuesday morning, February 17, at eight o'clock in Deady hall.

The white pine blister rust is a disease which is attacking the valuable pine forests of the Northwest. The disease has been discovered in British Columbia and has spread to northern Washington, and is threatening the sugar pine of Oregon.

Film to Show Stages The film shown by Mr. Gooding will illustrate the various stages of the disease and will show how the white pine blister may be eradicated or combated.

The disease, according to Prof. Albert Sweetser of the botany department, is found in early stages on the leaves of the gooseberry bush and the currant bush, especially the black currant, which is the cultivated species.

Current Vines May Be Routed The commission has been watching the progress of the disease and is sponsoring a campaign to route out the black currant vines of the state. If these bushes on which the blister rust thrives are routed, the spread of the disease will be prevented.

"The eradication of this disease is of tremendous economic importance to the state of Oregon, for it can ruin the tracts of sugar pine of the state," said Professor Sweetser.

The meeting is open to the public. The film will be shown in room 105, Deady hall.

MU PHI EPSILON GUEST COMING THIS WEEK-END

Members of Mu Phi Epsilon, women's national honorary fraternity, are entertaining their province president, Mrs. Louise Benton Oliver, of Seattle, this week-end.

She arrived yesterday afternoon. The largest affair in her honor will be a formal tea in Alumni hall this afternoon between the hours of four and five o'clock.

Sunday morning initiation will be held for Mrs. Gifford Nash, Mrs. John Starke Evans, Genevieve Phelps, Wanda Eastwood, and Harriet Baldwin. An initiation banquet will follow at the Hotel Osburn.

Mrs. Oliver is a former district superintendent of Alpha Omicron Pi. The members of that fraternity will honor her with a dinner this evening.

PETTICOAT POLITICS

Woman-poets have sung of her, men have placed her on pedestals and knocked them from under her, sages have written more about her than she knows about herself.

Their cries have almost drowned the now old fashioned admonition that the woman's place is in the home. She has gradually left the fireside to slowly wedge her way into public life and she is on the verge of arriving.

It has been said that neither of the governors were elected because of their knowledge of public questions or their leadership ability.

SUPERSTITIONS OF BUSINESS RESEMBLE LORE OF MARINERS

Professor Franklin E. Folts Explains Away Calamities That Happen on Friday the Thirteenth

"In the business world superstition is just as prominent as it is on the sea, and everywhere else," said Professor Franklin E. Folts, assistant dean of the school of business administration, in a radio lecture last night on "Friday—The Thirteenth."

Professor Folts spent a whole day surveying the business world trying to find how many of the business people are superstitious. He told the radio world about some of his findings in this survey.

He spoke of the superstition in the glove department of large department stores. It is supposed to be bad luck if the clerk shows a black glove to his customer first.

That Mrs. Ross was named merely to succeed her husband who died during his campaign is the opinion of many.

DOUGHNUT HANDBALL SCHEDULE UNDER WAY

The first round of the doughnut handball schedule has been run off with the exception of the Oregon club vs. Phi Gamma Delta contest.

Six teams have climbed the first hurdle and are on their way to the championship. The new schedule will be out the first of the week.

The schedule for the next round will be completed the first part of the week. By this time it is expected that all contesting teams will have played at least one game.

pull out a brown or a white one so as to be sure and make the sale. He cited an experience over the glove counter when he specifically asked for a pair of black gloves.

He also pointed out three important panics that came on Friday. The two in American history were the Wall street gold panic of black Friday, September 24, 1869; and one on English history, the date was May 11, 1866.

Quoting from his own experience, Professor Folts said, "I was one of a detail of twenty ordered from the Presidio, San Francisco, to France during the early days of the war. On the night of the thirteenth day out from New York, several of us were talking in the cabin about the roughness of the passage.
