

STUDENT UNION DRIVE BEGINS NEXT THURSDAY

Haddon Rockhey Outlines History of Campaign

Next Monday morning, the first outward appearance of the Student Union drive will be visible to the campus when the little white shack which was the headquarters for last year's drive will be moved just over the parking strip in Kincaid field, to be the office for this year's drive.

Haddon Rockhey, chairman of the drive last year, spoke at the committee meeting yesterday and outlined a little of the history of the drive. The first money pledged to the Student Union was pledged by the senior class, who on the recommendation of John MacGregor, then president of the Associated Students, turned over all their funds for this purpose. Then last year, during the presidency of Claude Robinson, Rockhey was appointed chairman of the drive and it went over very successfully, $219,000 being pledged.

"The campus is getting so large that we are beginning to drift apart," said Rockhey, "and the Student Union is to draw us together. The challenge is up to this year's freshman class and to those who haven't pledged yet, for the work must go on."

The drive will start next Thursday, April 23, and continue until Saturday night, April 26. Three banquets have been planned to get all the committee, captains and team workers together, to straighten out problems and difficulties and to report the progress of the work. These have been set tentatively for Wednesday night before the drive begins, Friday night, and on Saturday night when the final quota has been pledged.

The work of picking the team captains, who will in turn pick their team workers, is progressing and will probably be completed at the next meeting of the committee.

on record as favoring better cooperation with the associated student bodies, which cooperation was believed to be secured by the president of the associated students sitting as a voting member on the student governing body.

Another resolution dealt with judicial powers, which it was resolved should rest with the student body, but cooperation with the administration should be sought at all times. The conference went on record as favoring a group system whereby all women are brought into definite organization.

Motions from the floor included one by the delegate from Stanford University, to the effect that the national association go on record as favoring the promulgation of world peace by the various universities. Another motion was passed to bring up the subject of student indifference to scholarship and academic attitude at the next sectional conference, discussing it at that time.

Various Problems Solved
Many questions which arise on the various campuses were asked, and answered by schools which seem to have solved that particular problem. Mills college reported that they used the "big sister" system, and find it very successful. Letters are sent during the summer to prospective freshmen, and to the junior women, asking what line of activity each is interested in, and what her major subject is to be. Each junior is then chosen for "big sister," according to congenial tastes.

This institution also was of the opinion that the best way to secure interest and enthusiasm in women's assemblies was to call a meeting of this kind only when there was a vital question to be discussed.

Following Conventions Planned
It was decided by a vote of 16 to 13 that University of Illinois would be the next hostess college for the national convention. This will take place in 1927. Officers of that school who are presiding at that time, will act as national officials. The western section will hold its next meeting at University of California, Southern Branch. Betty Hough, newly-elected president of that women's association, will be section president.

The mid-western convention next year will be held at Urbana, Illinois, on the campus of the University of Illinois. Huelda Davis, president of that association, will preside at the section conference.

"WE'LL HAVE CHERRY ANNE SPECIAL FOR SUNDAY

"Hot Dog! The house manager has ordered Cherry Anne special ice cream for Sunday. It's another one of those Fruit Growers' weekend favorites that get by so heavy at our house every Sunday. It comes in three-layer bricks and consists of maple, pineapple and cherry flavored ice cream. Gosh, I wish it was Sunday every day."
