not turning out for the parade will be worse than the parade itself say those in charge. To insure the success of the parade and mix, it is necessary for all sophomores to turn out promptly at 9 o'clock this morning. No time can be wasted under the program arranged.
"The main idea this year," declared Fred West yesterday, "is snap. The mix may be decided by the outcome of the band, yelling and singing events. Men and women of the two underclasses should support these to the utmost."
The program ends at twelve o'clock with an impressive ceremony directed by Walter Malcolm, president of the Associated Students who will deliver the speech resulting in the official crowning of the Freshmen men with their green lids.

NUMBER OF STUDENTS ATTEND GEOLOGY CAMP

The summer camp of the Geology department held during July in the Siskiyou mountains near Ashland was the most successful ever held according to geology students. Eleven men including three graduate students were in attendance. Under the direction of Dr. E. L. Packard of the University Geology faculty they made a study of the rock formations of the region for one month. Several sacks containing fossils and rocks were brought back for use

When rural service lines bring electricity to the farmer's door, many of his labor troubles are at an end. Motors, large and small, will do the many chores of farm and farm house for a few cents per day.

The Farm Electrical

Of the six and a half million farm homes in this country, only half a million have electricity.

Still, the advantages of electricity are widely known. But there is more to farm electrification than the installation of motors, lights and heaters. Current must be brought to the farm, and that means many miles of transmission line, supporting poles, transformers, and adequate generating equipment.

Slowly but surely the electrification of American farms is taking place. As farmers learn how to use electricity, rural service lines reach out farther and farther into open country.

Six million farms to be electrified! Here is a vast and virgin field for the application of electricity, with countless opportunities for college-trained men in the technical and commercial phases of this undertaking. And for the agricultural college student and others planning a future life in rural sections, it means a better, bigger, happier life-time now in the making.

Since its inception the General Electric Company has pioneered in the various fields of applied electricity. Today G-E engineers are co-operating with various State agricultural committees in the study of farm and rural electrification. These committees include members of the agricultural college faculties.

A new series of G-E advertisements showing what electricity is doing in many fields will be sent on request. Ask for Booklet GEK-1.
