

ANNUAL PARADE AND FROSH MIX WILL BE UNIQUE

Committee Heads of Affairs State That All Is Ready For Traditional Fete

Sophomores Will Distribute Posters On Friday Night As Warning to Yearlings

More than one freshman is looking forward with some degree of anxiety to the frosh parade and underclass mix, preparations for which are almost entirely completed for the opening ceremonies on Skinner's Butte at the "O" tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock.

Sophomores and underclassmen are anticipating an exciting morning with a great deal of enjoyment in the realization of the fact that their's is not the most strenuous lot of the lively program.

Committees from the junior and sophomore classes have made all arrangements such as providing implements of destruction for the mix, and the sophomores have their paddles detachment ready and waiting for the parade.

Arrangements have been made for Hayward field, the point for the "O" has been purchased, the officials for the mix chosen, and those who are to handle the lid crowning climax are prepared.

Plans Are Formed

"Plans are all completed for the annual Frosh parade and underclass mix," Arthur Prialux, who is in charge of arrangements, said yesterday. "We expect one of the most successful events in recent years. Our committees are all working to put this thing over big and show everyone that several big events can take place in one day. Every possible precaution is being taken to see that no accident occurs, and we ask that participating underclassmen bear this in mind and obey the wishes of the committee. This will be the biggest event of its kind in the history of the University."

Fred West, chairman of the mix, who met with the junior class committee Tuesday night, reported favorable progress. Surprises, he says, are to be one of the features of the mix.

Posters Out Saturday

Posters will be distributed, as in former years, for the benefit of the freshmen sometime before Saturday morning. Members of To-Ko-Lo, which is handling the parade, will wear official badges as directors of the parade Saturday.

At the sophomore meeting held in Villard hall yesterday Bob Keeney, in charge of arrangements for the bands to take part in Saturday's parade, stated that a freshman and sophomore band, besides taking part in the parade, will compete for points during the mix.

Babes Hold Practice

Freshmen held a yell practice under the direction of Fred Martin, yell king, at Hayward field yesterday afternoon. The practice is expected to aid the babes in the mix Saturday for singing and yelling Oregon songs and yells will be a bi feature of the contests and both men and women of the two classes will take part in it.

"This combined event, the parade-mix" said Benoit McCroskey, president of the sophomore class yesterday, "affords the first opportunity that the class of 1925 has to make an organized bow to the Oregon campus. We expect that, as has been the case in past years, they will take full advantage of that opportunity. The real purpose of the event is to give new students their first lesson in organizations and the Oregon traditions."

It will not be necessary for the freshmen football squad, according to Spike Leslie, football coach, to participate in either the parade or mix. Leslie requests that every man on the squad report for regular practice Saturday morning.

Sixty-Five Register In Horseback Riding Classes This Term

Compulsory $10 Gym Fee Causes Decrease

About 65 girls, mainly freshmen, have taken advantage of the horseback riding classes offered in place of gymnasium again this year by the Bangs Riding Academy. The enrolment, which rose to 95 last fall has fallen this year to practically its original size of three years ago. This is due mainly to the fact that the $10 requisite gymnasium fee must also be paid, according to Abe Bangs, owner of the academy, although the individual gymnasium classes draw some from his list.

The girls will wear chaps this year during the rainy season which will be an inducement to numbers who in previous years shrank from the sport during the winter term.

"The fifteen head of horses to be used are in very good shape for the coming season," said Mr. Boyd, assistant to Mr. Bangs in teaching.

JANET YOUNG TO PLAY HERE MONDAY EVENING

"Pygmalion" To Be Given By Moroni Olsen Players

Again student and faculty of the University will have the pleasure of greeting a graduate who is having a most interesting career, and who is achieving a very promising success on the stage—Miss Janet Young. Miss Young comes with the Moroni Olsen Players who present "Pygmalion" at the Heilig theater next Monday night, October 5. She plays the part of Liza Doolittle, a London flower girl, who is trained by a scientific teacher into a brilliant and beautiful society woman.

But other things happen in the play too. There is jolly Pickering and Shakesperian Doolittle, Liza's father, who makes one appreciate how much of contemporary fun and laughter the dramatist has created with his "curbstone English" and laughter the dramatist has created "commercial millionaires". Do any of us ever understand what we're doing? If we did, would we ever do it. Will we find ourselves at the end of the gay comedy giving the same answer as Mrs. Higgins and Henry?

The Moroni Olsen Players are a circuit repertory company playing in Utah, Montana, Idaho, Washington and Oregon. Last year, their second year they had 30 towns on their circuit—just twice as many as they had the first year. This year they have 50 towns, including practically every university and normal school town in the northwestern states as well as such cities as Tacoma, Seattle, Spokane, Portland, Butte, Boise and Salt Lake City. Every town on their circuit last year is back again this year, and twenty new towns.

