

CLASS ATHLETES TO VIE SATURDAY

Track Meet Is Scheduled to Begin at 2:30 O'clock; Teams Being Selected

FRESHMEN WILL TRYOUT

Distances Lengthened In Last Competitive Fray; Result of Events Given

Fast, hard fought races, some good distances and heights in the last competition meet of Bill Hayward's training schedule gave an indication of the probable strength of Oregon's track team for this year. From it the prospects appear good.

For the first time the new 220-yard straight away was used. It will be in constant use by track men from now on so that the aspirants will get out of the habit of making the turn. It is packing down like the rest of the oval and will be in good shape for the big interclass meet next Saturday.

Teams Lined Up
Bill has scheduled his interclass meet for Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock and he is lining up the teams which are to compete for the classes in the windup meet of the season.

There will be try-outs for the freshmen, to determine the men who will enter the interclass meet, this afternoon at 4 o'clock. Elimination will be held in the mile, half mile, 220-yard dash, shot put, javelin and discus. All freshmen who have signed up for these events should report on Hayward field at 4 o'clock.

Most of the races were lengthened last Saturday for the men who entered them, in order to give them more endurance. Speed will be stressed from now on as well as endurance.

Results Given
The events and the men finishing were as follows:

100-yard varsity—Holt, Extra, Stonebreaker, Snyder, and Bossatti.

100-yard, frosh, finals—Prendergast, Kuykendall, Wetzel, Winslow, and Becker.

440-yards, frosh—Pearson, Cooper, Hicks, Ross and Padrick.

880 for 440 men—Cash, Ager, Kinney, Price and Wilbur tied for fourth.

Mile for half milers—Holder, Overstreet, Kelly, Gerke and Neidermeyer.

Two mile for milers—Keating, Nelson, Barnes, Carruthers, Hall, and Tuck.

90 yards high hurdles—Kelsey, Carruthers, Hall and Tuck.

Shot put—Mautz, 44 feet, 11 1/2 inches; Wetzel, 43 feet, 4 inches; Beatty, 41 feet, 9 inches, and Tuck, 40 feet, 8 inches.

Broad jump—Rosenberg, 21 feet, 10 inches; Kelsey, 20 feet, 8 inches. Guttridge, 19 feet, 1 inch, and Soderstrom, 18 feet, 10 inches.

Discus—Eby, 111 feet, 2 inches; Stockwell, 106 feet, 6 inches; Anderson, 102 feet.

High jump—Eby, 5 feet, 9 inches; Dills, 5 feet, 8 inches; Kelsey, 5 feet, 7 inches; Tuck and Zimmerman, 5 feet, 2 inches.

Javelin—Rosenberg, 178 feet, 6 inches; Anderson, 158 feet; Dills, 154 feet, 9 inches; and Beatty, 147 feet, 10 inches.

Pole vault—Rosenberg, Kelsey, Crowley and Richmond, 11 feet, 6 inches.

CONCERT INCLUDES OLD SONGS AND SEVERAL OPERA NUMBERS

By Emily Houston
The most delightful concert, given last night by Florence Easton, prima donna soprano, and Elinor Remick Warren, assisting artist, was composed of excellent numbers on the program and a list of fourteen other numbers from which the audience selected for encores. Miss Easton sang nine of the list for encores at the instance of the audience.

Miss Easton can scarcely be praised too highly for the pleasure she gives not only by her clear and

Campus Writers Will Have Chance To Meet Editors

How would you like to meet your future employer? The fellow you're going to work for next year, or maybe the next—anyway after you have graduated from the University? Plans are now being made by the faculty members of the school of journalism and Sigma Delta Chi whereby this very thing may be possible for the campus scribes.

On Thursday afternoon at 5 o'clock, a general assembly of all the campus scribes—freshmen, sophomores, juniors and seniors, those who work on the Emerald and those who don't—will be held in the assembly room of the shack. "Kap" Kuhn, presiding, will then explain to the embryo journalists how each may form a real talking acquaintance with one or more of the editors, read up and coming newspaper editors who are to hold their annual conference at the University on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week. Every student ought to be there, says "Kap." We want them all to attend the sessions of the conference and meet their future employers.

