

JONAH B. WISE TO SPEAK TODAY

Jewish Religious Leader Scheduled for Address Before Weekly Assembly

SPEAKER CAMPUS FRIEND

"Some Creative Things and Their Evidences" Will Be Subject of Speech

Rabbi Jonah B. Wise, of the Jewish synagogue, Temple of Beth Israel in Portland, comes to the campus today as an old friend, to give the address at the last assembly of this term. "Some Creative Things and Their Evidences" is the topic on which Rabbi Wise will speak.

Rabbi Wise is considered a liberal-minded man and a scholar by those who are familiar with his work. After his graduation from the Hebrew Union college at Cincinnati, Rabbi Wise went abroad to study at the University of Berlin and the University of Berne, Switzerland, and his manner reflects the charm of the old world spirit.

Has Large Congregation

Since 1910, Rabbi Wise has had charge of the largest synagogue in the state and has taken great interest in social and educational movements in Oregon. He has been a member of the board of higher curricula of the state of Oregon for many years.

Rabbi Wise is said to possess a very fine library in which are found some interesting old manuscripts, some of which have been handed down for many years in his own family. The thing which has made him so well-liked throughout the state, however, is the fact that he is a student of his fellow man as well as of books, and he possesses that mellowness of spirit which comes from a comprehension of both. His inimitable wit and charming personality have made him especially popular as a public speaker.

Rabbi Wise is editor of the Jewish publication "The Scribe," published in Portland. He is also national president of the organization, B'nai B'rith.

Mr. Demarest to Sing

Appearing on today's program as soloist is Mr. Agnew Demarest, who will sing "The Lord is My Light," by Frances Allippen. Mr. Demarest, who with his wife has been conducting religious services in Eugene, is said to be a descendant of both Lewis and Clark, early American explorers in the Oregon country.

During his stay on the campus, Rabbi Wise will be the guest of Dr. E. S. Conklin. Last night he spoke at Alumni hall as one of a series of lectures given, on religion.

"THE RAGGEDY MAN" RAGGEDLY GIVEN BY GUILD HALL ACTORS

By Leon Byrne

"A somewhat raggedy piece of dramatic construction" is the label applied to "The Raggedy Man," three act vehicle (accent on the second syllable) being presented at Guild hall Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week, under the direction of Fergus Reddie. The bill of fare should read, "A ragged piece of dramatic construction raggedly presented."

Thirty-three persons appeared on the stage in the first performance of Mr. Reddie's own masterpiece last night—three more than there were in the audience. Perhaps that explains the insufficiency of last night's show: it is impossible to play up to an empty house.

The one bright spot in "The Raggedy Man" is the marvelous acting done by Charlotte Banfield, in whose honor the production is being staged, in the part of Grandmother Squeers. Miss Banfield "does the honors" for the whole

Jaunts to Salem For Game Result In Colds on Campus

Monday night's jaunt to Salem to see the game didn't do a lot in the way of curing colds, the authorities at the dispensary say. In most cases the students making the trip were not wrapped up warmly enough, got cold or wet, and then lost a lot of sleep. The result is that more people than usual with colds are coming to the dispensary for treatment. Several aggravated cases are in the infirmary, although they are not of a serious nature.

Dr. S. N. Miller's cautions at present is that the people in rundown conditions and those with low vitality get enough sleep. With examinations coming there is a tendency to stay up late working on term papers or reviewing.

"Most of the students come in and complain about feeling dull," said Dr. Miller. "Well, I don't wonder. It's almost as hard on you physically as mentally to do a whole term's work in one night."

TRADE JOURNALISTS WILL ATTEND SESSION

Association Will Meet In Conference Friday

The Trade Journal association will be well represented at the seventh annual Oregon Newspaper Conference to be held on the campus, Friday and Saturday, March 13 and 14.

Some of the prominent trade journalists who will attend are: Ralph E. Morrison, manager Western Farmer; George N. Angell of the editorial staff of Oregon Farmer; Stephen Hart, manager Commercial Review; Curtis Beach, assistant editor Pacific Northwest Hotel News; Jerrold Owen, manager Better Fruit and Pacific Legion; George F. Cornwall, assistant editor The Timberman; W. C. Kaley, business manager of Oregon Voter; Louis Sondheim, publisher Northwest Insurance News; John P. O'Hara, editor Catholic Sentinel, all of Portland, and others.

The program of the Trade and Class Journal association to be held in the school of journalism, Saturday morning follows: Round table discussion on Mr. Morrison's talk of Friday afternoon; "Cooperation With the Advertising Agency," George F. Cornwall; "Economies in Office and Printing," F. H. Young, and "Fidelity to the Subscriber," Jerrold Owen.

