

SATURDAY MEET NOT TO BE HELD

Examinations Interfere With Track Work

STANFORD EVENT APR. 11

Lemon Yellow Has Good Cinder Aggregation

The ever present bugbear of grades decided Bill Hayward to let his track men go without the inter-class meet this Saturday as scheduled at the beginning of the term. There is a possibility that some are on the ragged edge so Bill has let them quit track work until exams are over.

Spring vacation is going to be the big training time for aspirants for the team. All the men who know or think they have a chance should keep on coming out. Bill leaves it up to the men to determine who will stay over and train. He has no list of men—those who have been turning out know whether they have a chance or not and it is those men he wants to stay. Organized workouts will be held for all aspirants. Directly after exams the men out for varsity are expected to begin their work.

First Meet With Stanford

The team leaves for the first meet of the season with Stanford at Palo Alto on April 11, some time the first of the week, or about April 8. Bill will take at least 16 men down south. The plans now arranged allow for two, or three days of work on the southern track before the meet.

The Oregon team promises to be a well balanced aggregation which should offer some good competition in the south. Working under the great disadvantage of climate the Stanford meet is apt to be the hardest one of the schedule.

The team has been getting into shape as well as could be expected. The weather has just lately swung around to the right temperature for track work. Intensive training will begin at the first of next term and an elimination meet will probably be staged the first week end of next term.

Eliminations not Made

The prospects of the team are in doubt at present. After the final counting of noses and the elimination of the men who have flunked, the strength of the team can be better estimated.

Hayward cautions the men to report this vacation if they think they have a chance, to pass all their hours and to be ready to work next term. Regular workouts have stopped.

TEACHING POSITIONS WILL BE FILLED SOON

Students who desire teaching positions for the coming year are being urged by the appointment bureau to place their applications immediately.

Openings are being received every day, and at present, the bureau has more than 40 openings. Unless the students send in their applications soon, they may not get positions. Most openings are filled in March and April.

As a word to the professors, the bureau declares that it is necessary that the recommendations be sent in at once, since it is impossible for the applications to be sent without them.

Two openings for people who are capable of teaching stenography and typing are available, and one for grammar school, also.

NOMINATIONS COMMITTEE NAMED BY LEAGUE HEAD

A committee has been appointed by Winifred Graham, president of the Women's League, to present names of likely candidates for office for the coming year, at the next regular meeting of the League. Members of this committee are: Mary Jane Hathaway, chairman; Mary Clerin, Jeanne Gay, Mary Bartholomew, and Edwina Richen. A regular mass meeting will be held, April 2, the first Thursday after the opening of spring term. Nominations will be presented at this time.

Basketball Team Makes Envious Season Record; Credit Given Reinhart

(Continued from page one) and showed plainly that it was still in the running, by defeating the Oregon Aggies, 22 to 19 at Corvallis. The team earned considerable praise as the result of the perfect-brand of basketball played in defeating the Beavers.

Although the Lemon Yellow defeated W. S. C. by but a four point margin, the team plainly displayed their superiority of team work over the Cougar five. The Oregon five won 30 to 24.

Idaho, the team that defeated Washington twice, was the next victim of the Oregon quintet, the varsity winning by the safe margin of 43-35.

Score on Home Floor

In the final scheduled game on the home floor, Oregon dropped a hard-fought encounter to the Beavers by a four point margin, 34-30. Loose checking in the first three minutes of the game cost the Lemon Yellow possible victory—for the Aggie five ran up a ten point lead in this short period, a margin that the varsity was unable to overcome.

On the northern trip, due to the strenuous games to be played with hardly no rest, Coach Reinhart sent his second team over to Whitman, but the "seconds" were hardly able to beat Coach Borleske's first team, losing by a 18 to 12 score.

As the result of a brilliant drive, the varsity turned the trick, winning from three of the strongest teams in the conference in rapid succession. Washington State went down before the Lemon Yellow onslaught, 43 to 16.

Win on "Nerve" Alone

In the second game of the "road series," with three regulars badly injured and playing on "nerve" alone, the varsity defeated Idaho, 26 to 24, in one of the most thrilling games of the year.

By defeating Washington 36 to 25, Oregon earned the right to again play O. A. C. to decide the winner of the northern section of the Pacific Coast conference.

The results of the three game series recently played between Oregon and O. A. C. for the championship is too fresh in the minds of Oregon fans to need further explanation.

The results of the three game series was as follows: At Eugene, O. A. C. defeated Oregon, 15-12. At Corvallis, Oregon won from the Aggies, 23 to 21. At Salem, the Beavers barely won 27 to 26.

Looking back on the past season, there is one man that justly deserves the lion's share of credit for their successful record of the Oregon quantet. This man has rightly earned the name as the northwest's greatest basketball strategist—Coach Billy Reinhart.

OBAB'S FINALS

Great activity prevails as finals for Obak's College approach. The great hall is filled with earnest, eager hard-working students, intent upon cramming one last bit of 'pool' before taking the big test of the quarter.

The final in Billiards will come on Tuesday morning at 8:30, with over four hundred students taking the examination. Questions will be asked on the fundamentals of course as well as the finer points and ethics of the subject.

Rotation and Snooker quizzes will be held Tuesday afternoon while bottle pool and 'straight' classes will show their stuff on Wednesday morning.

"There seems to be a higher standard of intelligence this quarter," remarked Dean Wallace, when interviewed this morning; "they seem to grasp the subject from the first and the technique, on the whole, is far better than last year."

At present Jim Scriptures, Rex Adolph, York Herron and Harold Geedecke are among the promising aspirants for the Obak's pool scholarship of $2000.00, which enables deserving billiard artists to study under Hoppe, Shaeffer and the noted masters.

KAMPUS KOLLUM

(By E. R. W.)

We suggest that Borleske invest his "earnings" in a farm, and settle down. Farming may not be as lucrative as refereeing one-sided basketball games, but it has not as dangerous after-effects. After he is through with the coast conference, he out to be able to retire.

Come on girls, let's shown your Oregon supporters.

There has been a great deal of controversy on the campus concerning Mr. Reddie's new play, "The Raggedy Man." At last Obak's campus dramatic critic has seen the masterpiece. The writer's candid opinion is that the play is — Of course this opinion was the result of careful deliberation, and thorough reviewing.

No man is a hero to his own room-mate.

There is a spirited race on between the Chi Omegas and the Deltas to see who will take the bottom of the grade list. It has been rumored that the loser has to give the winner a picnic next quarter.

Lois Pixley is rolling—in wealth. When interviewed by Obak's campus reporter she said, "I am not large. I am just a nice arm-full."
