Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:
Can a man be a Christian on a salary of $1.50 a day? Reader.

Dear Reader:
We would like to know what else a person can be on $1.50 a day. Editor.

Well, Well

Your just as good as gold,
The little maiden swore.
But now his gold is gone,
So he isn't good no more.

With lipstick highly flavored
And shaving cream that's sweet,
It seems that when you're necking now
It certainly is a treat.

Too Easy

An intoxicated man was standing on the corner trying for half an hour to scratch the wrong end of a match.

Sober—"Why not use the other end?"
Drunk—"Aw any body can do it that way."

Plain Brass

"Say, are you going to the postoffice?"
"Uh-huh."
"Will you mail my letter?"
"You bet."
"Wait just a minute till I finish it."
"All right."
"Got a stamp?"
"Yeh."
"Put it on here."
"Uh-huh."
"Say, what's your girl's address?"

BREAK THAT LINE!

Two down and three yards to go.

The Invasion

The student looking like a bear,
Because he never cuts his hair,
Should not be gazed upon with scorn,
'Tis not his fault, his locks ain't shorn.

For if you note, in every chair,
A barber cuts a co-ed's hair.
Before we liked to have to wait
For "HIM" to start to operate.

And chat with him who seemed to know,
What makes your hair refuse to grow.
Because you'd like to hear his slang—
Of jokes appearing in Whiz Bang!

But now, good lord, His yarns they bore!
Who cares what Mary Pickford wore?
Or Rudolph Valentino's kiss,
Which thrills the heart of every miss.

Oh, lord, my locks will grow, I fear,
From day to day, from year to year,
Until the serpent men call style,
Decreases the girls grow hair awhile.

Supercilious

A—"See that woman? Name's Sharp."
B—"And she certainly lives up to it. She's cut half the town dead in a week."

College Proverb

He who kisses last, kisses best—but consider the married man.

News Note From Country Newspaper—

John Highpockets was blown to bits last night when he tried to light his cigarette while intoxicated.

A Short Fable

Once upon a time a professor, very unadvisedly, while lecturing in a co-educational institution of higher learning asked the following question:

Are co-eds dumb?
The roof was taken off the rooms by the spontaneity of the unanimous answer.
Moral—Girls, don't be dumb.

"Not so dusty," said the man on the water wagon as he turned on another hose.

The absent-minded professor wrapped the newspaper around himself and settled down to read his bath robe.

"A rattling fliver gathers no wimmen."

SOCIETY

The many functions held during the week indicate that the social season is at its height. The spirit of St. Valentine has been prevalent in practically all the affairs of the past few days, so that he must be very happy over the results of his birthday.

The first of the week was well filled with the performances of the Guild Hall play, "The Ideal Husband," the concert by Guy Maier and Lee Pattison under the direction of the associated students' concert series and the Dinner Crawl at the College Side Inn on Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Louise Benson Oliver of Seattle, province inspector of Mu Phi Epsilon, national inspector of fraternity, has been the inspiration for considerable entertaining since her arrival here Friday noon. Active members honored her with a dinner at the College Side Inn, Friday evening, after which a formal business meeting was held, and later Mrs. Oliver gave an informal talk. It was decided at this meeting that Mu Phi Epsilon would federate with the national organization of music clubs.

On Saturday afternoon from 3 until 6, members of Mu Phi Epsilon were hostesses at a large and beautiful tea in Alumni hall honoring Mesdames Oliver, P. L. Campbell, Bruce Bogart, R. A. Booth, Cambell Church, G. N. Frazer, W. G. Hale, W. F. Jewett, L. H. Johnson, Addie Osburn, George C. Reiter, Alfred Schreff, P. E. Snodgrass, and Miss Mary E. McCornack, their patronesses.

The prettily appointed tea table was presided over during the afternoon by Mesdames Anne Landsbury Beck, W. F. G. Thacher, Rose McGrew, L. D. Pierce, and C. L. Teshner.

Red carnations and other cut flowers were used about the room. Active members furnished the entertainment, each contributing some musical number to the program.

On Sunday, Mu Phi Epsilon held initiation services for Mrs. John Stark Evans, Mrs. Gifford Nash, Harriet Baldwin, Wanda Eastwood, and Genevieve Phelps after which a banquet was served at the Osburn hotel. Mrs. Oliver left Sunday evening after the banquet for Seattle.

The engagement of Miss Agnes Coates to George Beck was announced last week at the Sigma Beta Phi house, of which fraternity Miss Coates is a member. The interesting news was made known by place cards with little gold arrows through them, found at the table as the girls went in for dinner. The table was attractive with tulips in the center. Miss Coates is a senior here and Mr. Beck attends Willamette university where he is completing his last year. He is a member of Phi Kappa Pi.

Members of Kwama, honorary fraternity for women, were hostesses for a formal dance Friday evening at the Anchorage. Tiny windmills placed over the lights and on the table lamps cast a lovely glow over the rooms. The programs were in the Oregon colors, lemon-yellow and green. Mrs. Virginia Judy Esterly and Mr. and Mrs. Philip Brookes Irelan were patron and patronesses.