PROBLEMS OF YOUTH TO BE LECTURE TOPIC

Mrs. Virginia B. Demarest Will Speak in Villard

A special lecture for University students will be given in Villard hall Thursday by Mrs. Virginia Booth-Clubb Demarest, noted evangelist now appearing daily in the armory. "The Glory of Youth," is the theme of the lecture. It will start promptly at 4 o'clock.

The campus address is being arranged under the auspices of the United Christian Work of the University with Henry W. Davis, student pastor, in charge. This will probably be the only appearance of the woman evangelist on the campus as her series of revival meetings in Eugene ends this month. The talk will not be over an hour in length and all students should try to attend the affair, said Mr. Davis. Mrs. Demarest will have something of vital importance to say to the young people of the University. She is a woman of rare refinement and personality and has drawn large crowds wherever she has appeared, according to Mr. Davis. Thousands of Eugene townspeople, business men and students attend her meetings in the armory daily.

The usual characteristics of a revivalist are lacking in Mrs. Demarest in her talks. The air of excitement usually found at a revival meeting is lacking in most of her appearances though she fires her audience with her earnestness and heart to heart appeals. The address at Villard Thursday will not be in the form of a revival meeting but will be merely a lecture on religious problems of youth.

SENIORS TO PAY DIPLOMA FEE AT BUSINESS OFFICE

The diploma fee of $10 for seniors is now payable at the business office, is the word from that department. Seniors are admonished to not put off payment of this fee too long, as it is an essential for graduation. One month before the close of school is the latest date that fees will be accepted.

EXQUISITELY BEAUTIFUL VOICE

By her own personality and the interpretation which she gives of the songs. Of especial merit also was Miss Warren, who is herself a musician and a composer, having written three of the numbers given. The "Children of the Moon," written by her and sung by Miss Easton was especially pleasing and in playful mood had to be repeated. Miss Easton sang in several languages. The German group "Widmung" by Schumann, "Auf dem

CAMPUS Y.W.C.A. NAMES OFFICERS

Margaret Boyer Will Head Organization Next Year; Term to Start in April

ANNUAL BANQUET HELD

Cabinet Will Be Chosen Either at End of Term Or Soon After Vacation

Margaret Boyer became president of the campus Y. W. C. A. at the election held yesterday. Beatrice Peters is vice-president; Virginia Keeney, undergraduate representative; Nancy Peterson, secretary; Dorothy Delzell, treasurer.

The retiring officers are Florence Buck, president; Mary Donaldson, vice-president; Helen Andrews, undergraduate representative; Beatrice Peters, secretary; and Mary Beth Smith, treasurer.

"No definite plans have been formed for next year," said Miss Florence Magowan, secretary of the Y. W. C. A. The cabinet will be chosen at the end of this term, or soon after vacation, by the elected officers. Elective officers and chairmen of the committees on membership, finance, religious education, world fellowship, service, meetings, church co-operation, social, bungalow, publicity, personnel, and freshman commission, form the cabinet.

Announcements of the election returns were made at the thirty-first anniversary and eighth annual banquet of the Y. W. C. A., held at the College Side Inn last evening.

Y. W. Friendship Stressed

Florence Buck, toastmistress, introduced Mary Donaldson, who represented the seniors. Miss Donaldson stressed the importance of the deep friendships brought about by Y. W. C. A. associations. She likened seniors to the Evening Star, in that their college career is coming to a close but they will go out in the world to shine in other places. Betty Manning represented the undergraduate members of the Y. W. C. A.

Miss Buck introduced Mrs. Bruce Giffen as a representative of the Y. W. C. A. advisory board which acts as the North or guiding star of that organization. Mrs. Giffen voiced the desire of the board to be a true guide and help to the girls.

Mrs. Virginia Judy Esterly, dean of women, compared the Northern Lights to the faculty, asking several professors why the Northern Lights were similar to the faculty, she received various answers. Mrs. Esterly said. One man said the faculty are similar in that they shine seldom and are often dull. The distance between scholars and the college students impressed many as similar to the great distance of these lights from the earth. Mrs. Esterly said she disliked this separation of the professors and their pupils and hoped for closer co-operation.

