

DR. VAN WATERS TO SPEAK TODAY

Former Graduate Has Wide Experience in Juvenile Field; Book Published

CHILD WELFARE IS WORK

"Youth in Conflict" to Be Topic of Assembly Talk; Mrs. Demarest Present

Dr. Miriam Van Waters, graduate of the class of '03, and instructor in the philosophy department the following year, is returning to the campus as speaker at today's assembly. Her topic will be "Youth in Conflict."

Mrs. Victoria Booth Clibborn Demarest, granddaughter of General Booth, founder of the Salvation Army, and herself a famous revivalist, will be present to pronounce the benediction. Mrs. Demarest is conducting revival services in Eugene, at present.

Dr. Van Waters has been unusually successful in the field she has chosen, that of child welfare work, and her training has further fitted her to be an authority on this subject.

Doctor's Degree Secured

After leaving the University of Oregon, Dr. Van Waters secured her doctor's degree at Clarke university, where she was assistant director of the children's institute. She was also a social worker for one year with the Children's Aid society of Boston, and superintendent of the Detention home for a year at Portland. She has been secured to give a series of lectures in Portland by various club women.

Dr. Van Waters at present holds the position of superintendent of the juvenile hall and referee of the juvenile court in Los Angeles.

She is also president of the Mental Hygiene organization of Los Angeles under whose patronage a child guidance clinic is being organized under the auspices of the Commonwealth fund, an organization similar in purpose to the Rockefeller foundation. The clinic looks into cases of children who have been subjected to abnormal conditions and attempts to relieve or remove those conditions.

Solo to Be Sung
Dr. Van Waters' book, "Youth in Conflict," deals with this type of problem, as also her chapters in Ernest Bryant Hoag's "Crime, Abnormal Minds and the Law."

Dr. Van Waters was elected to Phi Beta Kappa, national honorary scholastic fraternity, when the Oregon chapter was installed two years ago.

Music for assembly will consist of a solo sung by Esther Setters. The number will be "Trees" by Oscar Rasball.

Dr. Van Waters is being entertained at luncheon today by the members of the sociology department.

PROMINENT COUPLE ANNOUNCE BETROTHAL

A business-like air of professionalism usually hovers over the University Health Service, but yesterday this was broken when romance stepped in to make way for Daniel Cupid. Margaret MacGregor, head nurse at the dispensary, announced her engagement to Donald Barnes, who is an instructor in the history department.

The date of the wedding is set for June 15, the young couple continuing their work in the University until then. After the wedding they will visit Miss MacGregor's parents in Mt. Holyoke, Mass., and will then sail for England for their wedding trip.

GEOLOGY MAJORS ELECTED TO MEMBERSHIP IN CLUB

The Condon club, consisting of geology majors, recently elected Ralph Tuck and Gilbert McLaughlin to active membership. Those elected to associate membership were Lee Rapp, Francis Cleaver, John Hulvey, Arthur Erickson, Herman Meierjürgen, and John Bean.

OREGON FIGHTS AGGIES TODAY

O. A. C. PRIMED FOR CHAMPIONSHIP CLASH

PLAYERS READY FOR BIG GAME

Injured Aggie Basket Men Recover Completely for Important Contest Here

TEAM IN FINE CONDITION

Ridings and Baker to Start At Forwards; Stoddard, And Steele on Defense

By Clifton Booth (Sports Editor, O. A. C. Barometer)

Corvallis, Ore., March 4.—(Special to the Emerald)—The Aggie hoopers are ready for the first big game of the final and deciding series. Realizing that all depends upon these contests, the wearers of the orange and black will throw their last ounce of energy into tonight's mix to get the first blood of the series. The team winning the first game will have a big advantage and for that reason the Beavers are determined to emerge with a victory.

Men are Confident
Coach "Bob" Hager's men are confident of their ability to hang a defeat upon the Oregon aggregation and the team will enter tonight's melee at full strength. The injuries sustained by the players during the regular season have had plenty of time to heal and the speed and swiftness of the team should not be hindered as a result.

Ridings and Baker are expected to start in the forward berths, as they have in every conference game this year. Ridings' leg is in better condition than at any time since it was injured and the Beavers have their scoring hopes pinned on this red headed flash. He is one of the best shots in the game, being among the leaders of the conference. Baker does not take as many shots as "Red" but works the ball into position for the other players. Captain Steele's sprained ankle is again nearly well and he and Stoddard will attempt to keep the Oregon men out of scoring distance of the basket.

Brown May Start
The final success of the Beavers will depend greatly upon the defensive department of the team, but these small but fast men can be depended upon to put up their usual consistent game. Brown is expected to start at center, where he has won a name for himself. He is one of the best defensive men in the conference and is sure death on close-in shots.

