Florence Easton Concert

THE STUDENT body welcomes a distinguished visitor in the person of Florence Easton, noted prima donna of the Metropolitan Opera company, who sings in the Methodist Episcopal church this evening at 8 o'clock. Music is becoming an increasingly important factor in the life of the campus, and the student music committee is proving successful in getting musicians of the first rank.

Miss Easton is the first singer to come to the campus this Mechanical college by a majority year, having been preceded by Maier and Pattison, dual pian- of seven points, with a score of ists, and Albert Spaulding, violinist, under the A. S. U. O

Those who have heard her on the operatic stage, in "Car- teams. men," or "Madam Butterfly," will be eager to hear her in concert. And those who have not heard her yet will welcome the opportunity.

The Poet Disappoints Us

ABRUPTLY came the word that Edgar Lee Masters, poet, syracuse university scored 3,627 and author of "The Spoon River Anthology," would not lege. be able to appear at the A. S. U. O. lecture which was to have been held last evening. He is, it was learned, ill in San Fran- STUDENT ORGANIZATIONS

One feels like quoting some little ditty appropriate to is that the paper will be more repthe occasion. But the fact remains that it is not so much of a joke after all. It is scarcely a joke to be a sick poet in San Francisco when you had counted on being in a hale and hearty all its activities. frame of mind at the University of Oregon for the evening. Still less is it a joke for the student body who had counted on hearing him.

It is, we must admit, true, that one gets accustomed to these things. And to poets. Vachel Lindsay was twice a false alarm before he actually put in an appearance. And he was worth waiting for. The Emerald hopes Mr. Masters will follow Mr. Vachel's suit and really come after all, even if his visit is postponed until next term.

A Case for a Hypnotist?

"T AZY college students can be hypnotized into winning Phi Beta Kappa keys." Or at least so says an International News Service tale from Cambridge, Massachusetts, in quoting the announcement of E. D. Hutchinson, graduate student of psychology at Harvard university. The article goes on to say that Hutchinson pointed with pride to a lazy fellow-student he had hypnotized into great scholastic zeal. Another was inspired to compose a poem, we are told, after being put to sleep by the

"Both experiments have convinced Professor William Mc-Dougall of the department of psychology at Harvard that Hutchinson's idea may result in a new era in university education."

All of which has a very distinct flavor. We are not averse to such ideas. Far from it. Education administered in this way should have its advantages. Yes, indeed. And should be practically painless. Think of going peacefully off to sleep next week when examinations come off, and waking up to find I's in all one's subjects! Page the hypnotist! As to the first statement, concerning the glittering Phi Beta Kappa keys, we dislike to, but we feel obliged to add that, judged by the large crowds and flocks and what-not going to the library regularly now for the first time this term, unless the gentleman can be paged they are not likely to win keys any other way.

OLYMPIC TRACK MAN LECTURES IN SCHOOLS

Ralph Spearow, Oregon's representative at the Olympic track meet last summer, has been doing considerable lecturing for the extension division recently, according to Miss Mary E. Kent, in charge of the lecture service. He is booked for two lectures in high schools of the state during the coming week.

On Monday, March 16, he will speak to the Gervais high school. Tuesday, March 17, he speaks to the Silverton high school.

To illustrate his lectures Spearow will use the Olympic film of the extension division. "Having been a member of the American team, he has some inside dope on the subject for lecturing," said Miss Kent. Spearow is now a Presbyterian min-