One of the most elaborate formal events of the season was the dance of Kappa Sigma on Saturday evening at their chapter house. To produce an English setting, the walls and ceilings were covered with a blue cloth over which were placed many medieval paintings, spears and swords. The windows were covered with oiled paper, painted to represent cathedral windows, and in one corner of the living room was a large throne. The spacious porch was enclosed with dark cloth and fir bows to give the effect of a garden. During the evening Roy Bryson sang several solos. The programs were in silver with a miniature engraving of the Kappa Sigma house on the front.

Mr. and Mrs. David Graham, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Earl, Dr. and Mrs. Del C. Stanard, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Benefiel, Capt. and Mrs. Frank L. Culin, Mr. and Mrs. James Barrett, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Earl were patrons and patronesses for the affair.

The decoration motif for the Delta Zeta formal grille dance Saturday evening at the Osburn hotel, was a lovely picture of many valentines with innumerable hearts and Cupid's darts. In the center of the main room, a large heart was suspended from the ceiling, electrically lighted. Gold and silver trees adorned the walls, and hanging from them, were vari-colored hearts. From the silver-shaded lanterns, hung still more red hearts and silver rain. The guests were entertained with two lovely minut dances as a feature of the evening.

Patrons and patronesses were Mrs. Grace Russell, Mrs. Katherine Yerex, Mrs. Virginia Judy Esterly, Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Spencer, Mr. and Mrs. George H. McMorrin, Mr. and Mrs. H. Alan Russell, of Portland, and Mr. and Mrs. Ellis F. Lawrence, of Portland.

In keeping with the day was the formal dance for which members of Sigma Alpha Epsilon were hosts on the evening of February 14 at the Craftman's clubhouse. Sprays of smilax were draped about the walls and on the lights. Two large hearts were placed together on one side of the room and palms were used as well as many cut flowers. As a feature, Delbert Faust entertained with a clever dance. Patrons and patronesses were Dean and Mrs. H. D. Sheldon, Mrs. Virginia Judy Esterly, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Sargent, Dr. and Mrs. Warren D. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Joseph and Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Decker.

The Alpha Delta Pi formal dance Saturday evening at the W. H. Jewett residence on Fairmount heights, gave the effect of springtime with the palms and a profusion of cut flowers. Frank Jue sang several delightful solos. Mrs. Lucy Perkins, Mrs. Virginia Judy Esterly, Dean and Mrs. John Straub, and Mrs. Colin V. Dymont, Dr. and Mrs. O. R. Gulhon, and Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Jewett were chaperons.

On Saint Valentine's day from 9 until 1:30, Phi Kappa Psi entertained with their fifth annual breakfast dance at the Osburn hotel. The clever dance programs were fashioned in the form of a menu. Breakfast was served in the Japanese tea room to the participants of the dance, among whom

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. G. Thacher, Mr. and Mrs. William Porter, and Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Lockwood were chaperons.

An unusual Valentine's dance was given Friday evening at the Sigma Chi house by members of that fraternity. Harold Wetthal was the artist of clever valentines that hung on the walls. Lionel Clark rendered some humorous essays on various interesting topics. Patrons and patronesses were Mrs. Virginia Judy Esterly, Dr. James Gilbert, Mr. and Mrs. William Reinhart, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Leslie, Mr. and Mrs. Lynn McCready, and Mr. and Mrs. Graham Smith.

Underclassmen of Alpha Phi were hostesses at a charming daffodil dinner-dance on Friday from 6 until 9 at the chapter house. Lovely cut flowers were used in the dancing rooms, and the daffodils predominated in the decorations at the little tables where dinner was served. Mrs. Henry Augustine and Mr. and Mrs. Bert Seale were the chaperons.

Hermian club, an organization for women majors in physical education, held their annual formal dance Friday evening in the Woman's building. Palms and hearts were used in the rooms, as well as many cut flowers. A lovely feature of the evening was the old-fashioned dance by Helene Oates.

Patrons and patronesses were Mrs. Virginia Judy Esterly, Mr. and Mrs. Del Oberteuffer, and Dean and Mrs. John Bovard.

Friendly hall was transformed into an Indian village Saturday, February 7, when the members entertained with their formal dance. Many Indian designs, blankets, and totem poles, bows and arrows, and weavings were used to carry out the decorative scheme and two men dressed as Indians received the guests at the door. Mrs. Virginia Judy Esterly, Mr. Ralph Hoerber, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Casey, and Rev. and Mrs. H. W. Davis were patrons and patronesses.

Very informal was the dance given by the Alpha Beta Chi on Saturday evening at their chapter house. Hearts of many sizes were used for decorations on the walls and over the lights. Punch was served late in the evening. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Barnes were chaperons.

On Sunday afternoon, Alpha Tau Omega held a benefit musical program at Laraway hall, the funds from which will be used to help pay for their new fraternity home which is now being built. Solos were given by Rex Underwood, violinist, and Aurora Potter Underwood, pianist. The remainder of the program was furnished by the University string quartet composed of Rex Underwood, first violin; Alberta Potter, second violin; Buford Roach, viola, and Lora Teshner, cello.

MAUD GRAHAM ANNOUNCES ENGAGEMENT AT FORMAL

Coming very much as a surprise Saturday night after the Delta Zeta formal dance was the announcement of the engagement of Miss Maud Graham to Mr. Harwood Marshall. Miss Graham is a graduate of the University of Oregon in the class of '24. She is a member of Delta Zeta, Hermian club, and Orchestus, and is at present instructor in physical education at Pacific university. Mr. Marshall is an instructor in the school of business administration.