Spirit of Youth Active

Henrietta Thompson, national Y. W. C. A. worker, who has been traveling over the United States and particularly the Pacific coast, in the interests of foreign students, spoke at the banquet. She suggested the idea that the thing that has kept the Y. W. young and active is its spirit of youth. The spirit of adventure is necessary in the Y. W. C. A., she said.

The musical program was a piano solo, a vocal solo and a trio of piano, violin and cello. Mildred Welch sang "Love's a Merchant," by Carow. Olga Jackson played Litz's "Etude," and Alberta Potter, Laura Teshner, and Lois Parker gave "Londontary," by Chrysler.

WOMEN'S LEAGUE TEAS DISCONTINUED FOR TERM

There will be no more Women's League teas this term, according to word given out by Mary Clerin, chairman of the social committee. This step has been made necessary because of the nearness of final examinations. Plans are being made to continue the teas next term.

Edison Marshall Story Contest Won By Doris M. Parker

Doris M. Parker, senior in the physical education department, was winner of the seventh Edison Marshall short story contest, conducted by Professor W. F. G. Thacher. The topic of Miss Parker's story was "A Problem in Matches." The prize is $50.

The judges, Alexander Hull, well-known author living at Newberg; Dr. Andrew Fish, faculty member, and Mrs. Clementine Hirsch of Portland considered the story written by Pat Morrisette, as being the second best. The topic of Mr. Morrisette's story was "Night Shift."

These contests are conducted to promote interest in the writing of fiction, and are open to all students on the campus. Twenty manuscripts were submitted to the judges, Mr. Thacher said.

JEWISH LEADER WILL BE SPEAKER AT ASSEMBLY

Rabbi Wise is Coming to Campus Tomorrow

"Some Creative Things and Their Evidences" is the topic announced for the address by Rabbi Jonah B. Wise, of Portland, for this week's assembly. Those who recall the Rabbi's former visits promise something more than a lecture by the head of a religious organization.

One of the characteristics which has contributed to the popularity of Rabbi Wise as a public speaker is his ability to tell humorous stories.

"He is a man of keen wit," said Dr. E. S. Conklin of the psychology department, and then he proceeded to relate numerous incidents typical of the Rabbi's quick, and sometimes surprising repartee. "Everytime I go out with him," Dr. Conklin concluded, laughing, "my wife always asks when I return what the Rabbi has said this time."

The father of Jonah B. Wise was a rabbi before him and founded the reform movement in the Jewish church. He also founded the Hebrew Union college at Cincinnati from which Jonah Wise graduated as rabbi in 1903.

"He belongs to about 57 different kinds of organizations," Dr. Conklin humorously exclaimed when asked concerning the Rabbi's activities in Portland, where he has been since 1910 as the head of the Reformed Jewish church. Rabbi Wise has a national reputation as a civic, charitable and social worker. He has done a great deal for the poor Jewish children in Portland.

Rabbi Wise is also known for his editorials and special articles contributed to current religious journals.

UNIVERSITY VESPER SERVICE CANCELLED

The March Vesper service to be given by the University choir this coming Sunday was cancelled last night at a meeting of the music committee. This action was taken because of the conflict it would make with the Demarest meeting that will take place Sunday afternoon and also because of the nearness of the final examinations.

The next Vesper service will be held the evening of Good Friday, April 10. At this time the choir will sing the "Seven Last Words of Christ," which is being repeated by request.

DEAN J. STRAUB RETURNS FROM FUNERAL AT SALEM

Dean John Straub returned last night from Salem where he spent yesterday. Dean Straub made the trip to the capital to attend the funeral of Mrs. Walter M. Pierce.

A meeting of seniors will be held in 105 Oregon building at 4:30 this afternoon, primarily to discuss plans for Senior Leap Week, which is scheduled for the first week of the spring term, according to Ted Gillenwaters, senior class president.

BANQUET MARKS END OF SEASON

Oregon Basketball Squad Will Be Guests Tonight At Dinner in Their Honor

THEATRE PARTY PLANNED

Varsity Ends Successful Year Although Defeated In Title Game By O. A. C.

