

VOD-VIL TO HAVE EIGHT BIG ACTS

Professional Quality and Originality Distinguish This Year's Program

DRAMATIC TALENT NEW

Gamma Phi Beta to Repeat Performance Given As April Frolic Prize Act

Eight big acts, each of high class Orpheum quality, are billed for production at the Junior Vaudeville next Friday and Saturday, May 8 and 9. The performance will be put on in regulation professional style, with one performance each night at the Heilig theatre, announces Paul Krausse, in charge of the affair.

The professional element is further heightened by the fact that one of the acts that will be presented will shortly go into professional vaudeville. "The other seven will be just as good, also," declared Krausse. "It will be a 'big time' show in every sense of the word."

Acts to be Original

The dramatic talent is all new, and every act is original in every way. Krausse, an experienced dramatist, has carefully selected every number and every actor.

From the opening number to the closing turn the action will be fast and snappy, with plenty of variety. "Every act is a headliner," declared Krausse, "and it is impossible to please any one outstanding."

A dancing act by Delbert Faust, who will be assisted by Edna Dipple, will be a feature of the bill. Faust has had a great deal of training, and his partner is declared to be one of the most charming of exponents of the art of terpsichore. As a curtain act, Al Clark has written a snappy vehicle, which will be interpreted by Raleigh Greene and his partner.

Surprise Act Startling

The prize winning April Frolic skit, with additions that make it in a class by itself, will be presented by Gamma Phi Beta troupe. This act was one of the hits of the year at the Frolic, and its success is expected to be duplicated. A surprise act, of which not a single detail will be revealed until the minute it is put on, will not only be surprised but startling, it is declared.

With a dash of Marion Harris style, and Duncan Sisters winsomeness, Jane Scriptures will feature a number of popular songs. Her selections are guaranteed to put the audience through the gamut of emotions. A "barber shop quartet" which has now reached such a state of perfection that the neighbors no longer complain when they rehearse, will also occupy a prominent place on the bill.

Variety Offered by Alpha

A musical act, embracing everything from classical to jazzical, will be staged by Alpha Xi Delta. An entire and absolute lack of the male element is one of the features of the presentation. The Pi-Id Pi-ers, with a specially augmented orchestra, are now in readiness for their part of the program. Unusual acts, that vary from startling to haunting, are now in a process of tonal perfection.

Although the vaudeville is more than a week away, every act is ready, declares Krausse. Rehearsals are being held daily, and one of the smoothest and best programs ever staged at the Heilig theatre is expected. The box office will be open for seat reservations Thursday, announces James Leake, manager.

Rifle Awards for Girls Arrive; Pins To Be Given Soon

Pins for the ten girls on the University women's rifle team have been received by the E. O. T. C. department, according to an announcement by Captain J. T. Murray, rifle team coach. Whether or not a formal presentation of the pins will be made, has not as yet been decided, pending consultation of the members of the team, but the awards will probably be made at one of the weekly drill parades in the near future.

The pins, which were ordered by the military department through a Salem, Massachusetts, jewelry firm, are of beautiful design. They consist of a small white and gold target, with a black bull's eye in the center, over which are two crossed rifles, with the letter U on one side and the letter O on the other side of the rifles. The initials of each girl, and year of the class to which she belongs are engraved on the reverse side.

Girls who will receive pins as awards for membership on the rifle team are: Gladys Bristol, Grace Dunbar, Donna Fleming, Edith Huntsman, Gertrude Kock, Elizabeth Latham, Thelma Sandstrom, Dorothy Straughan, Caroline Tilmon, and Mary Titus.

Y.W.C.A. CONFERENCE

OPENS AT 7:30 TODAY

Twenty Girls Have Signed; Others Expected

Reports have been received from three of the state colleges and universities which are to participate in the annual state Y. W. C. A. cabinet council being held on the local campus this week-end. The conference opens this afternoon with an informal tea at the Bungalow and the first regular session will be held at 7:30 this evening.

