ATTEND MUSIC MEET

Rex Underwood Lectures on Violin Technique

Several prominent members of the school of music faculty attended the annual meeting of the Oregon State Music Teachers' association, held in Portland at the Elks' Temple last week-end. An illustrated lecture was given by Rex Underwood, head of the violin department, on the "Psychology of the Hand of Relation to Violin Playing" at the Friday meeting of the association. Mr. Underwood is a nationally known authority on this phase of technique; his method of hand development is indorsed by Fritz Kreisler, and many other internationally recognized artists are recommending his work in this line.

The University String Quartette, composed of Lora Teshner, cello; Rex Underwood, violin; Alberta Potter, violin; Buford Roach, viola, and Mrs. Jane Thacher, piano, playing the three movements of the Schumann Quintette at the banquet last Saturday evening in the Elks' Temple, which brought to a close the 1925 meeting of the association. The quartette was enthusiastically received, and many predictions were made as to the successful future of the organization.

The quartette was organized last year by Rex Underwood and since then it has held a prominent place on many programs in the State. The future of the organization is unusually promising, as every member is an artist and there is no other professional string quartette in Eugene. This type of work has always won high favor in Europe, and the Flonzaley Quartette has a derived international distinction. An abundance of compositions have been written for groups of this type, but only superior musicians can perform them with any degree of proficiency.

the present athletic policy.
5. To support the adoption and execution of the proposed $5 fee amendment.
6. To strive for a greater Emerald in the interests of a greater Oregon.

JAMES CASE.

I am in favor of a progressive "Emerald." My attitude towards the University daily has been explained in assembly and may be read in full on the campus today. I wish to state that I am heartily in accord with the proposed $5.00 fee addition. I am anxious to lend my support to this amendment.

EDWARD MILLER.

Equal representation of all departments and schools of the University in the columns of the Emerald is the main plank in my platform as candidate for the editorship. Too much publicity for certain departments and too little for others has been one of the chief complaints against the campus paper in the past and it is my idea to remedy this by the establishment of an editorial board appointed by the various department student bodies.

My editorial policy would neither be radical nor reactionary, but a mean between these two extremes by which the whole campus could express its views in the Emerald columns.

I believe in furthering the gift campaign now being staged by the University, but I would not endorse every move made by those in charge of it without careful study and a fair exchange of opinion in the communication columns.

A spirit of co-operation between the student body officials, the faculty, the University authorities, and the editor, I believe is necessary for the publishing of a good campus paper. As editor, however, I would carry on an editorial policy that I believe to be for the betterment of the entire student body if the school authorities appeared in a contrary position or tried by unrighteous means to force their legislation upon the students.

I would be responsible to the student body of the University as a whole, only, and would not be directed by a smaller group nor responsible to it for my actions.

I'm for the $5.00 fee to be voted for at the election tomorrow. I am also for an Emerald that represents the whole campus. If elected I will strive to publish a paper that will reflect every department and school activity in the University. Responsibility to the student body as a whole and to no other group is the main plank in my platform.