All of the company are college folk, Miss Young being a member of Delta Gamma and Moroni Olsen, director of the company, is a Sigma Chi.

SEVENTY-FIVE GIRLS AIDED BY Y. W. C. A.

The large enrollment of students and the increase in fees has given the Y. W. C. A. an opportunity to aid 75 university women in obtaining jobs. The situations secured include stenographic work, ushering at theaters, "hashing" at restaurants and general housework.

Quite a number of students have been given permanent work in private homes where they will work for their board and room. The townspeople are co-operating with the Y. W. by offering as many jobs as possible to students, in preference to others.

Miss Magowan, secretary, wishes every girl on the campus to know that an effort will be made to help anyone who desires to work.

SHELDON MAKES PLEA FOR LOW COLLEGE COSTS

High Fees Bar to Poorer Student, Hinder Idea of University System

Desire To Aid Freshmen Main Concern Advises Malcolm, Student Chief

"Oregon, we pledge to thee our honor and fidelity," expressed in song by more than 2500 voices yesterday, impressively opened the initial assembly of the college year in the auditorium of the Woman's building with John Stark Evans, composer of the words and music of the pledge, directing.

Dr. Henry D. Sheldon, chairman of the administrative committee of the University, stressed the importance of democracy in the University and the importance of the University to democracy. Thomas Jefferson, founder of the University of Virginia and father of the higher educational structure of this country, was quoted as urging the university as necessary in training leaders for the state. This view Dean Sheldon approved for the University of Oregon.

The speaker noted a tendency in certain quarters to question the value of higher education and to insist that those directly benefiting from it bear the expense themselves. "Every dollar that is added to the fees of the higher educational institutions of this state," he said, "reduces the opportunity for some worthy boy or girl to obtain the education that will develop him and fit him for leadership."

Opportunity For All

"We should give the opportunity for higher education to all the sons and daughters of this state. While I do not maintain that college and university-trained men are the only ones properly educated, it is true that the exceptions are few, and the general status of a community is determined by the opportunity for higher education." He placed state universities high in the scale of democratic influences, and deplored any tendency to make such opportunity exclusive. "This could only lead to the development of a caste system," he said, "a system which would break down the early ideals of the republic."

Dean Sheldon outlined the opportunities presented in this University for the development of scholarship and of usefulness to the community and spoke with optimism of the outlook for the year, both in the classroom and in extra-curricular activities. He spoke a word of regret for the passing of the beloved President Campbell, for whom he announced, a memorial service is now being arranged, and will be held soon.

Malcolm Outlines Plans

Introduced by Dean John Straub, who presided at the assembly, Walter Malcolm, president of the Associated Students, greeted the members of the faculty and student body with a short address of welcome after which he spoke on "The Coming Year," pointing out the hopes

W. A. A. ADOPTS NEW SYSTEM IN ATHLETICS

Sports Will Be Organized On Class Basis To Better Voluntary Competition

Committee Women Named To Urge Participation Of All Campus Houses

All women's competitive sports will be conducted on a class basis, teams being composed of voluntary competitors, it was explained last night at a mass meeting of the Women's Athletic association held in the Woman's building. Janet Wood, president of the association, praised the new system which is to be tried out soon in swimming and volleyball.

"Now there will be no more forcing of members into a sport for the sake of making up a house team," she declared. "This plan will allow a longer time for practices, and some real coaching can be done. W. A. A. wants all girls to come out for sports even though at present they know nothing of the game, and this plan will bring them out."

Aspirants To Be Graded

This method for creating competitive teams insures every aspirant of a place on a team. The best athletes will be placed on first teams. Other competitors will be graded into second, third and fourth teams, according to the number of competitors. All teams will be organized on a class basis. In case there should be a few remaining competitors in each class insufficient in numbers to compose a new team, these girls will be organized into color teams in which class standing will be disregarded.

Members of all teams shall receive generous points, those on the first team receiving the highest number. This plan does not allow for substitute teams, but when a substitute is required, she shall be drawn from the next lowest team, and shall receive extra credits for her substitution work. The department of physical education encourages sports by granting so many points for each team an athlete makes providing certain rules are observed. When a woman has amassed 500 points she is entitled to a small green felt "O". When she has earned 1,000 points she is presented with a University sweater.

A new point system will have to be devised for the competitive system, and the committee working on this will have the ratings ready in a few days.