However the game may go, the Aggies are sure that they will have played the best game possible. They feel sure that their best game will be good enough to bring them out on the long end of the score and well on the way to the championship.

TRACK ELIMINATIONS TO BE HELD SATURDAY

The track season will officially start Saturday, when the first elimination tryouts will be held, said Bill Hayward, track coach, at the weekly luncheon of the Sports Writers' association. Hayward was the guest of the organization, and discussed track prospects with the members.

The action of the student body in appointing a committee to plan for a new basketball pavilion was heartily commended in a resolution passed by the association. The resolution also recommended that the structure be made large enough so that it will include an indoor track.

Important Member Of Botany Family Searches for Name

A morsel of canine flesh is the most important member of the botany department family just at present. A rat terrier, of the two by four variety, is the new honoree. The spotted white puppy is yet unconscious of the dignity that is heaped upon him by being accepted by this scientific family.

The official title for the "pup" has not been selected by Miss Lourene Taylor, owner. She is considering sending out a questionnaire for appropriate names. Certain qualifications are made for the moniker. "It must be a decent, self-respecting name, for the puppy is really a wise rascal. He's assuming all the ear-marks of age for he's lost one tooth and is cutting another."

A name—a name. Who has it!

TOUR IS SCHEDULED FOR MUSICAL GROUPS

Plans will be completed during the week-end for the appearance of the University orchestra, directed by Rex Underwood, in Portland, St. Helens and Longview, Washington. The organization, accompanied by the two glee clubs, who will appear in Salem, Albany and Portland, will leave Eugene, Monday, March 23.

The program, said the director, while of strictly a good type of music, will not bore, and it does not take a person of music appreciation to enjoy it. In other words it has a popular appeal. The numbers on the program are well selected, presenting enough variety to appeal to all music tastes, from the more classical "Hungarian Rhapsody No. 2" by Liszt, to several small light numbers taken from the "Chocolate Soldier" and other light operas. Dr. John Landsbury, dean of the school of music and pianist of renown, will be the soloist for the concerts and will be heard in several delightful numbers. Among other numbers on the program will be the "Rackozey March," arr. Liszt and several standard overtures.

The orchestra is considered by many music critics the best organization of its kind on the Pacific coast. It is composed of over thirty people who are all experienced musicians, and who are vitally interested in music of this type.

EXPERT SPEAKS TO Y. W. GROUPS

Technicalities of Leading Discussions Is Subject Of Talk By Grace Louks

LIFE NEEDS CONSIDERED

Miss Grace Louks of New York, expert on discussion group work, is now conducting conferences on the campus with leaders of the Y. W. C. A. and other chosen members. Miss Louks is speaking to two groups, one composed of girls who have shown promise in activities and the other of girls who are now leaders. With the former group she talked of campus problems and equipment for life as gained on the campus. Technicalities of leading discussions were brought up in the other meeting.

"The biggest question, putting it generally, which I find people are asking themselves today is 'how am I going to live in the world,'" said Miss Louks. So many things happen today that it is hard to keep up, she pointed out.

The group discussed what sort of equipment a person needs to live. Adaptability to environment, broad-mindedness, appreciation of people and nature and of past achievements, ability to profit by what has been done before, interest in things outside of self, focused aim, enthusiasm, ability to judge right and wrong, good sense of values, and use of leisure time were mentioned as things which one should have to meet life.

Then the chief difficulties of carrying out these things in college were brought up. The group agreed that the chief trouble was lack of time, due to taking part in too great a number of activities. It was decided that college girls should center their interest in two or three activities, thereby insuring themselves more leisure time.

John Henry Nash And Wife to Be On Campus Next Week

John Henry Nash writes that he and Mrs. Nash are driving up from San Francisco and will be here either Wednesday or Thursday of next week to spend the rest of the week visiting the University.

Dean Eric W. Allen, of the school of journalism, has been receiving many inquiries from librarians, book lovers and printers as to whether other people besides newspaper editors would be admitted to Mr. Nash's talk, and Dean Allen in answer extends an invitation to all who are interested, and says if it is necessary Mr. Nash's address will be given in a larger hall to accommodate the crowd.

ADDRESS ON RELIGION IS GIVEN BY DR. REBECK

"Man's religious aim is to identify himself with his highest ideal," declared Dr. George Rebeck, dean of the Graduate School, in an address on the philosophical view of religion, in Alumni hall last night.

"Man is naturally an idealist. That is, his every desire and impulse contains a program of things as they ought to be," he explained. "The tendency is to strive towards an inclusive ideal, or soul ideal. Likewise, since he is a part of an environment, he has ideals of that environment. That is the world. His universe becomes a divine being. Out of the two ideals emerges his religion. His striving is to identify his soul ideal with his God ideal."

