

MC CROSKY TO SPEAK ON PEACE PROBLEM

Title-winning Speech to Be Given Over Radio

"The Last Milestone" is the title of the radio lecture broadcast Friday night at 8 o'clock from radio KGW of the Morning Oregonian by Benoit McCroskey, freshman in pre-law and winner of the state oratorical contest. That there is today no problem so pressing, so perplexing, or so paramount as that of peace will be the theme of the address the speaker will give to the radio audience.

McCroskey believes that today far from profiting from the recent upheaval, the nations of the world have outwardly signed disarmament agreements, but in reality watch their neighbors with a wary and distrustful eye. "There was a time when war was a normal state of society and the chief concern of every able bodied man. There was a time when intolerance was law, when diabolical deeds typified true patriotism, and when to be a foreigner was to be an enemy," according to the message that the champion state orator will convey to his radio audience.

He will point out that every treaty and international conference, weak though it may be, marks a conscious effort to break down race prejudice which inevitably leads to war.

The problems of the world have become the problems of the United States and the other countries of the world. There is no such thing as isolation. We are bound to have an interest in foreign relations. The nations of the world are commercially and economically dependent upon each other.

The question of settling wars is not a question of force, McCroskey believes. He will tell his listeners that the force already exists. The question is the application and direction of the force along right channels, say the League of Nations.

STUDENT PILGRIMAGE PLANNED BY Y.W.C.A.

A Student Friendship Pilgrimage to Europe is being planned for the coming summer by the executive committee of the national organization of the Y. W. C. A. During her recent visit upon the campus, Miss Elsie Heller, national secretary for the northwest field, had with her a letter from the national committee which stated that the pilgrimage is "open to members of our movement who want to know students in other countries and who would like to know some of the political, economic and religious problems of the countries in Europe first hand."

The journey is to be one of pleasure as well as study and through the arrangements of Mr. Hoffman of the World's Student Christian Federation office, committees of members of the Student Movement will act as hosts in each country visited. These committees will arrange sight-seeing expeditions and meetings. Countries included in the itinerary are: England, France, Germany, Holland, Switzerland, Italy, Austria and Czechoslovakia.

Among the meetings and conferences to be attended are included: The British Student Conference; Studenski Domov at Prague; World's Student Christian Federation at Geneva; Committee on Intellectual Cooperation for the League of Nations at Geneva; first session of the League of Nations at Geneva; Conference of the Federation of the Universities League of Nations Union.

The travelers will have an opportunity to come in touch with leaders of the Student Movement throughout Europe. While in Germany, they will meet with members of the Roman Catholic Student Movement, so that they may learn the relation of the Roman church to present day problems. Several days will be spent in Geneva to study internationalism in all its aspects.

Upperclassmen, faculty members and Y. W. C. A. leaders are eligible to join the pilgrimage. Students will have the preference. Already several students and instructors have indicated intentions of going. There are two girls from California, Miss Heller announced and probably there will be one or two from the Pacific northwest. The party will sail from New York July 1 on the Aquitania and will return via the S. S. Berengaria, arriving in New York August 21. The cost will be $545 for the trip with $100 extra for personal expenses including the passport, if they are 20 in the party. If, however, the party includes only ten, expenses will be $25 more. Further details may be had by communicating with Miss Magowan at the campus Bungalow.

HOWARD HOBSON HEADS TEAM WITH .523 BATTING AVERAGE

Howard Hobson, steller second baseman of the Oregon baseball nine, tops the batting list so far this season with the high average of .523. The offensive work of Hobson up to date has been one of the sensations of the season; he has collected 11 hits in 21 times at bat for a total of 14 bases. He also leads his teammates in base stealing with a total of four, and is tied at two each, with Frank Reinhart and Freddy West for the most two-baggers.

Rex Adolph comes next to Hobson on the batting list with a fat average of .473. Rex has collected nine hits out of 19 times at bat for a total of 12 bases. Adolph has been the only one on the team so far this season to knock a home run. The best part of Adolph's playing has been on the defense. He has handled 48 chances at first base without an error.

Next on the batting list comes Sam Cook, with an average of .300. Sam has kept his name in the 300 column by hitting safely in every game so far.

Following Sam, comes Jack Bliss with a batting average of .285. Jack's average took a drop in the last game when he failed to get a hit. Jack leads the team in three-base hits with a total of three.

Frank Reinhart has collected the most runs for the team with a total of six to his credit. Frank's hitting has taken a slump in the last two games, but he should hit his stride soon and climb into the 300 class before the season closes. He has received the most bases on balls with a total of five.

