

OREGON WINS IN NINTH INNING

Adolph Leads Last Canto Rally and Swat By Bliss Brings in Final Score

HIDDEN BALL TRICK USED

"Skipper" Brooks Replaced By Harrison; Hit and Run Play Used Successfully

With two down and the Washington State nine leading in the last half of the ninth inning, by a two run margin, it appeared as if the curtain was ready to be rung down on another Oregon defeat. A final rally in the ninth inning turned the tide and Oregon emerged victorious 8 to 7.

It started when Rex Adolph singled over second, Wright batting for West fled out to Berg. Harrison fanned, Reinhart walked, Minnaugh hit a single to left, scoring Adolph, Hobson walked, filling the bases. Bliss, the next man up, hit a single to left that carried Reinhart and Minnaugh home with the tying and winning runs.

The tilt yesterday afternoon on the new diamond, was a real thriller from start to finish, with the lead continually shifting. Skipper Brooks, twirling for Oregon, held the visitors well in hand till toward the end of the battle. At the first of the eighth inning, Brooks weakened and Fred Harrison, finished the contest.

Trick Plays Used

Nearly every trick play in the category of baseball was used in the battle yesterday. One of the high spots of the contest was a perfectly executed hit-and-run play by Minnaugh and Hobson, Minnaugh advancing from first to third on a sparkling single from Hobson's stick. In an attempt to steal home, Minnaugh collided with the catcher, and in a rough-and-tumble attempt to reach the home plate, Minnaugh crawled over the burley catcher's back, and touched the platter. In the seventh inning, Fred West successfully carried out the old time-worn hidden ball trick, catching Nolan off first, who was calmly watching Brooks get ready to pitch. In addition to these plays, a perfect catch by Frank Reinhart in the sixth inning with the bases loaded, saved Oregon considerable difficulty. One of the outstanding plays made by the Cougars, was a one-handed stab made by Shelby, in robbing Minnaugh of a sure single, when the ball went scorching down the third base line.

The big canto for the northerners was the eighth inning, when three runs were scored on the same number of hits. This put the opposition in possession of a one-run lead.

Local Authorities Forbid Students' Smoking on 13th

The administration has been notified by the city police of Eugene that Thirteenth avenue must be cleared of smoking pedestrians. If this is not done at once, measures will be taken promptly, the officers assert. It is possible that a traffic policeman would be installed.

Now that the Student Council has accepted the report of the Traditions committee in regard to smoking, students may smoke on the sidewalks. It is no longer necessary for the nicotine addicts to congregate on Thirteenth avenue and obstruct the whole street. Students are requested to heed the warning of the city officials, and to save unnecessary interference with traffic.

OREGON REPRESENTED IN NATIONAL CONTEST

A wire from Washington, D. C., received by the forensic coaches yesterday, announced that Jack P. McGuire's oration on the constitution had been selected as one of the seven winning manuscripts in the coast region. McGuire, as a result, is entitled to represent Oregon in the semi-finals of the national inter-collegiate oratorical contest, and will deliver his oration on May 22 at San Francisco, California.

In the semi-finals, at which McGuire will speak, there will be six other orators from coast colleges who will compete for the regional championship and the right to meet winners of six other regions of the nation in the final contest at Los Angeles on June 4.

Eight higher educational institutions in this district were entitled to submit manuscripts to the national headquarters of the Better American Federation of California, which is conducting the national oratorical contest on the constitution as a means of promoting better citizenship. Copies of orations were judged on composition and thought alone by prominent judges at Washington.

HIGHEST RATING MADE BY WOMEN

Average of Groups 41.393; Estimates Do Not Include Work Done by Graduates

THETAS FIRST WITH 51.6

Women's organizations lead the rating for the winter term with 45.109. The men's houses have a rating of 37.187, and the average of all organizations is 41.383. This does not include graduate students, because of the large number who are assistants, carrying only part time scholastic work.

System Revised

To arrive at the rating, the grading system is reversed so that an hour of I counts 5 points; an hour of II, 4 points; an hour of III, 3 points; an hour of IV, 2 points; and an hour of V, 1 point. In other words, the number of points given to a credit-hour is always equal to six minus the grade. Hence, rating equals the average number of hours passed per member, multiplied by six minus the average grade.