The new plan will be administered by the heads of sports, the class managers and coaches for the sports. Swimming and volleyball will be open for voluntary competition Monday and Tuesday. The coaching schedule will be so arranged that aspirants may enter both sports.

LAW GRADUATES PASS BAR TEST

The six students who graduated from the University of Oregon law school last June successfully passed state bar examinations during the summer, five in Oregon and one in Washington, according to records of William G. Hale, dean of the school. The five, one a woman, plan to practice in this state, it was said.

Dean Hale appeared pleased with the result, as only 41 of the some 70 men or women who took the Oregon state bar examination at Salem, July 10 and 11 passed. Schools represented by the number, in part, were: Willamette university, Harvard, Yale, Stanford and the University of Illinois and Portland night institutions.

To Practice in Northwest
The University of Oregon graduates were: James Hale Ross, Toledo, who will practice in that city after a year or two traveling; Jean F. Du Paul, San Diego, Calif., who will locate in this state; Armand F. Fuchs, Baker, practicing there; Ma-

Old Graduate Sends Stanzas To Mr. Howe for Oregon Song

CHESTER WASHBURNE, NOW WELL-KNOWN GEOLOGIST FROM AUSTRALIA

Memories of old Oregon, still green in the heart of an old graduate, one of the boys of twenty years ago, aroused the muse in Chester Washburne, who, in far Australia, composed a song dedicated to his alma mater.

Mr. Washburne, of the class of '05, is now a prominent geologist of New York City. While he was on the campus he not only studied the sciences but courses in literature under Professor H. C. Howe, who recently received the poem entitled—"Oregon, We Come To Thee"

1. Oregon we come to thee,
Our beloved Varsity,
Singing of our student days,
Bringing thee our love and praise.

Refrain:
Days of yore, for us no more,
But forever we adore
Oregon, our Oregon.
Oregon, our Oregon.

2. Sweetest days of memory
Are the days we spent with thee,
On the campus, on the Butte,
On the mill-race, down the chute.

3. Friendships founded in your halls
Go beyond the Nation's walls,
And forever will they last,
Precious heirlooms of the past.

4. Noble deeds and follies too,
Which we hailed with great ado,
Dimmer grow with passing time,
Yet thy memory is sublime.

5. Though your sons and daughters fair

Now are scattered everywhere,
Yet to thee they oft return
And their loyalty affirm.
Repeat first stanza.

The letter which accompanied the poem reveals the nature of the writer who says, "A cloud of nats doth him molest." You see you did not succeed in keeping me always asleep when you so pleasantly intoned the Faerie Queen to my class. The pentameter you tried to teach me is not wholly forgotten, nor the rhyme schemes of Spenser and Shakespeare. Sometimes I amuse myself making sonnets therewith which would disturb the bones of these bards, if they had to read the stuff.

"If you feel like doing so, you could greatly improve the enclosed song by adding stanzas—I care not what is done with the song, except that it be made into something worth singing."

"It is rather nice to be writing to you after so many years. I can still hear your smoothly sonorous voice, as you read the Faerie Queen. If you snore in your sleep, it must be a musical snore, such as puts babies to sleep. I hope to see you this coming winter when I visit my brother, Carl, in Eugene. My family is spending the year in southern France, while I go around the world through regions too hard for them to travel through."

DELTA GAMMA HEADS LIST IN HOUSE GRADES

Thetas, Alpha Chi Omegas Are Next In Rating

Delta Gamma headed the houses in grades for last spring term with a rating of 49.18. Kappa Alpha Theta was second with a rating of 48.93, while Alpha Chi Omega, with a rating of 48.61, was third.

The average rating of the women's organizations was 44.64, while the men's organizations made only 38.11 points. The entire average was 41.72.

A complete list of the houses and their standing follows:

1 Delta Gamma	49.185

37 Beta Theta Pi	34.750
38 Chi Psi	34.684
39 Delta Tau Delta	34.451
40 Sigma Chi	34.200

To arrive at the rating the grading system is reversed so that an hour of I counts 5 points; an hour of II counts 4 points; an hour of III, 3 points; an hour of IV, 2 points; and an hour of V, 1 point. In other words, the number of points given to a credit hour is always equal to six minus the grade. Hence, rating equals the average number of hours passed per member multiplied by (six minus average grade).

COMPLETE DIRECTORY OF ALUMNI PRINTED

Magazine Is First Since 1913; Has 5000 Names

After seven months of work, the first alumni directory since 1913 has been issued. The magazine contains the names of every graduate from Oregon since 1878, when the first class completed its four years. The 5000 names are listed alphabetically and by class. In addition are the present addresses, occupations, years of graduation and degrees. In the case of women, both married and maiden names are included.

