

LAWYER NINE TO PLAY BETAS, MONDAY AT 3

Winner Will Be Champion
Of Whole Campus

The big campus baseball game of the year, between the famous lawyer nine and the Betas, doughnut champs, will be played next Monday on Kincaid field at 3 p. m. This promises to be a very interesting game, as the winner of the melee will be dubbed "the closed and open champion of the campus." Neither of the teams has lost a game during the season, and they have been practicing overtime of late in anticipation of a hard fight. Tuesday, the lawyer nine handed out a fearful drubbing to Bill Sorsby's erstwhile baseball team. This fact, coupled with the downfall of the mighty scribblers, leads the young barristers to feel that they have attained their place in the sun. They emphatically assert their right to be called the independent champions of the campus, and they are so confident in their prowess that they have condescended to accept the challenge of the Betas. Jimmy King, captain of the lawyers, said, "Sure we can beat them! If we didn't know we could beat them, do you think we would play them?" The Betas haven't made any threats as to the outcome of the game, but they wander around with that quiet look, as though they considered it quite an inconsequential matter.

MUSIC SCHOOL OFFERS SUMMER CLASS WORK

Faculty Will Consist of Regular Instructors

Of interest to many on the campus is the announcement that the University school of music will hold a summer session from June 22 to July 31. With the exception of Prudence E. Clark of the Wither- spoon Studios, a well-known con- tralto, all the instructors during this session are regular members of the school of music faculty. The completion of the music auditorium, with its unexcelled equipment, offers greater oppor- tunity for intensive study than ever before. Voice and repertoire will be taught by Mrs. Clark, who is well known in Eugene for her musical ability. Alberta Potter, who leaves in the fall to be head of the violin department in the Alabama State Women's college, will direct the classes in violin and orchestration. Public school methods and musical science will be taught by Anne Landsbury Beck. John Stark Evans, associate dean of the school of music and director of the combined glee clubs, will have students in organ, piano, advanced harmony, and composition. Registration day for these courses is June 22. Students may apply in advance to Mr. Evans, at the school of music.

JOINT PICNIC WILL BE HELD BY OREGON AND O.A.C. CLUBS

The annual picnic of the Cosmo- politan club will be held this year in conjunction with the O. A. C. Cosmopolitan club. Harrisburg has been selected as a convenient point between Eugene and Corvallis. The Eugene club will leave Saturday, at two o'clock, returning late in the evening. The party will travel by auto stage.

Saturday Classes are Approved; Schedule to Allow for One Day Off

(Continued from page one) waste of class room space has been brought about by an aversion in general for afternoon classes. Another reason has been afternoon laboratories. With a reduction in the number of morning classes, however, there would be opportu- nity of having laboratories in the morning, thereby releasing the af- ternoon hours to classes.

By means of the new system, the faculty has sought solution to an ever-growing problem. It is its be- lief that Saturday classes will not only allow for an increase in the amount of usable time, but will eliminate large classes. The chang- es will be made with the idea of causing the students as little in- convenience as possible.

Can You Beat It?

Eugene's building permits so far this year are on a par with other cities of 100,000 population. We are furnishing the greater part of the lumber used in the construction of these many buildings. The reason for this is our prices are always right and our material and service the very best. Do not purchase that lumber bill without first consulting us and inspecting our big stock of lumber right at Eugene's door.

Are they going to remember You?

Those wonderful friends of yours who are graduating, will they always remember you as a pal who shared with them the joy of the biggest thing in their college lives? Will they remember you as the chum who added one more thrill to this most important day of their four years at Oregon?

Or will you simply be one of the bunch, who, through their negligence, forgot the honor that is theirs at commencement?

A little time spent in the thoughtful selection of a graduation present now will cement a friendship that will grow dearer through life. If you have any friends worth calling friends, this is the time to demonstrate your appreciation of them.

And you need not go broke buying gifts. At LUCKY'S you are offered an array of articles that are unsurpassed in their delightfulness. No matter how little you have to spend, there is a unique gift here that will warm the heart of anyone.