Standings Given

House ratings for the winter term are as follows:

1. Kappa Alpha Theta	51.666

WELLINGTON SLOANE TO PLAY BEFORE CLUB

Wellington Sloane, Mus. B. (Yale '22, school of music) will give a program consisting entirely of work by Bach, at the next meeting of Weimar-Bund, May 12. The program will begin at seven o'clock, immediately after the business meeting. All those interested are invited. The program will be held at the College Side Inn.

"Fugue in A Minor," and "18 Small Preludes" are the selections made by Mr. Sloane. They were chosen because "they are more or less unknown in comparison with their more pretentious companions in the Well Tempered Clavichord," the chairman of the program committee said. The life of Bach will be briefly summarized. The business meeting, will be carried on at the time of the dinner, which is to begin at 6 o'clock.

Sport Writres And Lawyers Hold Ball Game Today

Campus writers and the law school members will settle their feud this afternoon on Kincaid field when they will cross bludgeons in a baseball struggle. The game is scheduled to go the full route of nine innings as the law school has announced that they will have at least a dozen twirlers ready for relief duty when the sports writers unlimber their bats.

The sports team has been weakened by the loss of Fred Harrison, former Daily Astorian writer, who has decided that he was not fast enough for the scribes and has condescended to pitch for the varsity. However, George Howard Godfrey, veteran skipper of the ink slingers, has promised to fill the vacancy with another capable mound performer, even if he has to secure one from the circus.

While little is known of the actual strength of the lawyers, it is expected that the law school will send over a big enough crowd of supporters to go out and fight for the game, if things look bad for their team. However, up to a late hour last night, Manager King had not decided whether he would use a portsider or a right hander.

Indefinite Stand Taken by Faculty On Saturday Classes

The matter of Saturday classes remains unsettled due to the failure of the members of the faculty to take any definite action on the measure at their meeting yesterday. The proposition was referred to the committee for further consideration.

The faculty turned down the extension of the examination period from two hours to three. The final vote on the Saturday classes will be taken at the next faculty meeting on the first Wednesday in June.

HALLS FAVOR CHANGE IN WOMEN'S SPORTS

Susan Campbell and Hendricks are backing the "game-for-its-own-sake" attitude in sports to the limit. At the conference held Tuesday night to adjust the inequality in teams existing between halls and houses, the two big halls of residence voted a handicap upon themselves in the event that inter-house sports are retained at the mass meeting Monday.

The agreement as adopted provides that each hall will enter only as many candidates in a sport as are considered proportionate to the whole turn-out for the sport. The exact number allowed a hall will be determined in each case by the coach, house manager, and head of the sport.

It was further agreed that every hall team will be entered upon an individual competitive basis. Contrary to past custom, hall teams may now play other teams from the same hall.

This is one of the most positive indications of the change in attitude on the Oregon campus toward sports. In the past, the halls, fearing a split in house spirit, have refused to allow their teams to meet in competition.

The privilege was reserved by the halls of withdrawing this agreement at the end of next year if it does not prove successful, or extending it for another year for further trial, or adopting it as a permanent ruling.

JUNIOR VOD-VIL TICKETS ON SALE

Numbers to Be Exchanged For Reserved Seats; Limit is Forty Tickets

OFFICE WILL OPEN AT 10

Seats go on sale for the Junior Vod-vil this morning at 10 o'clock, it is announced, and the mad scramble of former years is expected to be avoided by the "number scheme," worked out by Jimmy Leake, who is in charge of the ticket sale. The idea failed to save the customary all night vigils, however, for Tuesday night, as early as eight o'clock, the candidates for best seats began to line up for their "numbers" which were scheduled to be given out the next afternoon. Those who got the numbers will be given seats in order this morning, but a limit of 40 seats is placed on a number.

Matinee May Be Given

In spite of the fact that all rehearsals are supposed to be private, enough students have seen parts of them to spread the news of the high quality of the junior class's greatest event, to all others on the campus, and a record demand for tickets is anticipated. The show will be given two nights, however, and it is hoped that all students can be accommodated. If the demand is heavy enough, a popular price matinee will be given Saturday.

Paul Krausse, in charge of the stage, has completed his final check-up on all acts, and reports that every one is ready to put their stuff across the footlights in grand theatrical style. "It's a show that would turn a Broadway revue manager green with envy," declares Krausse. "Every act is Orpheum quality, no less, and darn good Orpheum stuff at that."

