

SEATTLE RELAY GOAL OF VARSITY

Fastest Runners on Pacific Coast Will Run

14 MEN MAKE TRIP

The fourteen-man Oregon team to enter the sixth annual University of Washington relays will reach Seattle sometime this morning for a light workout before the big event in the afternoon. Seven colleges in the northwest are entering strong teams to make the annual relay carnival one of the most successful from the standpoint of attendance alone. The fastest runners on the Pacific coast will be running in this carnival as is indicated by the lists of entries which have been coming into the office of the manager of the carnival.

Special Century Event

A great deal of interest is centered on the special 100-yard event as several men on the coast have been clipping it off around Charlie Paddock's time and if the conditions are correct up on the Washington oval it is probable another record will be tied or broken. Sweet of Montana, Brice of U. S. C. and Clarke from the University of Washington are the outstanding sprinters in the meet. The sport writers up north credited Westerman with a good chance in the special event but he was unable to enter on account of a bad leg which has slowed him up.

The University of Southern California with a 20-man team promises to make a strong bid for the top honors. They will enter teams in every event and from their showing in the meets down south they are at least doped to place high.

Aggies Have Strong Team

O. A. C. will probably have the strongest four mile team in the meet. Washington promises to show their caliber in the two mile relay. They are also strong in the mile. Oregon with possibly the best relay team in years is prepared to place high in the event. The medley will be the thriller with all the sensational runners on the coast entered. Oregon has a good chance to win the two-mile, the half mile and the mile with a fighting chance in the medley.

Some upsets in the entries compelled Bill Hayward to leave some of his men behind. Walt Kelsey, the fastest 220 man on the team and winner in the tryouts by four yards, was not taken up on account of illness. Gilbert Hermance, one of Bill's most promising 440 men, was taken in his place to run the furlong. The other men in the event are Jerry Extra, Francis Cleaver and Proe Flannigan.

Kinney in Mile Event

The mile relay team will be composed of Jim Kinney, Joe Price, Pen Wilbur and Don Cash. Big Jim Kinney, fastest man on the team, will be the big yard gainer in this event. The other three men have come up from the frosh squad of last year.

In the two-mile Hayward will enter Fred Gerke, Guy Mauney, Ken Stephenson and Ivan Houston. The team last year placed third in the event when they were making much slower times than this season. Gerke and Mauney have fighting sprints in their races, which will help them a great deal against the other fast half milers on the coast. Stephenson and Houston are strong second placers.

The medley will be run by Henry Tetz for the mile, Ben Sussman or Gerke in the half, Kinney in the 440 and either Extra or Flannigan in the 220. Tetz has been cutting his time down consistently in the distance event. He is expected to do better than ever in the northern meet. Bill Hayward, in view of the strong competition, has hopes of winning at least one event and possibly two.

Jole Ray Will Run

The seven colleges entering the sixth Annual Relay Carnival are: Oregon Agricultural college, Idaho, Montana, Washington State, University of Washington, University of Southern California and the University of Oregon. All are entering teams numbering from 14 to 23 men. Jole Ray will be the feature runner in place of Pavvo Nurmi, who could not attend the meet.

ner has a neat pair of feet and he shuffles beautifully. The word seductive, used advisedly here, brings up an interesting controversy. Mr. Mencken in his journal recently made the assertion that jazz, when compared to certain classical compositions, is neither seductive, salacious, nor licentious. Ministers of the gospel, however, differ with him, and an interesting item from the press of a few months ago described the horrible sensations of a dean of women in a middle western college who felt herself slowly but surely succumbing to the strains of a fox-trot being played by a dance orchestra.

The music of the Pipers, in this writer's opinion, is slightly tainted. Yes, it also is "tam" good.

A barber-shop quartette that works is the fifth number on the program. The quartette can make excellent harmony, when they are in tune.

Gamma Phi Beta's wondrous jubilee is colorful and imaginative. Their Mad Hatter chorus is very good.

Wooten-Wilson, et al should go on the legitimate stage. They are wasting their time in this "hole of the Philistines."

Delbert Faust and Edna Dipple essay rather a large undertaking in presenting some of the dances presented by Pavlova on her last western tour. Aesthetic dancing requires years of rigid training, and it also requires perfect conditioning. The three dances which closed the bill at last night's performance were fairly well done. However, in the realm of the purely aesthetic the demands of critics are exacting. As before stated, Mr. Faust essayed a great deal.

The Vod-vil will be repeated to-night.

and instructor in philosophy, has been dismissed from the staff of the University, it is understood. No reason was given for this action. Although it was stated in the report that E. S. Bates, member of the philosophy staff, now on leave in Europe, had the resignation had been accepted. It is doubted whether or not a resignation was actually submitted.

The retirement of Mr. Miller from the staff of the philosophy department leaves but one man on the staff: George Rebec.

SPRING WEATHER PROVES GOOD FOR STUDENT JOBS

Jobs for students and students for jobs are keeping pretty well in step, according to "Mother" C. R. Donnelly of the campus Y. M. C. A. During the recent rainy weather, jobs were a bit behind, but the sunny spell that has followed seems to have speeded them up a bit, and now Mother Donnelly has about enough work for all the boys who come to her. Most of the jobs are working in gardens, mowing lawns, and helping with the spring house-cleaning. The standard rates of wages is 40 cents an hour.

PAINTING COLLECTION TO BE SHOWN MONDAY

Exhibit Contains Works By Western Artists

A collection of paintings by artists of the northwest, will arrive on the campus this week-end and be exhibited in the gallery of the Fine Arts building, Monday. The exhibition, which is sponsored by the Seattle Society of Fine Arts, contains approximately 36 paintings. Many of these are of landscapes and marine views along the Pacific coast from Alaska to Southern California; as well, there are figures and flower studies. The majority are in oil and water colors, but one is a decorative flower study that is embroidered; the work of Annette Edens of Seattle.

A picture which will probably prove interesting not only because of its beauty of color, but from a historical standpoint, is that of an Alaskan Totem Village, painted by M. E. Carr. It was painted about ten years ago when the totem poles were standing, but now they have been carried away or partially demolished, so that the picture is the only real evidence that shows the village existed. Archeologists of the University of Washington believe the picture will be bought by a museum because of its historical value.

Among other painters who figure largely in art circles of the coast and whose work will be featured, is Helen Rhodes, who formerly was the head of the Normal Arts department here, and who is now an instructor in the art department of the University of Washington. Her work is strikingly individualistic and modern in idea and treatment, as is that of Alfreda Storm, another Seattle artist. Lydia Cox, a painter who came recently from the Middle West, is new in the Northwest colony, and has become popular by her work in the exhibit.

There are several students of the University of Washington and several graduates who have placed pictures in the exhibit, some of whom have won honors and prizes in various cities along the coast.

Dr. Heicher, who holds a Ph. D. degree from New York university, is considered by the vesper committee as an ideal man to speak on this occasion as he is young and has kept in contact with student thinking. He is known as an unusually effective and natural speaker.