The directory contains a list of the alumni from the Portland medical school, a list of the regents of the University, the officers of the alumni association and the honorary alumni. The last record of graduates appeared 12 years ago.

At Homecoming, last November, the Alumni council voted favorably on an alumni directory. After months of letter writing, name checking and questionnaires, the magazine was off the press in June.

Jeanette Calkins, alumni secretary and editor of "Old Oregon," edited the directory with the help of Dorothy Wheeler and Robert Dart. Miss Wheeler, '17, had charge of the work until her departure for New York last spring. The directory is available for $1.75 with a subscription to "Old Oregon."

COURSE TO BE GIVEN FOR HOUSE MANAGERS

"House managers of both men's and women's organizations on the campus will be given an opportunity to take a conference course in which house managers problems will be discussed fully," announces Miss Lillian Tingle, head of the Household Arts department.

The course will cover the planning of meals, buying of food, preparation of seasonal food, table service, and such other problems as are confronting house managers through the year. Special talks will also be arranged on subjects of special importance.

One hour credit will be given in the course each term and it may be added this week without payment of the late registration fee.

A meeting of the men interested will be held in the Household Arts building Monday at 12:50, at which time a convenient hour will be arranged. The class for women meets at 11 o'clock on Tuesdays.

VARSITY FIGHTS IN FIRST REAL MIX OF SEASON

Good Football Shown By Squad In Hard Tussle; Listlessness Banned

Backs Become Smashing Piledrivers As Line Opens "Wagon Holes"

By Web Jones

Fight was the order of the day in the first real hard scrimmage of the year. The scrap of the teams during the middle of the week mix was a startling exhibition of football compared with the listless practice at the first of the week when the rain dampened the field and the workout of the team.

The team that started the workout was the probable varsity which goes against Multnomah club next Saturday: Bob Mautz and Ike Reynolds, ends; Bert Kerns and Bert Gooding, tackles; Hal Harden and Gene Shields, guards, Carl Johnson, center; Louie Anderson, quarter; George Minnaugh and Beryl Hodgson, halves and Lynn Jones, full.

The heavy backfield, Wetzel, Jones and Hodgson, took the ball time after time Wednesday night, and, through the wide holes ripped in the line by the forwards, made from five to ten yards a down. It was a smashing, driving line of backs that exhibited more form than ever before this year.

Entire Squad Scrimmages

Practically the entire varsity squad got into the regular scrimmage. It was experience it was pointed out, that the coaching staff is trying to give every man who has a chance. Men were shifted from second team to varsity and back again with rapidity throughout the practice.

Dwight Hodges, Ike Reynolds, Ed Grant and Sherm Smith alternated at ends. Harold Mangum, Ed Warren, Homer Dixon, and Bert Soccolofsky, Harry Leavitt and Joe Peek got in for a while as guards. Nick Carter showed up well at center. In the backfield Otto Vitus and George Minnaugh substituted.

Injured List Grows

The injured list of veterans grew with the addition of Al Sinclair Wednesday night, who was unable to work last night on account of an injured ankle. Big Vic Wetzel, slated to begin the game tomorrow, has a bad charlie horse that eliminates him for a few days. Ken Bailey and Jack Bliss are both out with injured legs. Sherm Smith has a strained ligament which will keep him out of the game also.

The list of cripples forced the coaches to change the line up. George Minnaugh will relieve Wetzel at half. Bert Gooding will take Sinclair's place at tackle and Ike Reynolds will relieve Grant at end.

The workout yesterday afternoon was watched by L. H. Gregory, sports editor of The Oregonian who finished his annual fall tour of the colleges in the Pacific Northwest here.

"Football teams in the northwest are stronger than last year," Mr. Gregory said. "All of them are going to be tough. Idaho has a confident, cocky team. They will be dangerous. W. S. C. should have a strong team with the fine material they have, while Washington has a powerful backfield but a new line from end to end. O. A. C. is getting more precision into the huddle system, and will be a tough opponent."

MEDICAL FRATERNITY ANNOUNCES PLEDGINGS

Alpha Kappa Kappa, medical fraternity of the University of Oregon Medical school, Portland, announces the pledging of the following: O. Henry Alexander, Harry Allison, Eugene Kelly, William C. McBride, George Suehow, Albert Swartzenberg, all of Portland; Thomas Austin, Pasco, Washington; Horace Coshov; Brownsville; Robert Caldwell Pasadena; John Burke Flynn, Eugene; Robert C. Milas, Stockton, Cal.; Thomas McAulay, Puyallup, Washington; Calvin Yoran, Eugene; Frank Troutmen, Seattle; and John Straunford, Seattle.