High Quality Promised

Originality and humor will vie with high quality in the production. "Who Killed the Dead Pig?" written by Al Clark, teems with laughs, while plenty of laughs are interspersed throughout the other numbers. The highest in orchestration is reached by the Pi-d Pipers, whose offering will be as startling as it will be original and musical.

The Alpha Xi Delta's act, which is crammed full of well-liked musical selections, is declared by the few that have crept in to see and hear it, to be a revelation in this art. Jane Scriptures in jazz specialties, and the barber shop quartet in close harmony now have a bet up of supper after both shows on the amount of applause forthcoming. Delbert Faust now has his dancing act worked up to perfection, and he and his partner, Edna Dipple, are expected to prove one of the features for the show. Seats will sell at $1.00 and 75 cents, with every seat reserved, it is announced.

HERMIAN CLUB HEARS CAMP FIRE SECRETARY

"Health and Recreation Projects in the Harvest Fields of Oregon," was the subject of the address given by Miss Corin Degemarek, executive secretary of the Camp Fire girls in Oregon, at the meeting of the Hermitian club, Tuesday evening.

"This work," Miss Degemarek says, "is yet in the pioneer stage in our state. There are stations in New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware and Maryland. The work was initiated by a committee representing the National Women's Mission boards, functioning through the Council for Home Missions."

Bob McCabe Announces for Vice-President

Deloris Pearson is Candidate for Secretary; Elizabeth Cady Out for Editorship of Annual; Case and Johnson Make Race For Head of Emerald Four-cornered

By D. W.

After the first two days of relative quiet among the political camps, yesterday proved stimulating and more exciting. The big question, "Who will run for president?" was answered just five minutes before closing time for accepting candidacies, when Walter Malcolm's name was turned in for the chief executive position in the student body. But one running mate has announced himself. Bob McCabe aspires to the vice-presidency. DeLoris Pearson placed her name on the ballot for the position of keeping the student body minutes next year, as secretary.

The duel between Kirk and Miller developed into a four-some when Jim Case and Jalmar Johnson typed out their names and entered the lists to contest for the editor's chair of the Emerald. Only one student appears to wish the responsibility of getting out the annual next year. This is Elizabeth Cady, who signified her desire yesterday morning to head the Oregon staff. Besides these already mentioned a considerable number entered the ring for the executive and student council openings. Of these the student council vacancies of the senior and junior years appear to be the most desirable from the number of students announcing themselves. No one has placed his name for sophomore man on the Student Council, yell leader or junior woman on the student council, but it is probable candidates will be proposed for these places from the floor of assembly today.

Candidates are Active
Malcolm, a member of Phi Delta Theta, has been particularly active in dramatics and debate work, having engaged in each since his freshman year. He has represented the University in a number of varsity debates, one, the first radio debate, held between California and Oregon and another, the Oxford-Oregon debate, being particularly noteworthy. Each was won by the Oregon team. Malcolm is chairman of the forensic committee, a member of the student council, and was in charge of the annual yearbook.

DeLoris Pearson Enters
DeLoris Pearson, candidate for student body secretary, is a junior, and holds the position of secretary for her class this year. Miss Pearson in addition to participating in the Dance Drama in 1924 and the Junior Vodvil, has served on numerous committees. Among these are: student union drive, both years; Homecoming, 1924; Oxford debate; chairman Fine Arts building, Union county; junior shine day; canoe fete, 1924; upperclass party; and Women's league national convention. Miss Pearson is a member of Hendricks hall.

Jim Case, the third man to enter the race for editorship of the daily, has been connected with the staff for three years, having served as reporter, assistant night editor, night editor, upper news staff and day editor. Recently he served as assistant managing editor, when the position became vacant while the regular assistant was absent from school for some time. At present he holds the position of daily news editor. Case has been a member of the staff of the Oregonian, student body annual, and is associate editor for this year of that publication. He is vice-president of Sigma Delta Chi, national professional journalism fraternity, and a member of Delta Tau Delta fraternity.

Race Becomes Four-some
The fourth man to contest for the chief editorial position of the Emerald is Jalmar Johnson, a junior in the school of journalism, who holds the place of daily news editor on the daily. He has served before as reporter and night editor. Johnson also holds a position on the Morning Register, serving as a reporter. He is head of publicity of the Y. M. C. A. student cabinet, and has been active in Oregon club work. He is a member of Sigma Delta Chi, national professional journalism fraternity. Elizabeth Cady, sophomore in the school of journalism, is the only student announced for the editor-
