

BAILEY TO GIVE ORATION TONIGHT

Junior Law Student to Be University's Entrant In Pacific Forensic Contest

SPEECHES TO BE PRINTED

McCroskey to Represent Oregon in Tri-State Meet To Be Held in Seattle

Oregon will be represented at the Pacific Coast oratorical contest at O. A. C. tonight by Ralph Bailey, junior in pre-law, who will leave for Corvallis at ten o'clock this morning. Bailey was chosen at try-outs held on April 25, as orator of the University in this meet at the same time Benoit McCroskey was chosen representative for the Tri-State oratorical contest to be held in Seattle on May 22.

Bailey's oration is entitled "The Sin of Progress," in which he describes Russia's struggle toward political freedom, and appeals to Americans for a kindlier feeling towards Russia's efforts to establish a suitable form of democratic government.

Prize for Winner Tonight
Winner of first place in tonight's contest at O. A. C. will receive a prize of seventy-five dollars and winner of second place will receive fifty dollars. The event begins at 8 o'clock.

This contest is the first oratorical meet to be held by the Pacific Forensic League organized by coast colleges two years ago, with the exception of an extempore speaking contest held annually in the fall term. Members of the league who will be represented at O. A. C. are: Stanford, California, Oregon, Willamette, and Whitman universities; Oregon Agricultural college and Washington State college.

"Orations this year at the contest will be edited and printed in book form for the first time," said Oscar A. Brown yesterday. "The orations will then be used by the public speaking departments of the coast colleges. It is hoped to develop a distinct type of public speaking through this use, in the higher educational institutions on the Pacific coast."

Bailey in Eight Contests
Ralph Bailey, whose home is in Salem, has participated as a member of the University debate team in eight intercollegiate debates during the four years of his university forensic experience. The eighth debate was with the University of Idaho this year. Bailey represented the University in the Tri-State oratorical contest in 1922 at Seattle.

He graduated from Salem high school, in 1921, where he was a member of the debate team every year he was in school.

A banquet will be provided tonight by O. A. C. to the student speakers and their coaches.

LAW SCHOOL NINE INDEPENDENT CAMPUS BASEBALL CHAMPIONS

Jimmy King and his law school nine are the independent baseball champions on the campus. Aply assisted by Harry Scott and M. K. Cameron, the umpires who were paid by the lawyers, the law school nine defeated the sports writers in a closely contested game yesterday afternoon on Kincaid field.

The sports writers would have won had Captain George Godfrey been able to play. As it was, the fate of the sports writers was put in the hands of Sam Wilderman, treasurer of the sports writers' association, and a member of the law school student body. Love for the law school prevented Wilderman from giving his best efforts to the sports writers, and as a result the scribes lost.

Freddie Harrison, sports writer for the Willamette River Smelts Gazette, started to wind up in the pitcher's box. Frenchie DuPaul, president of the law school student body, whispered something in Freddie's ear, and Freddie threw his glove down and fled. It is said currency passed from DuPaul's

Sam the Swallow Leaves Dispensary Cured by Doctors

Sam, the swallow, is gone! He left without a word to his human pal after two days of intimate companionship, and Jimmy Leake feels rather badly about it. "He was such a congenial little fellow," he said, "I brought him over to the Kappa Sig house and introduced him to all the fellows. The boys took to him fine. He seemed as happy as possible then and never tried to get away."

Jimmy found him over by the music building, stunned and apparently paralyzed, trying desperately to hop around. "He was unable to walk, run, or swim," said his friend, "so I took him with me. But he was a stubborn bird. He couldn't fly and wouldn't eat. I finally took him over to Dr. Ross at the dispensary to see what he could do for him."

The doctor prescribed one tenth of a grain of calomel every fifteen minutes, apparently with the best results. When Sam was feeling better he was taken to the porch for a slight airing; but he immediately flew away without a word of farewell. Considering the time and affection he has wasted, Jimmy considers himself injured.

MARY HATHAWAY GIVEN PHI CHI THETA AWARD

Mary Jane Hathaway, was presented by Dean Straub with the $60 award given annually by Phi Chi Theta, national honorary commerce fraternity for women, at the regular assembly yesterday. This year's award is given to the one member of Phi Chi Theta who most nearly approximates its ideals of general ability.

During her sojourn on the campus, Mary Jane Hathaway participated in an unusual number of activities. In her sophomore year she was elected vice-president of her class; due to the enforced absence of the president, she performed that office. She made women's varsity baseball teams in her freshman and sophomore years and was prominent throughout her college career in doughnut athletics, basketball, hockey, and the rest. Last year she was head of Junior Prom, represented Phi Chi Theta at the national convention held in Chicago, was a member of the Flying Squadron in connection with the Student Union drive, president of Phi Chi Theta, having been elected to that organization in her sophomore year, besides being elected president last year of Heads of Houses. Vice-president of W. A. A., a member of the special gifts committee for the Student Union drive, manager of the class formal in her sophomore year, and participation on all the homecoming committees explain in part her campus-wide fame and acquaintanceship.

poCKET during the conversation. This is merely hearsay, however, as Harrison borrowed money for car fare last night.