The University of Oregon basketball squad will be guests at a banquet given tonight at the Osburn hotel, starting at 6 o'clock. Coach Reinhardt, Bill Hayward, track coach and trainer, Dean H. Walker, Carl Onthank, Dean Sheldon, L. H. Johnson, Jack Benefiel, Virgil Earl, athletic director, Professor E. C. Howe, Dean Bovard, Dr. Del Stannard, member of the executive council, Randall Jones, president of the student body, and members of the sports writers association and the finance committee, will attend. Mr. Walker will be toastmaster. Among the speakers will be Virgil Earl, Coach Reinhardt, and several players. Dick Lyman and Ken Stephenson are in charge of the banquet.

Successful Season Ended

Oregon has just finished its most successful season in many years. Although the Webfooters lost the third and deciding game to the Aggies, Monday night at Salem for the championship of the northern section of the Pacific coast conference, they have made a remarkable record for a squad composed almost entirely of sophomores, and the banquet is to prove to the coach and the players that the school is behind them.

After the banquet, those in attendance will be guests of W. B. McDonald, manager of the Heilig, at a theatre party.

Players to Attend

The players who will attend are: Howard Hobson, Roy Okerberg, Swede Westergren, Chuck Jost, Russ Gowans, Ted Gillenwaters, Jerry Gunther, Nick Carter, Frank Reinhardt, Earl Chiles, Pat Hughes, Parley Stoddard, Harold Llewellyn and Louie Anderson.

Dick Lyman, basketball manager; Ed Tapfer, Vic Risley, and Ken Stephenson, members of the finance committee of the executive council, will also attend. The sports writers association will be represented by George Godfrey, president; and Sam Wilderman, treasurer.

STUDENTS CO-WORKERS WITH CHURCH DESIGN

Several students and instructors of the University are credited by W. R. B. Wilcox, architect of the First Congregational church, in having contributed a large part to the interior art decorations of the building.

Mr. Hafen, instructor in the department of fine arts, acted as director of color, assisted by Mr. York, former student of the department of architecture, as clerk of works.

Miss Avakian, instructor in the department of normal arts, with Miss Keeney, Messrs. Baird, Brooks, Chaffee, Hanson, Hayden, Roehr, Thompson, and Wagner of the school of architecture, and Mr. Borep of the school of business administration, did most of the actual work in painting the stencil decorations on the church ceiling.

W.A.A. WILL BANQUET FIRST TEAMS SUNDAY

The Women's Athletic association annual banquet for the members of the various first teams of the class sports will be held at the College Side Inn Sunday at 6:30 p. m., according to Janet Wood, chairman of the affair.

The teams that will be present include volleyball, basketball and swimming, which will come as a culmination of the fall sports. At this time the all-star teams in these sports will be announced.

Botany Students To Try to Define Lamb-tongue Areas

The distribution in the state of Oregon of the flower popularly known as the lamb tongue, is the subject of an experiment being worked out by students in the botany department, under the direction of Professor A. R. Sweetser.

It has been found that in various parts of the state the flower is a different color. On the coast it is red, in southern Oregon it is purple, the Willamette valley specimen is cream colored, and that of eastern Oregon is a bright yellow.

The purple variety was discovered on the Ashland normal school campus by Louis Henderson, research worker. He sent a specimen to the Harvard herbarium, where it received the name of Frythronium hendersonii.

The students are endeavoring to find the lines of separation of the areas in which the different varieties grow, by sending mailing cases for specimens to interested parties in the different sections of the state.

NEW Y.M.C.A. OFFICERS TO BE ELECTED TODAY

Voters May Cast Ballots Between 10 and 4:30

The annual election of officers for the University of Oregon Y. M. C. A. will be held today in the "Y" hut. Students may cast their votes any time between 10 o'clock in the morning and 4:30 this afternoon.

The following men have been nominated: President, Bart Kendall and Oscar McKinney; vice-president, Ronald Beattie; treasurer, Wilford Long; secretary, Ralph Highmiller and Kirk Bollinger.

The men elected will assume their office at the beginning of the next term, and will select the other members of the new cabinet, about 15 in all. The cabinet members head the various departments of the association.

The old cabinet will meet with the new members until the work is under way.

OREGON MAN INVENTS NEW EASEL-PALETTE

An artist's portable easel and palette combined has been devised by an instructor in the department of allied arts and architecture, V. O. Hafen. Although he made his first one several years ago while making a bicycle tour through France to Italy, he has constructed different ones since then, improving and enlarging them.