The Trade and Class Journal association will meet jointly with the conference Friday afternoon.

NOTED SPEAKER IS HERE TODAY

College Students Will Hear Mrs. Demarest Talk This Afternoon in Villard Hall

CAMPUS PEOPLE INVITED

Revivalist is Descendant of General William Booth, Salvation Army Founder

Mrs. Victoria Booth-Clibborn Demarest, noted evangelist now giving a series of revival sermons in Eugene, will give a special lecture to campus people this afternoon at 4 o'clock in Villard hall. She will speak on the topic, "The Glory of Youth."

Mrs. Demarest was born in Paris where she lived the early part of her life. She speaks French as fluently as English. Her parents and grandparents were religious leaders in both Europe and America, her grandfather, General William Booth, having started the Salvation Army.

As an evangelist, Mrs. Demarest is different from most revivalists. She speaks quietly to her audience but in such an earnest and sincere manner that thousands are drawn to the auditorium in which she appears. The Eugene armory is filled daily when she gives her addresses, business men, townspeople and students flocking to hear her.

Lecture not Revival Talk

The address today will not be of a revival nature but will be a lecture to University students on some of the vital religious questions they face. As many students as can possibly come should hear the talk, said Henry W. Davis, head of the University United Christian work, under whose auspices the lecture is being arranged.

This will probably be the only time that the woman evangelist will appear on the campus as her series of addresses in Eugene will be over before the next term begins. She will speak on the problems of youth with a distinctly University point of view.

Meeting Interdenominational

The evangelist is not only a revivalist but a vocal soloist as well and she will probably sing at the lecture this afternoon. Her downtown audiences have been charmed by her vocal selections, given in English and French, according to Mr. Davis. Both men and women are asked to come to hear Mrs. Demarest. The meeting will be entirely interdenominational.

VARSITY RIFLE TEAMS TO HAVE FINAL MEETS

The men's rifle team will shoot its last match of the year this week against Pomona college, Washington State college, University of West Virginia, and Northwestern university. The team will consist of fifteen men shooting ten shots each from four positions, the ten highest scores to count.

The girl's team will also shoot its final match this week against Washington State college and Utah Agricultural college. The team will consist of fifteen girls, shooting ten shots each from the prone position, the ten highest scores to count.

The team fired against the Rhode Island State college and the University of Cincinnati last week. Scores from these schools have not yet been received. The Oregon score was 3216, the ten highest scores being counted. Shooting was from the prone, sitting, kneeling, and standing positions.

The individual scores made by the team were: Neidermeyer, 334; Peterson, 331; Harrison, 330; Kidwell, 324; Taylor, 320; Watrous, 318; Williams, 317; Van Atta, 317; Burlingham, 313; Brown, 312.

Annual Election Of W. A. A. Officers To Be Held Today

Annual election of the Women's Athletic association officers for the coming year will be held today. Polls will be open in the entrance of the library from 10 o'clock until 3.

Those aspiring for office are: President, Janet Woods, vice-president, Alta Knips and Ruth McGregor; secretary, Katherine Reade and Kathryn Ulrich; treasurer, Irva Dale, Ruth Nelson, Regina Devault.

It has been announced that the annual convention this year will be held at the southern branch to the University of California, Los Angeles on April 9, 10 and 11. Retiring president and newly-elected president will attend.

SENIORS WILL STAGE LEAP WEEK IN APRIL

Fourth Year Women to Get Chance April 1 to 4

Senior Leap Week will be held the first week of spring term, April 1 to 4, it was decided yesterday afternoon at a meeting of the senior class in Commerce hall.

Hilda Chase was appointed by Ted Gillenwaters, president of the class, to head the committee in charge of the leap week activities. She will be assisted by Penelope Gehl, Claudia Broders and Gertrude Butler. Senior Leap Week is a traditional affair, the women of the class taking over the date-making privileges for the week.

As a climax to Leap Week the seniors will hold a class picnic at the Coburg bridge, Saturday, April 4. This date is dependent on the condition of the weather at the time.

The committee for the picnic is headed by Gordon Wilson. Other members of the committee are: Willard Marshall, Margaret McCabe, Martha Shull, Cleo Base, Margaret McGowan, Don Peake and Jens Terjeson.

The class also voted to contribute 25 cents apiece to help pay expenses for Junior Week End.

CO-EDS INTERESTED MAY RIDE FOR CREDIT

It will be of particular interest to the many co-eds interested in horseback riding to find that the sport will be from now on under the jurisdiction of the Women's athletic association, and a new feature of the annual field day will be some demonstration work in riding. Squads will be chosen from the four classes and they will compete in the events.

