

THREE JUDGES NAMED FOR WARNER CONTEST

Essays for Competition Due By May First

Judges for the Murray Warner essay contest were named at the meeting of the committee on awards Wednesday afternoon in the journalism building.

Essays of approximately five thousand words in length dealing with a topic tending to promote interest in good relations between the United States and the Orient are eligible for competition.

The Philo Sherman Bennett prize contest, carrying with it a $20 award, for the best paper on the principles of free government, is scheduled to close May 1.

Members of the committee on awards are George Turnbull, W. F. G. Thacher, John J. Landsbury, M. K. Cameron, A. E. Caswell.

TEXTBOOK WARFARE IS TOPIC OF DISCUSSION

"The Textbook War" is the title of a paper to be given at the regular meeting of the history club Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock by Oscar Winther, senior in history.

"The paper is to be a critical analysis of history text books," said Winther. "I wish to discuss the present day tendencies of the textbook movement and to throw some light upon the attempt of certain so-called 'patriotic societies' to carry on a crusade for the expurgation of history textbooks."

BRANIN TO REPRESENT KNIGHTS AT CORVALLIS

Parker Branin, Duke of the Oregon Knights, will leave Thursday for Corvallis where he will represent the local chapter at the national convention of the Inter-collegiate Knights.

The Beaver Knights of O. A. C. who will be hosts to the visiting Knights have worked out plans for a very successful conference. The convention will close with a banquet Saturday evening, after which the delegates will be guests at the annual formal military ball.

SEATTLE NEWSPAPER MAN TO POSTPONE VISIT HERE

Lloyd Spencer, advertising manager of the Seattle Post Intelligencer and president of the Pacific Coast Advertising Clubs association, was unable to stop off at Eugene on his way to attend a convention of the Advertising Clubs of the World held at Houston, Texas.

PROFESSOR RALPH CASEY RETURNS FROM PORTLAND

Professor Ralph D. Casey of the school of journalism attended a meeting of the Trade and Class Journal association yesterday noon in Portland. This association holds monthly meetings for trade and class journal men at which subjects relative to the organization and its purpose are discussed.

EMERALD STAFF MEMBER TO SPEND WEEK AT RAINIER

Anna Jerzyk, associate managing editor of the Emerald, is spending the week at Rainier, Oregon. During her absence James Case, day editor, has been appointed in her place.

OWNERS OF CAMPUS FORDS TO HAVE RACE

Owners of "Campus Fords" will have an opportunity to test the speed of their "heaps" in a race planned for Saturday, April 25. Three events are listed, a four mile race for touring cars and roadsters, a two mile one for bugs and a one mile free for all. Prizes will be awarded to the winners of the various events.

A number of cars have already been entered for the race. As restrictions are being placed on the types of cars, entrants are requested to apply to Robert Chrisman or Steve Williams.

COMMERCE FRATERNITY HONORS FRESHMAN

Fred G. Niemi to Have Name Engraved on Plaque

Fred G. Niemi, of Portland, freshman in the school of business administration, has been chosen by Beta Gamma Sigma, honorary commerce fraternity, to have his name engraved on the fraternity's plaque in the commerce building.

Although the first place was won unquestionably by Niemi, who had an average of 1.25 for the winter term, several other men have pressed him hard for first honors. These were Franklin N. Graham of Jefferson, Frank R. Hallin of Eugene, and Ronald H. Robinette of Albany.

ERIC W. ALLEN GIVES ADDRESS FROM KGW

Dean Eric W. Allen of the school of journalism gave an address on "How to Read a Newspaper" over the radio, Friday night from Station KGW in Portland.

Different types of readers, those who read intelligently and those who skim through the paper, were considered in the talk. "When newspapers are more carefully and intelligently read, then press and public cannot but progress together, each powerfully aiding each other in the building up of a better public opinion and a finer civilization, to the increased wealth and happiness of all concerned," Dean Allen concluded his discussion.

WILLIAM RUSSIS, '21, ON GREEK NEWSPAPER

William J. Russis, '21, is managing editor of The American Hellenic World, a newspaper recently started in Chicago. The paper claims the distinction of being the only Greek newspaper in English published in the United States, and is semi-magazine in character.

INVITATIONS ARE READY FOR PARENTS WEEK END

Invitations, which are to be sent to mothers and fathers of all students attending the University, were distributed to all living organizations on the campus and those living in private homes are requested to secure invitations at the Co-op.

The plan of the committee in charge of Mothers' and Fathers' days, which will be held May 9 and 10, is that all students send the invitations home regardless whether they will be able to attend or not. It is desired to make a good impression on the parents.

R.O.T.C. DRILL MANUAL SOON TO BE DISCARDED

Army Drill Regulations to Be Submitted

Textbooks, known as the R. O. T. C. drill manual, which have been in use in the R. O. T. C. department for the past two years, will not be used after this term, according to Captain Frank L. Culin, executive officer of the R. O. T. C. department.

Due to recent extensive changes in drill and classwork, the textbooks now in use have become obsolete. Several eastern book firms, dealing in improved military textbooks, have made offers for supplying the text for next year, but as yet none of the offers have been accepted.

The plan, states Captain Culin, is to substitute for the textbooks by the requisition of a supply of regular army drill regulations, which are printed in the form of pamphlets at the public printing offices in Washington, D. C. These pamphlets cover all phases of work necessary for the training of a second lieutenant, junior officer of the line, in the regular army, and are supplied to all units of the regular army, the National Guard, and the R. O. T. C., upon requisition.