Because these ideals and this striving to guaranty the security of these ideals are so innate in man is reason enough for a rational faith in their truth, according to the speaker. "That is," he declared, "man is justified in holding them as a postulate, even though they can not be validated by reason directly."

W. A. A. TO VOTE ON EXECUTIVES

Constitution to Be Revised; Election Next Thursday to Take Place in Library

MEMBERSHIP DRIVE ON

Officers for the coming year were nominated and revisions in the constitution were proposed last night at the mass meeting of the W. A. A. Janet Wood received the nomination for the office of president; Alta Knips and Ruth MacGregor were nominated for the vice-presidency. Katherine Reade and Katherine Ulrich were nominated for the office of secretary and nominations for treasurer include Irva Dale, Ruth Melsome and Regina Devault.

The proposed changes in the constitution and the list of nominated officers will be posted in the library. W. A. A. election will be held next Thursday, from 10 a. m. till 3 p. m. in the library.

It was announced that all freshmen who have earned 100 points will be given an opportunity to join W. A. A. beginning today. A W. A. A. member has been appointed for each house to co-operate collecting fees and issuing membership cards. Outside of the initial 100 required for application for membership, no points earned in athletics are recognized unless the individual earning the points is a member of W. A. A. For this reason, girls who are interested in an Oregon letter or sweater, are given this special opportunity to join the association. A list correct to June, 1924, of all points awarded and names of those receiving them, has been posted on the bulletin board in the center entrance of the Women's gymnasium.

A motion was carried to include the class volley ball teams in the athletic banquet to be held March 15. It has been customary in the

PROGRAM WILL BE GIVEN AT LE FOYER FRANCAIS

Le Foyer Francais will hold the last meeting of the term tonight, at the Y. W. C. A. bungalow. A talk will be given by Wanda Plinez; and a vocal solo, "L'Obstination," will be given by Robert Hunt. Games will be played, and refreshments will be served. All students, who have studied French at least one year, are invited. The meeting will be held at 7:30.

VARSIITY MEETS BEAVERS HERE

O. A. C. Will Start Regular Line-up; Students Must Have Tickets to Enter

GAME STARTS AT 5 P. M.

Doors of Armory to Open At 4 O'clock; Increase In Seat Capacity Made

It is absolutely necessary for students to take their student body tickets to the Co-op and receive a 50 cent student body ticket to the game for this afternoon. No one will be admitted without a ticket. This rule also applies to Order of the "O" lettermen. However, their section will be saved for them providing they have a ticket.

Students will use the Oak street entrance on west side of the armory both for admittance and exit. The doors open at 4 o'clock. 1,500 seats and 500 standing-room places have been allotted to students.

By Wilbur Westar (Assistant Sport Editor of The Emerald)

Accomplishing the almost-impossible, Coach Billy Reinhart has succeeded in taking his team victoriously through a strenuous road trip and placed the quintet in the front as a championship contender. This afternoon at 5 o'clock, the Lemon Yellow will attempt to gain further laurels by defeating the Aggie hoopers in the first of a three game series to settle a tie for the title of the northern section of the Pacific Coast basketball conference.

Both Oregon and O. A. C. have ended the scheduled season in a tie, winning six out of eight games. Oregon set a rather outstanding record by not losing a coast conference game off her own floor.

Large Crowd Expected
The doors to the armory will be thrown open at 4 o'clock and athletic authorities have expressed a belief that one of the largest crowds that ever attended a Eugene hoop contest will be present to witness the encounter between the leading quintets of the west.

By reorganizing the seating arrangement at the armory, Jack Benefield has increased the capacity of the place to about 3,000 spectators. Two new rows of seats have been placed on the floor increasing the number of reserved seats.

The second game of the present series will be played at Corvallis on Saturday night at 7:30. Should it be necessary to play a third contest, the tilt will be staged at either the Willamette gym at Salem or at the Multnomah club floor at Portland.

Tickets are Fifty Cents
Yesterday afternoon the California hoop quintet wired athletic directors of both Oregon and O. A. C. that they will leave for the north to play for the title next week. The final championship series will probably be played on Thursday, Friday and Saturday. The place where these games will be played rests between three floors; Portland, Corvallis, or Eugene, depending directly on the outcome of the present contests.

The prices for the contest tonight are fifty cents for students; $1.00 and $1.25 for reserved tickets which can be secured at Obak's.

The probable starting combination of the contesting quintets will no doubt be as follows: Hobson and Gowans will start at forward with Okerberg at center. From Westergren, Jost, Gunther and Gil-The O. A. C. starting combination.