Following are the representatives who have reported:

Joy Pierce, Lucile Holman, Hazel Gilbert, Alice Jess, Mrs. Leon Wallace Moore, instructor, and Mrs. Ward Sullivan, instructor, from Albany college at Albany; Dorothy Walker, Evelyn Saxton and Sophia Krall from Linfield college at McMinnville; Ina Gebe Windnagle, Jewell Fields, Lois McCool, Gladys Bucknum, Elva Slattco, Etta McCreech, Lura Jarmon, Ruth Gill, Agnes Haroldson, Marion Needham, Faye Crawford and Rachael Storer from O. A. C.

Helen Andrews, general chairman, estimates that there will be approximately 12 students from Willamette University, two or three from Pacific college at Newberg and, if cars are available, ten from Pacific University at Forest Grove.

The guests and the local group will meet first at an informal tea this afternoon from 4:30 to 6:00. Beatrice Peters is to have charge of the affair. Peggy Boyer, recently elected president of the Y. W. C. A. for the coming year, will open the evening session at 7:30 with a short speech of welcome, followed by a greeting from Dean Esterly. A discussion on "Our Concerns; What Are They?" led by Helen Andrews will occupy the early part of the evening. Miss Henrietta Thomson's talk on "What Has Religion to do With Us?" will conclude the evening session.

The covers for the programs have been drawn individually by Katherine Mutzig, a freshman in the University.

JOURNALISM SENIOR HAS APPENDICITIS OPERATION

Miss Frances Simpson, a senior in the school of journalism department and a member of Alpha Gamma Delta, was operated on yesterday morning for appendicitis. Dr. George I. Hurley performed the operation at the Pacific Christian hospital and was assisted by Dr. G. A. Ross, of the University health service. Miss Simpson has had several minor attacks of appendicitis before the operation was performed.

INITIAL TENNIS MEET SATURDAY

Varsity Netmen Will Face Beaver Team in Opening Of Conference Schedule

ERNST COACHES TEAM

Captains Meyer and Hayden Only Lettermen on Squad Others Playing First Time

A five-man tennis team will leave tomorrow for Corvallis where they will meet the Aggie netmen in the first Pacific Coast conference meet of the year. The men who will make the trip are: Roy Okerberg, George Mead, George Hayden, William Adams and Captain Harry Meyers.

With the nice weather of the last few days, the varsity netmen have had an opportunity to open up and have practiced two or three hours every day. The meet at Corvallis will begin at 1:30 and promises to be a close meet. The relative strength of the Aggie team is not known, although they lost fifteen out of sixteen matches in the meet with Multnomah Athletic club last Saturday.

Players Look Good

The Oregon team is composed of two lettermen, Captain Harry Meyer, who is playing his third year, and George Hayden, who is serving his second year on the team. Meyers, one of the stars of last year, is going better than ever this year and will help a lot in bringing victories in for Oregon this year. Hayden is also showing up good in the practice games. Two other members of the squad are Bill Adams and George Mead, who played with the winning freshman aggregation of last year. The fifth man on the squad is Roy Okerberg who was unable to play with the frosh last year because of illness in the spring term. Okerberg was a star racket wielder for Salem high school during his prep school days.

Coach Teaches Finer Points

The men facing the Aggie courtmen in doubles will be Mead and Meyers; Okerberg and Hayden. The men as they play in singles will be Meyers, Mead, Okerberg, Adams and Hayden. According to the players the new tennis coach, Rudolf Ernst, has helped very much in teaching the men some of the finer points of the game. The addition of Ernst to the coaching staff should prove very valuable as he has quite a reputation as a player himself.