As there are approximately 150,000 students engaged in R. O. T. C. work in the United States, it is not known if a supply can be obtained, but a requisition will be made during the summer. "Small consignments of these pamphlets have been received by the department at frequent intervals, and are now in use in some phases of the work. Loose-leaf corrections have recently been received for insertion in these pamphlets, to bring them up to date, and Sergeant T. R. Powers, of the commissary department, is in charge of the work.

The pamphlets, if the system is adopted, will be issued to the students as each phase of the work covered by the pamphlet is taken up. Upon receipt of each of these the student will be required to pay a nominal purchase price, varying from five to twenty-five cents. The number of pamphlets required to complete each year's work will be approximately as follows: freshman course, 10; sophomore, 7; junior, 14; and senior, 10; making a total of 41 pamphlets required for the four-year course.

ORATORICAL TRYOUTS TO BE HELD SATURDAY

An Oregon student will be chosen to represent the University in the Tri-State Oratorical contest at the tryouts to be held in Villard hall next Saturday morning, April 25, at 9 o'clock. The winner of the tryouts will be sent to Seattle in May for the biggest northwest oratorical event of the year.

The tryouts are open to any undergraduate student in the University. Orations, though they may deal with any subject the student is interested in or has had previous experience with, are limited in length to 2,000 words. Typewritten copies will be submitted by all students competing at the tryouts Saturday morning.

Both the delivery and composition of the oration will be considered by the judges at the tryouts. Judges are instructors of the public speaking department, H. E. Ross, Oscar A. Brown and E. W. Merrill.

Guild Theatre Players Show "Miss Lulu Bett" Typical American Drama

Other members of the cast and their roles are: Beatrice Beebe as Mother Bett; Florence Couch as the youngest member of the family, Minona Deacon; Betty Kerr as Di Deacon, the would be eloper whose love affair with the cautious Bobby Larkin, played by Walter Malcolm, who mows the lawn for the Deacon's residence, is somewhat doubtful. Ninian Deacon, the black sheep and finally the dark horse of the family, is done by Barney McPhillips.

The play follows tonight's performance with two more evening showings. Tickets at the Guild hall box office are 75 cents and 50 cents.

Workers' Mass Banquet Will Be Held Tonight At Woman's Building

Instructions to team workers will be given at this time, and it is imperative that everyone be present. The banquet is the first event in the intensive three day campaign which it is hoped will terminate in the subscription of the $64,000, set as the goal for this year.

Friday noon there will be a luncheon for all workers in the Woman's building, to report the progress made, and to straighten out any difficulties that may have arisen. A flying squadron will be organized to persuade the harder prospects to sign on the dotted line, or to collect the first installment of the pledge signed last year.

The little white shack has been placed just over the parking strip in Kincaid field, and is all ready for the beginning of the drive. Those who pledged last year may obtain tags there, so they will not be accosted again. This will also serve to show just how many really pledged last year, and will be an added impetus to get everyone on the campus to wear one of the tags.

The windup banquet for the drive will be held Saturday night when, it is hoped, the success of the drive will be realized.

Two Presentations of University Orchestra Program Draw Crowd

The solos, by Miss Alberta Potter on the violin and Miss Lora Teshner on the cello were excellent. The violin solo was "Hjre Kati" by Hubay with Moszaowski's "Guitarr" arranged by Sarasate, for encore. The "Serenade Espagnole" by Glazounov was lovely with the light staccato piano accompaniment combined with the singing melody of the cello. The other cello numbers were "Harlequin" by Popper and Drigo's "Serenade" for encore.

The March from "Sigurd Jorsalfor" by Grieg and the "Serenade" by Schubert were enjoyed and were followed by Poldini's, "Dancing Dolls" in airy effect with flute solo accompanied by the orchestra. The march from "Nutmacker Suite" by Tschaiikowski was in delightful light muffled effect. The last number the popular "Second Hungarian Rhapsody" by Liszt, formed a fitting close for an enjoyable evening.

The orchestra leaves Thursday for the spring trip. Concerts will be given in both Salem and Portland in connection with the combined glee clubs. A varied and interesting program with many new features has been planned for the organizations together. They will be accompanied by, Rex Underwood as director of the orchestra and John Stark Evans of the glee clubs, and James Leake, manager.

Student Union Drive Will Start Officially Thursday at Assembly

In that message, as applicable today as it was last year, he said: "There has been a flood of students entering the colleges and universities. Everywhere they are being overwhelmed. The great question is what you can honestly do for these students who are coming to these institutions. A college education doubles earning capacity, it gives social distinction, it gives political power, it gives everything that a father and mother have been hoping for. The student has been making his plans and preparation and then the institution was not able to do him justice and simply treated him as an unknown unit in a great mass, and failed him out, dashing his hopes.

Speakers are Selected "Already the number of the faculty is too small for the number of the student body. We are in that way considerably below the average of the greater institutions of the country. Only one thing to do is to make your preparation so that you may retain the old virtues of the small colleges and all the best virtues of the large institutions," he said.

President Campbell is not yet able to appear before his students. The men's glee club will be on hand to lead in singing Oregon songs. John MacGregor will tell something of the history of the Student Union here and in other schools. His own record of activities for the University will make his appeal the more eloquent.

Georgia Benson, president of Woman's League last year, will talk to the women of the University, showing their need for the Student Union building, and pointing out the part the women can play in bringing it about.

Bob Mautz, chairman of the drive, will talk, as well as the freshman representatives. Virginia Lee Richardson, speaking for the freshman women, and Emerson Wright, for the men, will talk especially to the freshman, showing them the large part which their class plays in the success of the drive, and impressing them with the importance and necessity of a Student Union building.