Paul Patterson of the law students did some marvelous fielding. His base running was perfect, but once he was caught trying to steal home from first base.

Bert Gooding, the lawyers' catcher, tried to catch Battling Nelson's fast-breaking round-house drops with his bare hands and as a result the First Christian hospital has a new patient.

Parley Stoddard, reporter for the Police Gazette, was the hero for the sports writers. He made three hits in three trips to the platter. He had an offer to play in the big leagues, but turned it down as he wants to stick with the scribes.

Stoddard and Gooding made three hits each. Keech, Evans, King, Nelson, and Patterson of the lawyers, and Rice and Hannicutt of the scribes, made two hits each. Dick Godfrey had a perfect day for the scribes making no hits and no runs and no errors.

BUT ONE NOMINEE SEEKS PRESIDENCY

EXPECT CROWDS FOR VAUDEVILLE

Seats for Saturday Night Already Sold Out; Other Tickets Are Going Fast

DRESS REHEARSAL GOOD

The campus awaits—ah! The gala event in the history of the junior class begins promptly at 8:20 tonight at the Heilig theatre. Junior Vod-vil—this year a show that will eclipse anything ever before attempted, will open its three performance run, and crowded houses are expected for each one, says Manager James W. Leake.

Seats for Saturday night are all, all gone, declares Leake, but several seats, in twos and fours, are available for tonight, and the entire house will be open, at fifty cents general admission tomorrow afternoon. "The matinee will be just as good as the evening performance," declares Paul Krause, who is managing things back stage, "and Friday night is to be a gala occasion, too. In fact, it's going to be three rounds of continual pleasure!"

Stage All Set

A dress rehearsal held late last night went off just right. Every act was in place, and except for occasional cues to the orchestra, it was a regular performance. The lilted, throbbing harmony of the Pi-d Pipers created a consternation with the feet of those present, and the act had to be cut short so that the stage carpenters would get to work. If "Who Killed the Dead Pig" gets over as heavy tonight as it did at rehearsal, a flock of booking agents will be hot after it. Al Clark has here, beyond a doubt, earned the right to a slab in the Oregon hall of fame.

The Alpha Xi Delta musical act brought out the fact that harmony after all is a quality that wins instantly. This act will be one of the most pleasing on the bill. Jane Scriptures lilted and trilled several of the selections she will give tonight, in a most fetching way.

Delbert Faust can dance, and his partner is not only a good stepper but is good to look upon as well. Her name is Edna Dipple—look up her phone number yourself!

Frolic Act Improved

The Gamma Phi Beta act is better, faster and jazzier, more eccentric than it was when it won the April Frolic prize, and it is up-to-the-minute in every way.

And the Barber Shop quartet?—Well, they were still busy honing away on sharp notes at a late hour last night. Their quality is just about top-hole. They will spend all day practicing up on encores.

The show as a whole is undoubtedly one of the best vaudeville aggregations to ever hit the Heilig stage—and that is saying a lot. Seats for tonight—a few—and if you're left out, come tomorrow afternoon!

BIOLOGISTS LEAVE TODAY FOR WEEK-END AT NEWPORT

Students interested in biological sea forms will leave in cars for Newport today noon. The party accompanied by Miss Vesta Holt, zoology instructor, and two student assistants will camp on the beach near Newport and will spend Saturday and Sunday collecting sea forms on the rocks around the light-house. All specimens collected by the group will be brought back for study in the laboratory. Last year a similar trip was made, resulting in interesting work for those carrying in this form of zoology. The party will return Sunday night.

Business School Acquires 129 Pound Lot of Quizz Paper

The school of business administration has just acquired its final stock of quizz paper, 18,000 sheets, eight by eleven inches, which amount it is expected will be used in the next four weeks' reviews and quizzes before exam week.

Standing beside the pile of paper, the business administration instructor had to look up to half again his height, and an estimate of its weight was 129 pounds, nearly enough to print one day's edition of the Emerald.

A. B. Stillman, secretary of the school of administration, smiled as he remarked, "It would be interesting to determine the inches of lead and the quarts of ink that will be used on this quizz paper. We endeavor to supply the paper, but give up when it comes to ink and lead, to say nothing of the gray matter."

"No question that the faculty will be astonished by the mass of information that will come in on the paper—we always are! We don't have a poetry column, but we have something just as good, for some of the answers are certainly 'free expressions of young souls'."

O.A.C. DEAN TO LEAD PILGRIMAGE TO ORIENT

U. G. Dubach, dean of men at O. A. C., will lead a group of ten men on a pilgrimage of friendship to the Orient this summer. These men will be students and professors from the institutions of higher learning in the Northwest, and will go for the two-fold purpose of promoting international friendship and acquiring a knowledge of the Orient.

