

DOUGHNUT NINES TO PLAY TODAY

Advanced Games Scheduled In Revised Program

ELIGIBILITY RULE LISTED

Department of Education To Aid in Contests

The long waited call of the "Umps" will be heard this afternoon when the diamond aggregations of Psi Kappa and Kappa Sigma tangle in the opening game of the doughnut baseball series.

The schedule has been postponed for the past two weeks but according to Virgil Earl, director, the games will swing into full play today. Games are scheduled for tomorrow and Saturday with the final games of the first round completed by then.

Friendly hall will contest the right to stay in the tournament running with Beta Theta Pi immediately following the opener.

Eligibility Rule Given

Some controversy has come up in regard to eligibility of players. According to the rules used in doughnut tournaments men having participated in a varsity or freshman contest for this or any other college in intercollegiate competition is not eligible for this league in the events in which they have participated. This ruling should clear this point. If there is any doubt as to the right of players to play Virgil Earl should be consulted.

According to reports now in circulation the rusty arms of two weeks are well oiled and are in perfect condition for the oncoming battles. The various teams have been coveting on the back lots for the past three weeks and batting and fielding eyes are trained for the horsehide. Training periods have slowly been cut down until the men are impatiently awaiting their turn on the diamond.

Revised Schedule Listed

Catching equipment and officials will be furnished by the department of physical education. This necessitates the furnishing of other equipment by the teams. In keeping with the rules each organization is expected to have two horsehides ready for use when its turn comes to play.

Due to the coming events of the varsity and freshman teams, games scheduled may be changed for some other date providing Virgil Earl is informed and gives his consent.

Following is the revised schedule: Wednesday—Psi Kappa vs. Kappa Sigma, 4 p. m.; Sigma Nu vs. Beta Theta Pi, 5:30. Thursday—Sigma Pi Tau vs. Phi Delta Theta, 4 p. m. Sigma Nu vs. Phi Kappa Psi, 5:30. Saturday—Theta Chi vs. Kappa Delta Phi, 9 a. m. Sigma Alpha Epsilon vs. Phi Gamma Delta, 2 p. m. Bachelorhood vs. Oregon club, 3:30.

Women Complete First Round of Intramural Tennis Tournament

(Continued from page one) nent tennis to be played off. Girls are urged to take advantage of the fair weather and get their matches played to avoid any slowing up of the schedule. Doubles as well as singles are included in this time limit.

May 2 is the final date for signing up for class tennis. Any girl not to sign up before this date will automatically forfeit her chance to play in the class matches. A special chart has been placed on the bulletin board in the middle entrance of the Woman's building for this purpose. Class practice will begin Monday, May 4, at which time the schedule for practice will be posted on the bulletin board.

Class games will start May 15, according to Rhona Williams, head of tennis. Doughnut finals will be played May 16.

Two Orators, McCroskey And Bailey Win Final Tryouts Held Last Night

(Continued from page one) partment, said yesterday, in commenting on the splendid interest in forensic work; "There has been an unusual interest in these tryouts, there being more men entering this last contest than in any oratorical tryout in recent years."

Meet to Be May 8

Last year, the Tri-State contest was won by University of Washington's representative. The year before, 1923, Paul Patterson of Oregon, won the same contest in Eugene. Claude Robinson, with his oration "The Open Mind" won second place in the contest last year.

The contest to be held at O. A. C. on May 8, is a new one, being held for the first time this year as a result of the coast colleges at the annual meeting at Stanford university deciding to hold an additional forensic event to the extemporaneous speaking event held during the fall term. Freshmen are prohibited from entering this coast contest. Fifty dollars is the prize for the winner. Schools which will be represented are: Stanford, U. S. C., O. A. C., Willamette, W. S. C., Whitman, and Oregon.

Both McCroskey and Bailey have had much previous public speaking experience. Both were on the University debate team this year, and Bailey was a member of the team during the two previous years. Both men had debate experience in Salem high school from which they graduated.

COLEMAN TO DISCUSS INDUSTRY PROBLEMS

President of Reed Long Associated With 4 L's

"The Use of Group Discussion in Industrial Management" will be discussed by Norman F. Coleman, president of Reed college, in Portland, in the address he will deliver here at this week's assembly.

Mr. Coleman has had considerable experience in dealing with industrial problems. During the war he became interested in assisting to stabilize conditions in logging camps and lumber mills in order that an industry so important to the prosecution of the war might not be disorganized by labor troubles.

As a result of that work he was made president of the Loyal Legion of Loggers and Lumbermen, and has continued as president since. He is better known in that capacity among the working men in the industry than as a college professor and president.

Mr. Coleman was sent as a special lecturer for the A. E. F. in France in 1919.

His versatility and interest in public affairs is further attested by the fact that he has served two or three terms as president of the Oregon Social Hygiene society, and is much interested in problems of hygiene and morality.

Mr. Coleman's major work at the University of Toronto, where he and his wife were classmates of Dean Colin V. Dymont, was in zoology in which he received honors.

DAVID HUSTED FREED IN MOOT COURT TRIAL

This is not a regular, dyed-in-the-wool crime story and no University student was actually tried for any offense, but the tale we would relate is only that of a moot court session.

If it had been a regular court proceeding the prosecuting attorney would probably not have forgotten to establish the venue of the alleged crime and the attorney for the defense would probably not have asked the jurors "why" they did not gamble or bet on horse races.

Both of those oversights have been made by better known lawyers than James Ross, state's attorney and Howard McClaffin, defense counsel, said Attorney Fred E. Smith, who sat on the bench.

David Husted was the alleged "offender." Setting up and conducting a lottery at the Oregon-O. A. C. basketball game was the charge. The defendant was freed by the jury.

