Prospective Students Get Advance Information

"Pictures of Dr. Dan E. Clark and Professor A. R. Sweetser appeared in the University news bulletin for February 28, as members of the summer school faculties of the extension division," said Alfred Powers, assistant-director of the summer sessions, in explaining the program of placing the names and pictures and biographical sketches of the summer school faculty before those interested in the coming summer sessions. "The extension division is not doing this as a publicity stunt necessarily, but as a means of giving the summer school students an acquaintance with some of the big men who will make up the faculty."

The announcement in the bulletin described the different courses that will be given in the summer schools running from June 23 to July 31. The number contains an article on the two platoon plan in public schools by A. O. Freel, Superintendent W. F. Kennedy, head of the two platoon system in the Pittsburgh public schools and professor of education at the University of Pittsburgh, will give two courses in the Portland summer session on the two platoon system of schools.

past to include only class basketball teams and class swimming teams. The question of limiting attendance at the banquet to first teams and substitutes or to first and second teams was referred to a committee for definite decision. One of the features of the coming banquet will be the announcement of the mythical all-star teams.

Registration for spring term sports begins this week. Girls are being urged to select the sport in which they wish to participate and sign for it on the blanks posted in the women's gymnasium for that purpose. The possibility of including horseback riding in the list of accredited sports was discussed. This matter will come up for definite decision at a later meeting.