Although the program has not been completely worked out the following will possibly comprise the competition. Saddling, bridling, correct mounting and riding a horse at a brisk trot, to a designated distance, and dismounting in correct form.

Other parts of the demonstration will be the correct management of a horse and general good form in riding in all gaits, hurdlings, stunts, and perhaps wheeling.

Full credit will be given, the lessons consisting of 12 lessons of two hours each. The fee is $15 a term.

For the benefit of the girls who already know how to ride and are interested in the field day, but do not want to take it the full time for credit, a provision is made where a girl is eligible for a squad if they pay $5, and take five rides under Mr. Bangs instruction.

DR. K. YOUNG WILL TEACH IN COLORADO THIS SUMMER

Dr. Kimball Young, of the psychology department, received a telegram yesterday morning from the State Teacher's college at Greeley, Colorado, accepting his application to teach there during the coming summer session. Dr. Young will teach elementary psychology, psychology of learning, and vocational psychology, and will continue his research work.

BASKETBALL MEN FETED AT PARTY

Team Lauded for Brilliant Record Made During Past Season; Spirit is Praised

HOOP COURT DISCUSSED

Dean Walker and Reinhart Speakers; Entire Group Heilig Theatre Guests

The 1925 basketball season came to a glorious close last night when the members of the team, Coach Billy Reinhart, and representatives of the student body, the University administration, and sports writers were banqueted at the Osburn.

Following the formal food consumption, Dean Walker, student advisor, who presided, congratulated the team on the remarkably successful season. Coach Billy Reinhart responded on behalf of the squad, and commended the men on the spirit shown during the strenuous season. Hobson and Gowans, forwards, gave short talks. Gowans, who has completed his third season, was speaking for the last time as an active member of the team. The rest of the men will be back next year.

Pavilion is Discussed

Ed Tapfer, chairman of the basketball pavilion committee, told of the work of the committee so far, and said that every effort would be put forth to have a fitting place for games next year. Present plans are to have a building with a floor space of 130 by 180 feet, with seating accommodations for 5,000. Virgil Earl, director of athletics, spoke in favor of the pavilion, and urged that every man support the project.

Dick Smith, football coach, commended the basketball team very highly for the spirit displayed during the past season, and emphatically declared that the spirit had come to stay. "If every form of athletics is given the same whole-hearted response, and the same support by the participating athletes, Oregon will have a string of championships," he stated. Bill Hayward, track coach voiced the same sentiments, and urged the men to keep the Oregon spirit in athletics in mind at all times.

Scholarship is Stressed

In his final talk to the men, Dean Walker urged that scholarship be stressed and kept up at all times, and he also dwelt on the importance of interesting prospective athletes in Oregon.

The affair ended with a theatre party at the Heilig, where the entire squad viewed the varied entertainment from the front row. The actors "played up" to the athletes, and one of the Oregon basketballers actually assisted in the general fun.

UNIVERSITY HIGH RADIO HAS RECENT ADDITION

The University high school radio, under construction by the physics class, has had a recent addition in a Tungar Rectifier for recharging A. and B. batteries. This is the latest work of E. R. Means, the science instructor.

He also reports that books on radio communication have arrived and for the rest of the term, part of the class will go ahead on a mathematical study of radio, while the others will continue with conventional physics.

The building of the radio was a practical problem assigned the students last term.

Three Star Teams Will Be Announced At W.A.A. Banquet

All-star teams in basketball, volley ball and swimming, will be announced at the Women's Athletic association banquet, to be given at 6:30 Sunday evening at the College Side Inn, according to Janet Wood, chairman of the committee in charge.

Toasts will be given by Miss Florence Alden, Miss Barbara Page and Miss Josephine Shelley, of the women's physical education faculty, and by the captains of the three winning teams. Maude Schroeder, president of W. A. A., will act as toast-mistress.

Plans for the banquet, which marks the close of the season, are being worked out by the Order of the "O" girls. Members of the first teams in each of the three sports, the executive council of W. A. A., and members of the physical education faculty, will be present.

'JUDAISM' TOPIC OF JONAH B. WISE TALK

Causes of Differentiation of Hebrew Race Given

Jonah B. Wise, noted Hebrew religious lecturer and student, in an address before a large group of students and faculty members in Alumni hall last night, explained the origin and growth of the principle that constituted the subject of his discourse, "Judaism."

"The beginning of Judaism," said Rabbi Wise, "was the viewing of human problems from the standpoint of the group instead of the individual. Different from contemporaries and all peoples since, the genius of the Jews exhibited itself in fumbling and groping—and out of this fumbling and groping was produced the Bible, which is a combination of all types of effort and thinking."