After the first meet with the Aggies next Saturday, the first meet (Continued on page four)

MU PHI TO PRESENT ORCHESTRA PROGRAM

Mu Phi Epsilon, national musical fraternity for women, will present an orchestra program Sunday afternoon starting at 4 o'clock in the music auditorium, which marks the fifth in a series of concerts it is giving this year. Rex Underwood, head of the violin department, has charge of the program and is being assisted by Gwendolyn Lampshire Hayden, as chairman.

The entire University orchestra will take part in the concert, one of the unique features of which will be several solo numbers to illustrate the quality, character and appearance of various instruments. The seating arrangement of an orchestra will be explained by Mr. Underwood and the combination of various choirs will also be explained by several illustrations. Entire numbers will not be rendered by the orchestra, only enough being taken from the selections to illustrate the points Mr. Underwood wishes to make clear.

The public is invited to attend the concert. There will be a small admission charge of thirty-five cents for townspeople and twenty-five cents for students. Those holding season tickets may use them at this program.

Campus Has Many Animal Mascots

Myrtle the Turtle Pet Of Art Patio

The zoology research department has its rats, Deady has its cats, Villard has its bats and Bill Hayward has two police puppies, but the art and architecture has a unique mascot, namely Myrtle the turtle. Myrtle was resurrected from a dark, dank sink in one of the labs of Deady, and installed in the art department, where she is the protege of Kate Schaefer, instructor in sculpture.

During the day Myrtle plods the cool sod of the art patio, enjoying an afternoon tea of gnats, and a siesta or two under her tortoise-shell sunshade. In spite of the fact that she seems to be a slow number, she's a snappy woman if you tease her enough, as she proved by snapping off the end of Dr. Torrey's pencil, wood and all. And Myrtle is sublimely impervious to any remarks by spectators who regard her as unlovely. Myrtle is mind-shelled and doesn't seem to mind them at all. It is true, she isn't much to look at, but she is posing as model for one of the sculpture classes and that's more than most of the girls can say.

OREGON MAN SELECTED TO SING IN 'MIKADO'

Aubrey Furry to Appear With Ellison-White

Aubrey Furry, well-known on the campus as a singer, and last heard in Eugene as the principal soloist for "The Seven Last Words" given by the University choir, has been selected by M. Boucher, director of the "Mikado," for the Ellison-White Chautauqua company, to sing the role of "Pooh Bah" in the "Mikado," the second lead. The opera company, which starts on the road May 20, will tour Canada and will be under the supervision of the Ellison-White branch there.

"Doc," as he is familiarly called, won the role of "Pooh Bah" through the request of Ellison-White for a male soloist from the University of Oregon. He was selected by John Stark Evans, assistant dean of the school of music, for the try-out, which took place in Portland last week. It took only the first rehearsal for M. Boucher, who is renowned as a director, and members of the opera company, who are all professionals, to recognize in his voice the deep, rich and colorful qualities required for opera.

Since being in Portland "Doc" has made many friends who have asked him to appear as guest soloist in several of the larger churches, and he has also sung for many clubs and social circles. Not only is his voice winning him friends everywhere, but coupled with that is his personality which is one of his greatest assets.

While in the University "Doc" studied under Madame Rose McGrew, who is more than enthusiastic over her pupil and the unusual opportunity which has come to him.

"I feel that this is the beginning of big things professionally for 'Doc,' and his role in the 'Mikado' and the manner in which he has grown right into it is more than gratifying to me," said Madame McGrew, yesterday. "I am sure that I will make a grand success for he will have expected him to do great things and I do not hesitate to prophesy for him a brilliant career."

While on the campus "Doc" was a member of the University glee club, often appearing as soloist for that organization. For the past two years he has been a soloist at the Methodist Episcopal church. He is affiliated with Phi Gamma Delta and Phi Mu Alpha.

Alpha Delta Sigma elects: Milton George, Jasper Crawford, Calvin Horn, Earl Slocum.