They resembled the regular lap boxes used by artists in sketching landscapes, except for the fact that they can be worn about the neck by means of a strap fastened to the outside of the box in such a way as to balance it. This enables the painter to stand up or walk about while he works, without fear of the box slipping or jarring.

There are two boxes, the smallest of which is nine by eleven inches, and the largest twelve by sixteen inches. They can be made like walnut or mahogany, and covered with veneer. At one end they contain from two to six canvases which slip into separate grooves, and at the other end is a compartment for brushes and paints.

In the bottom of the box between the canvas and the supply compartment the paints can be mixed. The cover which holds the canvases in their grooves is on hinges and raises up on end when opened. When closed it is clamped into place by hooks, keeping the materials within neatly intact. The strap can then be slipped over one shoulder and used as a handle for carrying the box like a camera.

EDITORS COMING THIS WEEK-END

Plans for Seventh Annual Newspaper Conference Definitely Drawn Up

MEET TO LAST TWO DAYS

All Manner of Journalists Invited to Attend Talks By Various Authorities

The seventh annual newspaper conference will be held under the auspices of the University of Oregon school of journalism Friday and Saturday of this week. The Pacific Northwest Circulation Managers' association will also meet here on those two days.

The circulation managers will hold a joint session with the editors Friday morning and early in the afternoon, and then the association will adjourn to a separate meeting.

Publishers, editors, advertising men, circulation managers, journalists, writers and printers will attend the meetings.

Nash to Speak

John Henry Nash, of San Francisco, one of the greatest printers of modern times, will speak in Guild theatre Saturday morning at a joint session of the editors and the Ben Franklin club of the Willamette valley. All those interested in the work of Mr. Nash will be allowed to attend the meeting.

Hal E. Hoss, president of the State Editorial association, will open the meeting at 9:30 a. m. Friday in the journalism building. The following are subjects and speakers: "The Legislature in Action," a report of the association legislative committee, Gordon J. Taylor of the Molalla Pioneer; discussion by E. A. Koen, publisher the Oregon City Courier; "The 1925 Convention at Grants Pass," A. E. Voorhes, publisher of the Rogue River Courier, Grants Pass; "The Pacific Coast Conference in April," Joe D. Thompson, editor of the Hood River Glacier and Arne G. Rae, editor of the Tillamook Herald; "Why Not a Field Secretary," discussion by members of the association. At 11 o'clock the association will adjourn to the newspaper conference.

Program is Arranged

The editors will meet jointly with the circulation managers, to hear the talk on "Editorial and Circulation Problems—What the Circulation Men Have Discovered About Newspaper Readers," by W. D. Lyness, circulation manager of the Tacoma Tribune. This discussion will be continued in the afternoon and Mr. Voorhes will lead the discussion for the editors.

The remainder of Friday's program follows:

"Reaching the Reader in the Country Field," Earl C. Brownlee, editor the Washington County News-Times of Forest Grove; "Quality Rather Than Quantity Circulation," George K. Aiken, publisher the Ontario Argus; "Circulation Contests—Some Recent Experiences," Paul R. Kelly, editor the Eugene Guard; "A Good School Page as a Circulation Builder," W. Arthur Steels, publisher the Clatskanie Chief; "The Foreign Advertising Problem," Ralph E. Morrison, business manager the Western Farmer; "Building Your Newspaper's National Advertising," Walter Burn, Pacific coast manager, advertising bureau, American Newspaper Publishers' association; "Passing the Question Box on Advertising Problems," J. A. Davidson, the Oregonian.

Those wishing to do so may visit the new auditorium of the school of music. John Stark Evans will entertain the newspapermen with several selections on the new pipe organ.

The Trade and Class Journal association will meet with the conference Friday afternoon. The clients of the United Press will meet with Reuel S. Moore, Pacific northwest manager, and the Associated Press members will meet with E. F. Nelson, Portland manager.

The Saturday morning program of the Trade and Class Journal association follows:

Round table discussion on Mr. Morrison's talk of Friday afternoon; "Cooperation With the Advertising Agency," George F. Corn-