Following are the batting and fielding averages of the team up to date:

$25 PRIZE IS OFFERED FOR INDIAN ESSAY

Award Will Be Given By Mrs. Ada Millican

Mrs. Ada B. Millican, of Eugene, student and friend of the American Indian, yesterday announced that she would offer a prize of $25 for the best essay on some phase of the general subject "Our First Americans." Details of the contest will be announced later as worked out," Mrs. Millican said. The contest will be conducted under the direction of the faculty committee on awards.

Since so little of the present college year remains, the contest will be held next year. It is the idea of the donor, however, that anyone interested in the Indian might avail himself of part of his vacation period to acquire some first-hand information on the original inhabitants of this country.

"Some of the students," said Mrs. Millican, "might be willing to spend a part of their vacation on Indian reservations adjacent to their homes where they could collect information of value in connection with the contest."

The essays are to be 2,000 words in length. It is Mrs. Millican's hope that essays worthy of publication will be produced.

The donor of this latest prize is chairman of the Indian welfare committee of the Oregon State Federation of Women's Clubs, a position she has held for four years. She has been interested in Indian education and welfare for more than a quarter of a century. She has had six years of experience as a teacher of Indians in Utah, Arizona, and Washington; and is particularly interested in Indian arts and crafts, and is also the collector of the specimens of Indian handicraft on display in the Woman's building. She was formerly a student in the University.

OREGONIAN FEATURES ARTICLE BY PACKARD

Geologic Development of Oregon is Subject

The Sunday Oregonian is publishing a series of articles on Oregon geology written by the professors of geology in the University. The third of the series, describing the geological development of the state, which appeared as a featured story in Sunday's paper, was written by Professor Earl L. Packard, professor of historical geology.

"The highway traveler could scarcely hope for a better introduction to the geologic features and the geologic history of the state than is afforded him as he enters the Siskiyou portal," says Professor Packard in the story. "Ascending the long winding grade from the Cottonwood tributary of the Klamath river, he passes in rapid succession layer upon layer of rock representing the foundation and even the super-structure of a mountain range. Then as he glides down into the welcome shade of the northern slope of the Siskiyou, the geologic sequence is passed over in reverse order and the autoist may review the evidence of events that transpired even before the birth of the Cascade range."

The story told by these rocks begins with the metamorphosed sediments that were laid down approximately 30,000,000 years ago. The great lost interval of Oregon geology, marked by the upheaval and subsequent erosion of great mountain systems; the Paleozoic sea that is thought to have swept across southern Oregon; and the life of the seas of that time, as recorded in the rocks, are interpreted and explained.

IAN CAMPBELL SENDS SAMPLES OF MINERAL

Samples of serendibite, a rare mineral have been received by Dr. Edwin T. Hodge, professor of economic geology, recently from Ian Campbell, a graduate of the department. Mr. Campbell received his bachelor's degree here in 1922, and his master's degree in 1924. Last year he acted as a graduate assistant in Northwestern university, and now he is studying at Harvard, under Professor Palachi, for his doctor's degree.

RECORDS TO READ PAPER BEFORE PHI DELTA KAPPA

In the article in yesterday's Emerald concerning the coming meeting of Phi Delta Kappa, the statement that a paper would be read by Dr. Raymond H. Wheeler, was erroneous. The paper, which will be on the "Functions of the Endocrine Glands," will be read by Oscar W. Richards, instructor in the department of zoology.

MISS MARY J. SHELLY IS JUDGE AT MAY FESTIVAL

Miss Mary Josephine Shelly, of the department of physical education went to Monmouth Friday where she was one of the judges at the May festival held annually at the Oregon Normal school. Miss Florence Alden, head of the department of physical education for women, went to Monmouth Saturday to attend the festival. This annual event at the Normal is composed largely of aesthetic dancing and pageantry.

TALKS ON VOCATION GIVEN U. H. S. CLASS

Talks by representative members of different vocations have been the outstanding features of the class studying occupations, under E. R. Means at the University high school.

L. J. Temple, vice president of the First National bank, Gordon Wells, assistant district attorney, and several others have been recent speakers. Ralph Casey, instructor in the journalism department, was Tuesday's speaker.

"We do not attempt to make a personal study of the ability of each student and tell them that they should do this, or that they should do that. We place the facts before them and let them judge an occupation and their own adaptability for themselves," said H. Benjamin, principal.