SEATTLE RELAY TRYOUTS TODAY

Hayward Decides on Events Team Will Enter During First Conference Meet

KINNEY SHOWING SPEED

Dark-horse May Take Half Mile; Several Good Men Working Hard to Place

Tryouts for the relay men to enter the Seattle relays at Seattle on May 9, will be held this afternoon on Hayward field at 4 o'clock. The tryouts were set for Friday so that they would not conflict with the track meets on Saturday.

The races this afternoon will probably show some of the fastest times taken on Hayward field for some time. There is a group of promising men in each event and they will all be fighting it up from the gun to the finish.

Events Will Be Entered

Bill Hayward has definitely decided to take a team of quarter milers, half milers, and he will take one mile from the men out for the medley relay. The team of 220 men is doubtful. Their showing today will determine whether or not they will make the trip. This promises to be Oregon's good year in the relays if the season's showing so far can be depended upon. The men are making faster times than last year.

The team of quarter milers to run the mile relay appears to be the strongest one turned out for some time. Big Jim Kinney has been stepping it around 50 seconds which is about as good as any quarter miler is doing on the coast now. Age, letterman of last year's quarter mile team, is in better condition and will probably finish high up. Hermance, Price and Wilbur made the trip on the relay team for the Stanford meet. All are strong runners. Cash, from the frosh squad of last year, completes the list of men competing.

Dark Horses May Show

It's not so easy to dope the half milers for some dark horses are liable to step in and win the race, or at least place within the first four. Hayward has a large turnout in the event. Swank has been placed in the half from the mile, which he has been running all season. Mauney, in the Stanford meet, cut down his time a couple of seconds and has shown great improvement over his work last year. The rest of the half mile team will be picked from Gerke, Stephenson, Jeffries, Cook, Gurnea, Sully, Swank, and Sussman. Who is the (Continued on page four)

SEABECK DELEGATES BEING SELECTED NOW

Officers of the campus Y. M. C. A. are securing delegates for the annual Northwest Students' Conference to be held at Seabeck, Washington, June 12 to 21. The University of Oregon will be permitted to have 28 representatives, and a cottage has been provided which will house 22 of them.

Seabeck is located on the sound, two miles west of Bremerton and, according to Mr. H. W. Davis of the campus "Y," is one of the most charming spots in the entire Northwest. Facilities are provided for boating, swimming, fishing, hiking, and playing tennis, golf, and baseball. Afternoons are set aside for recreation, while forenoons and evenings are devoted to discussion groups and addresses. Some of the speakers who will be there are: Professor Durban, dean of men at O. A. C.; Norman F. Coleman, president of Reed college; Gale Seaman, intercollegiate secretary for the Pacific coast; "Bud" Kearns of O. A. C.; Ivan Rhodes of New York City; and Bromley Oxnam, pastor of the International Church at Los Angeles.

Men interested in going to the conference should see Romayne Brand or Bart Kendall.

University Depot Holding Mail Due To Rate Increase

The University depot has received many papers and magazines with insufficient postage on them since the new postage rates went into effect.

Before April 15, the rate on such mail was one cent for four ounces, but now it costs two cents to send two ounces or each fraction thereof. This means it will take two cents to send an Emerald, or other small paper, instead of one cent. Two Emeralds may be sent for two cents, but this does not mean one will go any cheaper, as the price is the same for each fraction of two ounces.

Magazines cost in proportion to their weight, and are also more expensive to mail than formerly.

"I used to have trouble with the students putting too much postage on papers and magazines," said the University mail carrier, "but now I can't get them to put on enough." The carrier must take the time to collect the extra postage, when insufficient is placed on mail, or pay it himself, if the package is to be sent.

HENDRICKS II WINS LEAGUE CHAMPIONSHIP

Class Baseball Scheduled to Begin Wednesday

Susan Campbell II's baseball team lost the league championship to Hendricks II last night. The game ended, 27 to 8 at the end of the third inning. Hendricks' batting gave them the game.

