

OREGON STUDENT SELLS 13 MAGAZINE ARTICLES

Author Enrolled in Portland Extension Division

Mrs. Ethel Romig Fuller, a member of Professor Alfred Powers' feature writing class in the Portland center of the extension division, sold thirteen articles to trade and class magazines in the winter term. Before entering Professor Powers' class Mrs. Fuller had never sold a story, but some of her poetry had appeared in the columns of the large Portland daily papers.

Mrs. Fuller was just a housewife. She entered the class because she was interested in feature writing. Her writings were not limited to any special field. In fact, her articles covered everything from religion and good house keeping, to children.

"Aircraft Courses in Colleges" was the title of an article she sold to the U. S. government air service. The information for this article came from governmental reports and college catalogues.

"Childhood Toys of the Great" was the title of an article she sold to Toy Manufacturer. This information she obtained by reading through the biographies of great men. "Religious Education in Oregon" and "Peacock Farming at Newberg" were among the others sold.

The work on these stories was done during her spare time. Despite the fact that the course is not being given this term, Mrs. Fuller is continuing with her writing.

MU PHI PLAN OPERATIC PROGRAM FOR CONCERT

Madame McGrew in Charge Of Presentation

Mu Phi Epsilon, national musical fraternity for women, will present a program of operatic music as the fourth number in its series of concerts, Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the school of music auditorium. Madame Rose McGrew has charge of the program and is being assisted by Esther Church. For those not possessing a season ticket there will be a small charge of 35 cents for townspeople and 25 cents for students.

Each number will be a strictly operatic selection and will be introduced by Madame McGrew. There will be selections from the following operas: "The Valkyrie," "Martha," "Jewels of the Madonna," "Thais," "Manon," "Boheme," and "Tannhauser." Included in this list will be a piano solo, selections from a small orchestra, a stringed trio, cello solo and several vocal solos rendered by the most prominent musicians on the campus. For lovers of good music this program should not be overlooked.

There will be six concerts in the series sponsored by Mu Phi Epsilon. The next concert will be an orchestra program, under the direction of Rex Underwood, and will take place in the near future. The complete program for Sunday's concert will be announced tomorrow.

TODAY LATEST DATE FOR VODVIL TRY-OUTS

Today is the final day for try-outs for Junior Vodvil, according to Paul Krausse, chairman for Vodvil.

Any persons who have worked out acts, but have not listed them, or had them tried out yet, must do so not later than this afternoon; for all acts submitted after that time will not be accepted.

Krausse, who has been holding daily try-outs, will be at the College Side Inn at 4 o'clock this afternoon; and all who wish to try-out acts must appear at that time, provided they have not already done so. Rehearsals will begin on Monday, April 20, and announcement of the acts which will be presented at Vodvil will also be made on that day.

CASTILIAN EXHIBIT SHOWN TO CAMPUS SPANISH CLUB

A collection of Spanish articles owned by Anna M. Thompson, instructor in the romance language department, were shown before a meeting of the members of El Circulo Castellano, Spanish club of the campus. The meeting was held Wednesday night, at the bungalow. Linen, embroidered and crocheted, was part of the collection. A pair of wooden shoes, very much unlike those of Holland, is owned by Miss Thompson. Miss Thompson explained the articles, in Spanish.

Geology Students Hold Installation At Osborn Hotel

Mercuric wit, as brilliant as the decorative minerals, flashed last night at the annual banquet of Condon club. The geologists installed the incoming officers of the club with much humorous ceremony at the Osborn hotel.

Dr. Earl L. Packard, of the geology department, presided as genial toast-master. The outgoing officers and the incoming officers were called upon to deliver after-dinner orations.

Eugene Callaghan, president; Alex Shipe, vice-president; Howard Powers, secretary; and Ralph Tuck, treasurer were installed.

The decorations carried out a mineral scheme. Glittering pieces of metal were attached to the place cards. The color scheme of red and white prevailed.

3. Violin solo, "Hejre Kati" by Hubay, played by Miss Alberta Potter.

4. "Two Slavonic Dances" by Dvorak, is rendered by the orchestra. It brings to play every instrument and is among the best examples of Slavie music.

5. "Love's Dream" by Czibulka is an old waltz which was popular years ago. It is particularly dreamy and is used with the stringed orchestra. "Serenata" by Moszkowski. March. From Nutcracker Suite by Tchaikowski.

6. Violin solo. "Serenade Espagnole" by Glazounow. "Harlequin" by Popper. Miss Lora Teshner.

7. "Second Hungarian Rhapsody" by Liszt. The orchestration of this number is the most popular of Liszt's rhapsodys and is one of the most brilliant and effective concert numbers.

RADIO FANS TO HEAR DEBATE COACH TALK

Speaker's Point of View Subject of Rosson

For the first time in the history of the University extension division's radio lecture service, fans in radio land will have an opportunity of looking in behind the scenes as it were, of a radio studio. For three years the listeners have heard lectures on timely topics ranging from Coueism to the fall of the cross word puzzle; but next Friday evening they will have an opportunity to look behind the microphone and get the speaker's point of view.