Three jurors were all that could be rounded up, so the lawyers "agreed" that this would be sufficient to try the case.

Witnesses were called and examined. Edward Kelley testified that he had won the "alleged lottery," and took the chance to regain losses of former risks. Bert Gooding and Carl Skoog both admitted connection with the dealing and testified to former dealings of this nature.

The defense asked for a directed verdict on the ground that the state had not proved a lottery but a pool. But the judge went the lawyers one better and directed the jury to return a verdict of not guilty on the ground that nobody had proved where the crime was supposed to have taken place.

LIBRARY RENT COLLECTION ADDS NEW BOOKS TO SHELF

A number of new books have recently been added to the library rent collection. Among them are: "The Story of Wilbur the Hat," by Hendrick Van Loon; "Lucienne," by Jules Romains, translated by Waldo Frank; "The Occident and the Orient," by Sir Valenting Chicol; "Voyaging Southward from the Strait of Magellan," by Rockwell Kent; "The Guardsman," by Franz Molnar; and "Once in a Blue Moon," poems by Marion Strobel.

DAUGHTER OF REGENT RECEIVES MANY HONORS

Georgianna Gerlinger, daughter of Mrs. G. T. Gerlinger of the University board of regents, and a student on the campus from 1921 to 1924 is finishing her studies in the University of California. Last week she was elected to Mortar Board, woman's national honorary society.

She has also been elected to Toreh and Shield, a local secret society of the University of California which is composed of a small group of the outstanding girls of the campus.

Miss Gerlinger is chairman of the Sponsor committee of the Woman's League. This committee meets all the freshmen women entering the University of California, which Dean Esterly believes will be about 1500 next year, sees that they are housed according to the University regulations, introduces them informally in a social way, and helps them register. She is also secretary to the Dean of Women of the University of California.

Miss Gerlinger went to the University of California last fall after completing three years of work on the campus in the English department. In 1924 she helped Dean Eric W. Allen of the journalism department, edit the Summer Session Californian. While on the campus she was a member of Theta Sigma Phi.

TRACK BEING DAMAGED BY STUDENT CYCLISTS

Serious damage is being done to the cinder track on Hayward field by students who persist in riding bicycles on the expensive track. The damage done by riding on it with wheels compels the going over of the whole track by workmen. The packing down of the cinders injures the track and makes much more work necessary upon it.

The oval on Hayward is considered by experts to be practically the best cinder track on the coast. It must be taken care of all the time. The crew of workmen are ordered to keep bicycles off the oval but often men ride on it when they are not around. Henceforth all wheels will be thrown off the track at the loss of the owner.

SCHEDULE IS CHANGED FOR WOMEN'S FENCING

Women's fencing schedule has been changed by Wm. C. Davidson, instructor, owing to the fact that there are not as many women taking fencing this term as last. Persons desiring to come at other hours than those given are asked to arrange to do so by leaving their names and time of attendance with Miss Florence Alden, head of women's physical education.

Mondays and Wednesdays at 4 p. m. and Tuesdays and Fridays at 4 and 5 p. m. are the hours scheduled by Mr. Davidson. Each class is one hour in length.

was burned over in spite of a battle against the subsequent fire which cost $200,000.

The problem, the forestry superintendent said, is not at all hopeless. The trees in Hendricks park are virtually all the result of a second planting, and some of our merchantable trees that are now being cut into 12-12 inch timbers are only 40 or 50 years old. "Western Oregon is one of the best tree growing areas in the world, and there is no reason why Oregon cannot continue as a lumber producing state," he declared.

One way of preserving the timber would be a tax reform. A form of yield tax might well be adopted, in the superintendent's opinion.

The necessity of contact between newspapermen and the various leaders in thought and industry was stressed by Mr. Macduff. "Newspapermen are necessarily interpreters. Leaders of thought ordinarily do not 'speak English'—they must be interpreted, and newspapermen must interpret their technical language so the reader can understand them, therefore, the reporter must have an acquaintance with the language of the specialist and some personal interest in the specialty itself," he told the students.

expected to arrive in Eugene between May 13 and 18.

Practically all of the leading schools of business administration will send representatives to the annual conference. Problems regarding the work of teachers and students and their relation to the business world will be efficiently handled by prominent lecturers and in general discussions.

Headquarters of the meetings will be at Hotel Fort Hayes in Columbus. Speakers before the association conference will be leading professors from leading schools of business, such as Harvard university, Columbia university, and Ohio State university, which is handling the meeting since it is located in Columbus.

Dean Robbins will visit several large schools of business administration both on his way going to and coming from the convention, the number depending on his itinerary and the amount of time at his disposal. From Portland, he is going east by the Union Pacific route. He expects to stop enroute at the Universities of Denver, Nebraska, Iowa, Illinois, and Ohio State college.

The Greatest Historian Of Them All

Homer wove history into his songs. The Pharaohs carved it in stone. Julius Caesar painstakingly penned it on papyrus.

Today, history is written and given to you simultaneously with its occurrence. Every day, the important events of the world are summed up fully and comprehensively in your newspaper. You are able to keep abreast of history in its making.

And not the least important phase of modern history lies in the realm of industrial progress. You find this chronicled in the advertisements.

Advertising is a priceless boon to those who use it properly. It keeps their information up-to-date on the great variety of things that make life what it is today. It tells them of the thousand and one things they need in order to live profitable, happy and useful lives.

The consistent advertiser pays money to tell you about his wares. He knows they are good—he backs them with his money because he is confident that they will satisfy. For only merchandise that is consistently good can be consistently advertised.
