

NATIONAL SECRETARY OF PHI BETA KAPPA TO VISIT

Dr. Voorhees Plans to Tour Western Campuses

Oscar M. Voorhees, D. D., national secretary of the united chapters of the Phi Beta Kappa organization, will arrive in Eugene Monday forenoon on the Southern Pacific to visit the University and the Oregon chapter of the Phi Beta Kappa organization, according to an announcement made yesterday by Dr. Dan Clark, secretary of the local chapter. A committee of professors will meet Dr. Voorhees and will escort him over the campus Monday afternoon. "He is the first national officer to visit the local chapter since it was installed in 1923," said Secretary Clark.

Dr. Voorhees is visiting some sixty institutions of higher learning in the west on this trip that have chapters of the Phi Beta Kappa organization, or where faculty members belong. "The purpose of his trip is to make the members acquainted with the new plans of the organization," said Dr. Clark. "He will not only bring new ideas to the chapters, but will go away with new ideas from the members of the chapters themselves. The promotion of a higher scholarship is one of the special aims of the trip."

Dr. Voorhees has his headquarters in New York City. His extended tour of the west will carry him north to Portland and into Washington. While in Portland he will visit the campus of Reed college. Reed is applying for a chapter of Phi Beta Kappa.

Monday evening Dr. Voorhees will be the guest of the Oregon chapter at a dinner at the Osburn hotel. Mrs. O. F. Stafford is chairman of the committee arranging for the dinner.

Night Watchman Tells Of Experiences During Long Hours of Darkness

didn't about sum up the difference between the shadows of the mind and the shadows that are made on the earth."

When asked what he did to while away the long, dull hours of the night, Bradway smiled and answered with a tinge of mystery in his voice. "When I haven't anything in particular to think about, I try a little trick that I learned several years ago. Of course, I won't doubt as how it'll sound silly to anyone else, but I can show you just what an imagination can mean to a body."

"I suppose you'd laugh if I told you that each tree on this campus has got a name? Well, its so, and I've given them the names. And, when the night is a little too dark, when the fog is rolling in too thickly, I let my imagination run wild sort of, and the trees and familiar landmarks keep me company. I admit that sometimes people are good for the character, but it isn't so with imagination because that needs silence and solitude."

"No," said Bradway, sauntering out into the dark with his lantern swinging at his side, and his big bunch of keys jingling. "I never get lonesome or let the job grow monotonous—not as long as I have my imagination."

LAW STUDENT NINE CHALLENGES SQUADS FROM ANY DEPARTMENT

Formal Notice of Intention to Maintain Supremacy Issued by President of University Lawyers

By L. A.

"We are the baseball champions of the campus," declared Jean F. DuPaul and James King jointly, when interviewed recently regarding the athletic situation in the law department. King is the captain of the team which the legal minds will push forward and Jean DuPaul is the honored president of the law school student body.

"The law school," said President DuPaul, "issues a challenge to any reputable school in the University," including, in the opinion of those present at the interview, the economics department, which ought to be allowed to combine with its closest friend, the school of business administration, in order that there might be no inequalities.

Though they do not feel overconfident, the lawyers are sure that they represent the ablest baseball talent on the campus. To quote the modest words of their third string pitcher, "Skipper Brooks," "it will be easy."

Captain King seemed to be purposely indefinite in speaking of his line-up. He intimated that he had several "deadhorses" which he would spring at the crucial moments but he would give no hint as to their ability. It is rumored, however, that Bob Mautz because of his low speedy build will officiate at shortstop and also that the bag at second will be held down by Professor E. H. Decker.

It is known that "Skip" Brooks may make third or fourth string hurler but the chief candidates for the position on the mound are still shrouded in mystery. The report that Marion Dickey is in training for this post is only borne out by the fact that for the last three days he has absented himself from classes. Further than this no information was obtainable.

That the "deadhorses" of Captain Jimmy King will be formidable, is not questioned, for the value of such was known to the ancients. To quote the mighty J. Caesar on the eve of his great East vs. West game with Pompey, "My kingdom for a darkhorse."

"It is just possible," said Captain King, "that Jimmy Ross and Prexy Jones may become component parts of the nine." Captain King also said that he would permit the varsity to use the diamond three nights a week. He and his men would occupy it for three more nights and on the seventh night the field would be allowed to lie fallow as that would probably be Sunday night.

It is reported that the students of the law school were seen down on Willamette street recently engaged in pick up practice. They promise that after the first game they will carry, instead of the proverbial canes, regulation Spaulding baseball bats.

The wording of the formal challenge is issued by President DuPaul is as follows:

We, the members of the law school, being of sound mind and sound body, all appearances to the contrary notwithstanding, do hereby agree, covenant and contract as hereinafter provided: to wit, to engage at a contest of baseball with any and every aggregation duly recruited from the halls of learning of a recognized, certified and duly established department of the University of Oregon.

In witness thereof we herein and hereby attach our signatures.

GYMNASIUM DEPARTMENT HAS NEW HEATING LAMPS

The individual gymnasium department has acquired several new pieces of apparatus for use in the advanced classes. A deep-therapy lamp used for skin infections and wherever deep-heating is necessary, is to be used under the direct supervision of Miss Harriet Thomson, head of the department, and the advanced classes in individual gymnasium. This lamp which resembles a piano lamp in structure, is useful in sterilizing wounds. In addition to the two Betz Hot-pacs already in use in the department, two new ones have just been secured. These are commonly used in the treatment of sprains, back-aches and bumps.

SPRING EMPLOYMENT SHOWS IMPROVEMENT

Employment conditions are improving; calls for student labor are increasing, reports Mrs. Charlotte Donnelly, employment secretary of the campus Y. M. C. A.

Spring weather and the consequent beginning of gardening and other vernal activities are the cause of improvement. Most of the jobs now being offered are of an odd-hour nature. Men for spading, lawn-cutting, and garden work generally are most in demand.

The ebb of the annual winter employment depression has now been passed and further revival of the labor market may be expected throughout the remainder of the school year.

SCIENCE PROFESSOR WILL VISIT CAMPUS

KEMPY TO TRAVEL

"Kempy" the popular play put on by "Casks and Bust 'Em" will go on the road for a three weeks tour, is the report of OBAK'S theatrical committee which has planned for a schedule of showings.

OBAK'S theatrical committee as well as the Monville club has highly recommended the play. With a little more training and something to relieve Gordon Wilson of his hilarious tendencies they report that "Kempy" would approach the ideal.

However, training will come in time and as Gordon Wilson will wear an application of beauty clay over his gurgling countenance the future looks bright. Mr. Wilson will also chew tobacco as he claims that no one can chew tobacco and laugh at the same time. OBAK'S will furnish the gum.

MYSTERY SOLVED

There was a great shortage of male dancing partners last evening which for a time seemed a great mystery. However OBAK'S 'editorial staff putt on its rubber soled shoes and late last night discovered the reason. The Gamma Phi Betas were having a formal reception for some two dozen rushees and all of the campus celebrities of any real prestige value were grabbed off and options put on them several weeks in advance.

The girls had to hire a hall to accommodate the large crowd that attended the annual affair. Moral—Girls, pick 'em young—and treat 'em nice.