Last year a group of 15 made the pilgrimage under the leadership of Norman E. Coleman, president of Reed college. Only ten are to go this year, and they will pay their own expenses, which are estimated at $825 for twelve weeks. The University of Oregon was not represented in the group last year, but anyone desiring to go this year should consult H. W. Davis of the campus Y. M. C. A.

It is planned to leave San Francisco, June 23, on the Taiyo Maru, and return to Vancouver, September 7, on the Empress of Asia.

PHI BETA KAPPA WILL INITIATE LAST OF MAY

Phi Beta Kappa, national scholarship fraternity, will meet next Tuesday to elect students of the senior class to membership in the Oregon chapter. The committee now has a list of seniors having high grades, and from these a certain percentage will be selected.

Calibre as students as well as grades will determine eligibility. Grades are considered for three years, the first term of the first year not being included.

Initiation of new members will take place the last of May. An outside speaker will be secured for this occasion, and Phi Beta Kappa will unite with Sigma Xi, honorary scientific fraternity, in a banquet for new members. The initiations of the two societies will be separate.

Several out-of-town members previously elected will also be taken into Phi Beta Kappa at this meeting.

Doughnut Sports on Trial

Do Oregon women want doughnut sports abolished? All women interested in the sport program for next year turn out for the big mass meeting Monday, May 11, at 5 o'clock, in the Women's gymnasium.

Ager Opposes Bob McCabe for Vice President

Candidates for Editor of Oregona and Secretary of Student Body Unopposed; Bob Love Named to Oppose Klep on Junior Council; Freddie Martin Seeks Re-election

Unless a dark horse appears at the eleventh hour, Walter Malcom will be the next president of the Associated Students of the University of Oregon. When the nominations for A. S. U. O. officers closed yesterday at assembly, the offices of president, secretary, yell king and editor of Oregona stood uncontested.

Paul Ager, prominent student athlete and executive, will run against Bob McCabe for the vice-presidency.

A proposed amendment to the A. S. U. O. constitution creating a building fund and another, providing for a student manager system were read.

The proposed building fund would make possible a new grandstand this summer, a basketball pavilion next year and a student union within three years, bringing the completion of the latter within the time of the present generation of students. The proposed amendment will also abolish drives for building funds among the students and will establish a sound building program for the future.

In explaining the building fund amendment, Randall Jones pointed out the imperative need for a measure of this sort and urged the campus to give the proposed amendment careful consideration as intelligent progressive students of the University of Oregon.

It was stated that Oregon contributes more than any other state toward higher education, that the existing inadequate funds precipitate two possible alternatives—either that of lowering University standards or restricting the registration.

There was a sensational pause when it became evident to the nomination body that the office of student body president, for the first time in twelve years, would go on the ballot uncontested. Bob McCabe and Paul Ager were nominated for the vice-presidency. DeLoris Pearson's nomination for secretary went uncontested.

Candidates for editor of the Emerald are Jim Case, Jalmar E. Johnson, Harold Kirk and Edward Miller. Sol Abramson's "battle cry," refuses to commit himself upon the poetry issue.

Executive council nominees are as follows: Senior woman—Maurine Buchanan, Margaret Vincent; Junior man—Rolf Klep, Bob Love.

Student council nominations: Senior men—Louis Carlson, Carl Dahl, Dick Lyman, Floyd McKalson and Ted Tamba. Senior women—Vivian Harper, Dorothy, Abbott, Adrienne Hazard, Jo-Ann Warwick, Marie Gilkeson, and Ellen McClellen. Junior men—Lowell Baker, James Forestel, Bob Neighbors, Richard M. Nance and Eugene F. Richmond. Junior woman—Betty Beans, Glenna Fisher, Doris Brophy and Jean Harper. Sophomore man—Bob Stenzel and Bob Overstreet.

Freddie Martin was nominated for re-election as yell king. Elizabeth Cady's nomination to the office of editor of the Oregona was uncontested.

VARIED PROGRAM FOR WEEK-END PROVIDED

Not only students that are having their own parents down for the coming week-end, but all students are asked to work together to make Mothers' and Fathers' week-end a success.

Bill Poulsen, chairman, and Jean Harper, Roy Bryson, Pauline Bondurant, and Beatrice Peters, make up the committee handling arrangements for Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

The Junior Vodvil on Friday and Saturday nights will attract many of the parents. Saturday afternoon a tea is being given by the Women's League at Alumni hall for the visiting mothers. The fathers will go to the baseball game on the same afternoon. Sunday evening, vespers, services will be held at the University Music hall from 4 to 5 p. m. This has been especially arranged so that parents who expect to return to Portland on the 6 o'clock train will have plenty of time in which to make it.

In addition to the regular scheduled events, entertainment and hospitality will be shown to the parents in the men's and women's organizations of the campus.