This leaves the league winners in the doughnut series in women's baseball as follows: League I: Hendricks I; League II: Hendricks II; League III: Kappa Alpha Theta. Thacher and Chi Omega will play for the League IV championship this afternoon. League winners will play in semi-finals Monday. Doughnut championship will be decided in the finals Tuesday.

Class baseball practices will begin Wednesday, May 6. A diamond will be reserved for each class every night from then on until the end of the practice schedule on May 15. Every player must report for two of the first three practices in order to qualify for a place on a class team. Three additional practices will be required in addition. It has been announced that participants in the Dance Drama will be allowed special arrangements in this matter.

FACULTY MEN ATTEND SPORTS SCRIBES' LUNCH

Sports writers need a greater knowledge of the field they are covering, was the general consensus of opinions expressed at the noon luncheon of the Oregon Sports Writers' association held Wednesday at the Anchorage. Dean Eric Allen, Professor George Turnbull, and Professor Ralph Casey were guests of the association and gave the local writers several important suggestions for the improvement of their work.

Sports writing is tending toward publicity work rather than the printing of straight news, was the opinion of Dean Allen. That present day sports editors are becoming too editorial and critical in their work was also brought out during the discussion.

Besides the regular members of the organization and journalism faculty the sports writers of the Emerald attended the luncheon.

FRESHMEN REPORT

REGENTS TO PASS ON AMENDMENTS

Plan Is to Make Pledge for Student Union Payable With Registration Fee

NEW SYSTEM APPROVED

Proposed Way of Managing To Come Up for Vote at Time of A.S.U.O. Election

The executive council after a full discussion of the proposed amendment to the A. S. U. O. constitution last night, concerning increase in fees, approved of the plan in general, but decided to present Sections IV and V of the amendment to the board of regents for consideration. This body which will meet on Saturday, is to decide the plausibility of the amendment and which of the two sections is the most feasible.

The sections as given in the Emerald yesterday morning are as follows: Section IV. Such fees, so collected from students who have already pledged to the Student Union fund, shall be credited on their pledge, or, Section V. This amendment shall become effective next year, but it shall not apply to any student who has already pledged to the Student Union fund. The amendment in which ever form it will ultimately take will come up for student body vote at student elections, May 13.

In the discussion which followed the reading of the amendment the fact was again brought out that such a plan would eliminate the obligation upon the student after he is out of school. Also that the plan really has a much wider appeal than the Student Union which takes so much time and energy, for it could be applied to whatever buildings are needed at the time. Under this last consideration, comes the plan for the basketball pavilion, the drawings of which have been completed and will now be submitted to architects for bids. The absolute necessity of the pavilion was pointed out, and the fact that this new plan which means that money will be coming in now, instead of stretched out over a long period of years, will definitely assure a regular building plan for the University.

The proposed managerial system was unanimously approved, and this also will come up for student body approval at the election. The plan provides for a senior manager for forensics, music and sports, who are to have under them three third year men, respectively, termed assistant managers. Under their supervision will work the first year men who are to do the actual manual labor, connected with the various activities.

The council approved the awarding of wreath letters to, Dave Adolph, Perry Davis, Don Cartwright, Sylvester Wingard, Harry Leavitt and William Ford. Swimming letters for the following were approved, Ben Lombard, Bob McCabe, Al Sinclair and Arthur Erickson.

The council passed a motion proposed by Randall Jones, president of the student body, which provides for the publication of a "hello book" to be published during the summer, by the graduate manager. The book is to contain all permanent resolutions of both the executive and student councils, report of the traditions committee, knowledge concerning activities, and everything that concerns the student body in general.

ENGLISH INSTRUCTOR HAS RELAPSE AFTER ILLNESS

Returning too soon to his classes after an attack of grippe and influenza, has caused Professor H. C. Howe, of the English department, to suffer a relapse, and his physician says he must remain at home for several days. Professor Howe attended his classes Monday, but is not expected back this week. Quizzes in the Ruskin classes, it is planned, will be held as usual.