Professor Hugh E. Rosson, member of the faculty of the written and spoken English department and debate coach, is going to tell the radio fans about the speaker's side of the microphone. As an expert on public speaking he contends that the radio has been a benefit to public speakers. He will show how the radio has emphasized the modern speaker's point of view of informality.

Professor Rosson is a man of no little experience in radio broadcasting. Last year he successfully coached the Oregon team into a victory, according to the overwhelming opinion of radio fans, over the University of California, and the early returns of this year's debate indicate that his success will be repeated.

During all this time he has made a personal study of speaking through the radio microphone. Indications are that he has something promising and interesting to tell the radio world.

Asters to Replace Bed of White Roses Behind Dormitory

Spring planting is in full swing on the campus. One hundred and fifty dahlias of every variety have been set out in the flower bed south of the household arts building. In a short time, asters now in the hotbeds, will be placed near the dahlias.

Professor A. R. Sweetser of the botany department has a small garden of wild flowers in this same plot, which he planted about a year ago.

All the roses on the campus were frozen to the ground during the extremely cold weather last winter, but most of them are rapidly putting forth a new growth. However, an old bed of white roses behind Friendly hall is to be removed, and the space filled with asters.

CLEANING OF CAMPUS BUILDINGS IS STARTED

The administration building is receiving its regular spring cleaning. Some difficulty has been encountered in washing the very high ceiling and tall pillars of the porch. The men have used extension ladders with success, however, and H. M. Fisher, superintendent of grounds, expects the work to be finished in two more days.

So far, all efforts to remove the peculiar brown stain on the east pillar of the porch have failed. The stain seems to come from the white cement holding the joints of the pillar together, and is underneath the glazing, Mr. Fisher believes. Muriatic acid did not affect the discoloring, so something else must be tried now.

The remainder of the work on the administration building will be done with a sling stage. In addition, several of the other buildings are to be washed down with a hose, although not cleaned as thoroughly

R. O. T. C. MARKSMEN RECEIVE SWEATERS

Sweaters which were won by ten men on the R. O. T. C. rifle team, for work in shooting during the winter term, were given out Monday afternoon, and have unofficially made their appearance on the campus. The date of the formal presentation has not been set, but will take place at one of the ceremonial drills later in the term, according to Captain J. T. Murray, coach.

Men who have received sweaters are: Con Watrous, John Neidermeyer, Carrol Williams, Eric Peterson, Stanley Copland, Wilmot Getty, Mark Taylor, Charles Burlingham, Will Kidwell and Robert Harrison.

The rifle team sweaters are with a coat effect similar to the varsity sweaters. On the left is a red, white and blue shield; a black bull's eye on the lower red and white striped background, with the letters "R. O. T. C." in the upper blue background.

Pins for the girls on the University women's rifle team have not as yet been received, but are expected at an early date.

BLEACHERS ARE REMOVED FROM ARMOBY FOR SEASON

Four men and a truck are engaged in moving the bleachers and other apparatus from the Armory to the football field for use during the baseball season. It is a very difficult job, and H. M. Fisher, superintendent of grounds, expects the work to take at least a day and a half.

DIRECTORATE FOR JUNIOR WEEK-END MEETS TODAY

All members of the directorate for Junior week-end are requested to attend a meeting which will be held in Condon hall at 5 o'clock Friday afternoon. As important business is to be discussed, all of the directorate members are urged to attend.

Obak Installs Pipe Course

Obaks College now offers to the university student a real PIPE COURSE. This is an extensive though thorough course in styles, shapes and colors. Some of the material to be used in the lab of this course has been imported from England and Italy.

The beauty of this course is that it is helpful to all students in their other University courses as who is not able to think better with one of the "College's" pipes in his mouth. All shades, men, and sizes galore. One of Obaks best models in his course is the 'Robin Hood.' The next time you go down to register in the College ask to see one of the newest things in PIPE COURSES.

Obaks has again broken into the society column and announces that a special lecture will be given every afternoon on how the Gamma Phi— we just can't seem to keep them

Say fellows—aren't there some real girls that live on this side of the Alleghany Mountains. There's some eighty different varieties here on an inspection tour, and the keenest one that the editor of this paper has seen is the one from Missouri. (You've got to show me.)

Talk about politics—that's all that can be heard around Obaks these days. If you want to know who the next president of the student body is going to be come down to Obaks this evening and get the "stuff."

The Greatest Historian Of Them All

Homer wove history into his songs. The Pharaohs carved it in stone. Julius Caesar painstakingly penned it on papyrus.

Today, history is written and given to you simultaneously with its occurrence. Every day, the important events of the world are summed up fully and comprehensively in your newspaper. You are able to keep abreast of history in its making.

And not the least important phase of modern history lies in the realm of industrial progress. You find this chronicled in the advertisements.

Advertising is a priceless boon to those who use it properly. It keeps their information up-to-date on the great variety of things that make life what it is today. It tells them of the thousand and one things they need in order to live profitable, happy and useful lives.

The consistent advertiser pays money to tell you about his wares. He knows they are good—he backs them with his money because he is confident that they will satisfy. For only merchandise that is consistently good can be consistently advertised.

KEEP UP WITH HISTORY—IT PAYS