"The term 'chosen people' does not mean that the Jews were chosen for special favors but for the responsibilities for which, by their adherence to an ethical program, they were fitted. The entire Bible is built around an idea of human election."

Mr. Wise accounted for the differentiation of the Jewish race.

"Palestine was a buffer country between the growing countries in Asia and those in Africa, which were constantly in conflict with each other. Through many successive invasions the country was impoverished. Out of poverty two things can come, a remarkable hardihood or a pitiful acceptance of the condition. From the poverty of the Jews there developed a remarkable hardihood," he said.

The hardiness of the Jews combined with their intense religious views resulted in the impregnation of the religions of the millions of Europe and Asia with an appreciable coloring of the Jewish faith. All attempts to nationalize the Jews have failed because the race, in view of their ethical program, is incapable of national consciousness. Their ethical creed has made them unique among the nations of the world, according to the rabbi.

CRAFTSMEN CHOOSE OFFICERS FOR YEAR

John MacGregor, graduate student in the law school, was elected to succeed himself as president of the Craftsmen club, University organization of Masons, at the annual election of officers held last night at the club house. Mr. MacGregor was one of the founders of the club and was a member of the committee which secured from the Grand Lodge of Oregon funds for the present home of the organization. Jerry Crary also was re-elected as secretary.

Other officers elected were, Alfred Lomax, vice-president; Ray Voegtly, treasurer; Bruce Curry, tiler; and Professor Frederick Dunn, member of the executive committee.

DRIVE PLANNED FOR ART MUSEUM

Committee Reorganized for New Campaign to Secure Funds for Big Building

COUNTY PLAN ADOPTED

Girls of Campus Will Cover Entire State in Effort to Finance New Structure

Plans for a $300,000 Art Museum student campaign are being made this week by the women of the University, according to an announcement from the central committee in charge of the drive today. The drive will be state-wide and will be attacked on the county basis.

The art museum will be erected on the east side of Memorial court opposite the library in the proposed campus plan to house the Mary Warner and other collections.

Mrs. George T. Gerlinger, Dean Virginia Judy Esterly and Miss Georgia Benson compose the central committee and have charge of the drive on the campus. The student campaign was started last fall, but it has been found necessary to reorganize the work.

Will Cover Counties

It was originally planned to base the drive on the city plan, centralizing the committee work in towns and cities throughout the state. This plan has been abandoned for one covering the counties and the committee appointed at that time has been disbanded. Under the present plan chairmen will be in charge of their respective counties and will have under their direction subordinate committees.

"In this manner the whole state will be covered through girls on the campus," said Miss Benson, in announcing the campaign. "People will be asked for pledges in one of three ways: donation of money, sponsoring social affairs or donations for the bazaar."

At a meeting of the committees at 5 o'clock tomorrow in room 107 Architecture building, Mrs. Gerlinger will speak on plans for the campaign. Dean Esterly will preside at the meeting and urges all committee chairmen and members of committees who have been reached by them to attend, whether their names appear in the list following or not.

Name Committee Members

The following have been named to carry on the campaign: Mildred Nichol, Mildred Berkeley, Wilhelmine Daniels, Harriett Baldwin, Lilly Mae Gilliam, Mary Morrison, Catherine Barnard, Olive Mark, Florence Heater, Ann Mylne, Alberta Carson, Bernice Bennett, Zada Pierce, Ruth Miller, Mary Elizabeth Smith, Rhona Williams, Ruth Melsome, Frances Sanford, Gwendolyn Powell, Merle Oliver, Dorothy Koepke, Katherine Van Deller, Yvonne Smith, Esther Davis, Clara Ellis, Lenore Miller, Iona Leishman, Beatrice Loening, Thelma Riley, Myra Belle Palmer, Rose Cohen, Elsie Balt, Olga Jackson, (Continued on page four)

TRIP OF ORCHESTRA AND GLEE CLUB POSTPONED

The glee club and orchestra spring vacation trip has been postponed due to conflicting engagements in Portland. James Leake, manager of the trip, has been advised by Stears and Coman Co. to set another date for the concert, as Jeritza, the famous singer, will appear in Portland at that time. The majority of the people who would attend the University of Oregon concert have already purchased tickets to hear Jeritza, and have expressed keen disappointment on being unable to attend the college musical.

Already plans are under way for the glee club to appear in Salem and Albany on the evenings of April 23 and 24. At the same time, the orchestra will play in Astoria and St. Helens. On April 25 they will give a joint concert in Portland.
