

TENDENCY OF PUBLIC SCHOOLS DISCUSSED

J. B. V. Butler Addresses Campus Normal Club

The solution of the present condition of political and social unrest in the world is seen in the present tendency of the public school by J. B. V. Butler, the Grand Old Man of the Oregon Normal school faculty.

The modern trend in education is to train children to think," he said. "Today we are teaching children instead of textbooks. Facts are incidental to the greater end. They are used as the material from which to develop judgment and reasoning power in the child."

The aim of the school today, he continued, is to whet the appetite of the pupil and inspire in him a desire to explore further the fields of information. He is trained to line up facts in their proper relation to each other and to arrive at a logical conclusion. This is a real preparation for life.

"The change in the training of teachers preceded the development in public schools," Mr. Butler said. The method now used in normals permits a wide latitude of judgment and thought on the part of the student-teacher. Various methods and theories of teaching are pointed out, and it is left to the individual teacher to distinguish the best in them and adapt that later to her requirements.

When asked how he proposed to build up a well-developed teaching force from women teachers whose term of service in the work was so extremely uncertain, Mr. Butler pointed out that most of those teachers who left the school room continued to carry on the work in their own homes. The school could never do more than supplement the more important element of training in the home.

Mr. Butler is himself an example of the ideal teacher. Registration in his courses is regularly out of all mathematical proportion to the floor space in his classroom. Each term Mr. Butler is confronted with the problem of the old lady who lived in a shoe.

El Circulo Castellano is planning to hold a party next Wednesday evening, April 29, instead of the regular meeting. The affair will be held in the College Side Inn, from 7:30 until 10:15. All students of Spanish are invited, and second year students, and those above, are expected to be present. The event is to be held in honor of Cervantes, Spanish writer, and author of "Don Quixote." Several features are being discussed, refreshments will be served, and the affair will be a masquerade. An admission charge of fifteen cents will be made.

NOON TODAY, DEADLINE FOR PAYMENT OF FEES

No Mercy to Be Shown to Those Delinquent

Fees, which have been due for about ten days, start to draw a late payment fine after today. At noon, the windows of the business office will close, and all whose fees remain unpaid at that time, will have to pay three dollars for the first day of late payment, and 25 cents for each day of delay thereafter.

According to word from the business office, there are still many who have not yet settled their accounts with the University, in spite of the ten days allowed for doing so. As a result no mercy will be shown, is the ultimatum, and those who are in line at 12 o'clock will have to pay the additional fee.

"N. S. F." checks issued in an attempt to escape the fine will prove no aid, as students who issue them will have to pay the extra amount. Few checks for amounts, not sufficiently backed by funds, have been received so far. Warning has been issued, that offenders will be seriously dealt with.

MAZAMAS SCHEDULE ALL DAY HIKE SUNDAY

The Mazamas are going to hike Sunday, and invite those who are interested to accompany them. The club will take a bus as far as Coburg bridge and will hike from there to the top of Old Baldy, keeping a sharp watch for spring blooms. Those who take the trip are to meet in front of the Administration building Sunday morning; they are cautioned to be on time, as the group will leave there at 8:30 promptly.

Those who are going are warned to come prepared with lunch, a tin cup, and some money, as the trip is to be an all-day affair. Hot coffee will be served at ten cents a cup at noon, and the bus fare will amount to sixty or seventy cents.

Obak's Kollege Krier OBAK Wallace, Publisher W. R. L., Editor Volume 4 SATURDAY, A. M. Number 12

OBAB OPENS MAY FIRST For the past two weeks all that could be heard about OBABs is the drum-drum of hammers. But, Boy there's been a lot of progress made and in another week it's going to look like a new place. One of the new features that Obak has incorporated in his new pool room is the mezzanine floor. This is to be used for his billiard parlor and will be something entirely new and novel for every pool player in Eugene. Obak regrets very much that the boys will not be able to hold their regular pool tournament this month, but promises that they will have a bigger and better place to meet after April 1. Watch this column NEXT WEEK on SATURDAY MORNING and get the exact 'dope.' There's going to be a big surprise for each and every one of you. KAMPUS KOLLUM The big spring drive for the Student Union building has begun with a bang. The fellows at Obak's have all turned out 100 per cent with their pledges, and now they are back to normalcy—shooting their regular old game of billiards. Neither spring weather nor gift campaigns can keep the 'sharks' from having their little game. Last night's class struggles were a big success, and a big time was had by all (the usual thing). It was noticed that a number of the fellows who could not dance, gathered at Obak's where the regular Friday session was held. Baseball now holds the leading position in athletics at the university. Yesterday saw the opening of the first game for the Oregon nine. It was certainly a torrid battle, which was enjoyed by all of Obak's fans. Obak's poetry critic now has to decide the pressing question as to whether the column of poetry printed in the Emerald contains any poetic beauty. It is surprising that a man, who is so well read, could have shocked the 'savages' and started a 'high school harangue.' Of course it has to be admitted that the poetry is generally bad, but then it has to be acknowledged that the source is not the best.
